3 For Zedekiáh King of Iudáh had shut him up, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophecie, & say, Thus faith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citic into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh shall not escape out of the hand of & Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the King of Babel, and shall speake with him mouthe to mouthe, and his eyes shall beholde his face,

5 And he shall lead Zedekiáh to Babel, and there shall be be, vanil: I visit him, faith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiáh said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Beholde, Hanameél, the sonne of Shallúm thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and saie, Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathóth: for the citic by kinred appeteri-nath vnto thee to bye it.

8 So Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the words of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I praie thee, that is in Anathóth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belonging vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the words of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathóth and weighed him & silver, even seven shekels, and ten pieces of silver.

10 And I writ it in the boke and signed it, & toke witnesses, and weighed him the silver in the balances.

11 So I toke the boke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law, and custom, with the boke that was open,

12 And I gaue the boke of the possession vnto Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, the sonne of Maafetáh, in the sight of Hanameél mine vncles sonne, and in & presence of the witnesses, writen in the boke of the possession, before all the Iewes that fate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Barúch before them, saying,

14 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, even this boke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that thei maie continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel faith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed against in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the boke of the possession vnto Barúch, the sonne of Neriáh, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

17 Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heaué and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

18 *Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompenceft the iniquitie of the fathers into & bosome of their childré after them: & God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsel, and mightie in works, (for thine eyes are opé vpon all the wates of the sonnes of men, to giue to euerre one according to his wates, and according to the frute of his works)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, & in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the lad of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou didest sweare to their fathers to giue them, even a land, that sloweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedest them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citic to take it, and the citic is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by means of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast said vnto me, & Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for silver, and take witnesses: for the citic shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ The came the words of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the Lord God of all m seeth is there anie thing to hard for me?

28 Therefore thus faith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzár

b And so to hide them in the grounds, & they might be preserved as a token of their deliverance.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euil before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hathe bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, and of my wrath, from the daye, that they buylt it, euen vnto this daye, that I shulde remoue it out of my fight,

36 And now therefore, thus hathe the Lord God of Israel spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, it shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the swords, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 Beholde, I wil gather the out of all countreis, wherein I haue scared them in mine angre, & in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shall be my people, and I wil be their God.

41 Yes, I wil deliue in the to do the good, & I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, & with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Me shall bye fields for siluer, and make writings, and scale them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and round about Jerusalem, & in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of kingdomes of the earth, that were vn- der the power of his hand, and all people foght against Jerusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

The thou shalt dye in p peace: & according to the burning for thy fathers the former Kings which were before thee, so shal thei burne odours for thee, and thei shal lament thee, saying, Oh c lord: for I haue pronoun- ced the worde, saith the Lord.

13 Thus faith y Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fators, when I broght them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of feruants, saying,

14 *At the terme of feuen yeres let ye go, e- ue, the ma his brother an Ebrewe which ha- the bene folde vnto thee: & when he hath feruud thee six yeres, thou shalt let him go fre from thee: but your fathers obered me not, nether inclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my fight in proclaiming libertie, euerie man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caufed euerie man his feruant, & euerie man his handmaide, whome ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to re turne, and holde them in subiection to be vnto you as feruants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus faith the Lord, Ye haue not obered me, in proclaiming fiedome euerie man to his brother, and euerie man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, faith y Lord, to the fow de, to the pestilence, and to the famine, & I wil make you a terrour to all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I wil giue thofe men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the words of the couenant, which thei had made before me, when thei h cut the calfe in twaine, and pafled betwene the partes thereof.

19 The princes of Iudáh, and the princes of Ierufalém, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the land, which paf-fed betwene the partes of the calfe,

20 I wil cuen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of the that feke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the hea uen, and to the beafes of the earth.

21 And Zedekiáh King of Iudáh, and his princes wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of the that feke their life, & into the hand of the King of Babels hofte, where gone vp from you.

22 Beholde, I wil comande, faith the Lord, and caufe them to returne to this citie, and thei shal fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fyreian. I wil make y cities of Iudáh defolate without an inhabitant.

5 And I set before the fonnes of the houfe of the Rechabites, portes fol of wine, and cuppes, and 'faid vnto them, Dunke wine. 6 But thei faid, We wil drinke no wine: for 'lonadáb the fonne of Recháb our father commanded vs, 'faying, ' Ye shal drinke no wine, nether you nor your fonnes for euer.

7 Nether shal ye buylde houfe, nor fowf fede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye shal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obered y voice of Ionadáb the fonne of Recháb our father, in all that he hathe charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, nether we, our wiues, our fonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Nether buylde we houfes for vs to dwell in, nether haue we vineyarde, nor field, nor fede, saying,

Then Ieremiáh called Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, and Barúch wrote a y mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the Lord, which Lord hathe declared against this peo- ple.

So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh did ac- cording vnto all, that Ieremiáh y Prophet commanded him, reading in the boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

9 And in the first 5 years of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierufalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudáh vnto Ierufalém.

10 Then red Barúch in the boke the wordes of Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiáh the sonne of Gemariáh, the sonne of Shaphán had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord,

12 Then he went down to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all y princes fare there, enen Elishamá the Chancellour, & Delaiáh the sonne of She-maiah, and Elnathán y sonne of Achbór, and Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán, and Zedekiáh the sonne of Hananiáh, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiáh declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard whe Barúch red in the boke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudí the sonne of Nethaniáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Chushí, vnto Barúch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, whe-rein thou hast red in the audience of the people, and come. So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And thei said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Barúch red it in their audience.

16 Now when thei had heard all the wor- des, they where a fraied boche one and other, and said vnto Barúch, We wil certifie the King of all these wordes.

17 And thei examined Barúch, saying, Tel vs now, how didest y write all these wor- des at his mouth.

20 And thei wét in to the Kig to y court, but thei laied vp y roole in the chàbre of Elishamá the Chancellors & tolde y King all the words, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fct y roole, & he toke it out of Elishamá the Chancellors chambre, and Iehudi red it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King.

22 Now the King fate in the winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had red thre, or foure fides, he cut it with the penknif, and cast it into the fyre, that was on the berth vntil all the roole was consumed in the fyre, that was on the berth.

24 Yet thei were not afraid, nor rent in their garments, rather the King, nor any of his feruants, that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheles, Elnarkán, and Delaráh, and Gemariáh had befoght the King, that he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeél the sonne of Hammélech, & Seraiáh the sonne of Azriél, & Shelemiáh the sonne of Abdiél, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ie- remiáh the Prophet, but the Lord "hid them.

27 Then the words of the Lord came to Ieremiáh (after that the King had burnt the roole and the words w Barúch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiáh) saying,

28 Take thee againe "another roole and write in it all y former words that were in the first roole which Iehoiakim y King of Iudáh hath burnt,

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Ieho- iakim King of Iudáh, He shal haue "none to sit vpon the throne of Daud, and his "dead bodie shalbe cast out in the day to the heare, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I wil vifte him and his fede, and his feruates for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ie- rufalém, & vpon the men of Iudáh all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Ieremiáh another roole, and gaue it Barúch the scribe y sonne of Ne- riáh, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiáh all the words of the boke which Iehoiakim Kig of Iudáh had burnt in the fyre, and there were added besides them many like words.

2 But nethet he, nor his feruants, nor the people of the land wolde obey the words of the Lord, which he spake by the "mini- fterie of the Prophet Ieremiáh.

3 And Zedekiáh the King "first Iehucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, and Zephaniáh the sonne of Maáciáh the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiáh went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 The Pharaohs hoste was "come out of E- gypt: and whe the Caldeans that besieged Ierufalém, heard tidings of them, thei

6 Then came the words of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiáh, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudáh, y sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come for the to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.

9 Thus saith the Lord, "Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely departe from vs: for thei shal not departe.

10 For thogh ye had smiten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet shulde euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fyre.

11 When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierufalém, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiáh went out of Ierufalém to go into the "land of Benjamin" se- parating him self thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the g gate of Benia- min, there was a chief officer, whose name was Iriáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiáh, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathán the scribe: for they had made that the b prison.

16 When Ieremiáh was entered into the dōgeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time,

17 Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any words from the Lord? And Ieremiáh said, Yes: for, said he, thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the King of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiáh said vnto King Zedekiáh, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your Prophetes, which prophecied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shal not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore he are now, I pray thee, d mv lord the King: let my prayer "be accented before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathán the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiáh the King commanded, that they shulde put Ieremiáh in the court of the prison, and that they shulde giue him daiely a piece of bread out of the bakers strete vntil all the b bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiáh remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

By the motion of the rulers Ieremiáh is put into a dōngem. 14. At the request of Ebed-mélech the King commandeth Ieremiáh to be brought for the of the dōngem. 17 Ieremiáh sheweth the King how he might escape death.

1 Then Shephatiáh the sonne of Mattán, and Gedaliáh the sonne of Pašhúur, and Iucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, & Pašhúur the sonne of Malchiáh, heard the wordes that Ieremiáh had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shal dye by the swords, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth for the to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shal haue his life for b a pray, and shal liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shal surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shal take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto king, We beseche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking suche wordes vnto them: for this man sketch not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiáh the King said, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can denie d you nothing.

6 Then toke they Ieremiáh, and cast him into the dongeon of Malchiáh the sonne of Hammélech, that was in the agt of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiáh with coards: and in the dongeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiáh stacke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-mélech the "blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiáh in the dongeon (then the King fate in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-mélech wet out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, these men haue done euil in all y they haue done to Ieremiáh the Prophet, whome they haue cast into dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-mélech y blacke More, saying, Take frō hence thirtie men" with thee, and take Ieremiáh the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-mélech toke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the treasurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dongeon to Ieremiáh.

12 And Ebed-mélech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiáh, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes. And Ieremiáh did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiáh with coardes and toke him vp out of the dongeon, and Ieremiáh remained in the court of the prison.

14 Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke Ieremiáh the Prophet vnto him, into the third enrie that is in the House of the Lord, & the King said vnto Ieremiáh, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiáh said to Zedekiáh, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slaye m or and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiáh, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I wil not slaie thee, not giue thee into the hands of those men that seke thy life.

7 Moreover he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bounde him in chames, to carye him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings hou- fe, and the houfes of the people with fyre, and brake downe the walles of Ierufalem.

fonne of Elíshamá of the fede royal, and the princes of the King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliáh the fonne of Ahikám to Mizpáh, and there thei did e eate bread together in Mizpáh.

3 Then arofe Íhmaél the fonne of Netha- niáh with thefe ten men that were with him, and fmote Gedaliáh the fonne of Ahikám the fonne of Shaphán with the fwords, and flewe him, whome the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

I íhmaél alfo flewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliáh at Mizpáh, & all the Cal- deans that were founde there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the feconde daie that he had flaine Gedaliáh, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechém, fró Shi- lóh, & from Samaria, ouen foure fcoremen, hauing their beardes fhauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with 4 offrings and incense in their hands to offre in the Hou- fe of the Lord.

6 And Íhmaél the fonne of Nethaniáh w. nt forthe from Mizpáh to mete them, weping as he w:nt: & when he met them, he faid vnto them, Come e to Gedaliáh the fonne of Ahikám.

7 And when thei came into the middes of the citie, Íhmaél the fonne of Netha- niáh flewe the, and cast them into the mid- des of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were founde among them, that faid vnto Íhmaél, Slay vs not: for we have treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: fo he flaied, and flewe them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Íhmaél had cast the dead bodies of the men (whome he had flaine because of Gedaliáh) is it, which Asa the King had 1 made because of Bañsá King of Ifraél, and Íhmaél the fonne of Nethaniáh filled it with them that were flaine.

10 Then Íhmaél caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Miz- páh, ouen the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpáh, whome Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had co- mitted to Gedaliáh the fonne of Ahí- kám, and Íhmaél the fonne of Nethaniáh caryed them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanán the fonne of Karáh, & all the 2 captaines of the hofte that we- re with him, heard of all the euil that Íh- maél the fonne of Nethaniáh had done,

12 Then they all toke their men, and went to fight with Íhmaél y fonne of Nethaniáh, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeón.

13 Now when all the people whome Íhma- él caryed away captiue, fawc Iohanán the fonne of Karáh, and all the captaines of the hofte, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Íhmaél had ca- ryed away captiue from Mizpáh, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanán the fonne of Karáh.

15 But Íhmaél the fonne of Nethaniáh, ef- caped from Iohanán with eight men, and went to the 6 Ammonites.

16 The toke Iohanán the fonne of Karáh, & all the captaines of the hofte, that were with him all the remnant of the people,

17 And thei departed and dwelt in Gerúth 1 Chumham, which is by Beth-léhem, to go & to entre into Egypt,

9 And ſaid vnto the, Thus faith, the Lord God of Ifraél, vnto whome ye ſent me to preſent your prayers before him;

10 If ye wil dwell in this land, then I wil buyld you, and not deſtroye you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I a re- pent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

12 And I wil grant you me: cie that be may hau compaſſion vpon you, and he ſhal cauſe you to dwell in your owne land.

15 (And now therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudáh: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Ifraél, If ye set your faces to entre into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

16 Then the fworde that ye feared, a fhall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for y which ye care, fhall there hag vpo you in Egypt, & there fhall ye dye.

17 And all the men that set their faces to entre into Egypt to dwell there, fhall dye by the fworde, by the famine & by y pefti- lence, & none of them fhall remaine nor ef- cape fro the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y God of Ifraél, As mine angre and my wrath hath bene powred for the vpon the inhabitants of Ierufalém: so fhall my wrath be powred for the vpo you, when ye fhall entre into Egypt, & ye fhall be a detestation, & an altonushmét, and a curffe, and a re- proche, and ye fhall se this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudáh, the Lord hath laid concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye a diftembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, faying, Pray for vs vnto y Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God fhall fay, and we wil do it.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor anie thing for the which he hathe sent me vnto you.

Iohanán earyeth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Jeremiáh. a Jeremiah prophocieth the deftrution of Egypt.

1 Now whe Jeremiáh had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which y Lord their God had sent him to them, men all these wordes,

2 Then a spake Azariáh the sonne of Ho- sharáh, and Iohanán the sonne of Karáh and all the b proude men, saying vnto Ieremiáh, c Thou speakest faully: the Lord our God hathe d not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Barúch the sonne of Neriáh e pro- nounceth thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay oys, and carie vs away captiues into Babél.

4 So Iohanán the sonne of Karáh, and all the captaines of the hofte, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudáh.

5 But Iohanán the sonne of Karáh, and all the captaines of the hofte toke all y remnant of Iudáh, that were returned from all c nacions, whether thei had benedriuē, to dwell in the land of Iudáh:

6 Even men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and eueric persone, that Nebuzar-adán the chief fteward had left with Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, and Jeremiáh s the Prophet, & Barúch the sonne of Neriáh.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they b to Tahpanhes.

1 The worde that came to Ieremiāh concerning all the Lewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Mig- dōl and at a Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathrōs, faying,

Thus faith the Lord of hoftes the God of Ifraél, Ye haue fene all the euil that I ha- ue broght vpon Ierufalém, and vpon all y cities of Iudāh; & beholde, this day thei are defolate, & no man dwelleth therein,

Because of their wickednes which thei haue committed, to prouoke me to angre in that thei went to burne incense, & to ferue other gods, whome thei knewe not, nefher thei nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I fent vnto you all my feruant- the Prophetes h tring early, and fending them, faying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I haue.

5 But thei wolde not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incéfe vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine anger was powered forth and was kindled in the cities of Iudāh, and in the fretes of Ierufalém, and thei are defolate, & wafted, as appeareth this daye.

7 Therefore now thus faith y Lord of hostes the God of Ifraél, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your fowles, to cut of from you man and woman, childe & fuckeling out of Iudāh, and leaue you none to remaine)

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the wolkes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whether ye be goneto dwell: y ye might bring destruction vnto your felues, and that ye might be a curffe and a reproche among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the d Kings of Iudāh and the wickednes of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which thei haue committed in the land of Iudāh and in y fretes of Ierufalém)

10 Thei are not humbled vnto this daie, neither haue thei feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my ftatures, that I fet before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus faith y Lord of hoftes y God of Ifraél, Beholde, I wil fet my face against you to euil & to deftroy all Iudāh,

12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudāh, that "haue fet their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and thei shal all be confumed & fall in the land of E- gypt: they shal eute be confumed by the fworde & by y famine: thei shal dye from the leaft vnto the moſte, by the fworde, & by the famine, & thei shalbe a deteftation and an aſtoniſhment and a curffe and a reproche.

13 For I wil viſit them that dwell in the lād of Egypt, as I haue viſited Ierufalém, by y fworde, by the famine, & by the peſtilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudāh, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, ſhal eſcape or remaine, that thei ſhuld returne into the lād of Iudāh to the which thei "haue a deftre to returne to dwell there: for none ſhal returne, but i fuche as ſhal eſcape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that thei wiues had burnt incenſe vnto other gods and all the women that ftode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathrōs, answered Ieremiāh, ſaying,

16 The worde that thou haſt fpoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we wil h not heare it of thee,

17 But we wil do whatfoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incen- fe vnto the Quene of heaue, & to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, bothe we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the citer of Iudāh, and in the ftre- tes of Ierufalém: for then had we h plentie of vitales and were wel and felt none euil.

18 But fince we left of to burne incenfe to the Quene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had fear- cenes of all things, and haue bene confu- med by the fworde and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incenfe to the Que- ne of heauen & powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to 'make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without our houfbandes)

20 Then faid Ieremiāh vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all y people y had giue him y anfwer, faying,

21 Did not y Lord remeber the incéfe, that ye burnt in y cities of Iudāh, & in the ftre- tes of Ierufalém, bothe you, & your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the peo- ple of y lād, & "hathe he not cofidered it?

16 He made many to fall, and one fel vpon another: and they faid, Arife, let vs go a- gaine to our owne people, & to the land of our natiutie from the fworde of the violent.

17 They did crye there, Pharaóh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude haue paffed the time appointed.

18 As I liue, faith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hoftes, finely as Tabóí in the mountaines, & as Carmél in the fea: fo fhall p it come.

21 Alfo her hired men are in the middes of her like fat calues: thei are alfo turned bac- ke and fled away together: they colde not ftand, becaufe the day of their deftruction was come vpon them, the time of their vifitacion.

22 The voyce thereof ſhal go forthe like a ſerpent: for they ſhal marche with an ar- mie, and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhalbe confound- ed. ſhe ſhalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

Howle, o Hefihón, for Ai is wafted: crye ye daughters of

Wherefore gloriests thou in the vualleis? thy valley floweth

12 Therefore your mothers shalbe fore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: beholde, the vtermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a drye land, & a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shal not be inhabited, but shalbe wholly defolate: euerie one that goeth by Babel, shal be astonished, & & hille at all her plagues.

14 • Put your selues in araye against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she ha the y finned against the Lord.

15 Crye against her round about: she hathe 'given her hand:
her foundations are fallé, & her walles are destroyed: for it is y ven geance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hathe done, do vnto her.

16 Destroye the y fower from Babel, and him that handleth the fieth in the time of haruett: because of the fowde of the oppressout they shal turne euerie one to his people, and they shal flee euerie one to his owne land.

17 Israel alike scattered shepe: the lyons haue dispersed them:
first the King of Asshur hathe deuoured him, & last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hathe broke his bones.

18 Therefore thus faith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil visite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.

19 And I wil bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shal fede on Carmel and Bashan, and his foule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, faith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shalbe foght for, and there shal be none: and the finnes of Iudah, & they shal not be found: for I wil be merciful vnto them, whome I referue.

24 A crye of battel in the land, & of great destruction.

25 How is the hâmer of the whole worlde destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become defolate among the nations!

26 I haue shared thee, and thou art taken, ô Babel, and thou waist not aware: thou art founde, and also caught, because thou hast struen against the Lord.

27 The Lord hathe opened his treasure, and hathe broght forthe the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in y land of the Caldeans.

28 Come against her "tro the vmoft border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroye her vterly: let nothing of her be left.

29 Destroye all her a bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

30 The voice of them that y flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion y vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

31 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend y bowe, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: "recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hathe done, do vnto her: for she hathe bene proude against the Lord, eunn against the holy one of Israel.

32 Therefore shal her yong men fall in the strutes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, faith the Lord.

33 Beholde, I come vnto thee, ô proude man, faith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, and the time that I wil visite thee.

34 And the proude shal stamble and fall, & none shal raise him vp: and I wil kindle a fyre in his cities, and it shal deuoure all rounde about him.

35 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that toke them captiues, helde them, and wolde not let them go.

36 But their strong redemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shal mainteine their caufe, that he may giue rest to the land, & disquier the inhabitants of Babel.

37 A fowde is vpon the Caldeans, faith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wife men.

38 A fowde is vpon the "sochefayers, and thei shal dote: a fowde is vpon her strong men, and thei shal be afraid.

39 A fowde is vpon their horses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and thei shal be like women: a fowde is vpon her treasures, and thei shal be spoiled.

40 A drouht is vpon her waters, and thei shal be dried vp: for it is the lsd of graue images, and thei dote vpon their idoles.

54 A founde of a crye cometh fró Babél, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans.

55 Because the Lord hath laid Babél waite and destroyed, from her the great voyce, & her waues shal roare like great waters, and a founde was made by their noice.

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babél, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenceth, shal surely recompence.

60 So Ieremiáh wrote in a boke all the euil that shulde come vpon Babél: euen all these things, that are written against Babél.

61 And Ieremiáh said to Sheraiáh, When thou comest vnto Babél, and shalt se, and shalt read all these wordes, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoke against this place, to destroye it, that none shulde remaine in it, nether man nor beast, but y it shulde be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this boke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the middes of Euphrates,

64 And shalt say, Thus shal Babél be drowned, and shal not rise from the euil, that I wil bring vpo her: and thei shal be wearie. Thus farre are y wordes of Ieremiáh.

And he did euil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakím had done.

Dourles because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierufalém and Iudáh, til he had cast them out from his presence, the refore Zedekiáh rebelled against y King of Babél.

4 But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the 5. King 21, 2. teth moneth y teth day of y moneth came Nebuchad-nezzár Kig of Babél, he & all his hoste against Ierufalém, & pitched against it, & buylt fortes against it rounde about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto y eleuenth yere of the King Zedekiáh.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was fore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the way of the gate between the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie rounde about) and thei went by the way of the wilderness.

8 But the armse of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and toke Zedekiáh in the desert of Ierichó, & all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then thei toke the King and caryed him vp vnto the King of Babél to Ribláh in the land of Hamáth, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And y King of Babél slewe the sonnes of Zedekiáh, before his eyes: he slewe also all the princes of Iudáh in Ribláh.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiáh, & the King of Babél bounde him in chaines, and caryed him to Babél, and put him in prison til the day of his death.

12 Now in the first moneth in the 4th day of the moneth (which was the ninctenth yere of the King Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél) came Nebuzar-adán chief steward which stode before the King of Babél in Ierufalém, 13 And burnt the House of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Ierufalém, and all the great houses burnt he with fyre.

14 And all the armie of the Caldeans y were with the chief steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierufalém rounde about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adán the chief steward caryed away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, & the residue of the people that remained in y citie, & those that were fled, & fallen to the King of Babél, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adán y chief steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to til the land.

17 Also the pillers of brasse that were in the House of the Lord, & the bases, & the brasen Sea, that was in the House of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caryed all the brasse of them to Babél.

The y yoke of my trafgreffions is boun- de vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpl my necke: he hathe made my ftrégth to fall: y Lord hathe deliuered me into their hâde, nether am I able to rife vp. The Lord hathe troden vnder fote all my valiant me in the middes of me: he ha- the called an affimble againft me to def- troy my yong men: the Lord hathe troden s the wine preffe vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudáh.

Ziôn ftretchethout her hande, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hathe appointed the enemies of Iakób rounde about him: Ierufalem is as a menftruous woman in the middes of them.

The Lord is righteous: for I haue re- belled againft his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people & beholde my forow: my virgines and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

I called for my louers, but they deceived me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie while they foight their meat to refresh their foules.

Beholde, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauines: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doth at home.

They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, & are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

Let all their wickednes come before thee: 'do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and mine heart is heauie.

CHAP. II.

How hathe the Lord darkened the daughter of Zi'ón in his wrath: and hathe cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Ifra'el, & remembred not his fote stole in the day of his wrath!

The Lord hathe destroyed all the habracians of Iakób, and not spared: he hathe throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudáh: he hathe cast them down to the grounde: he hathe polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

He hathe cut of in his fierce wrath all the 4horne of Ifráel: he hathe drawé backe his right hand from before the enemye, and there was kindled in Iakób like a flame of fyre, which deuoured rounde about.

He hathe bêt his bowe like an enemye: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarye, and stewe all that was pleafant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Ziôn: he powred out his wrath like fyre.

The Lord was as an enemye: he hathe deuoured Ifráel, & confumed all his palaces: he hathe destroyed his strong holdes, and hathe increafed in the daughter of Iudáh lamentacion and mourning.

For he hathe destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, he hathe destroyed his cógregacion: y Lord hathe caused the feaste & Sabbaths to be forgotté in Ziôn, & hathe defpised in the indignacion of his wrath the King and the Priest.

The Lord hathe forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie. he hathe giue into the hand of the enemye the walles of her palaces: they haue made a snayle in the House of y Lord, as in the day of solénitie.

The Lord hathe determined to deftroie the wall of the daughter of Zión: he stret- ched out a line: he hathe not withd awen his hâd fiom destroying: therefore he ma- de the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

R Ememure, o Lord, what is come vpon vs: confider, and beholde our reproche.

Our inheritance is turned to the ftran- gers, our houfes to the aliantes.

We are fathifles, euen without father, o our mothers are as widowes.

We haue dionke: our water for money, our wood is folde vnto vs.

Our neckes are vnder pefecutions: we are weary, and haue no left.

We haue giuen our hands to the Egyp- tians, o to Affhúr, to be fatisfied with bread.

Our fath is haue finned, and are not, and we haue be the fir iniquities.

Siuants haue ruled our vs, none wolde deliver vs out of their hands.

We gate our bread with the peril of our lines, because of the fworde of the wil- dernes.

Our fkin was blacke like as an ouen be- cause of the terrible famine.

They defiled the woman in Zi'ón, o the maddes in the cities of Judáh.

The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

They toke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder s the wood.

The Elders haue ceased from the gate o the yong men from their fong.

The 10ye of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

The crowne of our head is fallen: wo now vnto vs, that we haue finned.

Therefore our heart is heavy for these things, our eyes are dimme.

Because of the moftaine of Zi'ón which is defolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

But thou, o Lord, remaineft for e euer: thy throne is fró

They were so oyned by their wings one to another, & when their went for the, thei returned not, but euerie one went streight forward.

2 Moreover he said vnto me, Sonne of mia, eat that thou findest: a eat this soile, and go, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

3 So I opened my mouth, and he gave me this soile to eat.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly, to eat, and filthy bowels with this soile that I give thee. The did I eat it, and at was in my mouth as sweet as hodie.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, or enue vnto the house of Israel, and ac- clare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an unknown tongue, or of an hard langu- age, but to the house of Israel,

6 Not to manie people of an unknown to- gue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not ynde; stand: yet if I shulde send thee to them, they wolde obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel wil not obey thee; for they wil not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and still hearted,

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face a strong against their faces, and thy forehead haid against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, or harder then the stint: feate them not therefore, nether be afraid at thrus lokest: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, a receiue in thine heart all my wor- des that I speake vnto thee, and he ate them with thine eates,

11 And go or entre to them that are led a- way captiues vnto the children of thy peo- ple, and speake vnto them, and tel them, Thus faith the Lord God: but surely they wil not heare, nether wil thei in dede ceate.

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a b wat- chman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heate the words at my mouth, and give the warning from me.

18 When I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely dye, and thou giu: if not him warning, nor speakeest to admonish the wic- ked of his wicked way, that he may lue, the same wicked man shal dye in his iniquitie: but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou wane the wicked, & he tur- ne not from his wickedness, not from his wicked way, he shal dye in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a righteous man tuine fro his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I wil lay a thumbling blocke before him, and he shal dye, because thou hast not gi- uen him warning: he shal dye in his sinne, and his righteous dedes, which he hathe done, shal not be rembrided: but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheles, if thou admonish that ri- ghteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shal lue because he is admonished: also thou hast de- liuered thy soule.

22 And the a hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Anse, or go into the field, and I wil there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone for the nto the field, beholde, the a glorie of the Lord stode: there, as a glorie which I sawe by the river Cheb air, and I fel downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which a fet me vp vpon my sete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, or a shut thy self within thine house.

25 But thou, of sonne of man, beholde, they shal put bandes vpon thee, and shal binde thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I wil make thy tongue a cleaue to the roofe of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumme, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shal haue spoken vnto thee, I wil open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus faith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth of, a let him heare: for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that I was a man who destroyed for their idolatry. He propheseth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliverance.

8 A Gaine the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the mountaines of Israel, and prophesie against them,

10 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the mountains and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleys, Beholde, I, even I, wil bring a sword vpon you, and I wil destroye your high places:

11 And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the sunne shalbe broken: and I wil cast down your slain men before your idoles,

12 And I wil lay the dead carcases of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I wil scatter your bones round about your altars.

13 In all your dwelling places the cities shal be desolate, and the hie places shalbe laied waste, so y your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, & your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your wolkes shal- be abolished.

7 And the slayne shal fall in the middes of you, and ye shal knowe that I am y Lord.

8 Yet wil I leaue a remnant, that you may haue some that shal escape the swords a- mong the nacions, when you shalbe scar- tred through the countres.

9 And they that escape of you, shal remem- ber me among the nacions, where they shalbe in captuutie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue de- parted from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone awhoring after their idoles, and they shalbe displeased in them selues for the euils, which they haue commuted in all their abominacions.

10 And thei shal knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vane, that I wolde do this euil vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, Smite with thine hand, and stretch for the with thy fore, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abo- minacions of the house of Israel: for they shal fall by the swords, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre of, shal dye of the pestilence, and he that is nere, shal fall by the swords, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shal dye by the famine: thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shal knowe, that I am y Lord, when their slayne men shalbe among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery grene tre, and vnder euery thicke oke, which u the place where they did oise swete sauour to all their idoles.

14 So wil I stretch mine hand vpon them, & make the land waste, and desolate fro the wilderness vnto Dibraith in all their habitacions, and they shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shal suddenly come.

1 Moreover the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end u come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the four corners of the land.

3 Now u the end come vpon thee, and I wil send my wrath vpon thee, and wil iudge thee according to thy waies, and wil laye vpon thee all thine abominacions.

4 Nether shal mine eye spare thee, nether wil I haue pitie: but I wil laie thy waies vpon thee: and thine abominacion shalbe in the middes of thee, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, one euil, even one euil is come.

6 He sheweth that in all dan- ters God wil prelence a few which shalbe as the fede of his Church & call vpon his Name.

10 Beholde, the day, beholde, it is come: the morning is gone for the, the rod stoti-steth: pride hache builded.

11 12 Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wicked nes: none of them shal remain, not of their riches, nor of anie of theirs, nether shal there be b lamentation for them.

13 The time is come, the day draweth nete: let not the byer reioye, not let him that selleth, m mourn: for the wrath is vpo all the multitude thereof.

14 For he that selleth, shal not return to that, which is solde, although they were yet aliue: for the viviso was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, nether doeth anie encourage him self in the punishment of his life.

17 But they that flee away from them, shal escape, and shalbe in the mountaines, like & doues of the valleis: all thei shal mourne, euerie one for his iniquitie.

19 They shal also gird them selues with sackcloth, and feast shal couer them, and shame shalbe vpon all faces, and baldenes vpon their heads.

20 They shal cast their slluer in the sixtes, and their golde shalbe cast far of their slluer and their golde can not deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shal not fastifie their soules, nether fil their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

21 He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farce from them.

22 And I wil giue it into the hands of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, & they shal pollute it.

23 My face wil I turne also from them, and they shal pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shal entre into it, and defile it.

24 Make a chaine: for the land is ful of the judgement of blood, and the citie is ful of crueltye.

25 Wherefore I wil bring the mofte wicked of the heathen, and they shal possisse their houses: I wil also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holie places shalbe defiled.

26 When destruction cometh, they shal se-le peace, and shal not haue it.

27 Calamitie shal come vpon calamitie, and rumour shalbe vpon tumour: the shal they sike a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shal perish from the Priest, & counsel from the Ancient.

28 The King shal mourne, and the prince shalbe clothed with defolation, and the hands of the people in the land shal be troubled: I wil do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their judgements wil I iudge them, and they shal knowe that I am the Lord.

5 And beholde, the glorie of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

13 Againe he said also vnto me, Turne thee againe, thou shalt se greater abominations that thei do.

14 And he caused me to entre into the entrance of the gate of the Lords house, which was, towards the North: and beholde there fate women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou sene this, o sonne of man? Turne thee againe, thou shalt se greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to entre into the in- ner court of the Lords house, and beholde, at the dore of the Temple of the Lord, between the porche and the altar were a- bout sute and twentie men with their bac- kes towards the Temple of the Lord, and their faces towards the East, and they wor- shaped the sinne, toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou sene this, o sonne of man? Is it a smale thing to the house of Judah to commit these abo- minacians & thei do here? For thei haue sil- led the land with crueltie, and haue retur- ned to prouoke me: and lo, thei haue cast out stinke before their noses.

18 Therefore wil I also execute my wrath:

4 And Lord said vnto him, Go through the middes of the citie, enen through the middes of Ierusalem, and see a marke vpon the foreheads of them that mour- ne, and crye for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linn, and said, Go in between the wholes, even vnder the Cherub, and fil thine hands with coles of fyre from between the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer b the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stode vpo the right side of the house when the man went in, & the cloude filled the inner court.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord went vp fro the Cherub, and stode ouer the dore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and y court was filled with the brightens of the Lords glorie.

5 And the soide of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fyre from between the wholes, & from between the Cherubims, then he went in and stode b. side the whole.

7 And one Cherub stretched for the his had from between the Cherubims vnto the fyre, that was between the Cherubims, & toke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who toke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, y likenes of a mas had vnder their wings.

9 And whe I looked vp, beholde foure wholes were beside the Cherubims, one whole by one Cherub, and another whole by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wholes was as the colour of a chryfolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one whole had bene in another whole.

11 When they went for the, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whether 12 And their whole body, and their rings, & their hads, and third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an egle.

16 And whe the Cherubims went, the wholes went by them:
and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wholes also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stode, thei stode: and when thei were lifted vp, thei lifted them selues vp also: for the spirit of the beaft was in them.

18 b Then the glorie of the Lord departed from above the dore of the House, & stode vpon the Cherubims.

17 Therefore faie, Thus faith Lord God, I wil gather you againe from the people, & assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene fcattered, and I wil giue you the land of Ifrael.

18 And thei fhall come thether, and thei fhall take awaie all the idoles there of, and all y abominations thereof from thence.

19 And I wil giue them one heart, and I wil put a newe fpirit within their bowels: and I wil take the ftonie heart out of thei bodies, & wil giue them an heart of flesh,

21 But vpon the, whose heart is toward their idoles, & whose affection goeth after their abominations, I wil laie their waie vpon their owne heades, faith the Lord God.

22 Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheles beſides them, and the glorie of the God of Ifrael was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glorie of the Lord went vp fro the middes of the citie, and ſtoode vpon y mountaine which is toward the Eaſt ſide of the citie.

1 He worde of y Lord alſo came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwelleſt in the mid- des of a rebellious houſe, which haue eyes to ſee, and ſee not: thei haue eares to heare, & heare not: for thei are a rebellious houſe.

3 Therefore thou ſonne of man, prepare thy fluffe to go into captiuitie & go forth by daie in their fight: and thou ſhalt paſſe

5 Dig thou through the wall in their fight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their fight halt thou beare it vpon thy fhoulders, & carie it forth in the darke: thou halt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue fet thee as a b figne vnto the house of Ifrael.

7 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my fluffe by day, as y fluffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my fhoulder in their fight.

8 And in the morning came the worde of y Lord vnto me, faying,

17 Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, & with carefulnes,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus faith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, Thei shall eat their bread with carefulnes, & drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abundance because of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left void, & the land shall be desolate, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

21 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged and all visions faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus faith the Lord God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, & they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euill vision.

24 For no vision shall be any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in you daies, o rebellious house, will I say the thing, & will perfume it, faith y Lord God.

26 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, thei of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many daies to come, & hi prophecieth of the times that are far of.

28 Therefore say vnto the, Thus faith the Lord God, All my wordes shal no longer be delayed, but y thing which I haue spo- ken, shalbe done, faith the Lord God.

a The worde of the Lord against false prophetes, which beache the people the counfels of their own hearts.

1 And the worde of the Lord came vn- to me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie against the Pro- phetes of Israel, that prophecie, and say thou vnto the, that prophecie out of their owne hearts, Heare the worde of y Lord.

3 Thus faith the Lord God, Wo vnto the foolish prophetes that followe their owne spirit, and haue sene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy Prophetes ate like the foxes in the waste places.

5 Ye haue not risen vp in y gappes, nether made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in y bartel in the day of the Lord.

6 Thei haue sene vanitie, & lying diuina- tio, saying, The Lord faith it, & the Lord hathe not sent the: & thei haue made others to hope that thei wolde confirme y worde of their prophecie.

7 Haue ye not sene a vaine vision? & haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord faith it, albeit I haue not spoke.

8 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Be- cause ye haue spoken vanitie & haue sene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, faith the Lord God,

9 And mine hand shal be vpo the Prophe- tes y se vanitie, & deune lies: thei shal not be in the assemble of my people, nether shal thei be writte in the writing of the house of Israel, nether shal thei entre into the land of Israel: and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because thei haue decei- ued my people, saying, Peace, & there was no peace: & one buyld vp a swell, & behol- de, y others daubed it w vnt epered mortar,

11 Say vnto the which dawbe it w vnt empet ted mortar, that it shal fall: for there shal co me a great showte, & I wil send haile sto- nes, which shal cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shal breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shal it not be said vnto you, Where is y dawbing whe- re with ye haue dawbed it?

13 Therefore thus faith y Lord God, I wil cause a stormie winde to breake for the in my wrath, & a great showte shalbe in mine angie, & haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I wil destroy the wall y ye haue daw- bed with vnt epered mortar, & bring it dow- ne to y ground, so y the fundacio thereof shal be discouered, & it shal fall, & ye shal be consumed in the mildes thereof, & ye shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

21 Your valles also wil I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and thei fhall be no more in your handes to be hunted, & ye fhall knowe that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lyes ye haue made the heart of the a righteous fad, whome I ha- ue not made fad, and ftemgthened the hands of the wicked, that he fhulde not re- turne from his wicked way, by promising him life,

23 Therefore ye fhall fe no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I wil deliuer my people out of your hand, & ye fhall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

The Lord fendeth faife prophecies for the ingratitude of the people. 22 He refereth a fthale portion for his Church.

1 Then came certeine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and a fate before me. 2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, faying,

3 Sonne of man, thefe men haue fet vp their idoles in their heart, & put the ftumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: fhulde I, being required, anfwer them?

4 Therefore fpeake vnto them, and fay vn- to them, Thus faith the Lord God, Euerie wnn of the houfe of Israel that feteth vp his idoles in his heart, & putteth y ftum- bling blocke of his iniquitie before his fa-

5 That e I may take the houfe of Israel in their owne heart, because thei are all de- parted from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore fay vnto the houfe of Israel, Thus faith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your felues, and turne your fa- ces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominacions.

7 For euerie one of the houfe of Israel, or of the ftranger that foiourmeth in Israel, which departeth fro me, and feteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the ftum- bling blocke of his iniquitie before his fa- ce, and cometh to a Prophete, for to in- quire of him for me, I the Lord wil anfwer him for my selfe,

8 And I wil fet my face against that man, and wil make him an example and prouer- be, and I wil cut him of from the middes of my people, and ye fhall knowe that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be f deceiued, when he hathe fpokén a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I wil ftretch out mine hand vpo him, and wil deftroy him fro the middes of my people of Israel.

12 The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, faying,

3 Shal wood be také thereof to do any worke? or wil men take a pyn of it to hang any vessel thereon?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was mete for no worke: how much leffe shal it be mete for any worke, when the fyre hathe consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, As the vine tre, that is among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fyre to be consumed, fo wil I giue the inhabitants of Ierufalém.

7 And I wil fet my face against them: they shal go out from one fyre, & another fyre shal consume them: & ye shal knowe, that I am the Lord, when I fet my face against them,

4 And in thy natuunte whê thou waft borne, thy nauel was not cut: thou waft not wafted in water to soften thee: thou waft not falked with falt, nor fwadeled in cloutes.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compaition vpon thee, but thou waft cast out in the opé field to the contempt of thy perfume in the day that thou waft borne.

21 But if the wicked wil returne from all his sinnes that he hathe committed, and kepe all my statutes, and do that which is lawfull and right, he shal surely liue, & shal not dye.

24 But if the righteous tuine awaie from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, & do according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shal he liue: all his righteousness that he hathe done, shal not be mencioned: but in his transgression that he hathe committed, and in his sinne that he hathe sinned, in them shal he dye.

25 Yet ye faie, The waie of the Lord is not equal: beare now, & house of Israel. Is not my waie equal? or are not your waies vnequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth awaie from his righteousness, and commetteth iniquitie, he shal euen dye for the same, he shal euen dye for his iniquitie, that he hathe done.

27 Againe when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes

28 Because he commetteth, & turneth awaie from all his transgressions that he hathe committed, he shal surely liue &

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The waie of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my waies equal? or are not your waies vnequal?

30 Therefore I wil iudge you, & house of Israel, euerie one according to his wates, saith the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to tuine awaie from all your transgressions:
so iniquitie shal not be your destruction.

haue transgressed & make you a new heart and a new spirit:
for why wil ye dye, & house of Israel?

God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAPTER.

The Lord denieth that he will answer them when this praise because of their confidence. 1) He premi- feth that his people shall return from captivity. 2) By the foref that shulde be burnt, is signified the bur- ning of Jerusalem.

And in the feuenth yere in the fif moneth, y tenth day of y moneth, ca- me certaine of the Elders of Israel to en- quire of the Lord, and fate before me.

Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and faie vnto them, Thus faith the Lord God, Are ye come to inquire of me as I liue, faith the Lord God, when I am afked, I wil not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man wilt thou iudge them cause them to under- stand the abominations of their fathers,

And faie vnto them, Thus faith y Lord God, In the daie when I chose Israel, and lift up mine hand vnto the fede of the house of Isakob, and made my self knowe vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift up mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

In the daie that I lift up mine hand vnto them to bring them for the of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke & honie which is pleasant among all lands,

Then said I vnto them, Let euerie man cast awaie the abominacions of his eyes, 4 and defile not your felues with y idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

But the rebelled against me, and wolde not heare me: for none cast awaie the abo- minacions of their eyes, nether did the forfake y idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignacion vpon the, 4 to accomplish my wrath against them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

But I had respect to my Name, that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen, among whome thei were, & in whose fight

I made my self knowe vnto the in bring- ing them for the of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt & broght them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and decla- red my iudgements vnto them, which if a man do, he shal liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue the also my Sabbaths to be a figne betwene me and the, that thei might knowe that I am y Lord, that sanc- tifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: thei walked not in my statutes, and thei cast awaie my iudge- ments, which if a man do, he shal liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue thei greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wilderness to consume them,

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen in whose fight I broght them out.

15 Yet neuertheles, I lift up mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I wolde not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke & hony, which was pleasant above all lands,

16 Because thei cast awaie my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheles, mine eye spared the, that I wolde not destroye them, nether wolde I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wil- dernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, nether oberue their maners, nor defile your felues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my sta- tutes, and kepe my iudgements & do the, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, & thei shal- be a figne betwene me & you, that ye maie knowe that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: thei walked not in my statutes, not kept my iudgements to do the, which if a man do, he shal liue in them, but thei polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, 4 to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand & had respect to my Name that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen, in whose fight I broght them for the.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I wolde scatter them a- mong the heathen, and disperse them through the countreis.

24 Because thei had not executed my iud- gements, but had cast awaie my statutes & had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes that were not good, & iudgement, wherein they shulde not liue.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, thus faith the Lord God, Go you, and serve every one his idols, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idols.

40 For in mine holy mountain even in the high mountain of Israel, faith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serve me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your service, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countries, where ye have bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

3 Then fay, Thus faith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her b time may come, and maketh i- doles c against her self to pollute her self.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy self in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to drawne nete, & art come vnto thy terme: therefore ha- ue I made thee a reproche to the heathé, & a mocking to all countreys.

5 Thofe that be nere, and thofe that be farre from thee, shal mocke thee, which art vile in d name qu fore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue thei despised father & mo- ther: in the middes of thee e haue they op- pressed the stranger: in thee haue thei vex- ed the fatherles and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, & hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eat vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abominacion.

10 * In thee haue thei discovered their fa- thers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floutes.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the en- crease, and thou hast defrauded thy neigh- bours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, faith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue f smitten mine hands vpo thy coueoufnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hathe be- ne in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands s be strong, in the daies that I shal haue to do with thee? I the Lord haue spo- ken it, and wil do it.

15 And I wil scatter thee amog the heathé, and disperse thee in the countreis, and wil cause thy h filthines to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy self in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 And the worde of the Lord came vn- to me, faying,

18 Sonne of man, the houfe of Israel is vnto me as k droffe: all they are brafle, & tynne, and yron, and lead in the middes of the furnace: thei are euen the droffe of siluer.

19 Therefore, thus faith the Lord God, Be- cause ye are all as droffe, beholde, therefore I wil gather you in the middes of Ierufa- lem.

20 As they gather siluer and brafle, & yron, and lead, & tynne vnto the middes of the fornace, to blowne the fyre vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine angre and in my wrath, and wil put you there! & melt you.

21 I wil gather you, I fay, and blowne the fy- re of my wrath vpon you, and you shal be melted in the middes thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the middes of the furnace, so shal ye be melted in the mid- des thereof, and ye shal knowe, that I the Lord haue powredou: my wrath vpo you.

23 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, faying,

24 Sonne of man, fay vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, * qu not rained vp- on in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie a of her Prophetes in the middes thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the pray: thei haue deuoured fou- les: they haue taken the riches & precious thigs:

thei haue made her many widdowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Priests haue broken my Law, & haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference bet: the holy & prophane, nether dispersed betwene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in e the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening g pray to shed blood, and to destroye fouies for their owne cu- ueous lucre.

28 And her p Prophetes haue dawbed them with vnempered mortar, feing vanicies, & diumig lies vnto them, faying, Thus faith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, & ha- ue vexed the poore & the neady:
yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I foght for a man among them, that shulde s make vp the hedge, & stand in the gap before me for the land, that I shulde not destroy it, but I founde none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine in- dignacion vpon them, & confumed them with the fyre of my wrath: their owne wai-es haue I rendred vpon their heads, faith the Lord God.

the daughters of one mother.

And they committed fornicacion in E- gypt, they committed fornicacion in their youth: there were their breasts preffed, & there thei bruised the teates of their virgi- nitie.

And the names of them were Aholáh, the elder, and Aholibáh her sister: & thei were mine, and thei bare fennes and daughters: thus were their names. Samaria u Aholáh, and Ierusalém Aholibáh.

And Aholáh plaied the harlot "whé" she was mine, and she was fet on fyre with her louers, to wit, with the Affyrians her neigh- bours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, bo- the captaines & princes: thei were all plea- fant yong men, & horfemen riding vpon horfes.

7 Thus she comitted her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the cho- fen men of Afshúr, and with all on whome she doted, & defiled her self with all their idoles.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Affyrians, vpon whome she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: thei toke a- way her fennes & her daughters, & flewe her with the fworde, & she had an emi na- me among women: for thei had executed judgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibáh fawethis, she marred her self with inordinate loue, more then she, and with her fornicacions more then her sister with her fornicaciós.

12 She doted vpon the Affyrians her neigh- bours, bohe captaines and princes clothed with diueis futes, horfemen riding vpon horfes: thei were all pleafant yong men.

13 Then I faweth, that she was defiled, and that they were bothe after one forte,

14 And that she encreafed her fornicacions: for when she faweth men & painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermelon,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loy- nes, and with dyed artyre vpon their heads (loking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, & land of their natiutie)

16 Aifone, I fay, as she faweth them, she doted vpon them, & fent mefengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornicacion, & she was polluted with them, and her luf departed from them.

18 So she difcouered her fornicacion, & dif- closed her shame: then mine heart forfoke her, like as mine heart had forfake her sister

19 Yet she encreafed her whoredome more, & called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had plaied the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted vpo their feruants whose membres are as the membres of affes, and whose yffue is like the yffue of horfes.

21 Thou called it to remembrance the wic- kednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore & pap- pes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, o Aholibáh, thus faith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil raise vp thy lo- vers against thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them against thee on euery fide,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Cal- deans, b Peked, and Shoah, and Kóá, & all the Affyrians with the: they were all plea- fant yong men, captaines and princes: all thei were valiant & renounced, riding vp- on horfes.

24 Euen these fhall come against thee with charettes, waggons, and wheles, and with a multitude of people, which fhall fet against thee, buckier & shield, and helmet rounde aboute: and "I wil leaue the puniftement vnto them, & they fhall iudge thee accor- ding to their 'judgements.

25 And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and thei fhall deale cruelly with thee: they fhall cut of thy 'nofe and thine cares, and thy remnant fhall fall by the fworde: they fhall eary away thy fennes and thy daughters, and thy residue shalbe deuoured by the fyre.

26 They shal also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire icwels.

27 Thus wil I make thy wickednes to cease from thee and thy fornicacion out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hatest: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, and shal take away all thy labour, & shal leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornicacions shalbe discovered, both the thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

30 I wil do these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, & because thou art polluted with them: idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore wil I giue her cup into thine hand

Thou shalt be filled with a drunkènes & forowe, euen with the cup of destruction, and defolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the drugges, & thou shalt breake the sherdes thereof, & teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoke it, saith y Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes & thy whoredome.

36 The Lord said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholiah & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominacions?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fyre to be their meat.

38 Moreover thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my sanctuarie in the fame day, & haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and lo, thus haue thei done in y middes of mine house.

40 And how much more n is that they sent for men to come from a farre vnto who- me a messenger was sent, & lo, they came for whome thou didest wash thy self, and painted thine eyes, & deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And faresst it vpon a coftlie bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ca- fe, was with her: and with the men to make the companie great were broght men of Sabá from the wildernes, which put bra- celets vpon their hands, and beauciful crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shal she and her fornica- cians come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a comune harlot: so wét thei to Aholiah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shal iudge them, after the maner of harlotes, and af- ter the maner of murtherers: so they are harlotes, and blood in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and wil giue them vnto the tumulte, and to the spayle, 47 And the multitude shal stone them with stones, and cut them with their swordes: they shal slay their sonnes, and their dau- ghters, & burne vp their houses with fyre.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednes to cease out of the lad, that all women may be taught not to do after your wickednes.

49 And they shal lay your wickednes vpo you, and ye shal beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord God.

He she met the destruction of Jerusalem by a parable of a soothing pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

A Gaine in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the 3mo nith came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babél set him felt against Ierusalém this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto y rebel- lious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it,

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euen euerie good piece, as the thigh and the shuldee, & sl it with the chief bones.

5 Take one of the best shepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, & make it boy- le wel, and sethe the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Wo to the bloodie citie, euen to the pot, whose skome is therein, and whose skome is not gone out of it: bring it out & piece by pie- ce: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the grounde to couer it w dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, & take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke y it shulde not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Wo to the bloodie citie, for I wil make the bur- ning great.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coles the- roof, that the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the slithines of it may be molten in it, and that the skome of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her self with lies, & her great skome went not out of her: the- refure her skome shalbe consumed with fyre.

13 Thou remainest in thy slithines & wicked- nes: because I wolde haue purged the and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged fro thy slithines, till I haue cau- sed my wrath to light vpon thee.

4 Beholde, therefore I wil deliuer thee to be me of the East for a possession, and they shal set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shal eat thy frute, and they shal drinke thy milke.

5 And I wil make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shepe- cote, & ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the fete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I wil stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and wil deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, & I wil roote thee out from the people, and I wil cause thee to be destroyed out of the countries & I wil destroye thee, & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir do say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen,

3 Sonne of man, becaufe that Tyrus hathe faid againft Ierufalem, A ha, the gate of the people is broken: it turned vnto me: for seing the is defolate, I shalbe replenifhed,

Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Beholde, I come againft thee, & Tyrus, and I wil bring vp manie nations againft thee, as the sea mounteh vp with his waues.

4 And thei shal deftrose the walles of Ty-rus & breake downe her towers: I wil also scrape her duft from her, and make her like the toppe of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, faith the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the fiel-de, shalbe slaine by the fworde, and thei shal knowe that I am the Lord.

7 For thus faith the Lord God, beholde, I wil bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nczar King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horfes and with charets, and with horfemen, with a multitude and muche people.

8 He shal slaie with the fworde thy daughters in the field, and he shal make a forte againft thee, and caft a mount againft thee, and lift vp the buckler againft thee.

9 He shal fet engines of warre before him againft thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The duft of his horfes shal couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shal shake at the noife of the horfemen, and of the wheles, & of the charets, whe he shal entre into thy gares as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With y houes of his horfes shal he tread downe all thy ftretes: he shal slaie thy people by the fworde, and the pillars of thy ftrengh shal fall downe to the grounde.

12 And thei shal robbe thy riches and spoile thy marchandife, and thei shal breake downe thy walles, and deftroie thy plasant houfes, and thei shal caft thy ftonis and thy timbre and thy duft into the mid-des of the water.

13 Thus wil I caufe y founde of thy fongs to ceafe, and the founde of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I wil laie thee like the toppe of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nettes: thou shalt be buyle no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, faith the Lord God.

15 Thus faith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shal not the yles tremble at the founde of thy fall: and at the clye of the wounded, when thei shalbe slaine and murthered in the middes of thee?

16 Then all y princes of the sea shal come downe from their thrones: thei shal laie a-waie their robes, & put of their broydred garments, and shal clohe them selues with astonishment: thei shal fit vpon the grounde, and be astonifhed at euerie mo-ment, and be amafed at thee.

17 And thei shal take vp a lamentation for thee, and faie to thee, How art thou de-ftroyed, that waft inhabited of y sea

& her inhabitants, which cau-fe their feare to be on all y haunt therein!

18 Now shal the yles be astonifhed in the daie of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus faith the Lord God, Whe I shal make thee a defolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, & whe I shal bring the deape vpon thee, and great waters shal couerthee,

20 When I shal caft thee downe with them that defceinde into the pit, with the people of olde time, and shal fet thee in the lowe partes of the earth, like the olde ruines, if them, I sey, which go downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shal fhewe my glorie in the lad of the liuing, Ezekiél. Zidón a thorne.

6 Thus he speaketh by derfion : for Daniel had declared non-ble figures of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezeziél wrote this thine heart, y thou wast equal with God, Beholde, thou art wifer the Daniël: there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine vndes stan- ding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom and by thine occu- pying hast y increased thy riches, and thi- ne heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Be- cause thou didest thike in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

7 Beholde, therefore I wil bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations : and they shal diave their swordes against the beautie of thy wisdom, and they shal de- sile thy brightnes.

8 Thei shal cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt dye the death of them, that are slaine in the middes of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say thee before him, y slaieth thee, I am a god but thou shalt be a man, and no God, in the hands of him that slaieth thee.

10 Thou shalt dye the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, faith the Lord God.

11 Moreover the words of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentacion vp- on the King of Tyros, and say vnto him, Thus faith the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the sunnæ, or artful of wisdom and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden y garde of God: euerie precious stone was in thy garment: y rubie, y topize & the diamond, y chrysolite, y onix, & the asper, y saphir, emeraud, & the carbacle & golde : y worke manship of thy timbrels, & of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that y wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that couereth, and I haue set thee in honour : thou wast vpo y holy mountaine of God: y hast walked in y middes of the stones of fyre.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy waies from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitæ was founde in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy marchandise, thei haue filled the middes of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned : therefore I wil cast thee as prophane out of y mountaine of God: & I wil destroy thee, & coue- ring Cherub from the middes of the stones of fyre.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, or thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnes : I wil cast thee to the grounds : I wil lay thee before Kings that they may beholde thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by y multitude of thine iniquities, or by the iniquite of thy marchadise: therefore wil I bring for the a fyre fro y middes of thee, which shal deuoure thee: & I wil bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that beholde thee.

19 All they y knowe thee among the people, shalbe astonished at thee : thou shalt be a terrour, & neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Against, the words of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophecie against it,

22 And say, Thus faith y Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, & Zidon, & I wil be y glorified in y middes of thee: & they shal knowe that I am the Lord, when I shal haue executed judgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her.

23 For I wil send into her pestilace & blood into her stretes, and the slaine shal fall in y middes of her: the enemies shal come against her with the sword on euerie side, & thei shal knowe that I am the Lord.

24 And thei shalbe no more a pricking thor- ne vnto y house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are rounde about them, and despised the, and thei shal knowe that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus faith y Lord God, Whe I shal ha- ue gathered y house of Israel fro y people where thei are scattered, & shal be sancti- fied in the in the sight of the heathen, then shal thei dwell in the land, that I haue gi- uen to my seruant laakob.

26 And thei shal dwell safely therein, & shal buyld houses, & plant vineyards: yea, thei shal dwell safely, whe I haue executed iud- gemets vpo all rounde about the y despise the, & thei shal knowe y I am y Lord their God. CHAP. XIX.

1 IN the teth yere, or in y tenth moneth in the twelfth day of

2 Sone of ma, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophecie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, & say, Thus faith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, Pharaoh King of Egypt, y great dragô, that lieth

I haue made it for my self.

riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, & I wil drawe thee out of the mid- des of thy riuers, & all the fish of thy riuers shal sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I wil leaue thee in y wilderness, bathe thee & all the fish of thy riuers: y shalt fall vpon the open field : y shalt not be 7 When thei toke holde of thee with their hand, thou didest breake, and rent all their shulder: and when thei leased vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loines to stand upright.

8 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Be- holde, I wil bring a fworde vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee,

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, & waite, and thei shal knowe that I am the Lord: because he hathe said, "The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

11 No foote of man shal paffe by it, nor foote of beast shal paffe by it, nether shal it be inhabited fourtie yeres.

12 And I wil make the land of Egypt desolate in the middes of the countreis, thar are desolate, and her cities shalbe desolate among the cities that are desolate, for fourtie yeres:

and I wil scartre the Egyptians among the nacions, and wil disperse them through the countreis.

13 Yet thus faith & Lord God, "At the end of fourtie yeres wil I gather the Egyptias fres the people, where thei were scattered,

15 It shalbe the smallest of the kingdomes, nether shal it exalt it self any more aboue the nacions: for I wil diminish them, that thei shal no more rule the nacions.

16 And it shal be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniqui- tie to remembrance by loking after them, so shal thei knowe, that I am & Lord God.

17 In the seuen and twentieth yere also in the first moneth, & in & first day of the mo- neth came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

19 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Be- holde, I wil giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel, and he shal take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shal be the wages for his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, becau- se thei wrought for me.

21 In that day wil I cause the horne of the house of Israel to grove, and I wil giue thee an open mouth in the middes of the, and thei shal knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt & the cities thereof.

1 The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus faith the Lord God, Houle & eye, Wo be vnto this day.

3 For the day is nere, and the day of & Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shalbe the time of the heathen.

5 "Ethiopia, and Phut, & Lud, and all the commune people, and Cub, and the me of the land, that is in league, shal fall with them by the fworde.

6 Thus faith & Lord, Thei also that main- teine Egypt, shal fall, and the pride of her power shal come downe from the toware of Seuena shal thei fall by & fworde, faith the Lord God.

7 And thei shalbe desolate in the middes of the countreis that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in & middes of the cities that are wafted.

8 And thei shal knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fyre in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shal their messenger go for- the from me in shippes, to make the care- les Mores afraied, and feare shal come vpo them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it co- meth.

10 Thus faith the Lord God, I wil also ma- ke the multitude of Egypt to cease by the had of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, even the terrible nacions shal be broght to destroy the land: and thei shal drawe their fwordes against Egypt, & fil the land with & slaine.

12 And I wil make the riuers drye, and sel the land into the hands of the wicked, and I wil make the land waite, and all that the- rein is by the hands of strangers: I thy Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus faith the Lord God, I wil also de- stroy the idoles, and I wil cause their ido- les to cease out of 'Noph, and there shal be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, & I wil send a feare in the land of Egypt.

12 And the ftrangers haue destroyed him, even the terrible nacions, and thee haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in the valleis his branches are fallen, & his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his fhaddowe, and haue forfaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine fhall all the foules of the heauen iemaine, and all the beafts of the field fhall be vpon his branches,

11 For thus faith the Lord God, The sword of the King of Babel shall come upon thee. 12 By the words of the mighty will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pomp of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the houses of beasts trouble them.

14 Then wil I make their waters depe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, faith the Lord God.

a The office of the generiours and ministers. 14 He firing thuneth them that dispare, and oilduneth them with the promise of mercy. 30 The words of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

a A Gaine, the woide of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and fay vnto them, When I bring the fworde vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watcheman,

3 If when he feeth the fworde come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the founde of the trumpet, and wil not be warned, if the fworde come, & take him away, his blood shalbe vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the founde of the trumpet, and wolde not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that recei- neeth warning, shal faue his life.

6 But if the watchman fe the fworde co- me, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the fworde co- me, and take any persone from among them, he is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood wil I require at the watch- mans hand.

7 So thou, ô sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the houfe of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the worde at my mouth, and admonishe them from me.

8 When I shal fay vnto the wicked, O wic- ked man, thou shalt dye the death, if thou doesst not speake, and admonish the wic- ked of his way, that wicked man shal dye for his iniquitie, but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheles, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he do not turne from his way, he shal dye for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy foule.

10 Therefore, ô thou sonne of man, spea- ke vnto the houfe of Israel, Thus ye spea- ke and fay, If our transfresions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed becaufe of them, how shulde we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, as I liue, faith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wic- ked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euil wayes, for why wil ye dye, ô ye houfe of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, fay vn- to the children of thy people, The eigh- teousnes of the righteous shal not deliuer him in the day of his transfresion, nor the wickednes of the wicked shal cause him to fall therein, in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, nether shal the righteous liue for his vighteousnes in the day that he sinneeth.

13 When I shal fay vnto the righteous, that he shal surely liue, if he trust to his ow- ne righteousness, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousness shalbe no more re- membered, but for his iniquitie that he har he comitted, he shal dye for the same.

1 A Lso thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and faie, Ye mountaines of Israel, heave y wor-de of the Lord.

2 Thus faith the Lord God, Because the enemye harhe said against you, Aha, euen the hie places of the worlde are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophecie, and faie, Thus faith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on uterie fyde, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lipper & tong-ues of men, and vnto the reproche of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus faith y Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the iuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste, desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are rounde about.

5 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Su-rely in the fyie of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathé, and against all Idumea, which haue ta-ken my land for their possession, with the ioye of all their heart, with despireful mundes to cast it out for a praie.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and faie vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the val-leis, Thus faith the Lord God, Beholde, I liue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the hea-then that are about you, shal beare their shame.

8 But you, do mountaines of Israel, ye shal s fnoote for the your branches, and bring for the your frute to my people of Israel: for thei are ready to come.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shal be tilled and fowen.

10 And I wil multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, & the cities shalbe inhabited, & the desolate places shalbe buyled.

11 And I wil multiplie vpon you man and beast, and thei shal encrease, and bring frute, and I wil cause you to dwell after your olde estate, & I wil be ftoue benefites vpon you more then h at the first, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, 'end my people Israel, & thei shal possess you, and ye shal be their inheritance, and ye shal nomore hence for the deprive the of men.

13 Thus faith the Lord God, Because thei faie vnto you, Thou vland deuourest vp men, and hast be ne a waftor of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no-more, nether waftle thy people hece for the, faith the Lord God,

15 Nether wil I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, ne-ther shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, nether shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, faith y Lord God.

16 Moreover the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, thei defiled it by their owne waies, & by their dedes:

their wale was before me as the filthines of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that thei had shed in the land, and for their idoles, where with thei had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and thei were dispersed through the coun-treis: for according to their waies, and ac-cording to their dedes, I judged them.

20 And when thei entred vnto the heathé, whether thei wés, thei polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

2 The hand of the Lord was vpon me, & caryed me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and fet me downe in the middes of the field, which was ful of a bones.

7 And I wil lay finewes vpon you, and make flefh growe vpon you, and couet you with fkin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye fhall knowe that I am the Lord.

8 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noife, and beholde, there was a fhaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

9 And when I behelde, lo, the finewes, and the flefh grew vpon them, and aboute, the fkin couered the, but there was no breath in them.

10 Then laid he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, Sonne of man, and fay to the windi, Thus faith the Lord God, Come from the foure boundis, O breath, and breathe vpon thefe flame, that they may liue.

23 And the heathen shal knowe, that the houfe of Ifraél went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, becaufe they trespaced against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: fo fel they all by the fworde.

24 According to their vnclennes, and ac- cording to their transgrefions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus faith the Lord God, Now wil I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakób, and haue compaftion vpon the whole houfe of Ifraél, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their fname, and all their transgrefion, whereby they haue transgrefied against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue broght them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am v f sanctified in them in the fight of manie nacions,

28 Then shal they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but

I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any mo- re there, 29 Nether wil I hide my face anie more from them: for I haue powred out my Bpí- rit vpon the houfe of Ifraél, faith the Lord God.

The refaring of the citie and the Temple.

1 IN the fiue and twentieth yere of our being in captiuitie in the a beginning of the yere, in the tenth day of the mo- neth, in the fourteft yere after that the ci- tie was fmitten, in the felf fame day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, & broght me thether.

2 Into the land of Ifraél broght he me by a diuine vifion, and fet me vpon a verie hie mountaine, whereup o was as the buyl- ding of a citie, toward the South.

3 And he broght me thether, and be- holde, there was a b man, whose fimili- tude was to loke to, like braffe, with a linen threde in his hand, and a rede to meafure with: and he ftode at the gate.

4 And the man faid vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eates, and fet thine heart vpon all that I shal fhew thee: for to the intent, that they might be fhewed thee, art thou broght hether: declare all that thou fetif, vnto the houfe of Ifraél.

5 And beholde, I faw a wall on the outfi- de of the houfe rounde about: and in the mans hand was a rede to meafure with, of fix cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: fo he meafured the breadth of the buyliding with one rede, and the height with one rede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which lo- keth to waide the Eaft, and went vp the ftai- res thereof, and meafured the pofte of the gate, which was one rede broad, and the other pofte of the gate, which was one rede broad.

7 And euerie chamber was one rede long, & one rede broad, and betwene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the pofte of the gate by the porche of the gate within was one rede.

8 He meafured alfo the porche of the gate within with one rede.

9 Then meafured he the porche of the ga- te of eight cubites, and the poftes there- of, of two cubites, and the porche of the gate was inwarde.

10 And the chabers of the gate Eaftwarde, were thre on this fide, & thre on that fide: they thre were of one meafure, and the po- ftes had one meafure on this fide and one on that fide.

CHAP. XII.

The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things there is belonging.

A Fcti warde, he brought me to the Temple, and measured the postes, fix cubites broad on the one side and fix cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubites, & the sides of the entrie were flue cubites on y one side, & flue cubites on y other side, & he measured the length thereof forty cubites, & the breadth twenty cubites.

3 The went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie six cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seven cubites.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubites & the breadth twenty cubites before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the mofte holie place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, fix cubites, and the breadth of euerie cham- bre foure cubites. ounde about the house, on euerie side.

6 And the chambres were chambre vpon chabre, thie and thirtie fote high, & they entred into the wall made for the cham- bres which was rounde about the house y the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large and went round moun- ting vpwarde to the chambres: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward, rounde about the house: therefore y hou- se was larger vpwarde: so thei went vp fi o the lowest chabre to y hieft by the mides. 8 I sawe also the house hie rounde about: y fun- lacions of the chambres were a ful re- de of fix great cubites.

11 And the dores of the chabres were tow- arde the place that remained, one dore towarde the North, & another dore tow- arde the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was flue cubites roun- de about.

12 Now the buyliding that was before the separate place towarde the West corner, was feuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the buyliding was flue cubites thicke, rounde about, & the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, & the separate place and the buyliding with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubites.

15 And he measured the length of the buyl- ding ouer against y separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windows, & the chambers

17 And from above the dore vnto the in- nes house and was filed according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was be- twene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euerie Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one side, & the face of a lion towarde the palme tree on the other side: it was made through all the house rounde about.

20 From the ground vnto above the dore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Téple were squared, & thus to loke vnto was the similitude & forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, & the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof & the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shalbe before the Lord.

23 And the Temple & the Sanctuarie had two dores.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Prof 1 Hanig described the length and breadth of the Temple, he cometh in the outer side of the North side. This appears with a great figure. He brought me into the chamber that is, the row of the chamber, which were towards the separate place. We saw Prof 2 He me aneth that the North was an hundreth cubites long & 7 and in breadth fifteen. Prof 3 This gallette appears with a great figure by this number. Prof 4 The chambers were contrary to armed to the of the Temple Prof 5 So that the wall for chambers of the outwarde court and the wall of the inner, was other before chambers, and the whole court on hundred. Prof 6 Under these chambers were contrary, or dores to pass from one place to another, we are noted over by a to the great figure. Prof 7 The chambers, p. of the East court, were like to chambers of the North court. Prof 8 Which chambers were in the East gate toward the North and South 3 and towards the separate place or back, but in 4 which chambers are called holes, because they were by the Temple.

Then brought me into the water court by the waie toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, & which was before the building towards the North.

Before the length of an hundred cubites was the North dore, & it was fiftie cubites broad. Over against the twentieth cubites which were for the inner court, & over against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chambre against chambre in the rows.

And before the chabres was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, & within was a waie of one cubite, and their doores toward the North. Now the chambres above were narrower: for those chambres fered to eat vpon these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middles of the building.

For they were in the rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from the beneath & from the middlemost, even from the ground.

And the wall was without over against chabres, towards the vtter court on the fore front of the chabres, was fiftie cubites long. For the length of the chambres that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: & so, before the Temple were an hundred cubites. And vnder these chambres was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into the fro the outwarde court.

The chambres were in the thickenes of the wall of the court towards the East, ouer against the separate place, & ouer against the buylding.

And the waye before them was after the maner of the chambres, which were to- ward the North as long as thei, & as broad as thei: & all their entries were like, both according to their factions, and according to their dores.

And according to the dores of the cham- bres that were towards the South, was a dore in the corner of the waie, even the waie di- rectly before the wall towards the East, as one entreth.

Then said he vnto me, The North cham- bres & the South chambres which are be- fore the separate place, thei he holy cham- bers, wherein the Priests that approche vnto the Lord, shal eat the moste holie things: there shal thei laie the moste ho- ly things, and the meat ofring, and the sinoffring, and the trespasste ofring: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests entre therein, thei shal not go out of the holie place into the vttet court, but there thei shal laie their garmets wherein thei munstes: for thei are holie, & shal put on other garmets, & so shal appro che to those things, & are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of mea- suring the inner house, he broght me for the towarde the gate whose prospect is towards the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the mea- suring rod, siue hundred redes, even with the measuring rede round about.

17 He measured also the North side, siue hun- dreth redes, even with the measuring rede rounds about.

18 And he measured the South side siue hu- dreth redes with the measuring rede.

19 He turned about also to the West side, & measured siue hundred redes with the measuring rede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, siue hundred redes long, and siue hundred broad to make a separation between the Sanctuarie, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

He seeth the glorie of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. He numcime the ideatree of the children of Israel for the which thei were consumed and brought to night. He is commanded to call them agame to repentance.

A Fterwarde he brought me to the gate, even the gate that turneth towards the East.

And beholde, the glorie of the God of Is- rael came fro out of the East, whose voice was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie.

And the vision which I sawe was like the vision, even as the vision that I sawe when I came to destroye the citie: and the visi- ons were like the vision that I sawe by the riu- er Chebárc & I fel vpon my face.

And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the waie of the gate, whose prospect is towards the East.

So the Spirit toke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glo- rie of the Lord filled the house.

And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stode a man by me,

Which said vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, & the place of the sou- les of my fete, where as I wil dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the hou- fe of Israel shal no more defile mine holie Name, nether thei, nor their

Kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of thei Kings in their high places.

19 After, he broght me through the entre, which was at the tide of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stode toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West tide of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shal seeth the trespassie offering and the sinne offering, where they shal bake the meat offering, that they shulde not be are them into the vter court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he broght me forthe into the vter court, and caused me to go by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

The great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most likely here set forth, who never leave this destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions, such them Prophets, as Ezekiel, & Daniel, whom he adorned with such great acts of his holy spirit, that Daniel above all other had most special revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivity, to the last end of the world, as to the general resurrection, as of the four Monarchs and empires of all the worlds, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Greeks, & Romans. Also of the certain number of the times even unto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifice should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof; moreover he sheweth Christ's office and the cause of his death which was by his sacrifice to take away sinners, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people under the close, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leave this exercise to his Church until the dead rise again, and Christ gather his into his kingdoms in the heavens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captivity of Lebotain King of Judah. 2 The King chuseeth certain young men of the times to learn his laws. 3 This must the King's ordinance appointed. 4 But this abshau from it.

2d the thirde yere of the teigne of Lebotain: King of Judah, came Nebu- chad-nezr, King of Ba- bel vnto Ieru:iem, & be- seged it.

3 And the Lord gave Ie of Judah into his hand, w parte of the vessels of the house of God, which he carried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

4 And the King spak. vnto: Aispnaz the master of his Eunuches, that he should bring ceterus of the children of Israel, of the Kings feve, and of the princes:

5 Children in whome was no blemish, but wel fauoured, & instinct in all wisdom, and wel fene in knowledge, and able to vt ter knowledge, and fuch as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whome the might teache the s learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

6 And the King appointed them prouision euerie date of a portion of the Kings meat, and of the wine, which he drank, so nourishing the thre yere, that at the end thereof, the might stand before the King.

7 Now among these were ceterine of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mi- shad and Azariah.

8 Vnto whome the chief of the Eunuches of noble byish, that the should be wary & learned, and if the should be of a frog from the nature that the might do him better for me; thus he did for his own commodities therefore it is not to praise his liberal interest in this he is worthy praise, that he esteemed learning, and knew that it was a necessitate means to go out by. 9 That the might forget their own religion, and contrary, faeces, to serve him the better to his purpose; yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did for me and knowledge that was not good; in all poss- ues he refused the abuse of things and superstitions, to mande if he would not eat the meat which the King appointed him, but was content to leave if knowledge of natural things. 10 That by their good mercremeness the might harms to forget the mediocrity of their own people. 11 To the intent that in this time the might be the latter the matter of the Caldeans and al- so their tongue. 12

Afvel to issue as the tablet, as in other offices.

1 give other names: for he called Daniel, Beltchazr, & Hananiah, Shadrach, & Mi- shad, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

2 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile him self with the portion of the Kings meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requi- red if chief of the Eunuches that he might not defile him self.

3 (Now God had broghe Daniel into fa- uour, and tender loue with the chief of the Eunuches)

10 And the chief of the Eunuches said vnto Daniel, "I feate my lord the King, who hath appointed you meat and your drink-therefore if he se your faces worse ly- king then the other children, which are of your forte, the shal, ou make me lose mi- ne head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chief of the Eunuches had ser oues Da- niel, Hananiah, Mishad, and Azariah,

12 Proue thy seruants, I besече thee, ten dares, and let them giue vs pulse to eat, and water to drink.

13 Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eat of the portion of the Kings meat: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dares.

15 And at the end of ten dares, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better ly- king than all the childrens, which did eat the portion of the Kings meat.

16 Thus Melzar toke aware the portion of their meat, and the wine that the should drink, and gaue them pulse.

17 That the might allege- ther forget their religion for the tenes gate their chil- dren names, which might ever put them as remembrance of some poise of religio- ne. therefore this was a gre- nt reutation &c a figure of ser- ueine which they were not able to redef- ue. 18 Not that he thought one re- ligion to be to the meat or drink: for af- terward he did eat; but he canle the King should not in- size it by the fierce purfion to forget his religion & ac- climmed so- bricte, and if in his meat he drink he might day lie remember of what people he was and Daniel bring- ish this in to shew how God from the beginning af- led him with his Spirit, and at length cal- led him to be a Prophet. 19 He supposed that did the for their reli- gion, which was contrary to the Baby lo- man, and the refuse herein he nor manne the his own. 20 Meaning, that within this space he might have the cryil, and that no man should be able to discern it: it that he spoke, be- ing named by the Spirit of God. 21 Not that it was a thing shomishable to the death means and to drink wine, as both before and after this did, but if the should have hereby been wome to the King and have refused that own religion, that meat and drink had been accured. 22 This bare feeling and that also of Moses when he fled from the court of Egypt, declares that we must live to such forerence as God deeth call vs vuse, long he wil not be it more profitable vuse vs, than all demens; for his blessing only infliceth. 23 He

And the King cōmuned with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishiel, and Azariah: therefore fode thei before the King.

And in all matters of wisdom, & vnder standing that the King enquired of them, he founde them ten times better then all the inchanters & astrologians, that were in all his realme.

And Daniel was vnto the first yere of King Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

The dreams of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The King commandeth all the wife men of Babylon to be flaine because they colde not interpret his dreams. 14 Daniel requireth time to fume the quetism. 15 Daniel is brought into the King and fume with him his dreams & the interpretation thereof. 16 Of the everlasting kingdoms of Christ.

And in y second yere of y: eigne of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebuchadnezzar dreamed the names, wherewith his spirit was troubled, & his slope was vpon him. Then the King commanded to call y inchanters, and the astrologians and the forcerers, and the Caldeans for to fume the King his dreames: so thei came and fode before the King.

And the King said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dream, & my spirit was troubled to knowe the dreame.

Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: fumee thy feruants thy dreams, and we shal fumee the interpretation.

And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye wil not make me vnder stand the dream with the interpretation thereof, ye s shalbe drawn in pieces, and your houfes shalbe made a lakes.

But if ye declare the dream and the interpretation thereof, ye shal receive of me gifts and rewardes, and great honiout: therefore fumee me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

Thei answered againe, and said, Let the King fumee his feruants the dream, and we wil declare the interpretation thereof. Then the King answered, and said, I knowe certainly that ye" wolde gaine the time, because ye se the thing is gone fro me.

The word is more ploquent, & therefore the learned vied to spake it: as the Jewish writers do to this day. This is a mile reward of these arrogance (which wanted of the fume that they had the knowledge of all things) that shalde be proven fooles & to their perpetual shame and confusion. Here is appeared their ignorance that notwithstanding their heaps, ye were that not able to tell the dream, except he entered them into the matter, & therefore the: wolde pretende knowledge where was but more ignorance and so as do leaders of the people, that were worthy to dye. "She orders the time.

9 But if ye wil not declare me the dream, there is but one judgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt words, to speake before me til y time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, that I maie knowe, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare y Kings matter: yea, there is neither King nor prince nor Lord that asked fache things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, & there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with fath.

12 For this cause the King was angie and in great furie, and commanded to deftroie all the wife men of Babel.

13 And when sentence was giuen, the wife men were fume: and thei foghe Daniel & his felowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel & wisdom to Arioch the Kings chief steward, which was gone for the to put to death the wife men of Babel.

15 Tea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so haftie from the King? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and defired the King y he wolde giue him leafure & that he wolde fumee the King y interpretation thereof.

17 Then Daniel went to his houfe and fumeed the matter to Hananiah, Mishiel, and Azariah his companions, 18 That thei shalde befeche the God of heauen for grace in this fecret, that Daniel & his felowes shuldenot perish with the rest of the wife men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered & said, "The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his,

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh awaie Kings: he fetteh vp Kigs: he gueeth wisdom vnto the wife, & vnder standing to those that vnder stand.

22 He discovereth the depe & secret thigs: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee & prais: thee, thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast fumeed me now the thing that we defired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

faid thus vnto him, Deftrove not a the wife men of Babél, but bring me before the King, and I wil declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arióch brought Daniél before the King in all halte, and faid thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iu- dáh that were brought captives, that wil declare vnto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the King, and faid vnto Daniél, whose name was Beltefhazzár, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, & I haue fene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniél answered in the pefence of the King, & faid, The fecret which the King hath demanded, can nether the wife, the aftrologians, the inchanters, nor the fouth- faiers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in a beauen that re- ueileth fecrets, and fheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzár what fhall be in the lat- ter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things, & thou haft fene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when y waft in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what fhould come to paffe hereafter, and he that reueileth fecrets, telleth thee, what fhall come.

30 As y for me, this fecret is not fhewed me for ante wifdome that I haue, more then ante other liuing, but onely to fhewe the King the interpretació, and that thou might ft know ye thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou faw: ft, and beholde, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was fo excellent, ftode before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine a golde, his breaft and his armes of filuer, his bellie and his thighs of braffe,

33 His legges of yron, & his fete were parte of yron, and parte of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a ftone was cut without hands, which fmote the image vpon his fete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the braffe, the filuer & the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the fommer floores, and the winde caryed them away, that no place was founde for them: and the ftone that fmote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we wil declare before the King y interpretació the: cof.

37 O King, thou art a King of Kings: for the God of beauen hathe giuen thee a kingdome, power, and ftrength, & glorie.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beafts of the field, and the foules of the heauen hathe he giuen into thine hand, and hathe made thee rules: ouer them all: thou art r this head of golde.

39 And after thee fhall rife another kingdo- me, i inferiour to thee, of filuer, and another r third kingdome fhallbe of braffe, which ſhal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome ſhalbe ſtróg as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, & ſubdueth all things, and as yron brufeth all theſe things, & ſhal it breake in a pie- ces and brufe all.

41 Where as thou ſaweſt the fete and toes, parte of potters clay, and parte of yron: the kingdome ſhalbe a deuided, but there ſhalbe in it of the ſtrength of the yron, as thou ſaweſt the yron mixt with the claye, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the fete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, & ſhal the kingdo- me he partely ſtrong, and partely broken.

43 And where as thou ſaweſt yró mixt with clay & earth, they ſhal mingle them fel- ues with y the fede of men: but they ſhal not joyne one with another, as yron cá not be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of theſe Kings, ſhal the God of heaué ſet vp a kingdome, which a ſhal n. uer be deſtroyed: and this kingdo- me ſhal not be giuen to another people, but it ſhal breake, and deſtroye all theſe kingdomes, and it ſhal ſtand for euer.

45 Where as y ſaweſt, that the a ſtone was cut of the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the braſſe, the clay, the ſiluer and the golde: ſo the great God hathe fhewed the King, what fhall come to paffe hereafter, and the droa me is true, and the interpretation thereof is fure.

46 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzár fel vpon his face, and b bowed him felf vnto Daniél, and commanded that they fhulde and the reueiler of fecrets, feing thou coldest open this fecret.

48 So the King made Daniél a great man, and gaue him manie

CHAP. III.

1 The King set up a golden image. 2 Certain are accused because this despised the Kings commandment, and are put into a burning oven. 3 By belief in God they are delivered from the fire. 4 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the King made an image of gold, whose height was therefore cubites, the breadth thereof six cubites: he set it up in the plain of Durá, in the province of Babél.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King sent for them to gather together the nobles, the princes & the dukes, the judges, the receivers, the counsellors, the officers, & all the governors of the provinces, that they shul- de come to the b dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the c King had set vp.

So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the iud- ges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the offi- cers, and all the gouerners of the prouin- ces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp: and they stode before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cyed aloud, Be it knowe to you, & people, d nations, and langages,

That when ye heave the soud of the cor- ner, trupet, harpe, sackebut, psalteries, dulci- mer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golde image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeh, shal the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fyrie for- nace.

7 Therefore assone as all the people heard y sound of the corner, trupet, harpe, sacke- but, psalterie, & all instruments of musicke, all y people, nations, & langages fel dow- ne, and worshiped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the King had set vp.

8 By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeas, and gricuously accused the lewes.

9 For they spake and said to the King Ne- buchad-nezzar, O King, liue for euer.

10 Thou, & King, halt made a decree, that euerie man that shal heave the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpes, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shal fall downe & worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeh, that he shulde be cast into the middes of an hote fyrie fornace.

12 There are certeine lewes whome thou haft set ouer the charge of the province of Babél, e Shadrách, Mefhách, and Abed- negó: these men, & King, haue not regar- ded thy commandement, neither wil they ferue thy gods, nor worship the gold: n image, that thou haft set vp.

13 Then Nebuchad-n zzar in his angre and wrath commanded that they shulde bring Shadrách, Mefhách, and Abedne- gó: so these men were broght before the King.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto the, What disorder: wil not you, Sha- drách, Mefhách, and Abednegó ferue my god, nor worship the golde image, that I haue set vp?

15 Now therefore are ye ready whe ye hea- re the sound of the corner, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, & worship the image, which I haue made: for if ye worship it not, ye shalde cast immedially into the middes of an hote fyrie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrách, Mefhách, and Abednegó answered & said to the King, O Nebuchadnezzar, we s are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Beholde, our God whome we ferue, is able to deliuer vs si o the hote fyrie fornace, and he wil deliuer vs out of thine hand, & King.

18 But if not, be it known to thee, & King, y we wil not ferue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou haft set vp.

19 Then was Nebuchadnezzar sul of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrách, Mefhách, & Abednegó: therefore he charged and commanded that they shulde heave the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wonte to be heat.

20 And he charged the moste valiant men of warre y were in his armie, to binde Shadrách, Mefhách, and Abednegó, & to cast them into the hote fyrie fornace.

21 So these men were bounde in their coats, their hosh, & their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middles of the hote fyrie fornace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings comman- dement was straite, that the fornace shul- de be exceeding hote, the flame of y fyre flew those men y broght for the Shadrách,

Mefhách and Abednegó.

23 And thefe the men Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó fel downe bounde into the middes of the hote fyrie foinace.

24 ¶ The Nebuchad-nezzár the King was aftoned and rofe vp in hafte, & fpake, and laid vnto his counfellers, Did not we caft the men bounde into the middes of the fyre? Who answered and laid vnto the King, It is true, & King.

25 And he answered, and laid, Lo, I fe foure men loofe, walking in the middes of the fyre, and they haue no hurt, and the foime of the foureth is like the fonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzár came nere to the mouth of the hote fyrie foinace, & fpake and laid, Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó, the feruants of the hie God, go forthe & come hefher: fo Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó came forthe of the middes of the fyre.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counfellers came together to fe thefe men, becaufe the fyre had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heere of their head was burns, nether was their coats changed, nor any smel of fyre came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzár spake and said, "Blessed be the God of Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, & yielded their bodies rather than they wolde serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which shall speak any blasphemy against the God of Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a heap, because there is no god that can deliver after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrách, Mefhách and Abednegó in the province of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzár King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the Lord God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders? his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generacion to generacion.

was answered, to the intent that living me may know, that y moſte high ha the pow-er ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomeſoeur he wil, and appointeth ouer it the moſte abiect among men.

This is the dream, that I King Nebu-chad-nezzar haue fene:
therefore thou, o Belteſhazzár, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wife men of my king-dome ate not able to ſhewe me the interpretation: but thou art able, for the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee.

Then Daniél (whoſe name was Belte-ſhazzár) held his peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, the King ſpake and ſaid, Belteſhazzár, let nether the dream, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteſhazzár answered and ſaid, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

The tree y thou ſaweſt, which was great and mightie, whoſe height reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof through all the worlde,

Whoſe leaues were faire & the frute thereof muche, and in it was meat for all, vn-der, the which the beaſts of the field dwelt, and vpon whoſe branches the foules of the heauen did ſir,

It is thou, o King, y art great & mightie: for thy greatnes is grown, & reacheth vnto heauen, & thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

Where as the King sawe a watchman, & an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tre & def-troy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of vron and braffe lunde it among the grasse of the field, & let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his porcion be with the beasts of the field, 1 til seven times passe ouer him,

This is the interpretation, o King, and it is the deede of the moste high, which is come vpon my lord the King,

That they shal driue thee from men, & thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shal make thee to eat grasse as y oxen, & thei shal wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seven times shal passe ouer thee, til thou knowe, that the moste high beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whome soeuer he wil.

Where as they said, that one shulde lea-ue the ftlope of the tre rootes, thy kingdom shal remaine vnto thee: aftri that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

Wherefore, o King, let my counfel be acceptable vnto thee, and breake of thy finnes by righteousness, & thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: lo, let there be an healing of thine erour.

All theſe things ſhal come vpon y King Nebuchad-nezzar.

At the end of twelue ymoneths, he wal-ked in the royal palace of Babél.

And the King ſpake and ſaid, Is not this great Babél, that I haue buyle for the hou-fe of the kingdom by the might of my power, and for the honour of my male-ftie?

While y worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, ſaying, O King Nebuchad nezzár, to thee be it ſpoken, Thy kingdom is departed from thee,

And they ſhal driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhalbe with the beaſts of the field: they ſhal make thee to eat graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeuen times ſhal paſſe ouer thee, vntil thou knoweſt, that y moſt high beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, & giueth it vnto whome foeuer he wil.

The very ſame houre was this thing ful-filled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eat graſſe as the oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dewe of heauen, til his herres were grown as egles feathers and his nailes like birds clawes.

And at the end of ſhoſe 1 dayes I Nebu-chad-nezzar lift vp mine cies vnto heaué, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the moſte high, and I praized and honored him that liueh for euer, whose power is an euerla-fting powes, and his kingdom is from ge-neracion to generacion.

And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his wil he worketh in the armie of heauen, & in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can ftay his hand, nor fay vnto him, What doeft thou?

At the fame time was mine vnderftan-ding reftored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdom: my glorie and my beautie was reftored vnto me, and my counfellours ¹ and my princes foght vnto me, & I was eftablifhed in my king-dome, and my glorie was augmented tow-ard me.

Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzar prai fe, and extoft & magnifie the King of hea-uen, whose workes are all tiueh, and his wayes iudgement, and thofe that walke in pride, he is able to abafe.

Daniël. Like father, like fonne.

a Daniël re- crisch this be- fore of King Belfhazzár & nilmerodach's fonne, to shewe Gods indge- ment against the wicked, for the deli- nance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Se- remih was true, that they shulde be de- liuered after limous years. b The Kings of the Sall par- ces then vied to fit alone co- munely, & dif- dained, and shulde fit in their copanies; and now to shewe his power, & how little he is by his enemies, & then befirged Babylon, he ma- ne a fuleme banker, & vied excess to their copanies which is not here by drinking wines thus the wic- led are mofte diffolute, and

King a Belfhazzár made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

And Belfhazzár whiles he tafted the wi- ne, commanded to bring him the golden and filuer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzár had broght from the Tem- ple in Ierufalém, that the King and his princes, his wife, and his concubines might drinke therein.

Then were broght the goldé vessels, that were také out of the Temple of the Lords houfe at Ierufalém, and the King and his princes, his wines, and his concubines drá- ke in them.

They dróke wine and praifed the d gods of golde, and of filuer, of braffe, of yron, of wood and of fone.

At the same house appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e against the candlestick vpon the plaister of the wall of the Kings palace, & the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioyntes of his loines were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

Wherefore the King cryed loud, that they shulde bring e the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare me the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, & shall haue a chain of golde about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.

Then came all the Kings wise men, but they coulde neither read the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretation.

Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were affrighted.

Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holie gods, and in the dayes of thy father light and vnder-standing & wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whome the King Nebuchad-nezzár thy father the King,
I say, thy father, made chief of the enchanters, astrologians,
Caldeans, and soothsayers,

Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expounde dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolved doubts) were found in him, even in Daniël, whome the King named Belteshazzár: now let Daniël be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

Then was Daniël brought before the King, and the King spake and said vnto Daniël, Art thou that Daniël, which art of the children of the captivity of Iudáh, whome my father the King brought out of Iewrie.

Now I haue heard of thee, that knowest the spirit of the holie gods in thee, & that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

Now therefore women, and astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they shoulde read this writing, and shewe me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

Then heard I of thee, that thou cōldeſt ſhewe interpretations, and diffolue dou- tes: now if thou canſt read the writing, & ſhewe me the interpretation thereof, thou ſhalt be clothed with purple, & ſhalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and ſhalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

Then Daniël answered, and faid before the King, Kepe thy rewardes to thy ſelf, & giue thy gifts to another: yet I wil read the writing vnto the King and ſhewe him the interpretation.

O King, heave thou, The moſte high God gaue vnto 1 Nebuchad-nezzár thy father a kingdome, and maieſtie and honour and glorie.

And for the maieſtie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and langages trumbled, & feared before him: he put to death whome he wolde: he fmote whome he wolde: who- me he wolde he fet vp, & whome he wolde he put downe.

But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was depofed from his kinglie throne, and they toke his honour from him.

And he was driuen from the fonnes of men, & his heart was made like the beaſts, and his dwelling was with the wilde affes: they fed him with graffe like oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dewe of the heauen, til he knew, that the moſte high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of me, and that he appointeth ouer it, whome fo- euer he pleaſeth.

And thou his fonne, ó Belfhazzár, haft not húbled thine heart, thogh thou knew- eft all theferthings,

But haft lift thy felf vp againft the Lord of heauen, and they haue broght the vessels of his Houfe before thee, & thou and

Then at the commandement of Bel- shazzar they clothed Daniél with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamacion concerning him that he shulde be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

The same night was Bellshazzir y King of the Caldeans slaine.

And Darius of the Medes toke y king- dome, being threscore and two yere olde.

CHAP. VI.

Daniél is made ruler over the governors. 1 An alle against Daniél 16 He is put into a dome of lyons by the commandement of the King 23 He is delivered by faith in God 24 Daniels accusers are put unto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniél

IT pleased Darius to set over the king- dome an hundredth and twenty-gouernours, which shulde be ouer y whole king- dome.

And ouer these, thre rulers (of whom Daniél was one) that the governours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King shulde haue no damage.

Now this Daniél was preferred about the rulers and governours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

Wherefore theruleis and governours fought an occasion against Daniél concerning the kingdome: but they colde finde none occasio nor faute: for he was so faithful that there was no blame nor faute founde in him.

Then said these me, We shal not finde an occasion against this Daniél, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

Therefore the rulers and these governours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for ouer. All the rulers of thy kingdome the officers and governours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted, together to make a decree for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shal aske a petition of anie god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, o King, he shalbe cast into the denne of Lyons.

8 Now, o King, cofirme the decree, and feale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniél vnderstode that he had fealed the writing, he went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeied vpon his knees three times a day, & prayed and praised his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and founde Daniél praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not fealed the decree, that euerie man that shal make request to anie god or ma with- in thirtie dayes, saue to thee, o King, shalbe cast into the denne of lyons The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the King, This Daniél which is of the children of the captiuntie of Judah, regardeth not thee, o King, not the decree, that thou hast fealed, but maketh his peticion the times a day.

14 When the King heard these words, he was fore displeased with him self, and set his heart on Daniél, to deliuer him: and he laboured til the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and said vnto the King, Vnderstand, o King, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute, which the King confirmeth, may be altered.

16 Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniél, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniél, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, enen he wil deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layed vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, & with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniél.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, nether were the instruments of musicke broght before him, and his stepe went from him.

19 Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

4 Henle treb- densed the wickednes of the King, who wolde be set vp as a god, & passed not what wicked lawes he ap- proued for the misbeoues of the same e Because he wolde not by his slders show that he confen ted to this wre bed decree, he set open his windows to- ward Jerusalem, when he prayed: both to shire vp his self with the remembrance of Gods pro- miles to his people when they shulde pray towarde that Temple, & also y others might se that he wolde ne- ther confen in heart nor dede for these sewe dayes to anie thing that was conuerate to Gods glorie.

f Thus the wicked man- mine soul lawes by confanour, and suroutie, which is oft times either lightenes, or subbentes when as the innocents the- rely perish: & therefore go- vernours nether oght to feare nor be assamed to breake facha.

commanded that thei fluide cake Daniél out of the denne: fo Daniél was broght out of the denne, and no manet of hure was founde vpon him, becaufe he beeleued in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the Kig thefe men which had accufed Daniél, were broght, & were 'catt into y denne of had the maffrie of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or Christ's dominion.

Daniel, The Sainctes consumed.

u That is, an infant number of Angels, & were ready to execute his commanded men.

u This is most of the first of many of Christ when at y will of God was plainely reces- ted by his God pell.

y Meaning, y he was ad- menced, when he saw these sinperours in fe- che dignities, & pride, & so did dely destroyed in the clining of Christ who this fourth monarchian was falsed to men of other natis- ons.

a As the other former monar- chias had an end at the time that God ap- proved, of- though that son rified for a time, so that this fourth ha- ne & they that passively she- de Gods appel- ment, that lany the pro- mises.

a Which is most of Christ who had not yet taken upon him into nam- re, neither was the Son of David accor- ding in y self, & he was of served to; but appeared then in a figure, and that in y clon- des - that is, being figure from the com- moner force of men by man- fele figure of his domin- ion.

b To wit, wh he afforded into the hea- nem, and his dinner man- fele appeared, and all power was good vain him in re- flect of that that he was our Mediter- • That is most of the beginning of Christ's kingdom when God the Father gave vain him all dominion, as to the Meditions, to the intent that he shall be governed by his Church in earth continually till the time there he brought the to crystallize. d Through the Bridges of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as ver in f Because Abraham was ap- proved hears of all y wor- side. Ro 4, 21 & in him all the faithful, therefore y kingdoms thereof is theirs by right, which thees four bea- tes or tyrants should be made, and where until the y oride were restored by Christ and this was so con- sume them that were in terrible, that their affi- ftible shall be him an end at light. g That is, of the moths his things, because God had the chosen them out of this wor- side, y they should take up to the heamen, whereas all their hope dependeth. h For the other three monarch- ists were governed by a King, and the Roman empire by Confid- ial the Romans changed their government y freely, & the other monarchists retained them for terms of life; also the Romans were the thought of all the other, and were never quiet among them felons. Read ver of his head like the pure woll; his throne was like the fyrie flame, or his wheles as burning fyre.

10 A fyrie ftreame yffued, and came for the from before him: thoufand thoufands mi- nifred vnto him, and ten thoufand thou- fands ftole before him: the iudgement was fet, and the bokes opened.

11 Then I behelde, y becaufe of the voyce of the prefumptuous wo des, which the horne fpake: I behelde, euen til the beaft was flaine, and his bodie deftroyed, and giuen to the burning fyre.

12 As c concerning the other beaftes, thei had taken awaie their dominion yet their liues were prolonged for a certeine time and feafon.

13 As I behelde in vifons by night, be- holde, one like the Sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and b approached vnto the Ancient of daies, & thei brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, & honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and langages fualde ferue him: his dominion is an euer lafting dominion, which fhall neuer be taken awaie: and his king- dome fhall neuer be deftroied.

15 ¶ I Daniél was d troubled in my fpirit, in the middes of my bodie, and the vifi- ons of mine head made me afraied.

16 Therefore I came vnto e one of them that ftole by, and afked him the trueth of all this: fo he tolde me, and fhewed me the interpretation of thefe things.

17 Thefe great beaftes which are foure, are foure Kings, which fhall arife out of the earth,

18 And thei fhall take the f kingdom of the Sainctes of the a moft high, and poffeffe the kingdom for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After thir, I wolde knowe the trueth of the fourth beaft, w was fo b vlike to all the others, very feareful, whofe teeth were of yron, and his nailes of braffe: which de- loured, brake in pieces, and ftamped the residue vnder his fete.

20 Alfo to knowe of the ten hornes that we- re in his head, & of the other which came vp, before whome thre fell, and of the hoc-ne that had eyes, and of the mouth that fpake prefumptuous things, whofe k lome was more ftoute then his felowes. 21 I behelde, & the fame l horne made bat- tel againft the Sainctes, yea, and preuailed againft them, 22 Vntil a the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuen to the Sainctes of the moſte high: and the time approched, that the Sainctes poffeffed the kingdome. 23 The he faid, The fourth beaft ſhalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which ſhal be vlike to all the kingdomes, and ſhal deuoure the whole earth, and ſhal treade it downe and breake it in pieces. 24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that ſhal riſe: & another ſhal riſe after the, and he ſhalbe vlike to the firſt, and he ſhal ſubdue o thre Kings, 25 And ſhal ſpeake wordes againft o the moſte high, & ſhal cofume the Sainctes of the moſte high, & thinks y he maie p chan ge times and lawes, and thei ſhalbe giuen into his hand, vntil a t time, and times & the deuding of time. 26 But the e iudgement ſhal fit, & thei ſhal take awaie his dominion, to confume and deſtroie it vnto the end. 27 And the f kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnes of the kingdome vndes y who he heauen ſhalbe giuen to the holie people of the moſte high, whoſe kingdome is an euer laſting kingdome & all c powers ſhal ſerue and obeie him. 28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Da- niél had manie x cogitations which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the mattes in mine heart.

b This is mfe of the foure the beaſt, which was more terrible then the oth: i

I f behelde, & the fame l horne made bat- tel againft the Saintes, yea, and preuailed againft them,

2 Vntil a the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuen to the Sainctes of the moſte high: and the time approched, that the Sainctes poſſeffed the kingdome.

3 The he ſaid, The fourth beaft ſhalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which ſhal be vlike to all the kingdomes, and ſhal deuoure the whole earth, and ſhal treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

4 And the ten hornes out of this kingdo- me are ten Kings that thocht I was by the riner of Vlái.

Then I lewed vp and fawc, and beholde, there stode before the riner a rame, which had two homes: and these two homes were hie: but one was hier then another, & the hieft came vp last.

I fawc the 1am puffing against y Weft and against the North, and against the South: so that no beaftes might stande before him, nor colde deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and beca- me great.

And as I considered, beholde, a goat ca- me from the Weft ouer the whole earth, & touched not the ground: & this goat had an horne that appeared between his eyes.

And he came vnto the ram that had the two homes, whome I had fene standing by the riner, and ranne vnto him in his fitce rage.

And I fawc him come vnto the ramme, & being moued against him, he h fmote the ramme, and braks his two homes: & there was no power in the rame to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the groside, and stamped vpon him, & there was none that colde deliuer the ramme out of his power.

Therefore y goat waxed exceedig great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horne was broken: and for it came vp fou- re that h appeared towards the foure win- des of the heauen.

And out of one of them came forthe a little horne, which waxed very great tow- arde the s South, and towards the e East, and towards the e pleasant land.

Yes, it grew vp vnto the p hoste of hea- uen, and it cast downe fume of the hoste, & of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them,

And extolled him self against the sprin- ce of the hoste from whome the e dailie fa- crifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

And a time shalbe giue him ouer the dai lie sacrifice for the iniquitie: & it shal cast downe the truen to the ground, & thus shal it do, and prosper.

Then I heard one of the s Sainctes spea- king, & one of y Sainctes spake vnto a cer

14 And a he answered me, Vnto the e cue- ning and the morning, two thousand and thre hundredth: then shal the Sanctuarie be- clenfed.

15 Now when I Daniël had fene the vi- sion, and foght for the meaning, beholde, there stode before me b like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce between the bankes of Vlái, which called and faid, Ga- briël, c make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stode: and when he came, I was afraised, and fel vpon my face: but he faid vnto me, Vnderstand, d fonne of man: for d in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being a slepe fel on my face to the groun- de: but he touched me, and fet me vp in my place.

19 And he faid, Beholde, I wil shewe thee what shal be in the last e vrtath: for in the end of the time appointed is shal come.

20 The ramme which thou faweft hauing two homes, are the Kings of the Medes & Persians.

22 And that that is broken, and foure sto- de vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shal stand vp f of that nacion, but not s in his strength.

23 And in the end of their kingdoms, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a King of h fierce countenance, and vnderstanding date sentences, shal stand vp.

26 And the vision of the p euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: there- fore scale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many daies.

Yet compaffion and forgiuenes is in the Lord our God, albeit

For we haue not obeied y h voice of the Lord our God, to Yea, all Ifraél haue tranfgreffed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voice: therefore the 1 curffe is powred vpon vs, & the othe that is written in the lawe of Mofes the feruant of God, becaufe we haue finned againft him.

14 Therefore hathe the Lord" made readie the plague, and broght it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his wor- kes which he doeth: fot we wolde not hea- re his voice.

IN the third yere of Cyrus King of Persia, a thing was revealed were fulfilled.

And in the foure & twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the fide of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

7 And I Daniél alone sawe the vififo: for the me that were with me, sawe not the vififo: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid them selues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, and sawe this great vifion, & there remained no stréngth in me: for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retened no power. Yet heard I the voyce of his wordest: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I slept on my face: and my face was towards the grounde.

10 And beholde, an hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands,

12 Then laid he vnto me, Feare not, Dani- él: for from the first day that thou didest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy self before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wor- des.

HOSEA.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stede of his true service commanded by his wode worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giving them selues to mofte vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophetes to call them to repentance: but they grieve ever worfe and worfe, and stil abosed Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Iosth, God sent Hosea and Amot to the Israelites: (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to cidemne them of their ingratitude: and where as they thought them selues to be greatly in the favour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them barfards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God wode take away their kingdome, and give them to the Affyrans to be led away captives. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of senentie yeres, though they remained stil in their vices & wickednes, & devided the Prophetes, & contemned Gods judgements. And because they shulde nether be discouraged with threatnings: only, nor yet flatter them selues by the swetenses of Gods promise, he setteth before them the two principal partes of the Law, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first parte he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whome only they shulde haue true deliuerance: and for the seconde, he vesth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked manes and vices, & thus the chief scope of all the Prophetes, ether by Gods promises to allure them to be godlie, els by threatnings of his judgements to feare them fro vice: & albeit that the whole Law conteine these two paines, yet the Prophetes moreover note peculiarly bothe the time of Gods judgements and the maner.

The Prophet Ioël firft rebuketh them of Judah, that being new

Secondly he threateneth greater plagues, because they grow daily to a more hardener of heart, & rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart because they had grievously offended God. And for doing, he promifeth, that God will be merciful, & not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers but will fend his Christ who shall gather the scattered sheep, and restore them to life, and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had lived as is were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their finnes wil punish them, that thei colde lote for nothing, but an horrible destructive, excepts thei turned to the Lord by voxained repentance. And finally, he Messiah, by whom thei shulde haue perfoe deliverance and

1 Haue ye this worde, which I life vp vpon you, cum a lamentacion of the houfe of Ifraél.

2 The 3 virgine Ifraél is fallen, and fhal no more life: the is left vpon her land, & the- re = none to raise her vp.

3 For thus faith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, fhal lea- ue an 4 hundredth: and that which went for- the by an hundredth, fhal leaue ten to the houfe of Ifraél.

4 For thus faith the Lord vnto the houfe of Ifraél, Seke ye me, and ye fhal liue.

5 But feke not Beth-él, nor enter into Gil- gál, and go not to Beer-fhéha: for Gilgál fhal go into capitulite, and Beth-él fhal come to naught.

6 Seke the Lord, and ye fhal liue, left he breake out like fyre in the houfe of Iofeph and deuouie it, & there be none to quenche it in Beth-él.

10 They haue hated him, 11 that rebuked in the gate: and they

The Idumeans, which came of Efau, were mortal enemies alway to the Ifraelites, which came of I aakób, therefore did not only vexe them continually with fondry kindes of crueltie, but alſo ſtirred vp others to fight againſt them. THE ARGUMENT.

WHEN Ionáh had long prophesied in Israel and had little profited, God gave him expresse charge to go, and denounce his judgements against Ninuch the chief critic of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that thei which were of the heathen, shulde convert by the mightie power of his words, and that within three daies preaching, that Israel might se how horribly thei had pro- posed Gods wreath, which for the space of so many yeres, had not converted to the Lord for so many Prophetes and so diligent preaching. He prophesied under Iosáh, and Ieroboam, as 2 King 14,25.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah served in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the hast thirtie peres at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction first of the one kingdom, and then of the other, because of their manifolde wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatra. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the primor and governours, and the permission of the false prophetes, and the delisting in them. Then he seteth for the coming of Christ, his kingdom, & the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah which resisted Ahab, & all his false prophetes, as I. King, 22, 8, but another of the same name.

1 The destruction of Iudah & Israel because of their idolatra.

a Borne in Ma rishah a case of Iudah

b Because of the malice, & obfluence of people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he famooeth the to God's judgements taking all creatures, & God him self to witness, that the preaching of his Prophets, & they na ne abused, that he reunged c Meaning hereby that God wil come to judgement against y strong citte & holdes d Samaria, & shulde have been an eaple to all Israel of true religio & justice, was y puddle, and shews of all idolatra, and corruption, & boushed them selves of their father Iaskob-e. 1 Not in the idolatra and selection f Which they gathered by evil practices, & taught that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their service vnto them.

He worde of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the a Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which he sawe cu cerning Samaria and Ierufalem.

1 Iufalem.

2 Heare, b all ye people: hearken thou, o earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witness against you, even the Lord from his holie Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord cometh out of his place, and wil come c downe, & tread vpo the hie places of the earth.

4 And the moutaines that melt vnder him (so that the valleis cleaue) as waxe before the fyre, & as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednes of Iaskob is all this, & for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iaskob Is not a Samaria & which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ierufalem?

6 Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the field, & for the planting of a vineyards, and I wil cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, & I wil discover the fundacions thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shalbe broken, and all the gifts thereof shalbe burnt with the fyre, and all the idoles thereof wil I destroye: for the gathered it of the hyre of an harlot, and they shal returhad enriched them therewith for their service vnto them.

ne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I wil mowne & houle: I wil go without clothes, and naked: I wil make lamentacion like the dragons, & mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemye is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierufalem.

10 Declare ye it not at b Gath, nether wepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy self in the duft.

11 Thou that dwellest at sShaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwellest at Zaanan, shal not come for the in y mourning of Beth-Exel: the enemye shal i teceue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but evil came from the Lord vnto the m gate of Ierufalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beaftes o of price: she o is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moretheth b Gath: the houfes of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the Kings of Israel.

15 Yet wil I bring an a heire vnto thee, o inhabitant of Marethah, he shal come vnto Adullam, the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children:
enlarge thy baldenes as the egle, for they are gone into captuitie from thee.

1 Iufalem o Thou first receded y idolatra of Iaroboam, & Ierufalem p Thou shalt bribe y Philiations thy neighbours, but they shal deceive thee, as wel as thee of Ierufalem q He propheseth against her owne citte, & because it signified an heritage, he said y God wode tend an heave to prescribe it r
For so they thought them selves for the strength of their citte.

CHAP. III.

Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophecies.

And I faid, Heare, I pray you, o heads of Iaakób, and ye princes of the houfe of Ifrael: ffulde not ye knowe judgement

2 But they hate the good, & loue the euil; thei plucke of their fkinnes from them, & their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eat alfo the flesh of my peo- ple, and flay of their fkinne from them, & they breake their bones, & chop them in pieces, as for the pot, & as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then v fhal they crye vnto the Lord, but he wil not heare them: he wil eue hide his face from them at that time, becaufe they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus faith the Lord, Cocerning the pro- phetes that difceue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and crye peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepetate waire against him,

6 Thezefore v night fhalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenes fhalbe vnto you for a diunation, and the funne fhal go down

7 Then fhall the Seers be afnamed, and the fothe-faiers confounded: yea, they fhall all couet their lippes, for they haue none an fwer of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding I am full of powe by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgment and of ftrength to declare vnto Iakób his tranfgreffion, and to Ifrael his finne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the houfe of Iakób, and princes of the houfe of Ifrael: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They buyld vp Zion with blood, and Ierufalem with iniquitie.

He sheweth that there is no true Church but where as the people are toughly Gods pure words & by his cor- rections and in the ve- nooth corners of the world. They shall absture from all evil doings, and exercise them selves in godines & in well doing to others. I had I a 2,4 g He sh which that the peo- ple of a Yea, many nacians shal come and say, Co- me, and let vs go vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iaakôh, and he wil c teache vs his waies, & we wil walke in his paths: for the Law shal go for the of Zion, and the worde of the Lord from Ierufalem.

And he shal iudge among many people, & 4 rebuke mightie nacians a farre of, & thei shal breake their fwordes into mattockes, and their speares into c fiefs: nacion shal not life vp a fworde against nacion, nether shal they flearne to fight any more.

But thei shal fit euey ma vnder his vine, and vnder his fig tre, and none shal make them afiated: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

For all people wil walke e euey one in the name of his god, and we wil walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer

At the fame day, faith the Lord, wil I ga- ther her that halteth, and I wil gather her that is cast out, & her that I haue afflicted.

And I wil make her that halted, a 1 cm- nant, & her that was cast farre of, a migh- tie nacion: and the Lord shal eigne ouer them in Mount Zion, from hence for the e- uen for euer.

And thou, d t tovere of the flocke, y strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shal it come, euen k the first

Now why doest thou crye out with lame- tacion h it there no thee, as a woman in travail.

Sorow and mourne, d daughter Zion, like a woman in travail:
for now shalt thou go for the of the citie, and dwell in the field, & shalt go into Babel, but thee shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shal redeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying,
Zion shall be condemned and our eye shall look upon Zion.

But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they understand not his counsel, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barn.

Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine house strong, and I will make thine houses many, & thou shalt break in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches unto the Lord, and their substance unto the ruler of the whole world.

In God gineth his Church this victory so oft as he overcometh their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall be at the last coming of Christ

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godlie, which indure all kindle of affliction or crueltie, and yet can se none end. Therefore he had this revelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans shulde come and take them awaie captives, so that they colde loke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornness and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godlie shulde despise, seeing this horrible confusion, be comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithful to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they shulde comfort them selues.

THE ARGUMENT.

S Sing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he de- nounceeth the great judgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countries fnalde be veterly destroyed, and they carried away captives by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithful he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabies, Af- frians and others, to assure them that God had a communal care over them. And as the wicked fnalbe punished for their fumes and transgressions: fo he exhorteth the godlie to pacience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the fre promes of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quiet- ly to abydle to God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they fnalbe ga- thered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the eunite yeres captuutie prophesied by Jeremiah, was expired, God vai- sed vp Haggái, Zechariah and Malachi to comfort the Jews and to exhorte them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose per- fection and excellencie stod: in Christ. And because that all were given to their owne pleasures & commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent them among them, was a juste rewarde of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had delivered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they wil returne to the Lord, with the promises of greater felicitie, for as much as the Lord wil finish the works that he hathe begonne, and send Christ whome he had promised, and by whome they shulde attesse to persue ivy and glorie.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophecies of Haggái. 1 An exhortación to N the fecode yere of King a Darius, in the fixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord (by the miniterie of the Prophet Haggái) vnto b Zerub

the fonne of Ie- hozadák the hie Priest, faying,

2 Thus fpeaketh f Lord of hoftes, faying, This people fay, The

3 Then came the worde of the Lord by the minifterie of f Prophet Haggái, faying,

4 Is it time for your felues to dwell in your flied houfes, & this Houfe lie wafte?

5 Now therefore thus faith the Lord of hoftes, Confider your owne waies in your hearts.

6 c Ye haue fowen muche, & bring in litter ye eat, but ye haue not ynought ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earmeth wages, putreth the wages into a broken bagge.

7 Thus faith the Lord of hoftes, Confider your owne waies in your hearts.

8 Go f vp to the mountaine, & bring wood, & buyld this Houfe, & c I wil be fauora- ble in it, and I wil b be glorified, faith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe vpon it. And why, faith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine Houfe that is wafted, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne houfe.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you failed it self from dewe, and the earth failed her fruite.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corn, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the grounde bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehohúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voice of the Lord their God, & the wordes of the Prophet Haggái (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggái the Lords messenger in the Lords meflage vnto the people, saying, I am with you, faith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp in the spirit of Zerubbabél, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudáh, and the spirit of Iehohúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the Houfe of the Lord of hoftes their God.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begonne to prophecie, Zechariah was also fent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to fofume the fame doctrine. Fieft therefore he puteth them in re- membrance, for what cause God had fo fore pumfthed their fathers: and yet comforteth this, if they wil repent vnft: medly, or not abue the great benefice of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithful fholde haue from death and fome by Christ. But because they ftill remained in their wickedness: and coldness to fet folthe Gods glorie, or were not yet made better by their long banffhen: &c, he rubuteth the moft fharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he ever mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanas be prepared to receiue Christ, in whome all fholde be fanfi: fted to the Lord.

a Of the returns of the people unto Ierusalém, and of the mercia of God towards them, 16 Of good works, as The calling of the Gentiles.

c A Gaine the words of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying, that unto Shulde do her and mine.

for Zion with great ielouise, & I was ie- lous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus faith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zión, and wil dwell in the middes of Ie- rusalém, & Ierusalém shalbe called a b ci- tie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holie Mountaine.

4 Thus faith y Lord of hostes, Thee shal yet olde c men and olde women dwell in the Stretes of Ierusalém, and euerie man writ his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the Stretes of the citie shalbe ful of boyes and girles, playing in the Stretes thee of.

6 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, Thogh it be v vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, shulde it thee fore be vnpossible in my fight, faith the Lord of hostes

7 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil deliuer my people from the East co- trey, and from the West country.

8 And I wil bring them, & they shal e dwell in the middes of Ierusalém, and they shal be my people, and I wil be their God in trueth and in righteousness.

9 Thus faith the Lord of hostes, Let your hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophecies, which were in the day, that the fundacion of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be buylded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hier for man nor anie hier for beast, nether was there anie peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euerie one against his neigh- bour.

11 But now, I wil not intreate the residue of this people as afore time, faith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the fede shalbe prosperous: the vine shal giue her frute, and the ground shal giue her increase & the heau ns shal giue their dewe, & I wil cause the remnant of this people to possess all these things.

13 And it shal come to pass, that as ye were a curse among the heath, & house of Iudáh, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, & ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus faith the Lord of hostes, As I thoght to punish y you: when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, faith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to do wel vnto Ierusalém, and to the house of Iudáh: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal do. Speake ye euerie man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vpightly in your gate.

b Because the shalbe faith- ful, and loyal towards me her Lord yet God wolded to me, and do all among them, & so preserve them so big as nature wolded suffer them to line, and darren so olives shall cleave in the middes thereof: toward the East & toward the West there shall be a very great valley, & halfe of the moutaine shall remove towards the North, and halfe of the mountaine towards the South.

5 And ye shall fle vnto the valley of the moutaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall teache vnto Azál: yea, ye shall flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudáh: and the Lord is my God shall come & all the Saintes with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darle.

7 And there shall be a day (it is known to y Lord) heathen day not night, but about the evening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there waters of life go out from Ierusalém, halfe of the towards the East sea, & halfe of them towards the vtermoft sea, & shall be, both in some and winter.

14 But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euerie one shall take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the affe and of all the beasts that be in these tenies as this plague.

16 But it shall come to paffe that euerie one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalém, shall go vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so wil not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalém to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the familie of y Egypt go not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith y Lord wil finite all the heathen, that come not vp to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, & the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the bridels of y hostes, The holines vnto the Lord, and the pottes in the Lords House shall be like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euerie pot in Ierusalém and Iudáh shall be holie vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them and seeth therein: and in that day there shall be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet was one of the three, which God was set up for the comfort of his Church after the captions, and after him there was no more visit. John Baptiste was sent, which was either a token of God's wrath, or an admonition that they should with more fervent desires take for the comming of Messiah. He confirmed the same doctrine, that the two former do, but chiefly he reprove the Priests for their countenances, and for that they found God after their own fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his words. He also noted certain peculiar sinners, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and manic wines, mummings against God, impacient, and sinful like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godlie he declared that God would not forget his promise made unto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and toyne unto the godlie.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is a polluted, and the frute thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Beholde, is a weariness, and ye haue shuffled at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offred that which was torne & the lame and the sicke: thus ye offred an ofring: shulde I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THESE bokes that follow in order after the Prophetes vnto the Newe testament, are called Apocrypha, that is bokes, which were not received by a comune consent to be red and expounded publickly in the Church, nether yet ferued to prove any point of Christian religion, saue in asmuche as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bokes proceeding from godlie men, were received to be red for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the hister, or for the instruction of godlie maners: which bokes declare that at all times God had an especial care of his Church and left them not utterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witness that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophetes, and so brought it to pass for the destruction of their enemies, and for the tryal of his children.

And Iosias kept the Pafseouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Pafseouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

And appointed Priests in order according to their dailie courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they shulde sanctifie them selues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Daud had buylt,

4 And said, Ye shal no more beare the Arke vpon your shulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Daud King of Israel, and according to the majestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the ordre of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in ordre the Pafseouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethre, and kepe the Pafseouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kiddes with thre thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promest, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites.

Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Pafseouer two thousand shepe, and thre hundred calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonas, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Pafseouer five thousand shepe and seuen hundred calues.

Or, Israel.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stode in ordre, hauing vnleauened bread according to tribes,

Or, Hasidias Or, Israel. Or, Chroab.

11 And after the ordre of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offre to the Lord, as it is writen in the bokes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

Exod. 12, 2.

12 And they rosted the Pafseouer with fyre as apperteined, & they sod their offrings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes,

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offred the fatte vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make ready for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, accordig to the appointed ordinances of Daud, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and Eddimus, which was of the Kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at euerie gate, so that it was not lawful, & anie slulde passe his ordinarie watchet: for their brethre the Leuites made readie for them.

17 And in that day those things which apperteined to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offre the Cecc. iii.

18 And the porters were at euerie gate, so that it was not lawful, & anie slulde passe his ordinarie watchet: for their brethre the Leuites made readie for them.

Passeouer,

18 And ostre sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen daies.

20 And there was not suche a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not ostre suche a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priestes, and the Leuites, and the Lewes, and all Israel, which were sounde to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eightenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpriht before his Lord with a heart ful of godlines.

24 And concerning y things which came to passe an his time, they are writen before, to wse, of those that finned & did wickedly against the Lord aboue euerie nacion and kingdome, and grueued him with sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stode vp against Israel.

25 Now after all these actes of Iosias it came to passe that when Pharaos King of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But y King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, o King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: departe from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias wolde not tuine backe his chariot fro him, but prepared him self to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set him self in battell array against him in the field of Megeddo, & the princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King said to his seruants, Conuaye me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his seconde chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buryed in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wuues did lament him vnto this day: & this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euerie one of the actes y Iosias did, & his glorie, and his knowledge in the lawe of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rebrysed are registred in the boke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nacion toke Ioachaz a King, 23, 31 the sonne of Iosias, and made him King a chre. 30, 31 in steade of his father Iosias, when he was thre and twentie yere olde.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem thre moneths: for the King of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, & one talent of gold.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioacim his brother King of Iudea & Ierusalem.

38 And he bounde Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and siue yere olde was Ioacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euil in the sigt of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who whe he had boude him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor toke of the holie vessels of the Lord, & caryed the away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproche are written in the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made King, he was eightene yere olde.

44 And he reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

45 So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and broght him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias King of Iudea and Ierusalem when he was one and twen tie yere olde, & he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And he did euil in y sight of the Lord, nether did he feare the wordes spoken by Ier. 32, 33, Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that he was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forsware him self by the Name of the Lord and fel away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouerners of the people, and the Priests comitted many things against the lawes and passed all the pollutions of all nacions, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

and his owne Taber nacle.

51 But thei derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord fpae vnto them, thei mocked his Prophetes,

52 So that he, being moued to angre againft his people for their great wickednes, commanded the Kings of the Chaldeas to in-uade them.

53 Thefe killed their yong men with the fworde roide about their holie Temple, nether did they fpare yong man, nor maiden, nether olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered the all into their hads, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, bothe great & finale with the vessels of the Ark: of God: and they toke, & caryed away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And this fet fyre in the Houfe of y Lord and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem and burnt their towres with fyre.

56 They confumed alfo all the precious things thereof, & brought them to noght, and thofe that were left by the fworde, he caryed away into Babylon.

57 And they were feruants to him, & to his children til the Perfians reigned, to fulfil the worde of the Lord by the mouth of *Ieremias,

1 Cyrus gaue laene to the Iewes to returne. 10 He fem the h ly aduersaries did let their buylding, and the Kings letters for the fame.

1 N*the firft yere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Perfians, to fulfil the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias,

2 The Lord raifed vp the fpirit of Cyrus King of the Perfians, and he made proclamation through out all his kingdome, e-uin by exprefse lettres,

3 Siying, Thus faith Cyrus King of the Perfians, The Lord of Israel, euen the moſte high Lord, hathe made me King o-uer the whole worlde,

4 And he hathe commanded me to buyld him an Houſe in Ierufalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be anie therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, eue his Lord be with him, & let him go vp to Ierufalem, which is in Iudea & buyld the Houſe of y Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierufalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places rounde about, thofe, I fay, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and filuer,

7 With giftes, with horfes and cattel, and other things, which fhall be brought, according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierufalem.

8 Then arofe the chief of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests & Leuites, & all whofe minde the Lord had moued to go vp, and buyld an Houfe to the Lord in Ierufalem.

9 And thofe that were about them, helped them in all things with filuer and golde, horfes, and cattel, and with diuers vowes of many whofe mindes were firred vp.

10 Alfo King Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodo-nofor had caryed out of Ierufalem, and had confecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Perfians had brought them out, he deliuered the to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whome they were giuen to *Abaffar the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thou-fand golden cuppes, and a thoufand filuer cuppes, bafens of filuer for the factifices, nine and twentie viores, of golde thirtie, and of filuer two thoufand, foure hudreth and ten, and a thoufand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and filuer, which thei caried away, were fue thoufad, foure hundreth, thre fcore and nine.

15 They were broght by Sanabaffar with them of the captiutie of Babylon to Ierufalem.

16 But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Perfians Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beel-tethmus, & *Semellius the fecretaire, & o-thers which were joyneo to thefe, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vn-to him this epiftle here following againft the, that dwelt in Iudea & Ierufalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD, 17 Thy feruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to paffe, and Semellius the fecretairie, and the reft of their counfel, & the iudges which are in Coelofyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our lo d the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierufalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, & buyld the marked places, and make vp the walles thereof, and laye the fundacions of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be buylt, and the walles be finifhed, they wil not onely not indure to paye tribute, but wil alfo refift mete to paffe ouer fuche a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it be thy pleafure, it may be fogut out in the bokes of thy fathers,

22 And thou fhalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning thefe things, and fhalt knowe that this citie did alwaies tebel, & did trouble bothe Kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, railing alwaies warres therein: for the which caufe alfo this citie was made defolate.

24 Now therefore, fo lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie be buyft and the walles thereof repared, you fhall haue no more paffage into Coelofyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the King wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to paffe, and to Beelcthmus, and to Samellius the fecretarie, and to the reft of thofe that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that followe.

26 I haue red the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it shulde be fought out, and it was founde, that this citie bathe alwaies practised a-gainst Kings,

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie Kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which toke tribute of Coelofyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to buyde vp the citie, and that it be taken hede that no more be done,

29 And that those wicked things, if shulde molest the King, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, & Scmellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had red the things, which King Artaxerxes had writen, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in arraye, 31 And began to let them which buyt, so that the buyding of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the seconde yere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The staffe of Darius 16 The fiftie wife sentences.

2 Now when Darius reigned, he made a great feaft to all his fubiects & to all thofe of his owne houfe, and to all the princes of Media and Perfia,

3 And to all the gouernours & captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and feuen and twentie prouances.

4 And when they had eaten and drunke, & were fatiffied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and flept, til he wakened againe.

5 ¶ In the meane time thre yong men of the garde, keepers of the Kings bodie, laid one to another.

6 Let euerie one of vs fpeake a fentence, & he that fhall ouercome, and whole fentence fhall appeare wife: then the othe:
s, Darius the King fhall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

7 As to weare purple & to drunke in golde, and to flepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of golde, an head tyie of fine line, and a chaine about his necke.

8 And he fhall fit next to Darius for his wifdome, and fhallbe called Darius coufin.

9 Then euerie man wrote his fentence and fealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius,

10 And laid, when the King rofe, thei wolde giue him the writing, and whose fentéce the King and the thre princes of Perfia fhulde iudge to be wifeft, to him fhulde the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

11 One wrote, The wiue is ftrongeft.

12 The other wrote, The King is ftrongeft.

13 The other wrote, women are ftrongeft, but trueth ouercometh all things.

14 ¶ And when the King rofe, they toke the writings and gaue them to him, and he red them,

15 And fent and called all the noble men of Perfia and of Media, and the gouernours & the captaines, and lieutenants, and the confuls,

16 And fate him downe in the counfel, and the writing was red before them.

17 Then he laid, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne fentences. So they called them, and they came in.

18 Then he laid vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the firft began, which had fpoken of the ftrength of wine, 19 And laid on this manet, O ye men, how ftrong is wine! it deceiuech all men that drunke it.

20 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherles bothe one, of the bonde man and of the fre man, of the poore man and of the riche man.

21 It turneth alfo euerie thought into ioye and gladnes, fo that one remembreth no maner of forow, nor det.

22 It maketh euerie heart riche, fo that one remembreth nether King nor gouernour, & caufeth to fpeake all things by talents.

23 When men haue drunk, they haue no minde to loue ether friends or brethren, and a little after they drawe out fwoides.

24 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

25 O ye men, is not wine ftrógeft, which co-pelleth pelleth to do fuche things! & he helde his peace when he had thus fpoken.

CHAP. III.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women. 14 Of the strength of trueth, which fentices is approved, 47 And his peifition granted.

1 Then the seconde which had spoké of the strégth of the King, began to fay,

2 O ye men, are not men strongeft, which beare rule by land and by fea, and ouer all things which are in them!

3 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, & is lord of them, fo that they do all things which he commádeh them.

4 If he bid the make warre one againft another, they do it: if he fend them out againft the enemies, they go and breake downe mountaines and walles and towres.

5 They kil & are killed, & do not paffe the comandement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, afwel the fpoyles as all other things,

6 And thofe alfo which go not to warre & battel, but til the earth: for when they haue fowen it againe, thei reape it, & bring it to the King, and cópell one another to paye tribute to the King.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kil, they kil: if he fai, Spare, they fpare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they fmite: if he bid the, Make defolate, they make defolate: if he bid, Buyld, they buyld.

9 If he bid, Cut of, they cut of: if he bid, Plante, they plante.

10 So all his people & all his armies obey one mâ: in the meane while he fiteeth downe, he eatch, and drinketh and ftepeth.

11 For thofe kepe him rounde about: nether can any one go & do his owne bufines, nether are they difobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how fhulde not the King be ftrongeft, feing he is thus obeied! So he hel de his tongue.

13 Then the thirde which had fpoken of women & of the trueth (this was Zoi oba-bei) began to fpeake, 14 O ye men, nether the mightie King, nor many men nor wine is ftrongeft: who then ruleth them or hathe dominion ouer the! are they not women!

15 Women haue borne the King & all the people which beare rule by fea & by land.

16 Eutn of them were they borne, and they nourifhed them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

17 They alfo make mens garments & make men honorable, nether can men be without women.

18 And if thei haue gathered together gold & filuer, or any goodlie thing, do they not loue a faire and beautiful woman!

19 Do they not leaue all thofe things & giue the felues wholly vnto her, & gape, and gaze vpon her, & all men defire her more then gold, or filuer, or any precious thing!

20 A man leaueth his owne father which ha the nourifhed him, & his owne countrei, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for y woman he ieopardeth his life, and nether remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

22 There fore by this ye may knowe that y women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauail, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his fworde and goeth for the to kil & to fteale, and to faile vpon the fea, and vpon ruiers, 24 And he feeth a lion & goeth in darkenes, & when he hathe ftollen, rauifhed & fpoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene feruants for them.

27 Many alfo haue perifhed & haue erred and finned for women.

28 Now therefore do you not beleue me? is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touche him?

29 Tei I fawe him & Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, fitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And she toke the crowne of the Kings head, & put it vpon her owne, and stroke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: & if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if she were angrie with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, o ye men, are not women more strong, feing they do thus?

33 Then the King and the princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women strongest? great is the earth, & the heauen is his, and the sonne is his wife in his course: for he turneth rounde about heauē in one day, & runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen bleffeth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, nether is there any vn: vnto thing with it.

37 The wine w wicked, the King w wicked, women are wicked, & all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked woo-kes are fuche, and there is no trueth in the, and they perifh in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is ftrong for euer, and liueth and reigne: for euer and euer.

Dddd. ii.

I. Esdras.

19 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor differed; but the doeth things which are iuste, & abteineth from vniust wicked things, and all men faouoher workes. 40 Nether is there any vniust thing in her judgement, and the is the ftrngth and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blested be the God of trueh. So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cryed, & Iud then, Trueth is great and ftrongest. 42 The the King said vnto him, Ake what thou wilt besides y which is appointed, & we wil giue it thee, because thou art founde the wifst, and thou shalt haue libertie to fit by me, and shalt be called my coufin. 41 Then he said to the King, Reinembre the vowe that thou hast vowed to buylde Ierufalem, in the day that thou tokest the kingdome, And to send againe all the vessels y were taken out of Ierufalem, which Cyrusfeta parte when he made a vowe to cut of Babylon, & vowed to send them thither. 45 Thou also hast vowed to buylde the Teple, which the Idumeans burnt whe Iudea was deftroied by the Chaldeans. And now, o Lord the King, this is that which I defire & require of thee, & this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou woldeft accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen. 47 Then King Darius rifying vp, kiffed him, & wrote him letters to all the stewardestes and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that the shulde bring on y waye both him, & all that were with him, which went vp to buylde Ierufalem. And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelofyria and Phenice, & to the that were in Libanus, that they shulde bring ce dre wood from Libanus to Ierufalem, and buylde the citie with him. And he wrote for all y Iewes, which wet vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, cocerning their libertie, that no price, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward shulde enter into their dores, And that all the region which they kept, shulde paye no tribute, and that the Idumeans shulde let go the villages of the Iewes which they helde, And that euerie yere there shulde be giuen for the buylding of the Temple twentie talents vntil it were buylt, And to mainiteine y burnt offrings vpon the altar euerie day (as they had a commandement to offer feuentene) other ten talents euerie yere. And that all they which went from Babylon to buyld e y citie, shulde haue libertie, afoel they as their pofteritie, and all the Priest that went away. He wrote also touching the charges and the Priests garment, wherein they shulde minifler. And he wrote that they shulde giue the Leuites their charges vntil the Houfe were finifhed, and Ierufalem buylt. Also he wrote that they shulde giue pensions & wages to them that kept the citie. And he fent away all the vessels which Cyrus had fet aparte out of Babylon, and whatfoet; Cyrus had commanded to do, he also commanded to do it, and to fend to Ierufalem. And when the 'yong man was gone for the, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierufalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, Saying, Of thee is the victorie, & of thee is wifdome, & of thee is glorie, and I am thy feruant. Bleffed be thou which hast giue me wifdome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, o Lord of our fathers. So he toke y letters & went out & came to Babylon & telled all his brethren. And the bleffed y God of their fathers, be cause he had giue the fredome & libertie To go vp & to buy lde Ierufalem, & the Temple, where his Name is renounced, & they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioye, fet in daies.

39 And was called after his name, and when the description of the kindred of these men had bene foght in the registre, and colde not be founde, they were set a parte from the office of Priests. 40 For 'Neemias and Attharias said to the that they shulde not be partakers of the holie thigs, all there arose an his Priest clothed with doch me and trueth. 41 So all they of Israel from them of twelve yere olde and little children, were 'fortie thousand besides men seruants and women seruanes, two thousand, three hiddieth and fixture. 42 Their seruants and handmaides were seuen thousand, three hundred, fortie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundred, fortie and fiue: 43 Camelles, foure hundred, thirtie and fiue: and horses, seuen hundred, thirtie and fix: mules, two hundred, fortie and fiue: 'beastes that bare y yocke, fiue thousand, fiue hundred, twentir and fiue. 44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Jerusalem, vowed to buyld the House in his owne place according to their power, 45 And to giue to the treasure of the workes, 'a thousand pound in golde, and fiue thousand pound in siluer, and an hundred priestlie garments. 46 And the Priests and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Jerusalem and in the countrei, & the holie fingers & the porters and all Israel in their villages. 47 But when the seventh moneth was nere, and when the children of Israel were euerie one at home, they were all gathered together with one accorde into the open place of the first gaze, which is toward the East. 48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosdee and his brethren the Priests with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel & his brethre, rising vp, made ready y altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offie burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the boke of Moyses the man of God. 50 Whither also there were gathered agaist them of all nacions of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nacions of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offrings to the Lord, morning & evening. 51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is 'ordeined in the Law, & offred sacrifices euerie day, as was requisite, 52 And afterwards, the continual oblations and offrings of the Sabbaths & of the new moneths & of all holy feasts. 53 And all the which had made any vowe to God, began to offie sacrifice vnto God in the first day of y seventh moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet buylt. 54 They gaue also money to the masons & to the workemen, and meat and drink with gladnes, 55 And charrets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which shulde be brought by flots to the bauen of Ioppe according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia. 56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosdee, and their brethre, and the Priests & Leuites, and all they that came out of capituntie into Jerusalem, 57 And 'layed the fundacion of the House of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yere after their returne into Iudea and Jerusalem. 58 And they appointed y Leuites frutwentie yere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus & his sonne, & his brethre, & his brother Cadmiel, & the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, & brethren, enen all the Leuites with one accorde did followe after the worke, calling vpo the workes in the House of God: thus the workemen buytl the Temple of the Lord. 59 And the Priests stode clothed with their long garments with musical instruments & trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, 60 Singing & blessing y Lord, according to the ordinace of David King of Israel. 61 And they sung with loud voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie u for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blewe trumpets, and cryed with loud voice, praising y Lord for the raising vp of the House of the Lord. 63 Also some of the Priests & Leuites, and chief men, to wit, the Ancients, which had sene the former House, 64 Came to se the buyldig of this with weping and great crying, & manie with trupets and toye cryed with loude voice, 65 So that the people colde not heare the trupets, because of the weping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trupets so that they were heard far of. 66 Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Ioda & Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trupets it was, 67 And they knew that they of the capituntie buylt the Temple to the Lord God of Israel. 68

Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel, & Iesus, and the chief of the families, said vnto sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosfedee thode vp, and began to buyld the House of the Lord, & is in Ierusalem, the Prophetes of the Lord being with them, & helping them. 3

In that time Sifimes the gouernour of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them, 4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement buyld you this House & this buylding, and enterprife all these other things?
and who are the buylders that enterprife suche things? 5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to buyld, vntil it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was received. 7 The copie of the epistle, which he did write and send to Darius, S I S I N N E s gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius. 8 It may please the King our masters plainly to understand, that when we came to the country of Iudea, and entered into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Iewes that were o the captiuitie,

9 Buylding an House to the Lord, great & newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber all ready laid vpon

the wallles. 10 And these works are done with great spede, yea, and the worke hathe good succeffe in their hands, so that it wil be finished with all glorie & diligence. 11 Then we asked their Ancients, saying, By whose commandement buyld you this House & lay y fundacion of these works? 12 We asked them these things to the intet to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demanded the names of the gouernours in writing. 13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hathe created the heauen and the eath. 14 And this House was buylt vp manie ye - 1. King 4. 25. res ago by a King of Israel great & strog, and was finished. 15 But when our fathers, provoking God to wrath, finned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heaufe, he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 16 Who brake downe the House burnt it, & caryed the people captiue to Babylon. 17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the country of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this House shulde be buylt vp. 18 And y holie vessels of golde & of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the House at Ierusalem, & had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King toke out of the Teple at Babylon, & they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to Sanabafarus ruler. 19 And a comandement was giue vnto him, y he shulde ca y away those vessels, & put the in y Teple at Ierusalé, & that this Teple of y Lord shulde be buylt in this place. 20 The same Sanabafarus, being come hether, layed

the foundations of the House of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time til now, it is in buylding, or is not finished. 21 Now therefore if it please the King, let it be foght vp in the Kings libraries concerning Cyrus. 22 And if it be found that the buylding of y House of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the cosent of King Cyrus, & if it some good to the lord our King, let him make vs answer cocening these things. 23 Then King Darius commanded to searche in the Kings libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was founde in Ecbatane, which is a towne in the region of Media, a place where suche things were layed vp for memorie.

thing thereof, that a tre shulde be taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, and that his goods shulde be the Kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Na- me is there called vpon, destroye euerie King and nation, which stretcheth out his had to hinder or do euli to that Hou- se of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, & was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, given by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gave him great honour, & he found grace in his sight in all his requêtes.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Jerusalem,

6 In the feueth yere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, & in the first moneth this was the feueth yere of the King (for the went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Jerusalem according as the Lord gave them speed in their sournay)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he wolde let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commandments, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and judgements.

9 So the commission written by King Artaxerxes was given Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law of the Lord; the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, & reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutació.

11 Forasmuche as I consider things with pitie, I have commanded that they that wil and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites, which are in our kingdoms, shulde go with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them departe together, as it hath he semed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellors,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carry the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friends have vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shall be found in the country of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem,

15 With that which is given of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well siluer as golde, for bulles, and rams, & lambes, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren wil do with the golde or siluer, accoplish it according to the wil of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are given thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things secure thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of y Kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes have commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Esdras, the Priest & reader of the Law of the hiest God, shall send for, they shulde give it him with all speede, euen to the some of an hundredth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundredth cores of corne, and an hundredth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the hiest God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpo the kingdoms of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of y Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any have power to tax them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdom of God, orde me iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria & Phenice, all those which are well instructed in the Law of thy God, and teache those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgress the Law of God & the King, be diligently punished, ether with death, or other punishment, ether with penalty of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ The Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the onelie Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his House which is in Jerusalem,

27 And hath he honoured me before y King, and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernours.

46 And they broght vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord learned m:n of the sonnes of Mali, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, "Cisebebran & his sonnes, and his brethren being eightene.

47 And Asebia, and "Annon, & Osian his brethre of the sonnes of "Canaineus with their sonnes, twentie persones.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, w Dauid gaue, & those which were rulers over the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundredth & twetie, of whome all the names were registered.

49 ¶ And there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lord to aske of him a good journey bothe for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, & for our cattel.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King foremen, or horsemen, or conduit for fauegarde against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the King, that the power of our Lord shulde be with the that foght him to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we praied our Lord againe, according to these things, whome we founde fauorable.

53 Then I chose from among the chief of y tribes & of the Priests, twelve men, to wit, "Esebrias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, & the holy vessels of the House of our Lord, which the King and his counsellors, & his princes, & all Israel had giue.

55 And I weighed the, six hundredth & fifty talents of siluer, & siluer vessels of an hundredth talents, & an hundredth talents of golde, 56 And twentie golden basen, & twelve vessels of brass, of fine brass shining like golde.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch and kepe them, til that you giue the to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chabers of the House of our God.

59 So the Priests & Leuites toke the siluer and the golde, & the vessels, & caryed the to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we deprived fion the flood Thera, in the twelveth day of the first moneth, & came to Jerusalem, according to y mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our journey from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

61 And thre daies being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, & the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lord to "Marmoeth the Priest the sonne of Iouri, 62 And with him to Eleazar y sonne of Phinees: & there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, & "Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weighe.

63 And all the weight of them was writen that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offied sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, even twelve bulles for all Israel, rams foure score and sixtens, 65 Labs thre score & twelve, twelve goates for saluacion, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, & to y gouernours gournours of Coelofyria & Phenice who honored the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The peo- ple of Israel, the princes and the Priests, & the Levites have not separated from them the strange people of the land,

68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to me, of the Cananites, and Cherites, and Pherofites, and Iebufites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they have dwelt with their daugh- ters, both they and their sonnes, and the holic sede is mixed with the strange people of the lad, & the gouernours & rulers have been partakes of this wickedness fro the beginning of the thing.

70 And asson. as I had heard these things, I sent my clothes, and the holic garment, & I pulled the beere of mine head, and of my bearde, and fate me downe forowful, and verse sad.

71 The also all they that were mouted with the wode of the Lord God of Israel, came to me: whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I fate verse sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes to me, and the holic garment, and bowed my knets and stretched for the mine hands to the Lord, Expa 9.4.

73 And I said, "O Lord, I am ashamed, & co- founded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased above our heads, & our ignorances are lifted up to heaven.

75 Yea, even from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers we with our brethren, with our Kings and Priests have bene giuen up to the Kings of the earth, to the swode and to capti- nitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath they mercie bene, o Lord, that there shulde be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine ho- lines!

78 And that thou shuldest reueale to vs a ligat in the House of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our ser- uitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that

thei shulde giue vs meat,

80 And that they shulde honour the Tem- ple of our Lord, and raise up Sion that is defolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea & Ierusalem.

81 And now, o Lord, what shal we say, ha- uing these things? for we have transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Pro- phetes, saying,

82 * Because the land, which ye go to inhe- rite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which have filled it with their filthines,

83 Therefore now ye shal not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, nether giue your daughters to their sonnes,

84 Nether shal you desire to have peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the lad, and I. aue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs suche a roote: but we a- gaine have turned backe to trasgressethy Law, & to mixe vs with the vncleennes of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angrie with vs to dissoye vs, so that thou shuldest nether leave vs roote nor sede nor name?

88 But, o Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, even vnto this day.

89 Beholde, we are now before thee with our iniquities, nether can we indure befo- re thee for these things.

90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and laye upon the grounde be- fore the Temple, a verse great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children: et there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias y sonne of Ieei of the sones of Israel, crying out said, O Esdras, we have sinned against the Lord God: we have taken in mariage strang: women of the nacion of the land.

92 And now all Israel is douteful: therefo- re let vs make anothe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wines, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise up and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteine, & we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chief of the families of the Priests and Levites of all Israel to sweare, that they wolde do thus: and they sware.

bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem to all them, that were of the captiuitie, that they shulde be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which shulde not mete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, shulde haue their cattel confiscate to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within three dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude fate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And do his wil, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out and said with a loude voyce, We wil do so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we can not stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that manie of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chief men of the multitude and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:

13 And let the Priests and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, all thei haue appeased the wrath of y Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Ionathas Aseels sonne, and Ezecias sonne of Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certeine men, chief of their families, all by name: & thei fate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of y first moneth.

18 And there were founde of the Priests, which had married strange wiues,

19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Iose-dec, & of his brethren 'Mathelas, & Eleazar, and Ioribus, and Ionadan.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offred a ram for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer 'Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Samerus, and Hierel, and Azarias.

22 And of the sonnes of 'Phaisu, Ellionas, Massias, Esmaeus, and Nathanael, and 'Ocidelus, and Talsas.

23 And of the Leuites 'Iorabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called 'Calitas, and Patheus, and Ooudas, and Ionas.

24 Of the holie singers, 'Eliazurus, Bacchurus.

25 Of the porters, 'Sallumus, & Tolbanes.

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, Hiermas, and Eddias, & Melchias, & Maelus, & Eleazar, & Asbias, & Banaias.

27 Of the sonnes of 'Ela, Matchanias, Zacharias, and 'Hierielas, and 'Hieremoth, and Acdias.

28 And of the sonnes of 'Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Othontas, Iarimoth, and 'Sabatus, and Sardeus.

29 Of the sonnes of 'Bebai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and 'Iosabad, and Ematheas.

30 Of the sonnes of 'Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iedaia, Iasubus, Iasael, and Ieremoth.

31 And of the sonnes of 'Addi, Naathus, Moosias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Mathanias, and 'Seschel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas.

32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, & Ases, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Chosamite.

33 And of the sonnes of 'Asom, Altaneus, & Matthias, and Bannaia, Eliphlat, & Manasse, and Semei.

34 And of the sonnes of 'Maani, Ieremias, Momdis, Omarus, Inel, Mamat, and Paclias, and Amos, Carabafion and Euasibus, and Mamnimatanaius, Elisasis, Vamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathania, & of the sonnes of Ozoias, Sisis, Esril, Azailus, Samatas, Sambis, Iosiphus.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaia.

36 All these maryed strange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests & the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, & in the country, the first day of the seventh moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he shulde bring the Law of Moyses, which had bene giue by the Lord God of Israel.

the first day of the seventh month.

41 And he red in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to § Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stode vpó a pulpet of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stode by him "Matgathias, Sá-mus, Ananias, Azaias, Ourias, Execias, Balasamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand "Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothafaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Esdras toke § boke of the Law before the multitude (for he fate honotably before them all)

46 And they all stode vpright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most heic God, the most mightie God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Iesus and Anus, and Sarabias, and Adimus, & Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maanias and Calitas, Azaias, & Ioazabdus, and Ananias, & Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the ground, and worshiped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stode also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said 'Anthharates to Esdras the chief Priest and reader, & to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holie vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Go therefore and eat the fat meares, & drinke the swete drinkes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holie to the Lord, and be not forie: for the Lord God wil glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holie to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to the that had not, and to make good there.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, whè they were assembled together.

14 Take heauen and eaeh to wines: for I haue abolifhed the euil, and created the good: for I liue, faith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnes: make their fere as fatt as a piller: for I haue chofen thee, faith the Lord.

16 And thofe that be dead, wil I taife vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Ifrael.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chofen thee, faith the Lord.

18 I wil fend thee my feruants Efaie and I remie to helpe thee, by whofe counfel I haue fancified & pr: pared for thee twelue trees ladin with diuers frues,

26 None of the feruants that I haue giuen thee, fhall perifh: for I wil feke them from among thy nomber.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauines commeth, other fhall wepe and be foroweful, but thou fhalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen fhall enuie thee, and fhall do nothing againft thee, faith the Lord.

29 Mine hands fhall couer thee, fo that thy children fhall not fe hell.

30 Be joyful, ô thou mother, with thy children: for I wil deliuer thee, faith the Lord.

31 Rem'mber thy children that flepe: for I wil bring the out of the fides of the earth, and wil fhewe mercie vnto them: for I am merciful, faith the Lord almgheie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntil I come and fhewe mercie vnto the: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace fhall not faile.

33 I Efdras receued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I fhulde go vnto them of Ifrael, but when I came to them, thei caft me of, and de: pified the comand. ment of the Lord.

34 And the before I fay vnto you, ô ye heathen, that heare and vndet ftand, Wait for your fhepherd, wito fhall giue you euerlafting reft: for he is nere at hand, that fhall come in the end of the worlde.

35 Be ready to the rewarde of the kingdome: for the euerlafting light fhall fhine vpo you for euermore.

36 Fie the fhadowe of this worlde: receiue y ioye of your glorie: I teftifie my Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him, that ha-the called you to the heauenlie kingdome.

38 Arife, and ftand vp, and beholde the nobler of thofe that are fcaled for the feaft of the Lord,

39 Which are departed from the fhadowe of the worlde, and haue receued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, ô Sion, and fhut vp them that are clothed in whire, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The nobler of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: befeche y power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called fto the begining, may be sanctified.

42 *I Efdras fawe vpo mount Sion a great people whom I colde not nomb r, and they all prifed the Lord with fongs.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man hirt in ftature then them all, & vpo euerie one of their heads he fet crownes, and was hirt then the other, which I muche manuelied at.

44 So I afted the Angel, and faid, Who are thefe, my lord?

45 Who answered, and faid vnto me, Thefe be they, that haue put of the mortal clothing, and haue put on the immortal, and haue cofeffed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then faid I vnto y Angel, What yong man is it, that fettech crowne: on them, & giueth them the palmes in their hands.

47 And he answered, & faid vnto me, It is the fonne of God, whom they haue confeffed in the worlde. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had ftand fo ftrongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel faid vnto me, Go thy way, and tel my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou haft fene.

1 N the thirtieth yere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay trou bied vpon my bed, and my thoghts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I sawe the desolacion of Sion, & the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I beganne to speake feai ful wordes to the most High, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou spakeft at the beginning when thou alone plantedft the earth, and gauc ft comandemét vnto the people,

5 *And a bodie vnto A lam, without foule, who was also the workemanfhip of thine hands, and haft breached in him the breth of life, so that he lued before thee,

6 And leddest him into Paradife, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth broght forthe.

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way but he transgrefled it, and immediatly thou appointedft death to him and his generacion, of whome came nacions, tribts, people and kinreds out of number.

8 *And euerie people walked after their owne wil, and did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commandements.

9 *But at y time appointed thou broght eft the flood vpon thofe y dwelt in the worlde and deftroiedft them,

10 So that by the flood, that came to euerie one of them, which came by death vnto Adam,

11 Yet thou leftest one, euen *Noe, with his houf holde, of whome came all righteous men.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon y earth, began to multiplic, and the number of the children, people and many nacions were increifed, they began to be more vngodlie then the first.

13 Now when they lued wickedly before thee, * thou didest chofe thee a man from among them, whofe name was Abraham.

14 Whome thou louedft, and vnto whome onely thou shewedft thy wil,

15 And madest an euerlafting couenat with him, promifing him that thou woldest neuer forfake his fede.

16 And vnto him thou gauest Ifahac, vnto Ifahac also thou gauest Jacob and Efau, *and didest chofe Jacob, and caft of Efau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And whe thou leddest his fede out of Egypt, * y broghteft the vp to mount Sina,

18 And enclinedft the heauens and bowedft downe the earth, and didest moue the grounde, and caufe the deptha to fhake, and didest aftonifh the worlde.

19 And thy glorie went thorowe foure gates of fyre, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mighteft giue the Lawe vnto the fede of Jacob, and that which the generacion of Israel fhulde diligently obfeue.

20 Yet tokeft thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forthe frute in them.

21 For * Adam firft hauing a wicked heart, Gen 3,6. was ouercome and vainquished, & all they that ate borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenes ioyned with the lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednes of the 1ote: so that the good departed away, & the euil abode ftill.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeres were broght to an end, *til thou didest rai 1 Sam. 16,13. fe thee vp a feruant called David,

24 *Whome thou commandedft to buyld a 2 Sam.5,1. citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incinfe and facrifice.

25 Whe this was done many yetes, the inhabitants for foke thee,

26 Following the wates of A lam and all his generacion: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But do they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they fhulde haue the dominio of Sion?

29 For when I came thether, and sawe their wicked dedes without nomber (for this is the thirtieth yere that I fe many trespasing) I was discouraged.

30 For I sawe, how thou fufferedft them that finne, and sparedft the wicked doers, where as thou haft deftroied thine owne people, and preferued thine enemies, and thou haft not shewed it.

31 I can not perceiue how this commeth to piffe. Are the dedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people y knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generacion hathe fo beleued thy Testimonies, as Jacob?

33 And yet their rewarde appeareth not, and their labour hathe no frute: for I haue gone here & there thorow out the heathé, and I fe them florifh, and thinks not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh y therefore our wickednes now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee fhall be founde but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not finned in thy fight? or what people hathe fo kept thy commandements?

36 Thou fhalt surely finde that Israel by name hathe kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. VIII.

2 The Angel reproach & far as, because he seemed to entre into the profound judgements of God.

1 And the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken to much vpon it in this worlde, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wates of the Hiest.

3 The said I, Yea, my lord. And he answered me, and said, I am sent to shewe thee thre wates, and to set forth the similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me one, I wil shewe thee also the way, that thou desirest to se, and I wil shewe thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on, my lord. Then said he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fyre, or measure me y blast of the winde, or call me againe the daye that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I shulde aske thee how depe dwellings are in the mides of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peradventure thou woldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the depe, nor yet to the hell, nether did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fyre & winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He said moreover vnto me, Thine owne things, and suche as are giowen vp with thee, canst thou not knowe:

11 How shulde thy vessel then be able to comprehend the wayes of the Hiest, and now outwardly in the corrupt worlde, to understand the corruption, that is eudent in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, the that we shulde liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to knowe whiter fore.

13 And he answered me, & said, "I came to a forest in the plaine where the trees helde a counsel,

14 And said, Come, let vs go fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea toke counsel and said, Come, let vs go vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vain: for the fyre came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stode vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betwene these two, whome woldest thou justifie, or whome woldest thou condemned?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that thei both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for y wood, and the sea hath his place to bear his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy self also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods, so they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpo earth: & they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, & said, I beseethe thee, o Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine hie things, but of suche as we daiely medle with all, namely wherefore Israel is made a reproche to the heathen, and for what cause the people, whome thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect,

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the worlde as the gieshoppers, and our life is a very seare, and we are not thought worthie to obtaine mercie.

25 But what wil he do to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he me, and said, The more thou searched, the more thou shalt manuel: for the worlde hasteth fast to pass away,

27 And can not comprehend the things, that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is ful of unrighteousness and weaken is.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou asked, the euil is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euil now that is sowe, be not turned vp side downe, and if the place where the euil is sowen, pass not away, then can not the thing come, that is sowen w good.

30 For the corne of euil sede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, & how muche vngodlines hath he brought vp vnto this time & how much shal he bring forth the vntil the haruest come?

31 Ponder with thy self, how muche frute Fff. i.

of wickednes the corne of quill fede bring- eth for the,

32 And when the stalkes shalbe cut downe, which are without numbers, how great an haruest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and said, How, & when shal these things come to passe wherefo- re are our yeres fewe and euil?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to be aboue y mofte High: for thou labo- rest in vaine to be aboue him, thogh thou indeuer neuer so muche.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their cha- bers, saying, How long shal I thus hope & when cometh the frute of my baine and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of y fedes is filled in you: for he hathe weigh- ed the worlde in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by numbers, and they shal not be moued or shaken, til the mea- sure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, & said, O lord, lord, we are all euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake paradventure the har- uest of y righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpo earth.

40 So he answered me, and said, Go, & aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may kepe the birth anie longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauail, so do these places hast to deliuct those thigs that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou defirest to se, shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue founde grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be mete therefore,

45 Shewe me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I wil expounde thee this by example.

48 So I stode, and beholde, a whore burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, & beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a wa- terie cloude, and sent downe muche raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Cosider with thy self, as the raine is more the the droppes, and as fyre exceedeth the smoke, so the porcion that is past, hathe the vpper had, & the droppes and the smoke were muche.

51 Then I prated, & said, Mate I liue, thin- kept thou vntil that time? or what shal co- me to passe in those daies?

52 He answered me, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a parte: but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life: for I do not knowe it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueh shalbe hid 6 Unrighteoushes & all wickednes shal regne in the worlde. 23 Israel is resolved, and God deliuereth the 27 God death all thing in season

N Euertheles concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shal come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shalbe taken in a great-nóber, & the way of the trueh shalbe hid & y land shalbe baren fro faith,

2 And iniquitie shalbe increased more the thou hast sene now, or hast heard in time past.

3 And it shal come to passe, that one shal set in fote, and thou shalt se the land defo- late, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God gráte thee to liue, thou shalt se after the third trumpet, that the sinne shal suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone thre times a day.

5 Blood shal drop out of the wood, and the stone shal giue his voyce, and the people shalbe moued.

6 And he shal rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the soules shal change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shal cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which ma- ny shal not knowe, but they shal all heare the voyce thereof.

8 Thre shalbe a confusion in many places, and the fyre shal oft breake forthe, & the wilde beasts shal change their places, and menstruous women shal beare monstres,

9 And salt waters shalbe founde in the swe- te, & all frieds shal fight one against ano- ther: then shal wit hide it self, and vnder- standing departe vnto his secret chamber.

10 It shalbe foght of many, and yet not be founde: then shal vnrighteouses and vo- luptouses haue y vpper hand vpo earth.

11 One land also shal aske another, & say, Is righteous justice gone thotowe thee? And it shal say, No.

12 At the same time shal men hope, but not obtaine: they shal labour, but their enter- prises shal not prosper.

13 To shewe thee suche tokés I haue leaue, and if thou wilt prairie againe and wepe as now, and fast seuen daies, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 Then I awaked, and a fearefulness went thorow thorow all my bodie, and my minde was feble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my seie.

16 And in the seconde night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauié?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their capitulite?

18 Vp then and eat, & forsake vs not, as the shepherd that leaueth his flocke in y hands of the cruel wolues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Go thy waies fro me, and come not nere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen daies, mourning and weping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen daies the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the moste High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euerie forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyards.

24 And of all lands of the worlde thou hast chosen thee one pit, & of all the flours of the grounde thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all y depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riner, and of all buylded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy self.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cartel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one shepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whome thou louedst, thou gauest a Law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, ô Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scatred thine onelie people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstand thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didest somuche hare thy people, they shulde haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 Now when I had spoken these wordes, y Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teache thee, & hearké that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou the better, then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, lord: but of very sorow haue I spoke: for my raines paine me euerie houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the moste High, & to seke out parte of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou cnsnt not. And I said, Wherefore, lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was noemy mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not sent the trouble of Jacob, and the grief of the stock of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Nomber vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the droppes, that are scatred, or make me the withered floures grene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me for the the windes, that are shut vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then wil I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and laborest to knowe.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who ca knowe these things, but he that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Beholde, ô Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shal they do that haue bene before me, or wethat be now, or they that shal come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I wil compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknes of the last, so is there no swiftnes of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Coldest thou not make at once those y haue bene, those that are now, & those that shal come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the soner?

44 The answered he me, The creature, said he, can not preuent the Creator, nether can the worlde holde them at once, that shaibe created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou, which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also conteme all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest for the requircher to bring for the ten at once.

Fff. ii.

II. Efdras.

47 And I said, Surely the can not, but by distance of time. 48 Then said he vntc me, So haue I deuided the number of the earth by times when fe de is fowcn vpon it. For as a yong child begetech not that that belongeth to the aged, fo haue I or demed the time which I haue created. 50 I asked againe, and said, Seing thou hast now thewed me way, I wil proce de to speake before thee: for our mother, who me thou hast tolde me is yong, draweth the nere vnto age? He answered me, and said, Ake a woman that traueileth, and the wil tell thee. Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whome thou hast now brought for the) like those that were before thee, but leffe of ftature? And the fhall anwer thee, Some were borne in y floure of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.
 47 Confider now thy felf, how that ye are leffe of ftature, then those that were before you, And fo are they that come after you, leffe then ye, as the creatures which now beginne to be olde, and haue paffed our the ftrengh of youth. Then said I, Lord, I befeche thee, if I haue founde fauour in thy fight, thewe thy feruant, by whome doeft thou gouerne thy workemanfhip?

CHAP. VI.

God haths forefine all things in his ferret counfel, and is autor thereof, and haths created them for his childri. 2) The felicitie of the age to come.

And he said vnto me, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were fer, and before the windes blewe one againft another: Before the noyce of thundres founded, before the bright lightening did thine for the, before the fundacions of Paradife were laide: Before the faire floures did appeare, before the moneable powers were ftz, lifted, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered: Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before y meafures of the heauens were named, before the chimneis in Sion were hote: Before the prefent yerres were fought out, and before the affliction of them that now finne, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treasure of faith, were fealed, Then did I purpofe thefe things, & they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they fhall be ended, and by none other.

Then answered I, and said, What fhall be the diuifion of times or when fhall be the end of the firft, and the beginning of it that followeth? And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Ifaac, when Iacob and Efau were borne of him, Iacobs hand helde firft the Gen 21, 26. heale of Efau. For Efau is the end of this worlde, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth. The hand of man is betwixt the heale and the hand. Other thing, Efdras, afke thou not. I answered the, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue founde fauour in thy fight, I befeche thee, make an end to thewe thy feu at thy tokens, whereof thou thewedft me parte the laft night. So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy fete, and heare a mightie founding voyce. There fhall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou ftandest, fhall not be moued. And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraied: for of the end fhall be the worde, & of the fundacion of the earth fhall it be vnderftand. Therefore while one speaketh of the, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it muft be changed at the end. And when I had heard it, I ftode vp vpon my fete, and heaikened, and beholde, there was a voyce that fpake, and the founde of it was like the founde of many waters: And it faid, Beholde, the daies come, that I wil come & inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth, And when I beginne to inquire of them, who by their vntighteousnes haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion fhall be fulfilled, And the worlde, that fhall vanifh away, fhall be fealed; the wil I thewe thefe figes: the bokes fhall be opened before the heauen, and they fhall fe all it together. And the children of a yere olde fhall speake with their voyces: the wome with child fhall bring for the vntimelie childre of thre or foure monethe olde, and they fhall liue that are raied vp. Then fuddély fhall the fowen places appeare as the vnsowne, & the fui ftore houfes fhall fuddenly be founde emptie. And the trupet fhall founde, and all they that heare it, fhall be fuddenly afraied. At that time fhall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth fhall feare with them: the fprings of the welles fhall ftand ftill, & in this houres they shal not reme. Whofoeuer remaineth from all these things

things that I haue tolde thee, shal be fa-ued & fe my saluacion, & the end of your worlde.

26 And the men that are receiued, shal fe it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shal be changed, and turned to another mea-ning.

27 For euil shal be put out, and disceate shal be quenched,

28 But faith shal flourith: corruption shalbe ouercome, and the trueth which hathe be-ne so long without frute, shal come forthe.

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I loked a little vpon him before whome I stode.

30 And these wordes said he vnto me, I am come to shewe thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I wil tel thee more things, & greafe: then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before y Higheft: iuefy y mightie hathe fine thy righteous dealing: he hath: fene alfo thy chaftitie, which thou haft kept fince thy youth.

33 Therefore hathe he fent me to fhewe thee all thefe things, and to fay vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And hafte not in the vaine confidera-tio of the firft times, nor make hafte to the latter times.

35 And after this I wepte againe and fa-fted feuē daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the thre wakes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to fpeake before the molte High.

37 For my fpirit was greatly fet on fyer, & my foule was in diftreffe,

38 And I laid, ô Lord, thou fpakeft expref-ly in the firft creation (euen the firft day) and comandest* that the heauen and the earth fhulde be made, and the worke fol-lowed thy worde.

39 And then was there the fpirit, and the daiknes was on euerie fide with filence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come for the out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy work.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenlie ayre, and commandedst it, that, going between, it shulde make a diuision between the waters, that the one parte might iemaine aboue, and the other be-neth.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that y waters shulde be gathered together in the seuēth parte of y earth; six partes undeft thou drye, & kept them to the intent that of these there shulde be that shulde serue thee, being sowed of God and till'd.

43 As soon as thy worde went for the, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable frutes did spring vp, and manie diuerse pleasures for the taste, and staues of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a moste wonderful smell & these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the staires,

46 And gauest them a change, to do seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou laidest vnto the seventh parte* where the waters were gathered, that it shulde bring forth beafts, as foules and filhes: and it was fo.

48 For the dôme waters, and without life brought for the living things at the com-madement of God that the nations might praife thy wonderous workes.

49 Then dideft thou prepare two living things: the one thou calledft Behemoth, & the other thou calledft Leuiathan,

50 And dideft feperate the one from the other: for the feuēth parte, where the wa-ter was gathered, colde not holde them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gaueft one parte, which was dryed vp the third day, that he fhulde dwell in the fame parte, wherein are a thoufand hilles.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gaueft y feuēth parte, that is wett, and haft prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the fixt day thou gaueft comman-dement vnto the earth, that befote thee it fhulde bring for the beafts, catel and cre-ping things.

54 And befides this Adam, whome thou madeft lord ouer all the workes which y haft created, of him come we all, and the people alfo, whome thou haft chofin.

55 All this haue I fpoké before thee, ô Lord, becaufe thou haft created the worlde for our fakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like unto spieles, and hast compared their riches unto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold these heathen which have bene reputed as nothing, have begonne to be lords over vs, and to deuoure vs.

advertises all in time. 23 The coming and death of Christ 34
The resurrection and last judgment, 41 After the which all corruption shall cease. 42 All fell in Adam. 49 The true life. 42

The mercies and goodness of God.

1 And when I had made an end of these words, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

2 And he said vnto me, Vp, Esdras, and he are the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wyde place, that it might be decipe and great,

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narow, and like the riuers,

5 Who colde go into the sea to loke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not throwe the narowe, how colde he come into the broade?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is buylded and set vpon a broade field, and is ful of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fyre at the right hand, and a decipe water at the lefte,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwene the fyre and the water, so that there colde but on man go there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went throuwe the peril before it, how colde he receaue his inheritance?

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, S is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their fakes haue I made the worlde: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to pass.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narowe, full of sorowe and travail: they are but fewe and euil, and full of perils, and very peineful.

13 For the entrances of the fore worlde were wyde and sure, and broght immortal frute.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittel things, they can not atreme to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquic test thou thy self, seing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seing thou art mortal?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy mode the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, seing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous shulde inherite these things, and that the vngodlie shulde perish, 18 Shulde the righteous suffer straitnes in hoping for large things yet thei that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnes, shal not se the large things.

19 Then he said vnto me, There is no iudge more iuste then God, and there is none more wise then the moste High.

20 For manie perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hathe diligently admonished suche as came, so oft as they came, what they shulde do to haue life, and what they shulde obserue, to auoid punishment.

22 Neuertheles, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vain: things,

23 And deceiued them felues by their wicked dedes, & denied the power of the moste High, and regarded not his wates.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vntaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, & to the ful ful things.

26 Beholde, the time shal come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shal come to pass, and the bride shal appeare, and she shal come for the, and be sent that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shal escape these euils, he shal se my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shal appeare with those that be with him, and they that remain, shal reioyce within foure hiddreth yeres.

29 After these same yeres shal my sonne Christ dye, and all men that haue life.

30 And the worlde shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shal iemaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the worlde that is yet a slepe, shalbe raised vp: and that shal dye, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shal restore those, that haue slepe in her, and so shal the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shal deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shal appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shal vanish away, and long suffering shal haue an end.

34 Iustice onely shal continue: the trutch shal remaine, and faith shal be strong.

35 The worke shal followe, and the rewarde shalbe: shewed: the good dedes shalbe of force, and vnrighteousnes shal beare no

41 Euen so now, king vice is increased, & wickednes abundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodlie, wherefore shal not the same effect followe also now?

42 Then he answered me, & said, This present: life is not the end: oft times honour is retrained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shal be the end of this worlde, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shal cease.

44 Intemperancie shal passe away: infidelitie shalbe cut of:
righteousness shal growe vp, and the veritie shal spring vp.

45 The shal no ma be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor 46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Ada, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he shulde not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heaumes, and after death to seare punishment?

Rom. 1, 18.

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortal life, when we do the workes that bring death?

50 And that an everlasting hope shulde be promised vs, seing that we bitide our selues to deadlie vanitie?

51 And that there shulde be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the moste High shulde be kept to defende the which haue led a pacient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternal Paradise shulde be shewed, whose frute remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we wil not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnplea sant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, shulde shine more then starres, if our faces be blacket then darckens?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember whe we did vnrighteously, that we shulde suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the manet of the battel, which man, that is borne in the earth, shal fight,

58 That if he be ouercome, he shulde suffer as thou hast said:
but if he get the victorie, he shulde receaue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, "Chuse thee life that thou maist liue.

60 Nevertheless, they beleued him not, nether the Prophetes after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them,

61 That heaumes shulde not so be to their destruction, as toye shulde come vnto the, to whomse salue: in is persuaded.

62 I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the moste High is called merciful, in that he hathe mercie vpo them, which are not yet come to that worlde,

63 And ye he hathe pitie on those that walke in his Law,

64 And that he is pacient: for he long suf fieth those ye haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: for he wil giue as muche as nedeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he ouercometh in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the worlde colde not continue, nor thei that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnes that they, which haue done euil, might be relieued from their wickednes, the ten thousand parte of men shulde not remaine alite.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not those that be healed with his worlde, and toke away the multitude of sinnes,

7 For thou ait alone, and we all are one wor kemanfhip of thine hands, as thou haft faid.

8 For when the bodie is facioned now in the wombe, & thou haft giue it members, thy creature is prefrued by fyre & water, and the worke, created by thee, doeth fuffernine moneths the creature, which is facioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is cotemed, fhalbo the be prefrued, and when time is come, the wombe, being prefrued, deliuereth y things that grieve mit.

12 Thou bringeft it vp with thy righteousnes, nutureft it in thy Law, & reformeft it with thy iudgement.

14 Seing then that thou deftroyft him, which with fo great labours is facioned, it is an eafie thing to appoint by thy comâ demét, that the thing alfo which is made, might be preftued.

24 Heare the prayer of thy feruant, and receiue into thine eates the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I wil fpeake, and fo long as I haue vnderftanding, I wil anfwer.

26 Lkoe not vpon the finnes of thy people, rather then thy

27 Haue not refpect vnto the wicked dedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon thofe that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that euerence thy wil.

29 Let it not be thy wil to deftroie them, which haue liued like beafts, but loke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not difpleafure with them, which appeare worfe then beafts, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnes and glorie.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the fame ficknes: but becaufe of vs that are finnes, thou fhalt be called merciful.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou fhalt be called merciful towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue laid vp manie good workes, let them receiue the rewarde of their owne dedes.

34 But what is man, that thou fhuldeft take difpleafure at him? or what is this mortal generacion, that thou fhuldeft be fo griued towards it?

35 *For verely there is no man among them that be boine, but he hafe done wickedly, nor anie that doeth confeffe thee, which hafe not done amiffe.

36 For in this, ô Lord, thy righteousnes and thy goodnes fhall be praised, if thou be merciful vnto them, which haue not the fubftance of good workes.

37 Then answered he me, and faid, Some things haft thou

42 I answered then & said, If I haue sounde grace, let me

43 Like as the housband mans seed peri- seth, if it come not with to much raine,

44 So periseth man, which is created with thine hands, & thou art called his patern, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and lickened him vnto the housband mans sede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, & Lord, but spare thy people & haue merite vpo thine inheri- tance: for thou wilt be merciful vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre of that thou shuldest loue my creature above me: but I haue oft times drawn nere vnto thee and vnto it, but never to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marvelous before the Highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy self, as it becometh thee, and hast not judged thy self wroth: to boast thy self greatly amog the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shal liue in the latter time, because thei shal walke in great pride.

51 But learn: thou for thy self, and seke out the glorie for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tre of life is planted:
the time to come is pre- pared, plenteousness made ready: the citie is buylded, and rest is prepared, pestite goodnes and absolute wisdom.

53 The route of evil is sealed vp from you: the weakens and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrows are vanished away, and in the end is shewed & treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when thei had libertie, thei despised the most High:
they contemned his Law & forsake his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no

God, though they knew that they shulde dye.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirst and peine prepared for them: for God wolde not that man shulde perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, & are vnthankful vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my judgement is now at had.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a sewe like thee: then I answered, and said, 20 So I confidered the worlde, & beholde, there was peril, becaufe of the deuifes, that were fprung vp into it.

10 For frô the beginning all men are borne of her, and other fnal come, and beholde, they walke almoſte all into deſtruction, & the multitude of them fnalbe deſtroyed.

11 Who fhulde then rather mourne, fhe that hathe loft ſo great a multitude, or thou which art forie but for one?

12 But if thou woldeſt fay vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue loft the frute of my wôbe, which I broght for the with heauines, & bare with forowes,

13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the pre-fent multitude returneth into his as it came)

14 Then fay Ivnto th.e, As thou haſt borne with trauail, ſo the earth alſo from the beginning giueth her fiute vnto man, euen to him that labored her.

15 Now therefore withholde thy forow in thy ſelf, and beare conſtantly that which cometh vnto thee.

16 For if thou alloweſt Gods purpoſe, and receiueſt his counſel in time, thou ſhalt be commended therein.

17 Go thy way then into the citie to thine houſband.

18 ¶ Then ſhe ſaid vnto me, I wil not, I wil not go into the citie; but here wil I dye.

19 So I continued to ſpeake more with her, and ſaid,

20 Do not fo, but be coufeled: for how manie falles hathe
Sion? Be of good comfort becaufe of the forowe of Icuufalem.

21 For thou feeft y our Sanctuarie is layed waft: our altar is broken downe: our Têple is deftroyed.

22 Our pfalterion fainteth, and the fong ceafeth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candeltticke is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is rake away, and our holie things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpô ouer vs, is almofte difhonored, and our children are put to fname, and our Priefts are burnt, & our Leuites are caryed into caprutiue, and our virgines are defiled, and our wines rauifhed, and our righteous men fpoyled, & our children defstroyed, and our yong men are broght in bondage, and our ftrong mê are become weake,

23 And, which is the greateft of all, Sion the feale hathe loft her worfhips for fhe is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore fhake of thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of forowes, that the Almighty may be merciful vnto thee, and that the mofte High may giue thee reft and eaf from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beaurie fhined fuddenly, and her countenance was bright, fo that I was afrayed of her & mufed what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediately fhe caft out a great voyce, very fearful, fo y the earth fhoke at the noyce of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me nomore: but there was a citie buylded, and a place was fhewed frô the grounde and fundacion. Then was I afrayed, and cryed with a loude voyce, and faid,

28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came Chap 4.1. to me at the firft: for he hath caufed me to come into manie and depe confideraciós, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was fpeaking thefe wordes, beholde, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And lo, I laye as one dead, and mine vnderftanding was altered, and he toke me by the right hand and comforted me, and fer me vpon my feete, and faid vnto me,

31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderftanding vexed? and the vnderftanding of thine heart? & wherefore art thou forie?

32 And I faid, Becaufe thou haft forfaken me, and I haue done* according vnto thy Chap. 5.20. wordes: I went into the field, and there haue I fene things, & fe that I am not able to exprefse.

33 Then faid he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I wil giue thee exhortacion.

34 Then faid I, Speake vnto me, my lord, and forfake me not, left I dye through rafines.

35 For I haue fene that I knewe not, and heare that I do not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderftanding difceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erte?

37 Now therefore I befeche thee that thou wilt fhewe thy feruant of this wondre.

38 Thê he answered me, and faid, Heare me, and I wil informe thee, & tel thee wherefore thou art afrayed: for the moſte High hathe reueiled manie ſecret things vnto thee.

39 He hath ſene thy good purpoſe, that thou art ſorie continually for thy people, and makeſt great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderſtanding of the viſſo, which appeared vnto thee a little while ago.

41 Thou ſawſt a womâ mourning, & thou beganneſt to comfort her:

42 But now feeſt thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie buylded.

43 And where as ſhe tolde thee of the deati of her ſonne, this is the ſolution,

44 This woman, which thou ſawſt, ſhe is Sion: and where as ſhe tolde thee (euen ſhe which thou feeſt now as a citie buylded)

45 And as touching that ſhe ſaid vnto thee, that ſhe was baren thirtie yeres, this was conceining that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offing offred in her.

46 But after thirtie yeres, Salomon buyle the citie, and offred offings: then bare the baren a ſonne.

47 And where as she tolde thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But where as she tolde thee that her son- ne, as his chance was, dyed when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is co- me to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawst her like one that mouried for her sonne, thou beganest to cōfort her: of these things which haue cō- ced these art to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the moste High seeth, that thou art forie in thy mind, & because thou suffrest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clerenes of her glorie, and the fa- renes of her beaucie.

51 And therefore I bad thee remaine in the field where no house was buyle.

52 For I knew that the moste High wolde shewe these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commâded thee to go into ffield, where no fundaciō nor buylding is.

54 For the worke of man buylding can not stand in that place where the citie of the moste High shulde be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, nether let thine heart be afrayed, but go in, and se the beau- tie & greatnes of the buylding as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed about manie, & art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shewe thee visions of high things, which the most High will do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes So I slept the same night & another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle coming for the of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a lyon coming out of the forest.

2 Then saw I a dream, & beholde, there came vpon from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings & three heads.

3 And I sawe and beholde, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, & all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered them filles.

4 And I beholde, & out of her feathers grew out other contrarie feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

5 But her heads remained ftill, & the head in the middes was greater than the other heads, yet ruffed it with them.

6 Moreouen, I fawe that the egle ftewe with his feathers and reigned vpō earth & ouen them that dwelt therein.

7 And I fawe that all things vnder heauen were fubiect vnto her, and no man fpake againft her, no not one creature vpō earth.

8 I fawe alfo that the egle ftode vp vpon her clawes, & fpake to her feathers, faying,

9 Watch not all together: flepe euerie one in his owne place, and watch by courfe.

10 But let the heads be preferued for the laft. 11 Neuertheles, I fawe that f voice went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her bodie.

12 Then I nombed her contrarie feathers, and beholde, ne: e were eight of them.

13 And I loked, and beholde vpon the right fide there arofe one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appealed no more. So the next ftode vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

15 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the hith, so it appeared no more.

16 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and said,

17 Heare thou that hath kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou be- ginneft to appeare no more,

18 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, nether to the halfe thereof.

19 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

20 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euerie one reigned, and then appeared no more.

21 Then I looked, and beholde in proceffe of time the feathers that followed, ftoode vp on the right side, that they might rule also, & some of the ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

at For

Apocrypha.

21 For some of the were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked & beholde, y twelve feathers appeared nomore, nor y two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the egies bodie, but two heads that rested and six wings.

24 Then sawe I also that two wings deuied them selues from the six, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, & beholde, the vnderwings thought to set vpon them selues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vpon, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were soner gone then the first.

28 The I behelde, & lo, the two that remained, thought also in them selues to reigne.

29 And whe they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were toynd therewith.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat vpon the two vnderwings that wolde haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, & it had the gouernace of the worlde, more the all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which al- so ruled likewise vpo earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I behelde, and lo the head vpon the right side deuoured that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Loke before thee, and consider y thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were alyon that roareth, renning hastily out of the wood: and I sawe that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I wil talke with thee, & the mostte High shal say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remains, whome I made to reigne in my worlde, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hathe ouer- come all the beasts that were past, & hathe power ouer the worlde with great fearful nes, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with mostte wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all y worlde with disceite?

41 For y hast not iudged the earth w trueth.

42 Seing thou hast troubled the meke, thou hast hurte the peaceable, and thou hast lo- ued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that broght for the frute, & hast cast downe the wailes of suche as did thee no harme,

43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing co- me vp vnto the mostte High, and thy pri- de vnto the Mightie.

44 The mostte High also hathe looked vpon the proude times, & beholde, they are en- ded, and their abominacions are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine bodie,

46 That all the earth may be refreshed, & come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, & that she may hope for the iud-gement and mercie of him that made her

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

1 And when the lion spake these wor- des to the egle, I sawe,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vp- per hand, appeared no more, nether did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp them selues to reig- ne, whose kingdome was finale and ful of vproares.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole bodie of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and fro the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

4 Lo, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou search: st out the waies of the mostte High.

5 Lo, yet am I wearie in my minde, and ve- ry weake in my spirit, and litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I re- ceiued this night.

6 Therefore now I wil beseche the mostte High that he wil cofort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue foide grace before thy sight, & if I am instified with thee before many other, and if my praier in dede be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shewe me thy fœuant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou maist perfectly comfort my foule,

9 Seing thou hast iudged me worthie to shewe me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The egle, whome thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the kingdome which was Dan. 7.8. fene in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him, the- refore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the daies come, that there shal

Gggg. iii.

rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shalbe feared about all kingdoms that were before it. In it shal twelve Kings reigne one after another, Whereof the feconde shal beginne to reigne and shal haue more time then the twelve. And this do the twelve wings fignifie, which thou fawest. As for the voice that thou heardest fpeake, and that thou fawest not go out from the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretation, That after the time of that kingdoms there shal arise great thrife, & it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shal not then fall, but shalbe restored againe to his beginning. Cocening the eight vnderwings, which thou fawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation. In him shal arise eight Kings, whose time shal be but fmale, and their yeres fwift, and two of them shal perift. But when the middle time cometh, there shalbe foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it maye be ended, but two shalbe kept vnto the end. And where as thou fawest thre heads resting, this is the interpretation, In his last dayes shal y mofte High raise vp thre kingdomes, and shal call againe manie things into the, and they shal haue the dominion of the earth, And of thofe that dwell therein, with muche grief abouce all thofe that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the egle. For they shal accomplish his wickednes, and shal finish his last end. And where as thou fawest that the great head appeared no more, it fignifieth that one of them shal dye vpon his bed, and yet with peine. For the two that remaine, the fworde shal deuoure them. For the fworde of the one shal deuoure the other: but at the last, shal he fall by the fworde him felf. And where as y fawest two vnderwings, that went of towarde the head, which was on the right fide, this is the interpretacio, Thefe are thei whome y mofte High hathe preferued for their end, whose kingdoms is litle, and ful of trouble as thou fawest. And the lyon whome thou fawest rifing vp out of the wood and roaring, and fpeaking vnto the egle, and rebuking he: for her vnrighteoufnes with all the woodes that thou hast heard, This is the winde which the moſte High hathe kept for them, and for their wickednes vnto the end, & he ſhal reprove them, and caſt before them their ſpoiles. For he ſhal fet them aliue in the judgement, and ſhal rebuke them and correct them. For he wil deliuer the refidue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and he ſhal make them joyful, vntil the coming of the day of judgement, whereof I haue ſpoken vnto thee from the beginning. This is the dream that thou faweſt, and theſe are the interpretations. Thou onely haſt bene mete to know this ſecret of the moſte High. Therefore write all theſe things that thou haſt ſene, in a booke and hide them, And reache them the wife of the people, whoſe hearts thou knoweſt may comprehend and keepe theſe ſecrets. But waite thou here yet ſeuene daies mo, that it may be ſhewed thee whatſoever it pleaſeth the moſte High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way. And when all the people perceived, that the ſeuene daies were paſt, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the leaſt vnto the moſte, and came vnto me, and ſpoke vnto me, ſaying, What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done againſt thee, that thou forfakeſt vs, and fitteſt in this place? For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, & as an haun or ſhippe preferred from the tempeſt. Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, ſufficient? If thou then forfake vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt alſo as Sion was burnt?

For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce, Then answered I them, and faid, Be of good comfort, o Ifi ael, and be not heauie, thou houfe of Iacob. For the mofte High hathe you in remembrance, & the Almightye hathe not forgotten you in temptation. As for me I haue not forfake you, nether am I departed from you, but am come into this place to praye for the defolation of Sion, that I might feke mercie for the low estate of your Sanctuarie. And now go your way home euerie ma, and after thefe daies wil I come vnto you. So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them! But I remained ftill in the field feuen daies, as he had commanded me, and did eat onely of the floures of the field, & had my meat of the herbes in thofe daies.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde coming for the of the sea. 1 Which became a man 2 His property & power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

1 A Nd after the feuin daies I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And beholde, there arose a winde fro the sea, and it moued all the wines thereof.

3 And I loked, & beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to loke, all the things trembled that were fene vnder him.

4 And whe the voyce wet out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fyre.

5 After thefe things I fawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of nober, fro the foure winde of the heaué, to fight against the man that came out from the fea.

6 And I loked, and beholde, he graued him felf a great mountaine, and flewe vp vpon it.

7 But I wolde baue fene the counrei or place whereout the hil was grauen, and I colde not.

8 I fawe after thefe things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were fore afraied, and yet they durft fight.

9 Neuertheles, when he fuwe the fierceness of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he helde no fworde nor any instrument of warre,

10 But onely, as I fawe, he fent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blafte of fyre, and out of his lippes the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he caft out fparkes and ftolmes.

11 And they were all mixt together, even this blafte of fyre, the winde of the flame, and the great ftorme, and fell with violéce vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, fo that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing fene, but onely duft, and fmel of fmoke. When I fawe this, I was afraied.

12 Afterwarde fawe I the fame man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, fome with joyful countenance, & fome with fad: fome of the were bound, and fome broght of them that were offred: and I was ficke thorow great feare, and awaked, and faid,

14 Thou haft fhewed thy feruát thefe wonders from the beginning, and haft counted me worthie to receiue my praier.

15 Shewe me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I confider in mine vnderftanding, wo vnto them y

daies, and muche more wo vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauines.

18 Now vnderftand I the things that are laid vp in the latter daies, which fhall come bothe vnto them, and to thofe that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many neceffities, as thefe dreames declare.

20 Yet is it eaffer, that he that is in danger, fhulde fall into thofe, & foref: the things to come hereafter, then to paffe away as a cloude out of the worlde.

21 Then answered he me, & faid, The interpretacio of the vifion wit I fhewe thee, and I wil open to thee the thing that thou haft requied.

22 Where as thou haft fpoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation,

23 He that fhall beare the danger in that time, he fhall keepe him felf. They that be fallen into danger, are fuche as haue workes and faith toward the moſte Mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more bleffed the thei that be dead.

25 Thefe are the meanings of the vifion, Where as thou faweft a man comming vp from the middes of the fea,

26 The fame is he whome the moſte High hathe kept a great feafon, who by his owne felf fhall deliuer his creature, & he fhall order them that are left behinde.

27 And where as thou faweft, that out of his mouth theie came as a blaft with fyre and ftolme,

28 And y he nethei helde fworde nor weapon, but that by his fierceness he deſtroed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the daies come that the moſte High wil beginne to deliuer the that are vpon the earth:

30 And he fhall aftonifh the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one fhall prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, & place against place, and nation against nation, & realme against realme.

32 When this commeth to paffe, then fhall the tokens come, that I fhewed thee before, & then fhall my Sonne be reueiled, whome thou faw: ft go vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euerie ma fhal in their owne land leaue the battel that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude fhalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

Gggg. iii.

II. Esdras.

35 But he shal stand vpo the toppe of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shal come, and shal be shewed to all, being prepared and buylded, as thou sawest the hil grauen forthe without any hands.

37 And this my Sonne shal rebuke the wicked inuenions of those nacions, which for their wicked life are fallin into the tempest,

38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shal be tormented: and without any labour wil he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fyre.

39 And where as thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him,

40 Those are the ten tribes which were carried away captiues out of their owne laid, * in the time of Ofeas the King, whome Salmana sau the King of the Assyrians toke captiue, and caiyed them beyonde the riue: so were they brought into another land.

41 But they toke this counsel to the selues, that they wolde leauue the multitude of the heathen, and go for the into a further coun trey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,

42 That they might the te kepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narowe passages of the ruuer Euphrates.

44 For the moiste High then shewed the signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood til they were passed outr.

45 For thorow y country there was a great country, euen of a yere and an halfe, and the same region is called 'Arfareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntil the latter time: and when they come for the againe,

47 The moiste High shal holde stil the springs of the ruuer againe, that they may go thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But then that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be founde within my borders.

49 Now when he destroieth the multitude of the nacions that are gathered together, he shal defende the people that remaine,

50 And then shal he shewe great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shewe me this, wherefore haue I sene the man comming vp from the middes of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst nether seke out, nor knowe these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon eath se my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the diame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and foght it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, & hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee y it wardes with the moiste High: and after thie other dares I wil speake other things vnto thee, and wil declare the great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I for the vnto the field, glorifying and praising the moiste High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and suche things as come in their seasons: and there I sate thre dayes.

1 Von the thirde day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came for the a voyce vnto me out of the bush, & said, Esdras, Esdras?

2 And I said, Here am I, Lord, & stode vp vpon my fere.

3 Then said he vnto me, * In the bush I reuelled my self, and spake vnto Moyses, whe my people serued in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, & I helde him with me a log season;

5 And I tolde him many wonders, & shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, & these shalt thou hide.

7 An know I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the creatures that thou hast sene, & the interpretation, which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hence for the with my counsel, & with suche as be like thee, vntil the times be ended.

9 For the worlde hathe lost his youth, & the times beginne to waxe olde.

10 For the worlde is deuided into twelue partes, & ten partes of it are gone alreadie and halfe of the tenth parte.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth parte.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort suche of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let go from thee mortal thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, & put of now the weake nature,

14 And set aside thy moiste grievous thoughts, and haste thee to departe from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast fene now, shal thei commit.

16 For the weaker that the worlde is by rea- son of age, the more shal the cuils be in- creafed vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled faire away, & lies are at hand: for now hafteth the vifion to come, that thou haft fene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and laid before thee,

19 Beholde, ô Lord, I wil go as thou haft commanded me, and reforme the people, which are prefent: but they that shal be borne afterwarde, who shal admonish the?

20 Thus the worlde is fet in darknes, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue founde grace before thee, fend the holie Gost into me, & I wil write all that halhe bene done in the worlde fin- ce the beginning, which was writen in thy Law, that men may finde the path, & that thei which wil liue in the latter daies, may liue.

23 And he answered me, laying, Go, and ga- ther the people, and say vnto them, that thei feke thee not for fortie daies,

24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee thefe fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Se lemia, Ecanus, and Afiel, which are readie to write fwiftly, 25 And come hether, & I wil light a candle of vnderftading in thine heart, which fhall not be put out til the things be performed which thou fhalt beginne to write.

26 And the fhalt thou declare fome things openly vnto the perfite men, and fome things fhalt thou fhewe fecitely vnto the wife to morowe this houre fhalt thou be- ginne to write.

27 Then went I forthe, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and faid,

28 Heare thefe wordes, ô Ifrael,

29 ¶ Our fathers at y beginning were fran- gers in Egypt, from whence they were de- liuered,

30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which ye also haue träfgräf- fed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the lād of Sion parted amög you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteoufly, and haue not kept the wayes, which the moste High commanded you.

32 And for so muche as he is a righteous Iudge, he toke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye wil subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shalbe kept aliue, and after death shal ye obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shal the iudgemēt come, when we shal liue againe: & then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the works of the vngodlie shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seke me these fortie daies.

37 So I toke the fiue men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next daye beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Eldras, v open thy mouth, and Ergeh 3.2 drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opined I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fyre.

40 And I toke it and drinke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstan- ding and wifdome grewe in my breft: for my fpirit was ftrégthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and fhut no more.

42 The moſte High gaue vnderſtanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vnderſto- de not.

43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I fpake by day, & helde not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie daies, they wrote two hun- dreth and foure bokes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfil- led, the moſte High fpake, ſaying, The firſt that thou haſt writen, publiſh openly, y the worthie and vnworthie may read it.

46 But kepe the ſeuentie laſt, that thou maiſt giue them to the wife among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstan- ding, and the fountaine of wifdome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did fo.

gues vpo all the worlde, the fwoide, fami- ne, death and deftuccion:

6 Because that iniquitie hathe fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked works are fulfilled. Therefore, faith the Lord, I will holde my tongue no more for their wickedness, (they do vngodlie) neither wil I suffer the in the things, that they do wickedly. 8 Beholde, the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the fules of the uft crye continually. 9 I wil surely aunge them, faith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all y innocent blood from among them. 10 Beholde, my people is led as a flock to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I wil bring them out with a mightie hand, and a firtched out arme, & fmi-te it with plagues as afore, & wil deftroie all the land thereof. 12 Egypt fhal mourn, and the fundaci-ons thereof fhalbe fmitten with the pla-gue and punifhment, that God fhal bring vpon it. 13 The ploweme that till the ground, fhal mourn: for their fedes fhal faile thorowe the blafting and haile, and by an horrible ftarre. 14 Wo to the worlde, & to them that dwell therein. 15 For the fwoide and their deftruccion draweth nere, and one people fhal ftand vp to fight againf another with fwoides in their hands. 16 For there fhalbe fedicion among men, & one fhal inuade another: they fhal not re-garde their King, & the princes fhal mea-fure their doings by their power. 17 A man fhal defire to go into a citie, and fhall not be able. 18 Because of their pride the cities fhall be troubled, the houfe fhall be afraied, & men fhall feare. 19 A man fhall haue no pitie vpon his neigh-bour, but fhall deftroye their houfe with the fwoide, & their goods fhall be fpoyled for lacke of bread, and becaufe of great trouble. 20 Beholde, faith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence me, which are from the 'Eaf, and from the South, from the Eaf, and from Libanus, to turne vpon the, & to repay the things, that they haue done to them. 21 As they do yet this day vnto my chofen, fo wil I do alfo, and recompene them in their bofome: thus faith the Lord God, 22 My right had fhall not fpare the finners, nether fhall the fwoide eafe from them, that fhed innocent blood vpon earth. 23 The fyre is gone out from his wrath, and bathe confumed the fundacions of the earth, and the finners like the ftrawe, that is kindled.

24 Wo to them that finne, and kepe not my commandements, faith the Lord. 25 I wil not fpare them: departe, o childre, from the power: defile not my Sanctua-tye. 26 For the Lord knoweth all them that fin-ne againf him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and deftruction. 27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and ye fhall remaine in them: for God wil not deliuer you, becaufe ye haue finned againf him. 28 Beholde, an horrible vifion cometh from the Eaft, 29 Where generacions of dragons of Arabia fhall come out with manie cha-rets, and the multitude of them fhalbe caryed as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare thm, may feare and tremble. 30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, fhal go forthe as the bores of the foreft, and fhal come with great power, and ftad againft them in battel, and fhal deftroie a porcion of the land of the Affyrians. 31 But after this fhal the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and fhal turne about, and confpire to con-fume them with a great power. 32 Then thefe fhalbe troubled, and kepe fi-lence by their power, and fhal ftee. 33 From the land of the Affyrians fhal the enemie befiege them, and confume fome of them, and in their hofte fhalbe feare & dread, and ftrife among their Kings. 34 Beholde cloudes from the Eaft, & from the North vnto the South, and they are verie horrible to loke vpon, ful of wrath and ftorme. 35 They fhal finite one vpon another: and they fhal finite downe a great multitude of ftarres vpon the earth, euen their owne ftarre, & the blood fhalbe from the fwoide vnto the bclle, 36 And the dongue of ma vnto the Camels litter. 37 And there fhalbe great fearefulnes, and trembling vpon earth, and thei that fe the wrath, fhalbe afraied, and a trembling fhal come vpon them. 38 And then there fhal come great ftormes from the South, and from the North, and parte from the Weft. 39 And from the Eaft fhal windes arife and fhal open it with the cloude, which he rai-fed vp in wrath, & y ftarre, raifed to feare the Eaft & Weft winde, fhalbe deftroied. 40 And the great, and mightie cloudes fhal be life

vp, ful of wrath, and the ftarre, that they may make all the earth afraied, and them them that dwell therein, & that they may powre out ouer euerre hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

4) As fyre and hayle, and flying sword, & many waters, that all fields may be full, & all rivers & the abundance of great waters.

4) And they shal break down the cities and walles, and mountains, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grass of the medowes, and their corne.

4) And they shal go with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraied.

4) They shal come to her, and besiege her, and shal powre for the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shal the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shal bewaile her.

4) And the: that remaine vnder her, shal do seruice vnto them, y haue put her in feare.

4) And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her perfone,

4) Wo vnto thee, o wretch, because thou haat made thy self like vnto her, and hast dect thy daughters in whoredome, y they might please & glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to comit whoredome with thee.

4) Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuencions: the- refore saith God,

4) I wil send plagues vpo thee, wedowhed, pouertie, and famine, & the swords, and pe stilice, to waite thine houses with destruc- tion and death.

5) And y glorie of thy power shalbe dryed vp, as a floure when the heat riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

5) Thou shalt be sicke as a poole wife y is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shal not be able to receive thee.

5) Wolde I thus hate thee, saith y Lord,

5) If thou hadest not alway slaine my cho- sen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death, when y wast droken,

5) Set for the y beautie of thy countenance?

5) The rewards of thy whoredome shalbe in thy bosome:
therefore shalt thou recei- ue a rewards.

5) As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so wil
God do vnto thee, & wil deliuer thee vnto the plague.

5) And thy children shal dye of hunger, & thou shalt fall by the swords, & thy cities shalbe broken down, and all thy men shal fall by the swords in the field.

5) And they that be in the mountains shal dye of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, & drink their owne blood for wat of bread and thirst of water.

5) And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thro- row the sea, and receive plagues againe.

6) In the passage they shal cast downe the slaine citre, and shal roote out one parte of thy land, & consume y porcion of thy glo- rie, & shal returne to her y was desti-oted.

6) When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shalbe to thee as fyre.

6) And they shal destroy thee, & thy cities, thy land, & thy mountains: all thy woods and all thy fruteful trees shal they burne with fyre.

6) Thy childre shal they carye away capti- ue, and shal spoile thy substance, & marre the beautie of thy face.

1 WO to thee, Babylon & Asia: wo to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke & heereclo- the, and mourne your children, & be sorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who wil turne it backe? a fyre is sent among you, & who wil quenche it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any ma driue away an hungrie lion in the wood: or quenche the fyre in stubble whe it hathe once be gonne to burne? may one turne againe the arowe, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fyre is gone for the in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shal cast lightnings, & who shal not feare? he shal thunder, and who shal not be afraied?

8 The Lord shal threaten, & who shal not viterly be broken in pieces at his prefer- ce? the earth quaketh & the fundacio thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues fro the drpe, & the waues thereof are troubled, & the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glorie of his power.

9 For strog is his right hand, y bendeth the bowe: his arrowes y he shooteth, are shar- pe, & shal not miss, when they beginne to be shot into the ends of the worlds.

10 Beholde, the plagues are sent, & shal not turne againe, til they come vpon earth.

11 The fyre is kindled, & shal not be put out, til it consume the fundacions of the earth.

12 As an arow & is shot of a mightne archer, returneth not backward, so y plagues that shalbe set vpo earth, shal not turne againe.

mourning : the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shal feate : the beginning of e- uils, and all shal tremble. What shal I do in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amé- dement.

16 But for all these things they wil not tur- ne frô their wickedness, nor be alway min- deful of the scourges.

17 Beholde, vitailles shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shal thinke them fel- ues to be in good case: but then shal the e- uils bud forthe vpon earth, euen the swor- de, the famine and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shal perish with famine, and the other that escape y famine, shal the sworde destroy.

19 And the dead shalbe cast out as dongue, and there shalbe no man to comforte the: for the earth shalbe wasted, and the cities shalbe cast downe.

20 There shalbe no ma left to till the earth, and to sowe it : the trees shal giue frute, but who shal gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shal treade them? for all places shalbe desola- te, so that one ma shal desire to se another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shalbe ten left, and two of the field, which shal hide them fel- ues in the thicke woods, and in the cleftes of rockes.

23 As when there remaine thre or foure o- liues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as whe a vineyarde is gathered, the- re are left some grapes of them that dili- gently foght thorowe the vine yarde:

25 So in those daies there shalbe thre or fou- re left by them that searche their houses w the sworde.

26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fields thereof shal waxe olde, & her waxes and all her paths shal growe full of thor- nes, because no man shal trauail there- through.

27 The virgines shal mourne, hauing no bridegromes : the women shal make la- mentacion, hauing no houf bands : their daughters shal mourne hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shal their bridegromes be destroyed, and their houf bands shal perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the worde of the Lord, receaue it : beleue not the gods of whome y Lord speaketh: beholde the plagues drawe nere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woma which in the nin- the moneth bringeth forthe her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or thre houres afore the peines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tarie not a whit, 32 So shal not the plagues be slacke to come vpo the earth, & the worlde shal mourne, & sorowes shal come vpon it on euerie side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battel, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as he y sleeth his way: & he that byeth, as one y wil lose.

35 Who so occupieth marchadise, as he that winneth not : and he that buyldeth, as he that shal not dwell therein:

36 He y soweth, as one: that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shal not gather the grapes:

37 They that mary, as they that shal get no children: and they that mary not, so as the widdowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shal reape their frutes, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue:
for in captiuitie & famine shal they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their marchadi- se with couetoufnes, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persones,

41 So muche more wil I be angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and ver- tuous woman,

43 So shal righteousnes hate iniquitie, whe she decketh her self, & shal accuse her opé- ly, when he shal come that shal bridle the autor of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shalbe taken away out of the earth, and righteousnes shal reigns a- mong you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hathe not sinned : for coles of fyre shal burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned be- fore the Lord God and his glorie.

46 Beholde, the Lord knoweth all the wor- kes of men, their imaginaciós, their thogh- tes and their hearts.

47 "For assone as he said, Let the earth be made, it was made:
let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his worde were the starres establi- shed, and he " knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the trea- sures thereof: he hathe measured the sea, and what it conteineth.

his worde hathe he hanged hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spread: th out the heauē like a vawte: vpon the waters hathe he founde it.

52 In the defert hathe he made springs of water, and poles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the hie rockes to wazet the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the middles of the bodie, and gaue him breth, life and vnder standing.

54 And the Spirit of the almightie God, which made all things, & hathe searched all the hid things in the secrets of ye earth,

55 He knoweth your inuencions, and whit ye imagine in your heart when ye finne & wolde hide your finnes.

56 Therefore hathe the Lord searched and foght out all your workes, and wil put you all to shame.

57 And when your finnes are broght forthe before men, ye shalbe confounded, and your owne finnes shal stand as your accu- sets in that day.

58 What wil ye do, or how wil ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God him selfe is the nudge: sea- re him: cease from your finnes, and forget your iniquities, and medle no more from hence forthe with them: so shal God lead you forche, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shal take away certeine of you, and shal flaye you for meat to the idoles.

61 And they that confent vnto them, shalbe had in derision and in reproche, and tro- den vnder foote.

62 For in euerie place and cities that are nere, there shalbe great insurrectio against thofe that feare the Lord.

63 They shalbe like mad m: n: they shal spa- re none: they shal spoyle, & wafte fuche as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shal wafte and spoile their goods, and caft them out of their houfes.

65 The shal the tryal of my chofen appea- re, as the golde is try ed by the fyre.

66 Heare, o ye my beloued, faith the Lord: beholde, the daies of trouble are at hand, but I wil deliuer you from them: be not ye afraied: doute not, for God is your cap- taine.

67 Who fo kepeth my commādements and precepts, faith ye Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them felues vp.

68 Wo vnto the that are bounde with their finnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bufhes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, wher- by no man may in aui: it is fhut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fyre.

16 ¶ But in the time of Enemeffar, I gave many almes to my was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I fate downe to eat.

And when I sawe abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Go, & bring what poore man socuer y Snait Sinde of our brethre which doth remeber God, & lo I wil tary for thee.

But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 The before I had casted anie meat, I start vp, and broght him into mine house vntil the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and wafted, and ate my meat in heaumes,

6 Remembring that prophecie of Amos, whad said, your solene feafits Shalbe turned into mourning, & your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, & after y going downe of y Sine I wet & made a graue & buried hi.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and said, Doeth he not feare, to dye for this cause, who fled away, and yet, lo, he buryeth the dead againe.

9 The same night also when I returned fro the buryal, & slept at y wall of mine house because I was polluted, & hauing my face vncovered,

10 And I knewe not y sparowes were in the wall, & as mine eyes were open, the sparowes cast downe warme dogue into mine eyes, & a whitenes came in mine eies, & I went to the phisicias who helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntil I went into Elimais.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to do.

12 And whe she had sent them home to the owners, thei pated the wages, & gave a kid.

13 Which whe it was a mine house, and began to bleat, I said vnto her, From whece is this kid is it not stollen render it to the owners: for it is not lawful to eat anie thing that is stollen.

14 But she said, It was giue for a gifte more the y wages: but I did not beleue, & bade her to reder it to y owners, & I did blufh, becaufeof her. Furthermore she said, "Whe re are thine almes, & thy righteousnes beholde, they all now appeare in thee.

2 O Lord, thou art iufte, & all thy workes, & all thy wayes are mercie & trueth, and thou iudgert truely & iufte ly for euer.

3 Remeber me & loke on me, nether punish me accordig to my sins or mine ignoraces or my fathers, whaue sinned before thee.

4 For thei haue not obeied thy comandemets: wherefore y haft deliuered vs for a spoile, & vnto capetuiere, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproche to all them among whome we are dispensed, and now thou haft manie and iufte causes,

5 To do wme accordig to my sinnes, & my fathers, becaufe we haue not kept thy comandemets, nether haue walked in trueth before thee.

& am verie forowful: comande therefore that I may be disolued out of this distee- se, and go into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me. 7 It came to paffe the fame day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media Sarra the dau- gher of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides, 8 Because she had bene maryed to feue bouf bands, whome Afmodeus the euil spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her.
Doest thou not knowe, said they, that thou hast strangled thine bouf bands; thou hast had now feuen bouf bads, nether waft thou named after anie of them. 9 Wherefore doest thou 'beat vs for them? if they be dead, go thy wayes hence to the, that we may neuer se of thee ether fonne or daughter. 10 When she heard these things, she was verie forowful, so that she thought to haue strangled her self. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, & if I do this I shal slander him, and shal bring his age to the graue with forowe. 11 Then she prayed towarde the windowe & said, Blessed art thou, o Lord my God, and thine holie & glorious Name is blef- sed, and honorablen for euer: let all thy wor kos praise thee for euer. 12
And now, o Lord, I set mine eyes, & my face toward thee, 13
And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more anie reproche. 14 Thou knowest, o Lord, that I am pure from all finne with man, 15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, nether hathe he anie ma child to be his heie, nether anie "nere kunfman or childe borne of him, to whome I may kepe my self for a wife: my feuen bouf bands are now dead, & why shulde I liue? But if it please not thee that I shulde dye, comá- de to loke on me, and to pitie me that I do no more heare reproche. 16 So the prayers of them boche were heard before the maiestie of the great God. 17 And Raphael was sent to heale them bo- the phat is, to take away y whitenes of To- bits eyes, & to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the fonne of Tobit, & to binde Afmodeus y euil spirit because she belonged to Tobias by right. The self fame time came Tobit home, and entred into his houfe, and Sarra the daugh- ter of Raguel came downe fro her chaber. CHAP. III. Prerepts and emhortations of Tobit to his finne 1 N that day Tobit remèbred y siluer, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media, 2 And said with him self, I haue wished for death: wherefore do I not call for my fon- ne Tobias that I may admonish him be- fore I dye?

3 And when he had called him, he said, My fonne, after that I am dead, bury me, & de- spise not thy mother, but honour her all the dayes of thy life, & do that which shal please her, and anger her not.

4 Remèber, my fonne, how manie dangers she sustained when thou waft in her wobe, and whe she dyeth, bury her by me in the fame graue.

6 My fonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, & let not thy wil be set to finne or to transgreffe the comandements of God. Do vprightly all thy life long, and followe not the wayes of vnrighteousnes: for if y deale truely, thy doings shal prof- perously succede to thee, & to all the which liue iustely.

7 Giue almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be en- uious, nether turne thy face from anie poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 *Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou laiest vp a good store for thy self against the day of necesite,

10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, & susreeth not to come into darknes.

11 For almes is a good gift before the moste High to all them which vse it.

12 Beware of all whoredome, my fonne, & chiefly take a wife of y sede of thy fathers, & take not a strange woma to wife which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the childe of the Prophetes. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my fonne that thei maryed wines of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children and their fede shal inherite the land.

13 Now therefore, my fonne, loue thy bre- thren, & despise not in thine heart y sonnes & daughters of thy people in not taking a wife of the: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, & in fiercenes is scarcete, & great pouertie: for "fiercenes is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the wages of anie man, w hathe wrought for thee, tarie with thee, but giue him it out of had: for if thou serue God, he wil also paye thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be wel instructed in all thy conversation.

15 *Do that to no man thou haest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, nether let drunkenes go with thee in thy iourney.

16 *Giue of thy bread to y hungry, & of thy garmets to the y are naked, & of all thine abundance giue almes, & let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

2 Tobias sent to Rages. 3 He meteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

1 Tobias then answered & said, Father, I wil do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, feing I knowe him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seke thee a man, which may go with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I wil giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when he was gone to feke a man, he founde Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knewe not, & said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media? and knowe'st thou thofe places wel?

6 To whome the Angel said, I wil go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarie for me, til I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so he went in & said to his father, Beholde, I haue founde one, which wil go with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithful to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, & they saluted one another.

10 The Tobit said vnto hi, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.

11 To whome he said, Doest y feke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to go with thy fonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I wolde knowe thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kinred of Azarias & Ananias y great, & of thy brethre.

13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome: be not now angrie with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred, and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knewe Ananias and Ionachas, sonnes of that great Samaias: to we went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offred the first borne, & the oaths of the frutes, and they were not deceived with y errou of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shal I giue thee? will thou a grote a day & things necesitarie, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne safe, I wil adde sonne thing to the wages.

16 So thei agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy self for the journey, and go you on Gods Name. And whe his sonne had prepared all things for the journey, his father said, Go thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your journey, and the Angel of God kepe you companie. So they went for the bothe and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

17 But * Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

18 Wolde to God we had not laid money vpo money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hathe giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not careful, my sister: he shal returne in safetie, & thine eyes shal fe him.

21 For the good Angel doeth kepe him copanie, and his journey shal be prosperous, and he shal returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weping.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man toke the fish, and drewe it to land.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: & when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they bothe went on their way, til they came to Ecbatane.

9 ¶ And when they were come nice to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shal lodge w Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hathe one onelie daughter named Sarra: I wil speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

Hamb 27.8. 11 For to thee doeth * the right of her per- teine, seing thou alone art remnant of his kinred, 12 And the maid is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I wil speake to her father, that we may make the mariage when we are returned from Rages: for I knowe that Raguel ca not marie her to another according to the Law of Moyses: els he shulde deferue death, becaufe the right doeth rather apperteine to thee then to a-nie other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hathe bene giuen to seuen men, who all dyed in the mariage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraied, lest I go into her, and dye as the other: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no bodie, but thofe which come into her: wherefore I also seare lest I dye, and bring my fathers and my mothers life becaufe of me to the graue with forrowe: for the haue no other sonne to burye them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doest thou not reméber the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shulde st marie a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, ô my brother:

for she shalbe thy wife, nether be y careful of the euil spirit:
for this fame night shal she be giuen thee in mariage.

16 And when thou shalt go into thy bed, thou shalt take of the hote coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish,

17 Which if the spirit do smell, he wil flee away, and neuer come againe anie more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp bothe of you, and praye to God which is merciful, who wil haue pitie on you, and faue you: seare not, for she is appointed vn to thee from the beginning, & thou shalt kepe her, & she shal go with thee: moreover I suppose that she shal beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

Tobias marysch Sarra Raguels daughter.

1 And when they were come to Ecbatae, they came to the houfe of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she broght them into the houfe.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethre? To whome they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Thé he said to them, Do ye knowe Tobit our kinsman? And they said, We knowe him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is bothe aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, & said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of a good and honest man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was forowful and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they received them with a readie minde, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set muche meat on the table. Thé said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forthe thofe things whereof thou spakeft in the waye, that this business may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is mete that thou shuldeft marie my daughter: neuer theles, I wil declare vn to thee the crueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuen men, who dyed that night which they came in vnto her: neuer theles, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I wil eat nothing here, vntil ye bring her hether, and betrothe her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marie her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is merciful, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, & she came to her father, and he toke her by the hand, & gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them,

14 And called his wife Edna, and he toke a boke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

11 But when Raguel was come into his houfe,

Raguel praiseeth God for Tobias. 15 The Raguel praised God, & said, O God, thou art woi thie to be praised with all pure, & holie praise: therefore let thy Saintes praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praised, ô Lord: for thou haft made me joyful, and that is not come

17 Thou art to be praised becaufe thou haft had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grante them mercie, ô Lord, & finifh their life in health with joye and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his feruants to fil the graue

3 For Raguel hathe fworne that I fhall not departe.

After these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them. 13 And the whitenes

pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he sawe his sonne, he fel vpon his necke, 14 And he wept and said, blessed art thou, & Lord, & blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holde Angels. 15 For thou hast scouged me, and hast had prize on me: for beholde, I se my sonne To bias: and his sonne, being glad went in, & tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media. 16 Then Tobit went out to mete his daughter in lawe, rejoying and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which sawe him go, marueiled, because he had received his sight. 17 But Tobit testified before them all that God had had prize on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hathe brought thee vnto vs, & blessed be thy father: and there was great joye among all his brethren which were at Nineue. 18 And Achiacharus & Nasbas his brothers sonne came. 19 And Tobias mariage was kept seuen dayes with great joye.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias' declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 3 The which he while recompense 11:15. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel Jent of God. 4 Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which wet with thee, and thou must giue him more. 5 And he said vnto him, Ofather, it shal not griue me to giue him halfe of those thigs which I haue broght.

6 For he hathe broght me againe to thee in safetie, and bathe made whole my wife, and hathe broght me the money, & hathe likewise healed thee. 7 Then the olde man said, It is due vnto him. 8 So he called the Angel, & said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye naue broght, and go away in safetie. 9 But he toke them bothe a parte, and said vnto them, Praise God, and consecse him, and giue him the glorie, and praise him for the things which he hathe done vnto you before all them that liue.
It is good to praise God, and to exalte his Name, and to shewe forthe his euident works with honour: therefore be not wearie to consecse him.

Gen 18.2. Or 19.3. Indg 18.4.

Deu. 38.39. 1 Sam 2.6. Wifid. 16.17.

7 It is good to kepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honorable to reueile the workes of God: do that which is good, & no euil shal touche you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, & righteousness. A little with righteousness is better then much with unrighteousness: it is better to giue almes then to laye vp golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shalbe filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I wil kepe close nothing fro you: neuertheles, I said it was good to kepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honorable to reueile the workes of God.

12 Now therefore whe thou didest pray, & Sarra thy daughter in lawe, I did bring to memorise your prayer before y holie one: & when thou didest burye the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy diner to burye the dead, thy good dede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hathe fent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seue holie Angels, which present y prayers of the Saintes, and which go for the before his holie maiestie.

16 Then they were bothe troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shal go wel with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good wil of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did nether eat nor dinke, but you sawe it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I go vp to him that fent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great & wonderful workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who emboreth all to praise the Lord.

1 Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, & blessed be his kingdom.

2 For he doeth scourge, and hathe pitie: he leadeth to hel, and bringeth vp, nether is there anie that can auoide his hand.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hathe scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnes, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God & our father for euer.

5 He hathe scourged vs for our iniquities, and wil haue mercie againe, & wil gather vs out of all naciós, among whome we are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then wil he turne vnto you, and wil not hide his face fro you, but ye shal se what he wil do with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my capitulitie, and wil declare his power, & greatnes to a sinful nació O ye sinners, turne & do iustice before him: who can tel if he wil receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?

7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shal praise the King of heauen, and shal reioyce in his greatnes.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.

9 O Ierusalem the holie citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he wil haue pitie againe on the sones of righteous men.

10 Giue praise to the Lord duely, & praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be buylded in thee againe with ioye: and let him make ioyful there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Manie nacions shal come fro farre to the Name of the Lord God, with giftes in their hands, euen giftes to the King of heauen: all generacions shal praise thee, & giue signes of ioye.

12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iuste: for thei shalbe gathered, and shal bless the Lord of the iuste.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for thei shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorowful for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shal se all thy glorie, and shal reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule bless God the great King. 16 For Ierusalem shalbe buylt vp with sapphires, and emerodes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towres, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shalbe pa ued with beral, and carbuncle, and stones of Ophir.

18 And all her streetes shal say, 'Halleluiah, and and they shal praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled it for euer.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Lesions of Tobit to his sonne. 5 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 And the restoring of Ieru- Salem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and her wife. 16 Tobias age and death.

1 SO Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And he was eight and fifty yere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gave almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was verie aged, he called his sonne, and six of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to departe out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I beleue that those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shal be destroyed, for a time peace shal rather be in Media, and that our brethren shal be scattered in the earth from that good land, & Ierusalem shal be desolate, and the House of God in it shal be burned, and shal be desolate for a time.

Ex. 4. 1. 2. 4. 1. 4.

5 Yet againe God wil haue pitie on them and bring them againe into the lad where they shal buylde a Temple, but not like to the first, until the times of that age be fulfilled, w being finished, they shal returne fro euerie place out of captiuitie, & buylde vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shal be buylt in it for euer with a glorious buylding, as the Prophetes haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shal turne, and feare the Lord God truely, & shal burye their idoles.

7 So shal all nations praise the Lord, & his people shal confesse God, and the Lord

shal exalte his people, and all those which loue the Lord in trueth and justice, shal reioyce, & those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, departe out of Ni- neue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shal surely come to passe.

9 But kepe thou the Law, & the command- dements, & shewe thy self merciful & just that it may go wel with thee.

10 And burye me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no loger at Nineue. Re- member, my sonne, how a man handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darkenes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achia- charus was saued, but the other had his re- warde: for he went downe into darkenes. Manasses gaue almes, & escaped the share of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the share and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer. Whc he had said these things, "he gave vp the goest in the bed, being an hun- dreth and eight and fifty yere olde, and he buried him honorably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father and mother in lawe honorably, & he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he dyed at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundredth and seue & twentie yere olde.

15 But before he dyed, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonofof and Assureus, and before his death, he reoyced for Nineue.

the, his foale failed him to the bed.

IVDETH.

CHAP. I.

The buylding of Ecbatane. 1 Nabuchodonofof made warre against Arphaxad and ouereame him. 12 He threateneth them that wode not helpe him.

1 N the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabucho donofor, who reigned in Nineue the great ci- tie (in the dates of Ar- phaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ec- batane,

2 And buylt in Ecbatane the walles rounde about, of hewen stone, thre cubites broad, and six cubites long, and made the height of the wall scufitie cubites, & the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the rowres thereof in the gates of it of an hildreth cubites, & the breadth thereof in the fundacio threfcore

cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on his, seuentie cubi- tes, & the breadth of them fortie cubites, for y going forthe of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his foremen)

5 Euen in those daies, King Nabuchodono for made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Eu- phrates, and Tygii: and Hydaspes, & the Iii. iii.

country of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and verie manie nations assembled them selues to the battel of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, & to all that dwelt in the West, & to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antiilbanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people, that are in Carmel, & Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great field of Esfurelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities thereof, & beyonde lorden vnto Iem salē, & Betane, & Chellus, & Cades, & the riper of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameffe and all the land of Gofem,

10 Vnto one come to Tams, & Memphis, & to all the inhabitants of Egypt, & to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not pass for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, nether woide they come with him to the battel, for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angrie with all this country, and fware by his throne and kingdome that he wolde surely be auenged vpon all those coastles of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he wolde slay with the fwerie all the inhabitants of the land of Mose, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battel aray with his power against King A. phaxad in the seuententh yere, and he preuated in his battel: for he ouerth: we all the power of Ar phaxad, and all his house men, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Echatane, and toke the rowres, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 He toke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, & fmote him through with his oates and destroyed him viterly that daye.

16 So he returned afterwards to Nineue, bothe he and all his companie with a verie great multitude of men of warre, and there he pised the time, and banketed, bothe he, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

9 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people could be brought in subsistence. 6 And to destroy these that did not him. 12 The preparation of Oloyernes armie. 13 The conquest of his enemies.

1 And in the eighteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first month, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that he shulde aduenge him selfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with the his secret counsel, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destone all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsel, Nabuchodonosor King of Assyrians called Olofernes his chief captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt go for the from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of foremen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, & the number of horses with their riders, twelve thousand,

6 And thou shalt go against all the West country, because they desobedeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I wil go for the in my earth against them, and wil court the whole face of the earth with the face of mine armie, and I wil give them as a spoyle vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, & their rivers, & the flood shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I wil bring their captainie to the utmost partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefor shalt departe hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yelde vnto thee, thou shalt referue me for me vntil the day that I rebuke thee.

11 But concerning them that rebelli, let not thine eye spure thee, but put thee to death, & spoyle them wherefoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdom, whatsoever I haue spoken, that wil I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou hede that thou transgreffe nor any of the comandemets of thy Lord, but accoolis them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and diffuse not to do them.

14 Then Olofernes went for the from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernous, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustered the chosen men for the battel, as his loro had commanded him, vnto an hundreth & twentie thousand, and twelve thousand anthers on horseback.

16 And he set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he toke camels & asses for their burdens, dens, a very great number, and shepe, and oxen, & goates without number for their prouision,

18 And vitaille for euerie man of the armie, and very muche golde & filuer out of the Kings houfe.

19 Then he went forthe and all his power, to go before in the viage of King Nabuchodonosor, & to courer all the face of the earth Westwarde, with their charets, and horfemen, and chofen fotemen.

20 A great multrude also of fundrie fortes came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multrude was without number.

21 And they went forthe of Nineue thre daies tornay towarde the countrey of Betsileth, and pitched from Betsileth ne-re the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he toke all his armie, his fotemen and horfi men, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines,

23 And he deftroied Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Raffes, and the children of Ismael, which were towarde the wildernes at the South of the Che-lians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, & deftroied all the hie cities that were vpo the iiuer of Arbo-nas, vntil one come to the sea.

25 And he toke the borders of Cilicia, and deftroied all that refifted him, and came to f borders of Iapheth, which were towarde the South and ouer againft Arabia.

26 He copaffed alfo all the children of Ma-dian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damafcus, in the time of wheat harueft and burnt vp all their fields, and deftroied their flockes and the herds: he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and fmote all their yong men with the edge of the fworde.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fel vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coaft, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur & Ocina, & all that dwelt in Iemnaan: & they that dwelt in Azotus, & Afcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people fubrefte to Olofernes & He deftroied their gods that Nabuchodonofo might only be woefhopped.

1 So they fent ambaffadours to him with meffages of peace, faying,

2 Beholde, we are the feruates of Nabucho-donofo the great King: we lie downe before thee: vfe vs as fhaibe good in thy fight.

3 Beholde, our houfes and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our floc-kes, and our herdes, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vfe them as it pleafeth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabi-tants thereof are thy feruants: come, and take them, as femeth good to thee.

5 So the men came to Olofernes, and de-clared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe towarde the sea coaft, bothe he and his armie, and fet ga-rifons in the hie cities, and toke out of the chofen men for the warie.

7 So they and all the countrey rounde a-bout receiued the, with crownes, with dan ces, and with timbrels.

8 Yer he brake downe all their borders, and cut down their woods: for it was inioy-ned him to deftroy all the gods of the lad, that all nacion fhulde woefhuppe Na-buchodonofof onely, and that all ton-gues and tribes fhulde call vpon him as God.

9 Alfo he cam againft Eldraelon, nere vn-to Iudea, ouer againft the great fuit of Iudea,

10 And he pitched between Geba, and a ci-tie of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might affemble all f bag-gage of his armie.

CHAP. III.

The Ifraelites were afraed and defended their countrey. 6 Iuacim the Prift wreteth to Bethulia, that they fhulde fortifie them felves. 7 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled them felves before him.

1 Now the childfe of Ifrael that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chief captaine of Nabuchodonofof King of the Affyrians had done to the na-cions, and how he had spoiled all their tem-ples, and broght them to noght.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his prefer-ence, and were troubled for Ierufalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vestels and the altar of the Houfe had bene sanctified be-cause of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Be-thoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And toke all the toppes of the hie moun-taines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailles for the prouision of warre: for their fields wret of late reaped.

6 Also Ioacim the hie Priest which was in those daies in Ierufalem, wrote to the that dwelt in Bethulia & Betomeftham, which is ouer against Efdraelon towards the open country nite to Dothaim, Iii. iiii.

7 Exhorting them to kepe the paffages of the mountaines: for by them there was an enurie into Iudea, & it was eafie to let the that wolde come vp, becaufe the paffage was ffreit for two men at the mofte.

8 And the children of Ifrael did as Ioacim the hie Prieft had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Ifrael, which dwelt at Ierufalem.

9 Then cryed euerie man of Ifrael to God with great feruencie, and their foules with great affection.

10 Bothe they, and their wiues, & their children, and their cattel, and euerie ftranger, and hireling, and their boght feruants put fackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euerie man & woman, and the children, and the inhabitāts of Ierufalem fell before the Temple, & fpinkled aftes vpon their heades, and fpred out their fackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put fackecloth about the altar,

12 And cryed to the God of Ifrael, all with one confent moſte earnestly, that he wolde not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a fpoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to deftruction, & the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproche, and vnto derifion to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people faſted many daies in all Iudea and Ierufalem before the Sactuarie of the Lord almightie.

14 And Ioacim the hie Prieft, and all the Priefts that ftode before the Lord, & minifted vnto f Lord, had their loynes girt with fackcloth, and offred the continual burnt offering, with praiera and the fre giftes of the people,

15 And had aftes on their mytres, & cryed vnto f Lord with all their power for grace, and that he wolde loke vpo all the house of Ifrael.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite death declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Ifraelites.

1 Then was it declared to Olofernes the chief captaine of the armie of Af fur, that the childeen of Ifrael had prepared for warre, and had fhut the paffages of the mountaines, and had walled all the top pes of the hie hilles, and had laied impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angrie, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the fea coaft.

3 And he faid vnto the, Shewe me, of ye fonnes of Chanaa, who is this people f dwel- leth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their ftrengh and their power? and what

King or captaine is raifed among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to mete me, more then all the inhabitants of the Weft?

5 Then * faid Achior the captaine of all Chap 11,7. the fonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the worde of the mouth of his feruant, and I wil declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in thefe moft- taines, nere where thou remaineft: & the- re fhall no lie come out of the mouth of thy feruant.

6 This people come of the ftocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mefopotamia, Gen 11,2. becaufe they wolde not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their an- cestres and worhipped the God of heaue, the God whome they knewe: fo they caft them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mefopotamia, & fosourned there many daies.

9 Then * their God comanded them to de- Gen. 12,6. parte fro the place where they fosourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increafed with golde and filuer, and with very much cattel.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there til they return'd, and became there a great multitude, fo that one colde not number their lineage.

11 * Therefor: the King of Egypt rofe vp a- Exo. 1,8. gainft them, and vfed deceit againft them, and broght them lowe with laboring in bricke, and made them fclauues.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and he fmote all the lad of Egypt with incurable plagues: fo the *Egyptians caft them out Exod. 12,8. of their fight.

13 And * God dryed the red Sea in their pre Exod. 14,26. fence,

14 And * broght them into mount Sina and Exo. 15,1. Cades barne, and caft forthe all that dwelt in the wilderness.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amo- rites, and they deftroied by their ftrengh all them of Efebon, and paffing ouer Ior- dan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they * caft forthe before them the Inf. 16,27. Chanaanites & the Pherefites, and the Ie- bufites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergefites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies.

17 And whiles they finned not before their God, they prospered, becaufe the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way Indg. 1,10. which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderful sorte,

Apocrypha.

o King 22.1. foice,* & were led captiues into a lad that was not theirs: & the Teple of their God was cast to the ground & their cities were taken by the enemies.

Ex. 1.1. 19 But * now they are turned to their God, & are come vp fió the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed le-ruf. lem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord & gouernour, if there be anie faute in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shalbe their ruine, and let vs go vp, and we shal ouer come them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproche before all the worlde.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing rounde about the tent, murmured: & the chief men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he shulde kill him.

23 For, say they, we fear: not to mete y children of Israel: for lo, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, o lord Olofernes, and they shal be meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whome Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 15 The Bethuliana crye unto the Lord.

1 A Nd when the tumult of the men that were about the counsel, was ceased, Olofernes, the chief captaine of the armie of Affur, said unto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hied of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierufalem is able to fight, * because their God wil defend them: and who is go: but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He wil send his power, and wil destroye them from the face of the earth, and their God shal not deliuer them: but we his servants wil destroye them as one man: for they are not able to sustine the power of our horses.

4 For we wil tread them vnder fere with them, and their mountaines shalbe drunken with their blood, and their fields shal be filled with their dead bodies, and their foresteppes shal not be able to stand before vs: but they shal vtterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hathe said, euen he hathe said,

None of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the vron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slayne, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my servants shall cary thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, til thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou persuaide thy self in thy minde, that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they shulde bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his servants toke him, and broght him out of the campe into the plaine: and thei went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe the from the toppe of the mountaine, they toke their armour, and went for the of the citie vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuely vnder the hill, & bounde Achior, and left him lying at the fore of the hill, & returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stode about him, and lofed him & broght him into Bethulia, & ptesen ted him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those daies, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simcon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, & Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the ass. mblic: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered & declared vnto them the wordes of the counsel of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the princes of Affur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercie on the basenes of Kkkiel.

our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achor, & praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias toke out of the assemble into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes death befege Bethulia 2 The counsel of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their governours for lack of water.

1 The next day, Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his parte, that the shul-de remove their campes against Bethulia, and that they shulde take all the streites of the hill, and to make waite against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men removed their camps in that daye, and the armie of the men of waite was an hundred thousand and seventie foremen, & twelve thousand horseme, beside the baggage & other men that were afote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and the spred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, & and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamô, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe y multitude, were greatly troubled, & said eueric one to his neighbour, Now wil they shut vp all the whole earth: for nether the hie mountaines nor the valles, nor y hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euerie one toke his weapons of warre, and burning fyies in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the secode day, Olofernes brought for the all his horsemen in the sight of the childe of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And vewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountains of their waters, & toke the & set garisons of men of warre ouer the, and removed toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chief of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, & all the captaines of the sea coast, and said,

9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easy to come vp to the toppes of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore, my lord, sight not against them in battel aray, and there shal not so muche as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and kepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men kepe stil the water of the countrey, that cometh for the at the fote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shal thirst kill the, and they shal giue vp their citie: and we and our people wil go vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are nere, & wil campe vpon them, & watche that none go out of the citie.

14 So thei & their wiues, & their children shalbe consumed with famine, & before the sworde come against the, thei shalbe ouerthrowen in y stretes whee thei dwel.

15 Thus shalt thou reder them an euil reward, because thei rebelled & obeied not thy persone peaceably.

16 And these worde: pleased Olofernes & all his soldiers, and he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with them siue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, & toke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the childre of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, & thei sent some of the selnes towards the South, and towards the East, ouer against Rebel, which is nere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole land: for their tents & their baggage were pitched in a wonderful great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had copassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the companie of Assur remained about them, both their foremen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that eue all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were empie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swoned, and their wiues & yong men failed for this, and fel downe in the stretes of the citie, & by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chief of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders,

24 The Lord iudge betwene vs & you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue have not required peace of the children of Affur.

25 For now we have no helper: but God has the solde vs into their hands, that we shul-de be thrown down before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, & de-liuer the whole citie for a spoile to ye peo-ple of Olofernes, and to all his armue.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto the, then to dye for thirst: for we wil be his seruantes that we may liue, & not se ye death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wines, nor our children to dye.

28 We take to witness against you the heau and the earth, & our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes & the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crye of all & one cosent in y middes of the assemble, & thei cryed vnto y Lord God & a loude voyce.

30 Then said Ozias to the, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet sue daies, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these daies passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I wil do according to your worde.

32 So he separated the people, euerie one vn to their charge, & thei wér vnto the walles and towres of their citie, & sent their wi-ues & their children into their houses, and they were very lowe broght in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life & conversation of Iudeth. 31 She re-buketh the sonnes of the gouernours. 32 She sheweth that they shulde not tempe God, but wait vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now at that time, Iudeth heard the reof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeo, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, y son-ne of Salafadai, the sonne of Israel.

And Manaffes was her housband, of her stocke and kinred, who dyed in the barely haruest.

3 For as he was diliget ouer the that boide sheaues in y field, the heat came vpon his head, & he fel vpon his bed, & dyed in the citie of Bethulia, & thei buryed him with his fathers in the field between Dotham and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe thee yeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tente vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.

6 And she fasted all y daies of her widow-hode, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe moones, & in the feastes & solemne daies of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodlie countenance & very beautiful to beholde: & her housband Manaffes had left her golde & siluer, and men seruanes, and maide seruanes, and cat-tel, and possessions, where she remained.

8 And there was none y colde bring an euil reponte of her: for she feared God greatly. 9 Now when she heard y euil wordes of the people against the gouer, nour, because thei fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes y Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had sworne vnto the to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within sue daies)

10 Then she sent her maide y had the gouer nement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmus the An-cients of the Citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she said vn-to them, Heare me, ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes y ye haue spoke before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made & pronounced between God & you, & haue promised to deliuer y citie to the enemies, vnles within these daies the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you scke the Lord almightie, but you shal neuer knowe any thing.

14 For you can not sinde out y diphth of the heart of me, nether ca ye perceiue y things y he thinketh: the how can you sea ch out God, that hathe made all these things, and knowe his minde, or comprehend his pur-pose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he wil not helpe vs within these sue daies, he hathe power to defend vs when he wil, euen euerie day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Do not you therefore binde y counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatened, nether as y son-ne of man to be broght to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluacion of him & call vpon him to helpe vs, & he wil heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, ne-ther is there any now in these daies, nether tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie a-mog vs, which worship y gods made with hands, as hathe bene afore time.

19 For y which cause our fathers were giue Iud. 1. 11. to the sworde, & for a spoile, & had a great 4. 1. & 4. 1. fall before our enemies.

re we trust that he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

81 Nether when we shalbe taken, shal Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shalbe spoiled, and he wil require the prophanacion thereof at our mouth,

82 And the fears of our brethren, and the c-prinitie of the country, & the desolation of our inheritance wil be tume vpon our heads among the Gentiles, where secure we shalbe in bondage, & we shalbe an offence & a reproche to all the that possess vs.

a: For our servitude shal not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shal tume it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, o brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpo vs, & the Sanctuarie, & the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreover, let vs giue thakes to the Lord our God, which tryeth vs euen as he did our fathers.

Gen. 11.1.

Gen. 11.2.

26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that he did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the shepe of Laban his mothers brountr.

27 For he hathe not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, nether doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come here to him.

28 Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people have known thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them, as we haue spoken, & haue broght vs to an othe which we may not transgress.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woma, that the Lord may send vs rayne to fill out cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I wil do a thing, which shalbe declared in all generations, to the children of our nacion.

33 You shal stand this night in the gate, and I wil go for the with mine handmaid: and within the daies that ye haue promised to deliver the citie to our enemies, the Lord wil visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine act: for I wil not declare it vnto you, til the things be finished that I do.

35 Then said Ozias & the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wardes.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her self before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliverance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrian. 11 God is the help of the humble.

1 Then Iudeth fel vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put of the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that evening was offred in Jerusalem in the House of the Lord, Iudeth cryed with a loude voyce, and said,

2 O Lord God of my father Simeon, to whom thou gaueft a fworde to take ven-

4 geance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maue, and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou hadest commanded that it shulde not so be, 4

3 Yet then did things for the which thou gaueft their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceived & washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the servants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray and their daughters to be captiues, & all their spoiles for a bootie to y children that thou louedt: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, & called vpo thee for aide, o God, o my God, heare me also a widdowe.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, & these, and the things that shalbe after, and thou cofiderest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which y doest purpose, are present, & say, Beholde, we are here: for all thy waies are ready, & thy judgements are foreknown.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted the selues with horses & horsemen: they glorie in the strength of their foremen: they trust in shield, speare and bowe, and sling, and do not knowe that thou art y Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, & to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the altar.

9 Beholde their pride, and send thy wrath vpo their heads: giue into mine had which am a widow, y strength y I haue coeciued.

10 Smite by the deceit of my lippes the servant with the prince, and the prince with the servant: abbare their height by the had of a woman.

d Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, & the protector of them that are forsaken, & the Sauour of them that are without hope.

11 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, & the God of ye inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heaun and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: hearethou my prayer,

12 And grant me wordes & craft, & a wound, and a stroke against the that enterprise cruel things against thy covenant, and against thine holy House, & against the top pe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

13 Shewe evidently among all thy people, & all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power & strength, & that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudæth decketh her self & goeth for the of the citic. 2 She is taken of the match of the Affyrum and brought to Olofernes.

1 Now after she had ceased to crye vn to the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maide, & went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath daies and in the feast daies,

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, & putting of the garments of her widowhede, she washed her body with water, & anointed it with muche ointment, & dressed the heere of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnes, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her housbad.

4 And she put slippers on her fete, & put on bracelets, & sleues, and rings, & earrings, & all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that shulde se her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrippe with floure, & with drye figges, & with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went for the to the gate of the citic of Bethulias, and found standing there Ozias, and the ancients of the citic, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And whe they sawe her that her face was changed, & that her garment was chaged, they marueiled greatly at her wonderful beautie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, ye God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glorie of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Comande the gates of the citic to be opened vnto me, that I may go for the to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudæth wret out, she and her maide with her, and the men of the citic loked after her, vntil she was gone downe the mountaine, and til she had passed the valley, and colde se her no more.

11 Thus they went streight for the in the valley, and the first watche of the Affyrias met her,

12 And toke her, & asked her, Of what people art thou and whece comest thou? and whether goest thou? And she said, I am a woma of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shalbe giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes, the chief captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I wil shewe before him the way whereby he shal go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the bodie or life of anie of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her wordes, & behelde her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beautie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast faued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tente, and some of vs shal conduct thee vntil thei haue deliured thee into his hads.

16 And when ye standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he wil increat thee wel.

17 Then they chose out of the an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was brued among the tentes: & thei came and stode rounde about her: for she stode without the tent of Olofernes vntil they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, & euerie one said vnto his neighbour, Who wolde despise this people, that haue among the suche women: surely it is not good that one ma of them be left: for if thei shulde remaine, they might deceive the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes garde went out, and all his seruantes, and they brought her into the tente.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

Kkkk.iii.

Iudeth.

So they shewed him of her, and he came for the vnto the entree of his tent, and they carried lampes of silver before him. And when Iudeth was come before him and his feruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and the fel downe vpon her face, & did reuerence vnto him, & his feruants toke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforeth Iudeth, 2 And of hyth the cause of her cunning. 3 She deceueth him by her fure wordes. 1 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Wom, be of good comfort: fete not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that wolde ferue Nabuchodonosor y King of all the earth. 2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I wolde not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to them selues. 3 But now tel me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safeguard: be of good cofort, thou shalt liue fro this night, & hereafter. 4 For none shal hurt thee, but intreat thee wel, as they do the feruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord. 5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy feruat, & suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I wil declare no lie to my lord this night. 6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaide, God wil bring the thing perfectly to paffe by thee, & my lord shal not faile of his purpose. 7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all y earth liueh, and as his powe: is of force, who hache fent thee to reforme all perfunes, not onely men shal be made fubiect to him by thee, but also the beaftes of the fields, & the cattel, & the foules of the heauen shal liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor & all his houfe. 8 For we haue heard of thy wifdome and of thy prudet spirit, & it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in feates of warre maruellous. 9 Now as concerning the mattes which Achior did speake in thy counfel, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, & he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee. 10 Therefore, o lord & gouetnour, reiect not hisworde, but fet it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, nether can the fworde preuile against them, except they finne against their God. 11 Now therefore left my lord shulde be frustrate, and voide of his purpose, & that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their finne whiles they prouoke their God to angre, which is so oft times as they do that which is not be-feming,

(For because their vittailles faile, and all their water is wafted, that haue determined to take their cattel, and haue purpofed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes: Yea, they haue purpofed to consume the first frutes of the wheat, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oile which they had refcrued and fancified for the Priests that ferue in Ierufalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawful for anie of the people to touche w their hads. Mortouer they haue fent to Ierufalem, because they also that dwel theie, haue done the like, fuche as shulde bring them licence from the Senate) Now when they shal bring them worde, they wil do it, and they shalbe giuen thee to be deftroied the fame day. Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hathe fent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, & whosoeuer shal heare it. For thy feruant feareth God, and wor-shipeth the God of heaué day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy feruant go out in the night into the valley, and I wil pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shal commit their finnes, And I wil come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forthe with all thine ar mie, & there shalbe none of them that shal refift thee. And I wil lead thee through the middes of Iudea, vntil thou come before Ierufalem, and I wil fet thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as fhepe that haue no shepherd, and a dogge shal not bartke with his mouthe against thee: for these things haue bene spoke vnto me, & declared vnto me accordig to my fore-knowledge, and I am fent to shewe thee. Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his feruants, and they marueiled at het wifdome, and faid, There is not fuche a woman in all the worlde, bothe for beautie of face, and wif-dome of wordes.

Likewise Olofernes faid vnto her, God "hathe done this, to fend thee before y peo ple, that ftrégth might be in our hads, and deftruction vpo the that depife my lord. And now thou art

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth wride not pollute her self with the meat of the Gentiles. 3 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

1 Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layed, and bade that they shulde prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she shulde drinke of his owne wine.

3 But Iudeth said, "I may not eat of them, lest there shulde be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue broght.

4 Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast, shulde faile, how shulde we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy sou-le liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shal not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hathe determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes broght her into the tent, and she slept vntil mid-night, and rose at the morning watche,

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord commade that thine handmaide may go forthe vnto prayer.

7 Then Olofernes commanded his garde that thei shuld not stay her: thus she abode in the campe thre dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her self in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he wolde direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, & remained pure in the tent, vntil she ate her meat at euening.

10 And in the fourthe day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the baket, that had the affaires in hand.

11 The said he to Bagoas the eunuche who had charge ouer all that he had, Go and persuaue this Hebrewe woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eat, & drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we shulde let suche a woma alone, & not talke w her, & if we do not allure her, she wil mocke vs

13 Then wet Bagoas fro the presence of Olofernes, & came to her, & said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to go into my lord, & to be honored in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs joyfully, & to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Allur, which iemaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I shulde gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I wil do speedely, and it shalbe my ioye vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose & trimmed her w garments, and with all y ornaments of women, & her maide wet, & spread for her skinnes on the groude ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eat vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came & fate downe, Olofernes heart was saussed with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceive her from the day that he had fene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merry with vs.

18 So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 The she toke, & ate & drake before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her & drake muche more wine the he had druke at anie time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth praesth for firesth. 2 She fusteth of Olofernes not ke.
10 She returneth to Bethulia & renyceth her people.

1 Now whe the euening was come, his seruants made haste to departe, and Bagoas shut his tent without, & dimissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, & they went to their beddes: "for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, & Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 Now Iudeth had commanded her maide to stand without her chaber, & to waite for her coming forthe as she did daily: for she said, she wolde go forthe to her prayers, & she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forthe of her presence, & none was left in the chaber, nether little nor great: the Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, beholde at this present the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For now is y time to helpe thine inheritance, & to execute mine enterprises, to y destruatio of y enemies w are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of y bed which was at Olofernes head, & toke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approached to the bed, & toke holde of the heere of his head, and said, Strengthen me, o Lord God of Israel this day.

all her might, and she toke away his head from him,

9 And roled his bodie downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillers, and anone after she went forthe, & gaue Olofernes head to her maid,

10 And she put it in her scrippe of meat: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and pressing through the tentes, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ The said Iudeth afare of to the watche men at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hathe euen done this day.

12 Now whe the men of her citie heard her voyce, thei made haste to go downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And thei: anne all together bothe smale and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that she shulde come. So they opened the gate & received her, & made a fyre for a light, & stode rounde about the twaine.

14 Then she said to the with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for he hathe not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hathe destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she toke the head out of the scrippe & shewed it, and said vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chief captaine of y armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkenes, & the Lord hathe smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueh, who hathe kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hathe deceiued him to his destrucio, & he hathe not comitted sinne with me by anue pollution or vilenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed them selues, and worshiped God, and said with one accorde, Blessed be thou, our God, which hast this day brought to noght the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the moste his God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hathe created the heauens and the earth, which hathe directed thee to the cutting of of the head of the chief of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shal neuer departe out of the heartes of men: for they shal remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetual praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a streight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior myneth him softe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

12 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the hieft place of your walles.

13 And so sone as the morning shal appeare and the sonne shal come forthe vpon the earth, take you euerie one his weapons, and go forthe euerie valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you wolde go downe into the field, towarde the watche of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

14 Then they shal take their armour, & shal go into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shal runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shal not sinde him:

then feare shal fall vpon the, and they shal flee before your face.

15 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shal pursue them, & ouerthrowe them as they go.

16 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may se, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

17 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and sawe the head of Olofernes in a cerceine mans hand in the assemble of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

18 But when they had taken him vp, he fell at Iudeths fete, & reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nacions, which, hearing thy name, shalbe astonished.

19 Now therefore tell me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. The Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forthe, vntil that houre she spake vnto them.

20 And whe she had left of speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyce of gladnes through their citie.

21 And Achior, seing all things that God had done for Israel, beleued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskine of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

22 ¶ Assone as the morning arose, thei haged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euerie man toke his weapons, and they went forthe by bandes vnto the shaites of the mountaine.

23 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernouts and chief captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent and said to him y had the charge of all his things, Wake our lord: for the sclaues have bene bolde to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Th. n went in Bagoas, & knocked at the dore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floors, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a loude voyce, with weping and mounting, & a mightie crye, and rent his garments.

17 After, he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vfed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cryed,

18 These sclaues have committed wicked- nes: one woman of the Hebrewes hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodono for: for beholde, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these wordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crye and a verte great noyce throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 2 The Israelites pursue them 3 Ioacim the his Priest cometh to Be- thulia to se Iudeth and to praise God for her.

4 And whe thei that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

5 And feare and trembling fel vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, thei fled by euerie way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

6 They also that had camped in the moun- taines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: the children of Israel, euer one that was a warriour among them, russhed out vpon them.

7 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel, suche as shulde declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all shulde russe for the vp- on their enemies to destroy them.

8 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also thei that came from Ierusalem & from all the mountaines: for men had tolde the what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntil they came to Damafcus and to the coastes the- reof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fel vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: & the vil- lages & the cities that were in the moun- taines & in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was verte great.

8 Then Ioacim the his Priest, and the An- cients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the bene- fites that God had shewed to Israel, and to se Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, thei bless- ed her with one accorde, & said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glorie of Israel: thou art the great leioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thi- ne hand: thou hast done much good to Is- rael, & God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightne Lord for euer- more: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirtie daies, and thei gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer & beddes, and basins, and all his stufte, & she toke it and laied it on her mules, & made readie her charets, & laied them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came to- gether to se her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she toke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes and with songs in their mouthes.

17 Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voyce.

18 And Iudeth said, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cym- bales: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

uered the valleis.

He said that he wolded burne vp my borders & kill my yong men with the swords, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgines a spoile.

6 But the almightie Lord harhe broght them to naught by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, nether did the sinnes of Titan smitte him, nor the hie gyants muade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.

8 For the put of the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bounde vp her heere in a coife, and toke a linen garment to deceive him.

9 Her slippers rauifhed his eyes: her beautie toke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.

10 The Perifiss were astonifhed at her boldenes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardines.

11 But mine afflicted rejoyced, & my feble ones frowned: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.

12 The children of maides perced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battel of the Lord.

13 I wil sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, maruelous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures ferue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: & there is none that can refitt thy voyce.

15 For the mountains leape vp from their fundacions with the waters: the rockes melt at thy prefence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

16 For all facrifice is to litle for a fwete fa-uour, and all the fat is to litle for thy burne offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Wo to the nacions that rife vp against my kinred: the Lord almightie wil take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in fending fyre and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shal feele them & wepe for euer.

18 After, when they went vnto Ierufalem, they worshiped the Lord, and aflone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offrings, and their fre offrings, and their giftes.

19 Iudeth alfo offred all the fluffe of Olofeines, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which fte had taken of his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people rejoyced in Ierufalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of thre moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

21 After this time, euerie one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honorable in all the countrey.

22 And manie defired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Manaffes her housband was dead, & wis gathered to "his people.

23 But fhe increafed more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her housbands houfe, being an hundreth and fiue yeie olde, & made her maid fre: fo fhe dyed in Bethulia, and they buryed her in the graue of her housband Manaffes.

24 And* the houfe of Israel lamented her feuen daies, & before fhe dyed, fhe did distribute her goods to all chem that were nerest of kinred to Manaffes her housband, and to them that were the nerest of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel anie more afraid in the daies of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

10 Therefore hathe he made two lottes, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

Esther.

2 When I was made lord ouer manie people, & had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I wolde not exalte my self by the teafon of my power, but purpofed with equite alway and getelnes to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to fet them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto traquillitie, that me might safely go thorow on euterie fide, and to renew peace againe, which all men defire.

3 Now when I afked my counfelers how taefe things might be broght to paffe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wifdome, and constant in good wil, and shewed him self to be of sure fidelitie, which had the feconde place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all naciós there was fcatered abroad a rebellious people, that had Lawes contrarie to all people, and haue alway difpified the commandements of Kings, and fo that this general empire, that we haue begonne, can not be gouerned without offence.

5 Seing now we perceive, that this people alone are altogether contrarie vnto euerie man, vfing ftrange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euil opinion of our doings, and go about to ftablifhe wicked matters, that our kingdome fhulde not come to good eftate,

6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, & is as our feconde father) fhall all with their wines and childre be deftroyed and rooted out with the fworde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be fpared

the fortenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,

7 That they which of olde, and now alfo haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrufted downe into the hell, to the intente that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and wel gouerned in all pointes.

8 Then Mardocheus thoght vpon all the workes and of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou haft appointed to faue Ifrael, there is no man that can withftande thee.

10 For thou haft made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can refift thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knoweft all things, & thou knoweft, Lord, that it was nether of malice, nor prefumption, nor for anie defire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.

13 For I wolde haue bene content with good wil for the faluation of Ifrael, to haue kift the fole of his fete.

14 But I did it, becaufe I wolde not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, and wolde not worfhip anie but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, ô Lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people : for they imagine how they may bring vs to naught, yea, they wolde deftroye the inheritance, that hathe bene thine frô the beginning.

16 Difpife not the porcion, which thou haft deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne self.

17 Heare my prayer, and be merciful vnto thy portion : turne our forowe into ioye, that we may liue, ô Lord, and praife thy Name: fhut not the mouthes of them that praife thee.

18 All Ifrael in like maner cryed mofte earnestly vnto the Lord, becaufe that death was before their eyes.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

1 O Vene Esther alfo, being in danger of death, reforted vnto the Lord, 2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of fighing, and mourning. In the ftead of precious ointment, fhe fcattered afhes, and dongue vpon her head: and fhe humbled her bodie greatly with fafting, and all the places of her ioye filled fhe with the heere that fhe plucte of.

3 And fhe prayed vnto the Lord God of Ifrael, faying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me defolate womâ, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 Frô my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, ô Lord, tokeft Ifrael from among all people, and our fathers from their predeceffours for a perpetual inheritance, and thou haft performed that which thou dideft promife them.

waft nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hathe giuen sentence of death against vs.

5 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

6 And vpon the thirde day when she had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel,

7 And decte her self goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and fauour of all things, & toke two handmaides with her.

8 Vpon the one she leaned her self, as one that was tender.

9 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

10 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerful & amiable, but her heart was forowful for great seare.

11 Then she went in thorow all the dores, and stode before the King, and the King fate vpon his royal throne, & was clothed in his goodlie araye, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

12 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Quene sel downe, and was pale and faint and leaned her self vpo the head of the maide, that went with her.

13 Neuertheles, God turned the Kings min de y he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and toke her in his armes, til she came to her self againe: and comforted her with louing wordes, and said,

14 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare,

15 Thou shalt not dye: for our commande-ment toucheth the comons, and not thee. Come nere.

16 And so he helde vp his golden sceptre, & laid it vpon her necke,

17 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

18 Then said she, I sawe thee, ô lord, as an Angel of God, & mine heart was troubled for seare of thy maiestie.

19 For wonderful art thou, ô lord, and thy face is ful of grace.

20 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she sel downe againe for faintnes.

21 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

1 The great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proude, from men, but in pride & presumption, as they that be vnamindeful of benentes, thei thunke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, & is cotrariæ to euil.

5 And oft times manie, which be set in office, and vnto whome their friends causes are committed, by vaine inufemets do wrappe them in calamities, that can not be remedied: for thei make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And disceitfully abuse the simplicitie, & gentlenes of princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of suche pestilences as are not wrothe to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take hede hereafter, that we may make y kingdome peaceable for all me, what chage so euer shal come,

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand the with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in dede a stragei from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnes, was receiued of vs,

11 And hathe proued the friendship that we beare towarde all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honored of euerie man, as the next persone vnto the King.

12 But he colde not vse him self soberly in this great dignitie, but wet aboueto deprive vs of the kingdome, & of our life.

13 With manifolde disceite also hathe he desired to destroye Mardocheus our prefer uer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this moste wicked ma that thei might be destroyed) are no euil doers, but vse moste iust Lawes,

16 And that they be y children of the moste high and almightie and euer liuing God, by whome the kingdome hathe bene prefereued vnto vs, and our progenitours in verie good ordre.

17 Wherefore ye shal do wel, if ye do not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hageh at Sufis before the gates with all his familii, & God (which hathe all things in his power) hathe spedely rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shal publishe the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne Lawes.

20 And ye shal aide them, that vpon the thir tenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar thei may be aduenged of them, which in the time of their trouble wolde haue oppressed them.

21 For almightie God hathe turned to ioye the day, wherein the chosen people shulde haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne daies ye shal kepe this day with all gladnes,

24 Therefore all cities and countreis that do not this, shal not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the worlde: and the fame that mainteineth all things, hathe knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that fpeaketh vnrighteous things, can not be hid: nether fhall the iudgem:nt of reproche let him efcape.

9 For inquitio fhall be made for the thoghtes of the vngodlie, and the founde of his wordes fhall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For y care of ieloufie heareth all things, and the noyce of the grudgings fhall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from fclander: for there is no worde fo fecret, that fhall go for noght, & the mouth that fpeaketh lies, flaieth the foule.

12 Seke not death in the error of your life: *deftioye not your felues thorow the workes of your owne hands.

13 *For God hathe not made death, nether hathe he pleafure in the deftruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that thei mig he haue thei being: and the generations of the worlde are preferued, and there is no poyfon of deftruction in them, & the kingdome of hell is nor vpon eath.

15 For righteousnes is immortal, but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.

16 And the vngodlie call it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinkte to haue a friend of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthie to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and defires of the wicked, & their coun fol against the faithful.

1 For the vngodlie fay, as they fallfely imagine with them felues, * Our life is fhorte and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, nether was any knowen that hathe returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we fhallbe hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breth is a fmoke in our noftrels, and the wordes as a fparke raifed out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is turned into afhes, and the ſpiric vaniſheth as the foft aire.

4 Our life ſhal paſſe away as the trace of a cloude, & come to naught as the mift that is driven away with y beaumes of the funne, and caft downe with the heat thereof. Our name alfo fhall be forgotten in time, and no man fhall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 *For our time is as a fhadowe that paffeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is faft fealed, fo that no man cometh again.

6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioye the pleafures, that are prefent, & let vs cherefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our felues with coftlie wine and ointements, and let not the floure of life paffe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our felues with rofe buddes afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue fome token of our pleafure in euerie place: for that is our porcio, and this is our lotte.

10 Let vs opprefse the poore, that is righteous: let vs not spare the widdowe, nor reuerence the white heeres of the aged, that haue liued many yezes.

11 Let our ftrengh be the lawe of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feble, is reprobued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profite, & he is coltrarie to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Lawe, and blameeth vs as transgressours of discipline.

13 He maketh his boaste to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth him self the sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to reprove our thoghts. 15 It griueth vs also to loke vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his waies are of another facion.

16 He counteth vs as bastandes, and he withdraweth him self from our waies as from filthines: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the nift, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs se then if his woi des be true: let vs proue what end he shal haue.

18 For if the righteous ma be the * sonne of God, he wil helpe him, & deliuer him fro the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and tormets, that we may knowe his mekenes, and proue his paciance.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shamefull death: for he shal be preferred as he him self faith.

21 Suche things do they imagine, and go astraye: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they do not vnderftad the myfteries of God, nether hope for the rewa de of righteousnes, nor can difcerne the honour of the foules that are fauteles.

imaginacions: for they haue despised the righteous, and forfaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wifdome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, & their labours are foolish, and their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndifcrete, & their children wicked: their offtring is curfed.

13 Therefore the barren is bleffed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the finful bed: *the fhall haue frute in the vifitation of the foules,

14 And the eunuche, which with his hands hathe not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things againft God: for vnto him fhall be giuen the fpecial gift of faith, and an acceptable porcion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is ffrute of good labours, and the roote of wifdome fhall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers fhall not be partakers of the holy things, and the feed of the wicked bed fhall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet fhall they be nothing regarded, and their laft age fhall be without honour.

18 If they dye haftely, they haue no hope, ne:her comfort in the day of tryal.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. XIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithful.

1 B Etter is barennes with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortal: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, me take example thereat, and if it go away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battel and the vndefiled rewardes.

3 But the multitude of the vngodlie which abunde in children, is vnprofitable: & the bastard plates shal take no depe roote, nor laye any fast fundacion.

4 For though they budde forthe in the branches for a time, * yet they shal be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and thorowe the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broke, & their frute shalbe vnprofitable & fower to eat, and mete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shalbe wines of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be preuented with death, yet ſhal he be in reſt.

8 For the honorable age is not that which is of long time, nether that which is meaſured by the number of yerres.

9 But wiſdome is the graye heere, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 *He pleaſed God, & was beloned of him, Gen 7.24. ſo that where as he liued amongſt ſinne: s, he cō.11.5. tranſiated him.

11 He was take away, left wickednes ſhulde alter his vnderſtanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obſcureth the things that are good, & the vnſtedfaſtneſſe of concupiſcence peruerteth the ſimple minde.

13 Though he was ſone dead, yet fulfilled he muche time.

14 For his ſoule pleaſed God: therefore haſted he to take him away from wickednes.

15 Yet the people ſee & vnderſtand it not, & conſider no ſuch things in their hearts, how that grace and mercie is vpon his Saintes, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, cōdemneth the vngodlie which are liuing: & the youth that is ſone to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

ferued him in safetie.

18 They fe him and despise him, but the Lord wil laugh them to fcorne,

19 So that they fhall fall hereafter without honour, and fhall haue a flame among the dead for euermore: for without ante voyce fhall he burste them and cast them downe, and shake them from the fundations, so that they fhallbe vterly waisted, and they fhallbe in forowe, and their memorial fhall perish.

20 So they being afraied, fhall remember their finnes, & their owne wickednes fhall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The confannnes of the righteous before their perfecutors. 14 The hope of the vnffftibilis waine. 15 The blessednes of the fauntes and godlie.

1 Then shal the righteous stand in great boldenes before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shalbe vexed with horrible feare, and shalbe amazed for his wonderful deliuerance,

3 And shal change their mindes, and fight for grief of minde, and say within themselves, This is he whome we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproche.

Chap 3,2. 4 *We fooles thought his life madnes, and his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saintes!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousnes has he not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selves in the way of wickednes and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous waies: but we haue not knowne the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

1 Chro 19,15 9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a posture that passeth by:

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof can not be founde, nether the path of it in the floods:

Trou. 30.19. 11 Or as * a birde that fleeth thorowe in the aire, and no man can see anie token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire thorow the vehemencie of his going, & fleeth on shaking her wings, where as afterwards no token of her way can be founde:

12 Or as when an arrowe is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cometh together againe, so that a man can not knowe where it went thorowe.

13 Euen so we, allone as we were borne, we beganne to diuue to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.

14 For the hope of the vngodlie is like the Iob 2,9. dust that is blowne away with the winde, 1,4. & 143,4. and like a thinne fume that is scattered a- prou 10,21. broad with the storme, and as the smoke, which is disperfed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shal liue for euer: their rewarde also is with the Lord, & y^e moste High hath care of them.

16 Therefore ſhal they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautiful crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand ſhal he couer them, and with his aime ſhal he defende them.

17 He ſhal take his ielouſie for armour, & ſhal arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He ſhal put on righteous ſon for a breſt-plate, and take true iudgement in ſtead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible ſhield.

20 He wil ſharpe his fierce wrath for a ſworde, and the worlde ſhal fight with him againſt the vnwife.

21 Then ſhal the thunder boltes go ſteight out of the lightnings, and ſhal flee to the marke as out of the bent bowe of y clouds, and out of his angre that throweth ſtones, ſhal thicke hail be caſt, and the water of the ſea ſhalbe wrothe againſt them, & the floods ſhal mightely ouen flowe.

22 And a mightie winde ſhal ſtand vp againſt them, and like a ſtorme ſhal ſcatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie ſhal bring all the earth to a wilderneſſe, and wickednes ſhal ouerhtowe the thrones of the mightie.

13 She preuenteth them that defire her, that she may first shewe her self vnto them.

14 Whofo awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauail: for he shal finde her fitting at his dores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who fo watcheth for her, shalbe sone without care.

16 For she goeth about, feking fuche as are mete for her, and sheweth her self chere- fully vnto them in the wayes, and meteth them in euerie thought.

17 For the moſte true defire of diſcipline is her beginning: and the care of diſcipli- ne is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the affurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs nere vnto God.

20 Therefore the defire of wiſdome lea- deth to the kingdome.

21 If your delite be then in thrones, & ſcep- ters, ô Kings of the people, honour wiſdo- me, that ye may reign: for euer.

23 Nether wil I haue to do with confuming etuiie: for ſuche a man ſhal not be parta- ker of wiſdome.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wife.

16 For in his hand are both we and our wordes, and all wisdom, & the knowledge of the works.

30 For night cometh vnto it, but wickednes can not outcrome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom

1 She also eacheth from one end to another mightely, and comely doeth she order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and fight her from my youth: I defired to marye her, fuche loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that she is conse: fant with God, it commendeth her nobilitute: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For she is the fcholemasties of the knowledge of God, and the chofer out of his workes.

5 If riches be a poffection to be defired in this life, what is richet then wisdom, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for the teacheth sobernes & prudécie, righteousnesse and strength, which are the moffe profitable things that men can naue in this life.

8 If a man defire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and difce: ne things to come: she knoweth the subtilites of worder, and the solutions of danke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to paffe, and the fucces of feafons and times.

9 Therefore I purpofed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that she wolde counfel me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefs.

10 For her sake fhal I haue glorie among the multitude and honour among the Elders thogh I be yong.

11 I fhal be founde of sharpe iudgement, fo that I fhal be maruelious in the fight of great men.

12 When I holde my tongue, they fhal abide my leasure: when I speake, they fhal heare diligently, & if I talke mache, they fhal laye their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I fhal obteme immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memorial among them that come after me.

14 I fhal gouerne the people, and the nacions fhalbe fubdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants fhalbe afraied when they heare me, among the multitude I fhalbe counted good, and mightie in battel.

16 When I come home, I fhal reft with her: for her companie hathe no bitternes, and her fellowfhippe hathe no tediousfies, but mirthe and ioye.

17 Now when I confidered thefe things by my self, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortalitie,

18 And great pleafure is in her friendfhippe, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glorie by communing with her, I went about, feking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled bodie.

21 Newertheles, when I perceiued that I colde not mioye her, except God gaue her (and that was a pointe of wisdom also, to knowe whofe gifte it was) I went vnto the Lord, and befoght him, and with my whole heart I faid, inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay adversaryed of their adversaries.

Num 20,21. 4 *When they were thirsty, they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the hewn rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountain of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandment of the killing of the child, but thou gaufst unto thine own abundance of water unlooked for,

Exod.7,26. 7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time * how thou hadest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tryed and chastised with mercie, they knewe how the vn- godlie were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorred as a father, and proued them:
but thou hast condem- ned y other as a righteous King, whe thou didest examine them

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their grief was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whome afore they had cast out, denied and deri- ded: for they had another thirst then the iuste.

13 Because of the foolish deuiles of their wickedness wherewith they were deceived, and worshiped serpents, that had not the vse of reason, & vile beastes, thou fendidst a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man sinneh, by the same also shal he be punished.

14 *For vnto thine almightie hand, y made the worlde of naught, it was not vnposti- ble to fend among them a multitude of beares, or fierce lyons,

15 Or furious beasts newly created, and vn- knoweth, which shulde breathe out blastes of fyre, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroye them with hurting, but also to kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecu-ted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroa- de thorow the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, nomber & weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength & might, and who can withstand the power of thine krme!

19 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the worlde before thee, & as a droppe of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou fawest not the sinnes of men, because they shulde amende.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, & hatesst none of them whome thou hast made: for thou woldest haue created nothing that thou hadest hated.

22 And how might anie thing endure, if it were not thy wil? or how colde anie thing be preferred, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, o Lord, which art the louter of foules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vntreprenable. 19 God gouth leasure to repent.

1 For thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastnest the measurably that go wrong, and warnest the by putting them in remembrance of the things whe- rein they haue offended, that leauing wickednes they may beleue in thee, o Lord.

3 *As for those olde inhabitats of the holy land, thou didest hate them.

Prifts shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chief murthe- ers of the scules, destitute of all helpe, whome thou woldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou loust about all other, might be a mete dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Neuerthes, thou sparest them also, as men, and fended it the forerunners of thine holte, euen hornettes to destroye them by little and little,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodlie vnto the righteous in batrel, or with cruel beastes, or with one rough wor- de to destroye them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest the space to repent, knowing wel, that it was an vnrighteous, nacion. & wicked of nature, & that their thought col- de neuer be altered.

11 For it was a curfed fede from the begin- ning: yet haft thou not fpared them when they finned, becaufe thou feared any man.

12 For who dare fay, *What haft thou done? or who dare ftand againft thy iudgement? or who dare accufe thee for the nacions that perifh, whome thou haft made? or who dare ftand againft thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, *that careft for all things, that fy maift de- clare how fy thy iudgement is not vneight.

14 There dare nether King nor tyrant in thy fight require accounes of them who- me thou haft punifhed.

15 For fo much: then as thou art righteous thy felf, thou ordreft all things righteoufly, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hafhe not deferued to be punifhed.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righ- teoufnes, and becaufe thou art Lord of all things, it caueth thee to fpare all things.

17 Whé men think thee not to be of a per- fice power, thou declarft thy power, and reproveft the boldenes of the wife.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeft with equitie, & gouerneft vs with great fauour: for thou maift fhew thy power when thou wift.

19 By fuche workes now haft thou taught thy people, that a man fhulde be iuft and louing, and haft made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giueft repentance to finners.

20 For if thou haft punifhed the enemies of thy children that had deferued death with fo great confideration, and requesting vn- tu them, giving them time & place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With how great circumfpection wift thou punifh thine owne childré, vnto whole fathers thou haft fworne and made cou- enants of good promifes?

22 So when thou doeft chaften vs, thou pu- nifheft our enemies a thoufid times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we fhul- de diligently confider thy goodnes, and when we are iudged, we fhulde hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou haft tormented the wic- ked that haue liued a diffolute life by their owne imaginations.

24 * For they went aftray verie farre in the Chap 11, 16. waies of errour, and eftemed the beafts, from 1, 25. which their enemies difpifed, for gods, be- ing abufed after the maner of childré, that haue none vnderftanding.

25 Therefore haſt thou ſent this puniſhmēt that they ſhulde be in derſſion as children without reaſon.

26 But they that wil not be reformed by thoſe ſcorneful rebukes, ſhal fele the wor- chie puniſhment of God.

27 For in thoſe things when they ſuffred, they diſdeined: but in theſe whome they counted godlie when they ſawe the felues puniſhed by them, they all acknowledged ſy true God whome afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damna- tion vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be waine, except the knowledge of God. 2
Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

3 Vreiy all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, *and colde Rem. 1, 19: not knowe him that is, by the good things that are ſene, nether confider by the wor- kes the work maſter.

4 *But thei thought the fyre, or the winde or Dev. 4, 19. the ſwift aire, or the courſe of the ſtares, & 17, 20. or the raging water, or the lights of hea- uen to be gouernours of the worlde, and gods.

5 Thogh they had ſuche pleaſure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet ſhulde they haue known, how much mo- re excellent he is that made them: for the first autor of beautie hafhe created these things.

6 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet fhulde they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

7 For by the greatnes of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compa- red with them, may be confidered.

can discerne the worlde, why do they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods which are the workes of mens hands, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuened by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or anie vaine stone that hathe bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tre mete for the worke, and pareth of all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vfe of life.

12 And the things that are cut of from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meat to fil him self,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and ful of knobbes) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and facioneth it after the similitude of a man,

14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and stisketh it oues with red, and painteth it, and couereth euerie spotte that is in it.

15 And when he hathe made a convenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron,

16 Prouding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth ye it can not helpe it self, because it is an image, wh hathe nede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hathe no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to go, and for gaine, and worke, and succeffe of his affaires he requireth further aice of him, that hathe no maner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The dateflation and abomination of images, 2 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 23 What evils come of idolatry.

1 A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to paste thorowe the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carieth him.

2 For as for it, couetoufnes of money hathe founde it out, and the craftesman made it by cunning.

3 But thy prouidance, o father, gouerneth it: *for thou hast made away, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, thogh a man wet to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheles thou woldeft not, that the workes of thy wifdome shulde be vaine, and therefore do men commit their liues to a smale piece of wood, and pass: ouer the stormie sea in a shippe, and are faued.

6 *For in the olde time also whe the proude gyants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a shippe which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left sede of gencracion vnto the worlde.

7 For blessed is the tre whereby tightoufnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hads, *bothe it, & he that made it: he because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

9 *For the vngodite, and his vngodlines are bothe like hated of God: so truely the worke & he that made it, shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shal there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blocks vnto the soules of men, & a snare for the fete of the vnaase.

11 For the inuening of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginnings, neither shal they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of men broght them into the worlde:
therefore shal they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mounied grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him ye was once dead, whome now he worshipeth as a god, & ordained to his struants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshiped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre of that men might not worship them priestly, they did conterfet the visage that was farre of, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whome they wolde honour, that their might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as thogh he had bene present.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For he peradventure willing to please a noble man, labored with all his cunning to make the image of the best faction.

19 And so thorowe the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so toke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honored as a man.

20 And this was the deceiving of mas life, when men, being in servitude, through calm man.iii.

lamitie and tyrannie afcribed vnto tiones and flockes the name, which oght not to be communicate vnto anie.

21 Moreover, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liuef in great warres of ignorance, those fo great plagues called they peace.

22 For ether they flewe their owne childre in factifice, or vfed secret ceremonies, or raging diffolutenes by strange rites,

23 And fo kept nether life nor mariage clea- ne: but ether one flewe another by areafon, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and fl laughter, thefte & deceit, corruption, vn- faithfulness, tumultes, petiurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankful- nes, defiling of foules, changing of birth, difordre in mariage, adulterie & vnclenes.

26 For the worshiping of idoles that oght not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the end of all euil.

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophecies lies, or liue vngodlie, or els lightly forweare them felues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they fwear falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shal they iustly be punished, because they haue an euil opinion of God, addicting themselves vnto idoles, and because they fwear vntruly to deceiue, and defpise holines.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they fwear, but the vengeance of them that finne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodlie.

CHAP. XV.

The wryce of the faithful, praising the mercie of God by whose grace they ferue not idoles.

1 Blesse thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we finne, yet are we thine: for we knowe thy power: but we finne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfite righteoufnes, and to knowe thy power is the roote of im mortalitie.

4 For nether hathe the wicked inuention of men difceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image fpo- ted with diuers colours.

5 Whose fight firreth vp the defire of the ignorant: fo that he couereeth the forme that hathe no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue fuche wicked things, are worthie to haue fuche things to truſt to, and they that make them, and they that de- fire them, and they that worſhip them.

7 The *potter alfo tempereth foft earth, & factioneth euerie veffel with labour to our vfe: but of the fame clay he maketh bothe the veffels, that ferue to cleane vſes, and the contrarie likewiſe: but whereto cue- rie veffel ferue th, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vai- ne god of the fame clay: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth him ſelf, and within a litle while after goeth thither a- gaine whence he was taken, when he ſhal make accounts for the lone of his life.

9 Notwithſtanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is thor- te, but he trueth with the goldefmithes, and filuerfmithes, and counterfaiceth the copielmfithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiualde things.

10 His heart is aftes, and his hope is mo- re vile then earth, and his life is leffe wor- thie of honour then claye.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his foule, that had power & brea- thed in him the breth of life.

12 But they counte our life to be but a pa- ftime, and our conuersfaction as a marker, where there is gaine: for they fay we oght to be getting on euerie fide, thogh it be by euil meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vef- fels and images, knoweth him felf to of- fend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hol- de them in fubicction, are mofte vnwife, & more miferable then the verie fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the na- cions to be gods, which nether haue eye fight to fe, nor nofes to fmel, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hâds to grope, & their fete are flowe to go.

16 For man made them, and he that hathe but a borrowed fpirit, facioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto him felf.

17 For feing he is but mortal him felf, it is but mortal that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: he him felf is better the thei whome he worfhippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worfhipped beafts alfo, which are their moſte enemies, & which are the worte, if thei be copared vnto others, be- caufe they haue none vnderſtanding.

19 Nether haue they anie beautie to be de- fired in reſpect of other beafts: for they are deſtitute of Gods praife, and of his bleſſing.

tulie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euen quailles,

3 To the intent that thei that desired meat, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their ne- cessarie desire, & that thei, which had suf- fred penurie for a space, shulde also fele a newe taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vfcd tyrannie, shulde fall into extreme pour- tie, and that to these onelie it shulde be shewed, howtheir enemies were tormeted.

5 * For when the cruel fiercenes of y beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpent,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a "signe of saluacion, to remember the comman- dement of thy Law.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not hea- led by the thing that he sawe, but by thee, & Sauour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euil.

9 *For the biting of grefhoppers and flyes killed them, and there was no remedie fo- unde for their life: for they were worthie to be punished by suche.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons colde not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, & healed the.

11 For they were pricked, because thei shul- de remember thy wordes, and were spede- ly healed, lest they shulde fall into so depe forgetfulnes, that thei colde not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For nether h:rb: nor plaster healed them, but thy worde, &
Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life & death, *and leadeft downe vnto the gates of hel, and bringrft vp againe.

14 A man in dede by his wickednes may state another: but when the Spirit is gone forthe, it turneth not againe, nether can he call againe the foule that is taken away.

15 But it is not posible to escape thine hand.

16 *For the vngodlie that wolde not knowe thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempeft, that they colde not auoide, & were consumed with fyre.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fyre might do more then water, which quen- cheth all things: but the worlde is the ad- venger of the righteous.

18 For some time was the fyre so tame, that the b. aft, which were sent against the vn- godlie, burnt not: and that, because they shulde se and knowe, that they were per se- cuted with the punishment of God.

19 And some time burnt the fyre in y mid- des of the water about the power of fy- re, that it might destroye the generacion of the vntoft land.

20 *In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels fode, and sent them bread readie from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it & was mete for all castes.

21 For thy sustinance declared thy swetnes vnto thy children, which serued to the ap- petite of him, that toke it, & was mete to that that euerie man wolde.

22 Moreouer the *snowe and yce abode the fyre & melted not, that thei might knowe, that the fyre burning in the bayle, & spar- kelings in the raine, destroyed the frute of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is ease to do good vnto suche as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all factions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had nede thereof,

26 That thy children whome thou loueft, & Lord, might knowe, *that it is not the in- crease of stutes that fedeth men, but that it is thy worde, which preferueth the that trust in thee.

27 For that which colde not be destroyed with the fyre, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted,

28 That it might be known that we oght to preuente the sunne rising to giue than- kes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the daye spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankful shal melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The judgements of God against the wicked.

1 For thy judgements are great, and can not be expressed:
therefore men do erre, that wil not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thoghe to have thine holie people in subiECTION, thei were bounde with the bands of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rose, did lie there to escape the euer- lasting providence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, thei were scattered abroad in the darke courring of forgetfulnes, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the soundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible

5 No power of the fyre might give light, nether might the chre flames of the liar- res lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a fudden fyre, verie dredful: fo that being afiaied of this vision, "which they colde not fe, they thogne the things, which they fawe, to be worfe.

8 For they that promifed to drite away fea- re and trouble from the ficke, perfone, were ficke for feare, & wotthie to be laughed at.

9 And though no feareful thing did feare them, yet were they afraied at the beaftes which paffed by them, and at the hyfiing of the feipents: fo that the dyed for feare, and faid they fawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoided.

10 For it is a feareful thing, when malice is condemned by her owne teftimonie: and a cofcience that is touched, doeth euer fore- caſt cruel things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the fuccours, which reafon offreth.

12 And the leffe that the hope is within, the more doeth he efteme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is infupportable, flept the fame flepe,

14 And fometimes were troubled with mo- ftuous visions, and fometime they fow- ned, as thogh their owne foule fhulde betray them: for a fudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whofocuer fel downe, he was kept and fhut in prifon, but without chai- nes.

16 For whether he was an houf band man, or a fhepherd, or one that was fet to worke alone, if he were taken, he muft fuffer this necefsitie, that he colde not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenes were they all boide) whether it were an hyfiing winde, or a fwete fong of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the ve- hemencie of haftie running water,

18 Or a great noyce of the falling downe of ftones, or the running of fkiping be- aftes, that colde not be fene, or the noyce of cruel beaftes that roared, or the founde that anwereth again in the hollow mo- untaines: the feareful things made them to fwone.

19 For all the worlde fhined with clere light, and no man was hindred in his la- bour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauie night, an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto them felues mo e grieuous then darkenes.

16 And broght thine vnfained commande-ment as a Sharpe fworde, and fto de vp, and filled all things with death, & being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the fight of the fearful dreames vexed them fuddenly, and fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Thin laye there one here, another there haffe dead, & fhewed y caufe of his death.

19 For the vfions that vexed them, fhewed them thefe things afore: fo that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perfhed.

20 Now tentacion of death touched the righteous alfo, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blameleman made haffe, & defended them, and toke the weapons of his miniftracio, euen prayer, & the reconciliation by the perfume, & fet him felf against the wrath, with force of weapós, but with the worde he fubdued him that

A S for the vngodlie, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the end: for he knewe what fhulde come vnto them,

3 For while yet forow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, thei deuifed another fooliftenes, fo y they perfecuted the in their fleing, whome they had caft out afore with prayer.

4 For the defhine, whereof they were worchie, broght them to this end, and caufed them to forget the things that had come to paffe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,

5 Bothe y thy people might trye a maruelous paffage, and that thefe might finde a ftrange death.

6 For euerte creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and feued in their owne offices mioyned the, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouerfhadowed their tentes, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: fo that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great depe became a grene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, feing thy wonderous marueles.

9 For they *neyed like horfes, and leaped like lambes, praifing thee, ô Lord, which hadft deliuered them.

10 For thei were yet mindeful of thofe thigs which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the groüde broght for the flies in fteade of cattel, & how the euer ferauled with the multitude of frogges in fteade of fifhes.

11 *But at the laft they fawe a new generation of brides, when thei were inifed with luft, and defired delicate meates.

12 *For the quailles came forthe of the fea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the finners not without fignes that were guen by great thunderings: for they fuffed worthely according to their wickednes, becaufe they fhewed a cruel hatred toward ftrangers.

13 For the one forte wolde not receiue the whê thei were prefent, becaufe they knewe them not: the other forte brought the ftrangers into bondage y had done the good.

14 Befide all thefe things fome wolde not fuffer, that anie regarde fhulde be had of them: for thei handeled the ftrangers dif-pitefully.

16 Therefore thei were ftrike with blindenes, as in olde time certeine were at the dores of the*righteous, fo that euerie one being compaffed with darlines, foght the entrance of his dore.

vertue, & the water for- gate his owne kindc to quench. 20
Again, fi flames did not hurte the flefh of the corruptible beafts that walked the- rein, nither melted they that which femed to be yce, and was of a nature that wolde melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, fo Lord, thou haft mag- nified and glorified thy people, and haft not depffed to affift them in euerie time and place.

THE WISDOME OF

Iefus the fonne of Sirach, called Ecclefiasticus.

This argument was found in a certaine Greke copie.

THU Iefus was the fonne of Sirach, and Sirach father was also called Iefus, and he lived in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captive, and broght home againe, and almoſte after all the Prophetes. Now his grandfather, as he himſelf wunſſeth, was a man of great diligence, and wiſdome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue finten- ces of wiſe men, that had bene before him, but he himſelf alſo ſpake manne ful of great know- ledge and wiſdome. So thu firſt Iefus dyed, and left thu which he had gathered, and Sirach af- terwarde left it to Iefus his fonne, who toke it and put it in order in a boke, and called it W I S - D O M E, intitling it bothe by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this tute of Wiſdome to allure the reader to read this boke with mere great deſire, and to conſider it more diligently. Therefore this boke containeth wiſe ſayings, and darke ſentences, and ſimilitudes with certaine diuine hiſtones which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and ſongs of the autor him ſelf: moreover, what benefites the Lord had beſtowed upon his people, and what plague he had heaped upon their enemies. Thus Iefus did im- tate Salomon, and was no leſſe famous in wiſdome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in dede.

The prologue of the Wifdome of Iefus the fonne of Sirach.

W Here as manie, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law, and the Prophetes, and by others that haue fol- lowed them, (for the which things Ifrael oght to be comended by the reafon of doctri ne and wifdome, whereby the readers oght not onely to become learned them felues, but alfo may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto fträgers bothe by fpeaking & writing) after that my grand father Iefus had giuen him felf to the rea- ding of the Law, and the Prophetes, & other bokes of our fathers, and had gotten the- rein fufficient iudgement, he purpofed alfo to write fome thing perceining to learning and wifdome, to the intent that they which were defirous to learn, & wolde giue them felues to thefe things, might profite mu- che more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore, I exhorte you to receiue it lo- uingly, and to read it with diligence, and to take it in good worthe, though we feme to fome in fome things not able to atteine to the interpretation of fuche wordes as are hard to be expreffed: for the things that are fpoken in the Hebrewe tongue, haue ano- ther force in them felues then whé they are tranflated into another togue, and not one-ly thefe things, but other things alfo, as the Law it felf, & the Prophetes, & other bokes haue no fmale difference when they are fpo- ken in their owne lāguage. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and con- tinued there, I founds a copie ful of great learning, and I thought it necessarie, to be- stowe my diligence, and trauaile to inter- pret this boke. So for a certeine time with great watching and studie I gaue my self to the finishing of this boke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in ban-ishment, and are desirous to learn, might applie them felues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

eght euer curiously to fearche out the secrets of God.

1 [He children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, & their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers judgement, & childre, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord wil haue the father honored of he children, and harhe consumed the autoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoreth his father, his sinnes shalbe forguen him,
[and he shal abstine from them, & shal haue his daily desires.]

5 And he that honoreth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoreth his father, shal haue soye of his owne children, & when he maketh his prayer, he shalbe heasd.

7 He that honoreth his father, shal haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shal comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoreth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parets, as vnto lords.

9 *Honour thy father and mother in dede and in worde [& in all pacice,] that thou maist haue Gods blessing, [& that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

10 For y blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, & the mothers curse rotteth out the fundacions.

11 Resoyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seing that mas glorie cometh by his fathers honour, & the reproche of y mother is dishonour to the children,

13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and greue him not as long as he liueh.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue pacience with him, & despise him not when thou art in thy ful strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shal not be forgorte, but it shalbe a forteres for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shalbe founded for thee in righteousness.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sinnes also shal melt away as they ye in the faire wether.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shal come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 My sonne, performe thy doings with mekenes, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy self [in all things,] & thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent & of renoume: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the mcke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, & he is honored of the lowlie.

22 *Scke not out the things that are to hard for thee, nether fearche the things rashly which are to mightie for thee.

23 [But] what [God] harhe commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuenence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee above the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with suche hathe beguiled many, and an euil opinion hathe deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not se without eyes: prosesse not the knowledge therefore that thou has not.

27 A stubberne heart shal fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shal perish thei ein.

28 An heart that goeth two waias, shal not prosper: and he that is frowarde of heart, shal stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shalbe lade with so- rowes: and the wicked man shal heape sin- ne vpon sinne.

30 The persuation of the proude is without remedie, & his steppes shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hathe taken roote in him, [and he shal not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hathe vnderstan- ding, shal perceiue secret things, and an at- tentiue care is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise & vnderstanding, wil abstine from sinne, and shal prosper in the works of righteousnes.]

1 Almos must be done with gentleness. 12 The studie of wisdome and her frute. 20 An exhortation to eschewe euil, and to do good.

1 My sonne, defraude not the poore of his liuing, and make not the nedic eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungrie foule forowful, ne- ther vexe a man in his necesitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is griued, & differre not the gift of the nedic.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes a side [in angre] from the poore, and giue him none occa- sion to speake euil of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his foule, his prayer shalbe heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the copanie [of poore, and humble thy foule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of wor- ship.

8 Let it not greue thee to bowe downe thi- ne care vnto the poore, [but pay thy det- ce,] and giue him a friendlie answer.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffieth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, & be not faint hearted when thou iudget.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherles, and as an housband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the moste High;
and he shal loue thee more then thy mo- ther doeth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and re- ceiueth them that seke her, [& wil go be- fore them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seke life in the morning, shal haue great ioye.

13 He that kepeth her, shal inherit glorie: for vnto whome she entreth, him the Lord wil bless.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the ser- uants of the holie one, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueh care vnto her, shal iudge the nacions, and he that goeth vnto her, shal dwell safely.

16 He that is faithful vnto her, shal haue her in possession, and his generacion shal possesse her.

17 For first she wil walke with him by cro- ked waias, and bring him vnto feare, and drede, and torment him with her discipli- ne vntil she haue tryed his foule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then wil she returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the trea- sures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he go wrong, she wil forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [¶ My sonne,] *Make much of time, and eschewe the thing that is euil,

21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that brig- eth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no persone against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decaye, [and forbear not thy neighbour in his faute.]

23 And kepe not backe counsel when it may do good, nether hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom known, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [& counsel, wisdom and learning by the tal- king of the wise, & stedfastnes in the wor- kes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

course of the trier.

2 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred. 1 Truft not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue ynough for my life: [for it shal not helpe in y time of vengeance and indignation.] 2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart: 3 Nether say y, [Howhaue I had strength] or who wil bring me under for my works for God the aduenger wil reusing the wrong done by thee. 4 And say not, I haue finned, and what e- uil hathe come vnto me: for the Almighty is a pacient rewarder, but he wil not leaue thee vnpunished. 5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without fear, to heape sinne vpon sinne. 6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he wil forgive my manifolde sinnes: for mercie & wrath come from him, & his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners. 7 Make no taryng to turne vnto the Lord, and put not of from day to day: for suddenly shal the wrath of the Lord breakne for the, & in thy fccuritie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance. 8 Truft not in wicked riches: for they shal not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.] 9 Be not caryed about with euerie winde, and go not into euerie way: for so doeth the sinner that hashe a double tongue. 10 Stand fast in thy fure vnderstanding [& in the way and knowledge of the Lord] & haue but one maner of worde, [& followe the worde of peace and righteousness. 11 Be humble to heare the worde of God, that thou maist vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom. 12 Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, & giue a pacient answer. 13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, laye thine hand vpo thy mouth, [left thou be trapped in an vndifcrete worde, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, & the tongue of a man causteth him to fall. 15 Be not counted a talc bearer, & lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] followe the thief, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double togued: [but he that is a backebiter, shalbe hated, enured and confounded.] 16 Do not rashly, nether in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

2 It is the propertie of a sinner to be euil tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught. 1 Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemie: for fuche shal haue an euil name, shame and reproche, and he shal be in infamie as the wicked that hashe a double tongue. 2 Be not proude in the deuice of thine owne minde, left thy foule rent thee as a bull, 3 And eat vp thy leaues, and deftroie thy frute, and so thou be lefte as a drye tree [in the wilderness.] 4 For a wicked foule deftroieth him that hathe it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the porcion of the vngodlie.] 5 A fwete talke multiplieth the friends [& pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a fwete togue increafeth muche good talke. 6 Holde friendship with manie, neuertheles haue but one counfeler of a thousand. 7 If thou gettest a frier, proue him first, & be not haiste to credit him. 8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and wil not abide in the day of thy trouble. 9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimitie, and taketh parte against thee, & in contention he wil declare thy shame. 10 Againe some friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not. 11 But in thy prosperitie he wil be as thou thy self, and wil vse libertie ouer thy seruants. 12 If thou be brought low, he wil be against thee, and wil hide him self from thy face. 13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends. 14 A faithful friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth fuche one, findeth a treasure. 15 A faithful friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golds & filuer] is not to be compared to the goodnes [of his faith.] 16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] & the that feare the Lord, shal finde him. 17 Who so farth the Lord, shal direct his friendship a right, and as his owne self, so shal his friend be.

1 Of Kings and iudges. 7 Pride and enterruſhes are to be abhorred. 12 Labour is praifed.

1 A Wife iudge wil inſtruct his people with diſcretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is wel ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is him ſelf, ſo are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, ſuche are all they that dwell therein.

3 *An vnwife King deſtroieth his people, but where they that be in autoritie, are men of vnderſtading, there the citie profperieth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he wil ſet vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the proſperitie of man, and vpon the ſcribes wil he laye his honour.

6 *Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and do nothing by inuizious praefities.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, & by bothe doethone commit iniquitie.

8 *Becaufe of vnrighteous dealing and wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is tranſlated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worſe then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, fo earth and afhes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for ſuche one wolde euen ſel his ſoule, & for his life euerie one is compelled to pul out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of ſmale indurance, and the diſeaſe that is hard to heale, is grie- uous to the phyſicion.]

11 The phyſicio cutteth of y fore diſeaſe, & he that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth & afhes proude, feing that when a man dyeth, he is the heire of ſer- pents, beaſtes and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, & to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of finne, and he that harhe it, ſhal powrt out abominacion, til at laſt he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perfuafious [of the wic- ked] to difhonour, and deftroieth them in the end.

15 The Lord hathe caft downe the thrones of the [proude] princes, & fet vp the mcke in their fteade.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proude] nations, and planteth the lowlie with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and deftroieth the vnto y funda- ions of y earth: he caufeth the to wither away, & deftroieth them, and maketh their memorial to ceafe out of the earth.

18 [God deftroieth the memorial of the proude, & leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in me, nether wrath in the generacion of women.

20 There is a fede of mā, which is an hono- rable fede: the honorable fede are they y feare y Lord: there is a fede of mā, which is without honour: y fede without honour, are they that trafgreffe the cōmandemēts of the Lord: it is a fede that remaineth y feareth the Lord, & a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a fede without honour, that delpife the Law, & a deceiveable fede that breake the commandements.

21 He y is the chiefamōg brethrē, is honora- ble: fo are they y feare y Lord in his fight.

2 Do good vnto the righteous, & thou shalt finde [great] rewards, thogh not of him, yet of the moste High.

3 He cannot haue good that continueth in euil, and giueth no almes: [for the moste High hateth the sinners, and hathe mercie vpon them that repent.]

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, nether can an enemye be vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueh his enemies, but in heauines & trouble a mans very friend wil departe from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemye: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And thogh he make much crouching & kneeling, yet advise thy self, & beware of him, & thou shalt be to him, as he

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proudest & of the riches are to be eschewed. 12 The issue of God. 17 Lak. is companie with their like.

1 He that toucheth pitch, shalbe defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proudest, shal be like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy self aboue thy power, whiles thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy self: for how agre the kettel and the earthen pot together: for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broke.

3 The riche dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth with all: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the riche haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shal straight waise be threatened.

4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if y haue nothing, he wil forsake thee.

5 If thou haue anie thing, he wil liue with thee: yea, he wil make thee a bare man, and wil not care for it.

6 If he haue nede of thee, he wil defraude thee, and wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, & say, What wanteft thou?

7 Thus wil he shame thee in his meat, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrifse, and at the last he wil laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he wil forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

and laughingly wil he grope thee.

He is unmerciful, & kepteth not promes: he wil not spare to do thee hurt, and to put thee in prison. Beware, & take good hede: for thou wal-kest in peril of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy slepe. Loue the Lord all thy life, and call upon him for thy saluacion. Euerie beast loueth his like, and euerie man loueth his neighbour. All flesh wil reforte to their like, & euerie man wil kepe companie with fuche as he is him self. How can the wolfe agre with the lamb? nomore ca the vngodlie with y righteous. What felowthip hathe "hyena with a dogge? and what peace is betwene the riche and the poore? As the wilde affe is the liom praye in the wilderness, fo-are poore men the meat of the riche. As the proude hate humilitie, fo do the riche abhorre the poore. If a riche ma fall, his frieds fet him vp a-gaine: but whe the poore falleth, his frieds driue him away. If a riche man offend, he hathe many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place. Whe the riche man speaketh, euerie ma holdeth his tongue: and loke what he fath, they praife it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore ma speake, they fay, What felow is this? and if he do amiffe, they wil deftroie him. Riches are good vnto him that hathe no finne [in his confcience,] and pouertie is euil in the mouth of the vngodlie. The heart of a man chageth his countenance, whether it be in good or euil. A chearful countenance is a token of a good hear:

for it is an hard thig to knowe the fecreta of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

The offence of the tongue, 17 Man is but a value thing. 21 Happe is he that cinnuneth an wildome. Bleffed is the man*that hathe not fallen by [the worde of] his mouth, & is not tormented with the forow of finne. Bleffed is he that is not condemned in his confcience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord. Riches are comelie for a nigarde, and what shulde an enuious man do with money? He that gathereth together from his owne foule, heapeth together for others, that wil self, to whome wil he be good: for fuche one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

There is nothing worfe, then when one enuieth him self: and this is a rewarde of his wickednes. And if he do anie good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his wil, and at the last he declareth his wickednes. The enuious man hathe a wicked loke: he turneth away his face, and displiseth men. A couetous mans eye hathe neuer ynough of a porcio, and his wicked malice withereth his owne foule.

14 Defraude not thy self of the good day, and let not the porcion of the good desires ouerpaffe thee.

in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Truft not thou to their life, nether reft vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iufte, is better then a thou- fand fuche, and better it is to dye without children, then to leaue behunde him vn- godlie children.

11 He created me fto the beginning, & be-fore the worlde, & I shal neuer faile: In the holic habitacion haue I ferued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion. 13 In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierufalem was my power. 14 I toke roote in an honorable people, eue in the porcion of the Lords inheritance. 15 I am fet vp on hie like a cedar in Liba-nus, and as a ciperstre vpon the mountai-nes of Hermon. 16 I am exalted like a palme tre' about the bankes, and as a rose plante in Iericho, as a faire oliue tre in a pleafant field, and am exalted

as a plane tre by the water. 17 I smelled as the cinnamom, & as a bagge of spices: I gaue a swete odour as the best myrthe, as ga banum, and onix, and swete storax, & perfume of ineenfe in an houle. 18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the brâches of honour and grace. 19 As the vine haue I broght for the [fiu-te] of swete fauour, and my floures are the frute of honour and riches. 20 I am the mother of beautiful loue, and of feure, and of knowledge, and of ho-ly hope: I giue eternal thigs to all my chil-dren to whome God hathe commanded. 21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.] 22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your felues with my frutes. 23 For the remembrance of me is sweter then honie, and mine enheritance [sweter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euer more.] 24 They that eat me, shal haue & more hun-ger, and they that drinke me, shal thirst the more. 25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not co-me to confuſion, & they that worke by me, shal not offende: [they that make me to be knowen, shal haue euer laſting life.] 26 All theſe things are the boke [of life,] & the couenant of the moſte high God, [& the knowledge of the trueth,] & the Law that Moyſes [in the precepts of rightrouf-nes] commanded for an heritage vnto the houle of Iacob, [and the promiſes pertei-ning vnto Iſrael.] 27 Be not weary to behaue your ſelues va-liâcly with the Lord, that he may alſo con ſeme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord almightie is but one God, & besides him there is none other Sauour. 28 [Out of Dauid his feruant he ordeined to raise vp a moste mightie King filletth all things with his wifdome, as Physon, & as Tygris, in 31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appease as the light, and ouersloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hathe not known her perfectly: no more shal

33 For her confiderations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsel is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wifdome [haue caft out floods:] I am as an arme of the ruer: I runne into Paradise as a watercondite.

35 I laid, I wil watter my faire garden, and wil watter my pleafant ground: and lo, my ditche became a flood, and my flood became a fea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I wil pearce thorow all the lower partes of the earth: I wil loke vpo all fuche as be a flepe, & lighten all them that truft in the Lord.]

38 I wil yet powre out doctrine, as prophecie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

CHAP. XXV.

2 Of thre things which please God, and of thre which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be fufpect. 13 Of the malice of a woman.

Gen 13,2. rom 12,10.

1 Hre things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God & men: the vntie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agre together.

2 ¶ Thre fortes of men my foule hateth, & I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud: a riche man that is a lier, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 ¶ If thou haft gathered nothing in thy youth, what canft thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleafant a thing is it whé graie headed men minifter iudgement, & when the elders can giue good counfell!

5 Oh, how comelie a thig is wifdome vnto aged men, and vnderftanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde me is to haue muche experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 ¶ There be nine thigs, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he flueth, hathe ioye of his children, and feeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Wel is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderftanding, * and that hathe not fallen with his tongue, and that hathe not ferued fuche as are vnworthie of him.

9 Wel is him that findeth prudencie, and he that can not fpeake in the eares of them that wil heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wifdome! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord paffeth all things in clerenes.

12 [Bleffed is the man, vnto whome it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whome fhall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greateft heauines is the heauines of the heart, and the greateft malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, faue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, faue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any affalt, faue the affalt of them that hate, or any vengeance, faue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the ferpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an enemie.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to kepe houle with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman chigeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a facke.

20 Her houfband is fitting among his neighbours: becaufe of her he figheth fore of he beware.

21 All wickednes is but little to the wickednes of a woman: let the poction of the finner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a landie way is to the fete of the aged, fo is a wife ful of wordes to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy plea fure.

24 If a woman nourish her houfband, fhe is angrie and impudent and ful of reproche.

25 A wicked wife maketh a forie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feble knees, and can not comfort her houfband in heauines.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of finne, and thorow her we all dye.

27 Giue the watet no paffage, [no not a little,] nether giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If fhe walke not in thine obedience, [the fhall confound thee in the fight of thine enemies.] Cut her of then from thy flefh: *
Giue her, and forfake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 2 Of the fears of the things, and of the fourth. 3 Of the selous and drunken woman. 4 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which mouth wrath.

1 B Lesse d is the man that hath a ver- teous wife: for the number of his ye- res shalbe double.

2 An honest woma reioyceth her hous bad, and she shal fill the yeres of his life with peace.

3 A verteous woma is a good portio which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto suche as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be riche or poore, he ha- the a good heart toward the Lord, & they shal at all times haue a chereful counte- nance.

5 ¶ There be the things that mine heart feareth, & my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie: the assemble of the people, and false accusation: all these are hea- uer then death.

6 ¶ But the sorrow and grief of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euil wife is as a yoke of oxen y drawe diuerfe waies: he that hath her, is as thogh he helde a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and suche as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for she can not co- uer her owne shame.

9 The whordome of a woma may be knowe in the pride of her eyes, and eyeliddes.

Chap. 42, 11.

10 ¶ If thy daughter be not shamefast, hol- de her straitly, lest she abuse her self tho- rowe ouer muche libertie.

11 Take hede of her that hath an vnsha- mefast eye: & marueile not if she trespase against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shal she open her mouth, and drinke of euerie next water: by euerie hed- ge shal she sitte downe, & open her quiuer against euerie arowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her hous- band, and fedeth his bones with her vn- derstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so muche worthe as a woma wel instructed.

15 A shamefast & fauchful woman is a dou- ble grace, and there is no weight to be co- pared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the clere light is vpon the holie can- dlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the soc- kettes of siluer: so are faire fete with a con stant minde.

19 [Perpetual are the fundaciós that be lai- de vpon a strong rocke: so are the coman- dements of God in the heart of an holie woman.]

20 My sonne, kepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to stran- gers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruteful poffief fio through all the fields, sowe it with thi- ne owne fede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her hous band.

24 A wicked woma is, giuen as a rewarde to a wicked man: but a godlie woman is giue to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameles woman contemneth shame: but a shame fast woman wil reuerence her hous band.

26 A shameles woman is copared to a dog- ge: but she that is shamefast, reueréceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoreth her hous band, shalbe iudged wife of all: but she that defpi- seth him, shalbe blased for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a babler let her be foght out to driue away y enemies: the minde of euerie man that liueth with suche, shalbe conuersant among the trou- bles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the thirde maketh me angrie: a ma of warre that suffreth pouertie: and me of vnderstanding that are not set by: & whe one departeth from righteousnes vnto sin- ne: the Lord appointeth suche to y sworde.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perilous.] A marchant can not lightly kepe him from wrong, and a vitailee is not without sinne.

the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a bude go out of his hand, so if thou gue ouer thy fried, thou canst not gette him againe.

20 Followe after him no more, for he is to farre of: he is as a roe escaped out of the share: [for his foule is wounded.]

worde may be recon-ciled: but whoso bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hathe lost all his credit.

saying.

24 Manne things haue I hated, but nothing so euil as suche

[and he that laieth a stone in his neigh-bours way, shal stomble the econ,] and he that laieth a share for another, shalbe take in it him self.

27 He that worketh euil, shalbe wrapped in euil, and shal not knowe from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie & reproche followe the prou-de, and vengeance luiketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of ¶ righ-teous, shalbe taken in the share, & anguish shal consume them before they dye.

30 Dispite & angre are abominable thigs, and the sinful man is subject to the bothe.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We oght not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the of-fence
13 Of the vases of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

2 HE * that feketh vengeance, shal finde vengeance of the Lord, and he wil surely kepe his sinnes.

3 || Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hathe done to thee, so shal thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou praieft.

4 Shulde a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiuenes of the Lord?

5 He wil shewe no mercie to a man, which is like him self: and wil he aske forgiuenes of his owne sinnes?

6 If he that is but flesh, nourisse hatred, [and aske pardone of God,] who wil in-treate for his sinnes?

7 Remember the end, & let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to an-other through angre, but perseuere in the commandements.

8 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neigh-bour: [consider diligently] the covenant of the moste High, and forgiue his igno-rance.

9 *Beware of strife, & thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife.

10 And the sinful man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

is according to his power: and according to his riches his angre increaseth, and the more vehement the angre is, the more is he inflamed.

12 An hastie brauling kindleth a syre, and an hastie fighting shedeth blood: [a togue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answers of the wise. 12 Man is inthe hand of God, at the clay is in the hand of the potter. 25 Of euil feruante.

1 Here shal no euil come vnto him that [feareth the Lord: but when he is in centation, he wil deliuer him againe.

2 A wife man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithful vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and fo shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and fo answer.

5 The heart of the* foolish is like a cartewhele: and his thoghts are like a rolling axeltre.

6 As a wilde horfe neieth vnder euerie one that sitteth vpon him, fo is a scorneful friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, feing that the light of the daies of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hathe parted them a fondre, and he hathe by them dispo fed the times and solemn feastes.

9 Some of them hathe he chofen and sanctified, & some of them hathe he put among the daies to number.

10 And all men are of the* grounde, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hathe deuided them by great knowledge, and made their waies diuers.

11 Some of them hathe he blessed and exalted, and some of them hathe he sanctified, and appropriate to him self: but some of the hathe he cursed, and brought the lowe, and put them out of their estate.

12 *As the claye is in the potters hand, to 13 Against euil is good, and against death is life: fo is the godlie against the sinner, and the vngodlie against the faithful.

14 So in all the workes of the moste High thou maist se that there are cuer two, one against another.

15 I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape gatherer.

16 *Beholde, how I haue not labored one- Chap. 24, 26. ly for my self, but for all them that feke knowledge.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breth, giue not thy self ouer to anie persone.

20 For better it is that thy children shulde pray vnto thee, then that thou shuldest loke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 The fodder, the whippe and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meat, correctio and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shal feke libertie.

25 The yoke & the whippe bow downe the hard necke: fo tame thine euil seruat with the whippes and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he go not idlet for idlenes bringeth muche euil.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, put on more heauie feters.

28 But be not excessiue towarde anie, and without discrecion do nothing.

29 *If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne foule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou hast nede of him, as of thy self. If thou intreat him euil, and he runne away, wilt thou feke him?

Dreams.

1 The hope of a foolish man is vaine & false, & dreames make fooles to ha-ue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take holde of a shadowe, and fol-lowe after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of drea-mes, as the likenes of a face is before ano-ther face.

4 Who can be clenched by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Sothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that tuaui-lerth.

6 Where as suche viis os come not of y mo-ste High to trye thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue diseiued many, and thei haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shalbe fulfilled without lies, & wisdom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hathe he that is not tryed?]

9 A man that is instructed, understandeth much, and he that hathe good experiece, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hathe no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whe I wandred to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expreffe.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shal liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so feareth the Lord, feareth no man, nether is afraid: for he is his hope.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of y poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth y sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the nedeful is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him there-of, is a murtherer.

23 Hey taketh away his neighbours liuing, slayeth him, and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a bloodshedder.

24 When one buyldeth, and another brea-keth downe, what profite haue they then but labour?

25 When one prayeth and another curfeth, whose voyce wil the Lord heare?

26 He that washeth him self because of a dead bodie, and toucheth it againe, what auailleth his washing?

27 So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe: who wil heare his prayer? or what doeth his fa-sting helpe him?

19 Of the affection of the heart cometh forrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the laft end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou fhalt do him no good, but huite thy felf.

24 ¶ The wifdome of a learned ma cometh by vſing wel his vacant time: and he that ceafeth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wifdome.

25 How can he get wifdome that holdeth the plough, and he that hathe pleafure in the gode, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the brede of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make forowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of cuerie carpenter, and workemafter that laboreth night and daye: and they that cut, and graue feales, and make fondrie diuerfities, and giue them felues to contrefait imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The fmithe in like maner abideth by his anuil, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fyre dryeth his flefh, and he muſte fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyce of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes loke ftill vpon the thing that he maketh: he feteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to poliſh it perfittely.

29 So doeth the potter fit by his worke: he turneth the whele about with his fete: he is careful alwaye at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He facioneth the claye with his arme, & with his feete he tempereth the hardnes thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to clenſe the ouen.

31 All theſe hope in their hands, and cuerie one beftoweth his wifdome in his worke.

32 Without theſe can not y cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not affed their iudgement in the counfel of the people, nether are thei hie in the congregacion, nether fit they vpon the iudgement feates, nor vnderftand the order of uftice: they can not declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not mete for hard matters.

34 But thei meinteine the ftate of the worlde, and thei desire is concerning their worke and occupacion.

af- ter this maner,

16 "All the workes of the Lord are excea- ding good, and all his commandements are done in due feafon.

17 And none may fay, What is this? where- fore is that? for at 19 The workes of all flefh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He feeth from euerlafting to euerla- fting, & there is nothing

21 A man nede not to lay, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hathe made all things for their owne vfe.

27 All thefe things are for good to y godlie: but to y finners they are turned vnto euil.

28 There be fpretres that are created for vfe geance, which in their rigour laye on fure ftrokers: in the time of deftruction they fhewe for the their power, and accomplifh the wrath of him that made them.

31 They fhallbe glad to do his commande- ments: & when nede they fhall not ouerpaffe the commande- ment.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 4 A curfe vpon them that forlake the Law of God. 15 Good name & fame. 16 An exhortacion to giue hode vnto wifdome. 17 Of what things a man oght to be afhamed.

¶ Of death.

1 O Death, how bitter is the remembrá-ce of thee to a man that liuech at rift in his poffeffions, vnto the man that halhe nothing to vexe him, and that halhe prof-peritie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meat!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudge-mét vnto the nefeful, and vnto him whose ftrength faileth, and that is now in the laft age, & is vexed with all things, and to him that dispaireth, and halhe loft pacience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remé-ber them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flefh.

4 And why woldest thou be againft y plea-fure of the moſte High? whether it be ten or an hundred, or a thouſand yeres, the-re is no deſenſe for life againſt the graue.

The Law of God must be taught. A daughter. A woman. God knoweth all things, yea, seen the secrets of thine heart.

In what high we ought not to be sinamed.

Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither have regard to offed for anie persone,

2 Of the Law of the most High & his covenant, & of iudgement to instifie the godlie: 3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends: 4 To be diligent to keep true balance, and weight, whether thou have much or little: 5 To fel marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beat an euil servant to the blood: 6 To fet a good locke where an euil wife is, and to locke where manie hands are: 7 If thou giue anie thing by number, and weight, to put all in

Or, is a fierce warrior in the faster.

The daughter 'maketh the father to watche secretly, and the

In her virginitie, lest she shulde be defiled, or gotten withchilde in her fathers house, and, when she is with her housband, lest she misbehaue herself: and when she is married, lest she continue vnfruteful.

Chap. 26, 10.

If thy daughter be vnscamefast, kepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a people, and bring thee to publicke shame.

Chap. 21, 22.

Beholde not euerie bodies beautis, and companie not among women.

Gen. 2, 6.

For as the moth cometh out of garmets: so doeth wickednes of the woman. The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche. I wil remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I have fene: by the worde of the Lord are his workes.

The sunne that shineth, loketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is ful of the glorie of the Lord.

Hatte not the Lord appointed that his Saucts shulde declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hathe stablished to confirme all things by in his marestie?

He fcketh out the depth, and the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for y Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the worlde.

He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

*No thought may escape him, nether may anie worde be hid from him.

He hathe garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, nether can he be munished: he hathe no nede of anie counselor.

Oh, how delectable are all his workes, & to be cosidered eue vnto y sparkes of fyre!

They liue all, and endure for euer: and when soeuer nede is, they are all obedient.

Thei are all double, one agaist anothers he hathe made nothing y hathe anie faute.

The one commendeth the goodnes of the other, & who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glorie?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the works of God.

This high ornament the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heane so glorious to beholde,

The sunne also, a maruellous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the moste High.

At noone it burneth the countrey, & who may abide for the heart thereof?

The sunne burneth the mountaines thre times more then he that kepeth a fornace with cotinual heat: it casteth out the fyre vapours, & with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to runne hastely.

- The moone also hathe he made to appeare according to her season, that it shulbe be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the worlde.
- The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminiseth vnto y end.

The moneth is called after y name thereof, & groweth wódrously in her chaging.

It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beaurie of heaué are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

By the commandement of the holie one they they continue in their order, and fail not in their wache.

11 ¶ Loke vpon the raine bowe, and praise him that made it:
verie beautiful is it in the brightnes thereof.

12 ¶ It compaffeth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the moiste High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Thorowe his comandement he maketh the fnowe to hafte, and fendeth fwiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treafures, and the cloudes flie forthe as the foules.

15 In his power hathe he ftrenghened the cloudes, and broken the haile ftones.

16 The mountaines leape at the fight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his wil.

17 The founde of his thonder beateth the earth: fo doeth the ftorme of the North: y whirlewinde alfo, as birdes that flie, fcartereth the fnowe, and the falling downe thereof is as y greghoppers y light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenes thereof, & the heart is aftenifhed at the raine of it.

19 He alfo powreth out the froft vpon the earth like falt, and when it is frofen, it fticketh on the toppes of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, an yce is frofen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as w a breft plate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wilderness, and deftroyeth that that is grene, like fyre.

22 The remedie of all thefe is when a cloude cometh haftely, & when a dewe cometh vpon the heat, it refrefheth it.

23 [By his worde he ftilleth the winde:] by his counfel he appeafeth the depe, and platteth ylands therein.

24 They that faile ouer the fea, tel of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be ftrange, & wonderous workes, diuers maner of beafts, and the creation of whales.

26 Thorowe him are all things directed to a good end, & are ftablifhed by his worde.

27 And whe we haue fpoken muche, we can not atteine vnto them: but this is y fumme of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praife him: for he is aboue all his workes?

Psal. 96.4.

29 The Lord is terrible, and verie great, & marueilous is his power.

30 Praife y Lord, & magnifie him as muche as ye can, yet doeth he farre excede: exalt him with all your power, & be not wearie, yet can ye not atteine vnto it.

Psal. 106.2.

31 * Who hathe fene him, that he might tel vs and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are hid yet greater things the thefe be, & we haue fene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hathe made all things, and giuen wifidome to fuche as feare God.

7 All thefe were honorable men in their generacions, & were wel reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, fo that their praife fhall be fpoken of.

9 There are fome alfo which haue no memorial, * and are perifhed, as thogh they had neuer bene, and are become as thogh they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were merciful men, whose righteousnes hathe not bene forgotté.

The praise of Moyfes, Aaron, and Phinees.

1 And Moyfes, the beoued of God & men, broght he forthe, whose remembrance is blefied. 2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies. 3 By his wordes he caufed the wonders to ceafe, and he made him glorious in the fight of Kings, and gaue him commâdements for his people, and fhewed him his glorie. 4 He fanctified him with faithfulness, and mekenes, and chofe him out of all men. 5 *He caufed him to heare his voyce, and broght him into the darke cloude, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that he might teache Iacob y couenant, and Israel his iudgements.* 6 He exalted Aaron an holie man like vnto him, eue his brother of y tribe of Leui. 7 An euerlafting couenant made he with him, and gaue him the priefthode among the people, and made him blefied through his comelie ornament, & clothed him with the garment of honour. 8 He put perite ioye vpo him, and girded him with ornaments of

ftrength, as with breches, and a tunicle, and an ephod. 9 He compaffed him about with belles of golde, & with manie belles round about, that when he went in, the found might be heard, and might make a noyce in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the childre of Israel his people, 10 And with an holie garment, with golde alfo, and blewe filke, and purple, & diuers kindes of workes, and with a breftlappe of iudgemet, & with the fignes of trueth, 11 And with worke of fkarlet conningly wrought, and with precious ftones grauen like feales, & fet in golde by goldefmithes worke for a memorial with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel.

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holines, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnifhed, and pleafant to loke vpon.

13 Before him were there no fuche faire ornaments: there might no fträger put them on, but onely his children, and his childres children perpetually.

14 Their facrifices were wholly confumed euerie day twife continually.

15 *Moyses filled his hands, and anointed him with holie oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlafting couenant, & to his fede, so long as the heauens fhulde remainr, that he fhulde minifter before him, & alfo to execute the office of the priefthode, and bleffe his people in his name.

16 Before all men luing the Lord chofe him that he fhulde remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 *He gaue him alfo his commandements and autoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he fhulde teache Iacob the teftimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

18 *Strangers ftode vp againft him, & enuied him in the wilderness, euen the men that toke Dathans and Abirams parte, & the companie of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord fawe, and it difpleafed him, and in his wrathful indignacion were they confumed: he did wonders vpon them, and confumed them with the fyrie flame.

20 *But he made Aaron more honorable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the firft frutes of the firft borne vnto him:
vnto him fppecially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the facrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his fede.

22 *Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, nether had he any porcion among the people: for the Lord is the porcion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glorie is Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, becaufe he had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & ftoode vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that he shulde be the chief of the Sanctuarie and of his people, and that he and his posteritie shulde haue

5 How honorable was his conuerfation a-mong the people, and when he came out of the houfe courred with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning flarre in the mid-des of a cloude, and

10 And as a faire oliue tre that is fruteful, and as a cypreffe tre, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When he put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honorable.

12 When he toke the porcions out of the Priests hands, he himself ftoode by the herth of the altar, compaffed with his brethren rounde about, as the branches do the cedre tre in Libanus, & thei copaffed him as the branches of the palme trees.

16 Then shewted the fonnes of Aaron, and blowed with braffen trumpets, and made a great noyce to be heard, for a CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iefus the fonne of Sirach.

I Wil confesse thee, o Lord and King, and praife thee, o God, my Sauour: I giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and haft preferued my bodie from deftruction, and from the fnare of the fclande-rous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou haft holpen me againft mine aduerfaries,

3 And haft deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names fake, from the roaring of them that were readie to deuoure me, and out of the hands of fuche as foght after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had,

4 And from the fyre that choked me rounde about, and from the middes of the fyre that I burned not,

5 And from the botome of the belie of hel, from an vncleane togue, from lying wordes, from falfe accusation to the King, & fro the fclander of an vnrighteous togue.

6 [My foule fhall praife the Lord vnto death:] for my foule drew nere vnto death: my life was nere to the hel beneth.

7 They copaffed me on euerie fide, & there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the fuccour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, o Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuered fuche at waite for thee, and faued them out of the hands of the enemies.

9 Then lift I vp my prayer from the earth, and praised for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the father of my Lord, that he wolde not leaue me in the daye of my trouble, and in the time of the proude without helpe.

11 I wil praife thy Name continually, and wil fing praife with thanksfging: & my prayer was heard.

12 Thou fauedt me from deftruction, and deliueredft me from the euil time: therefore wil I giue thanks and praife thee, & bleffe the Name of the Lord.

13 Whē I was yet vong, or euer I wēt abroad, I defired wifdome opēly in my praier.

14 I praied for her before the Temple, and foght after her vnto farre countreis, and fhe was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the floure.

15 Mine heare reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, & from my youth vp foght I after her.

16 I bowed fomewhat downe mine eare, & receiued her, & gate me mucche wifdome:

17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I afcribe the glorie vnto him, that giueeth me wifdome.

18 For I am aduifed to do thereafter: I wil be selous of that that is good: fo fhall I not be confounded.

20 I directed my foule vnto her, and I founde her in purenes: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning:
therefore fhall I not be forfaken. My bowels are troubled in feking her: therefore haue I gotten a good poffe fio. 22 The Lord hathe giue me a togue for my rewarde, wherewith I wil prafe him. 23 Dr iwe nere vno me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the houfe of learning. 24 Wherefore are ye flowe and what fay you of thefe things, feing your foules are very thufte?

25 I opened my mouth, and faid, * Bye her 1/2 11. for you your foule fhall receiue inftruction: the is ready that ye may finde her. 27 Beholde with your eyes, how that I haue had but little labour, & haue gotten vnto me muche reft. 28 Get learning with a great fomme of money: for by her ye fhall poffeffe muche golde. 29 Let your foule reioyce in the metcie of the Lord, and he not afhamed of his praife. 30 Do your duetie berimes, and he wil giue you a rewarde at his time.

And Baruch did read the wordes of this boke, that Iechonias the fonne of Ioacim King of Iuda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the boke, And in the audience of the gouernour, & of the Kings fonnes, & before the Elders, & before the whole people, fro the lowest vnto the hief, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the river Sud. 5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted and made praises before the Lord. 6
They made a collection alfo of money, according to euerie mans power, And fent it to Ierufalem vnto Ioacim the fonne of

And they faid, Beholde, we haue fent you money, wherwith ye fhall buy burnt offerings for finne, and incense, and prepare a meat offering, & offere vpon the altar of the Lord our God, And pray for the life of Nabuchodonofof King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltafar his fonne, that their dates may be vpon earth, as the dates of heauen, And that God wolde giue vs ftrength & lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the fhadowe of Nabuchodonofof King of Babylon, and vnder the fhadowe of Baltafar his fonne, that we may long do the feruice, and finde fauour in their fight. Pray for vs alfo vnto the Lord our God (for we haue finned againft the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrack is not turned from vs) And rede this booke (which we haue fent to you to be rehearsed in the Teple of the Lord) vpon the feaft dates, and at time conuenient. 20 Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honie, as appeareth this day. 21 Neuertheles, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophetes, whome he sent vnto vs. 22 But euerie one of vs followed the wicked imaginacion of his owne heart, to ferue strange gods, and to do euil in the fight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustely for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christian 11 The Iewes desire to have the wrath of God turned from them 12 He promiseth that he wil call againe the people from capitatie, and giue them a name and everlasting teta-ment. 1 Herefore the Lord our God hath performed his worde, which he pronounced against vs, & against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our princes, & against the men of Israel and Iuda, 2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, fuche as neuer came to paffe vnder y whole heaue, as they that were done in Ierufale, according to things, that were written in the Lawe of Moyses,

3 That some among vs shulde eat the flesh of his owne sonne,
& some the flesh of his owne daughter. 4 Mercouer, he hathe deliuered them to be in subiection to all the king domes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproche and defolation among all the people round about where the Lord hathe fastred them.
5 Thus they are broght beneth and not aboue, becaufe we haue finned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.
6 To the Lord our God apperteineth righteous, but vnto vs & to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day. 7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hathe pronounced against vs. 8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euerie one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart. 9 So the Lord hathe watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hathe broght them vpon vs. for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hathe commanded vs. 10
Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voy ce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hathe giuen vnto vs.

11 *And now, ô Lord God of Israel, that hast broght thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy self a Name, as appeareth this day,

12 O Lord our God, we haue finned: we haue done wickedly:
we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our praier, ô Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauour in the fight of the, which haue led vs away,

15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore loke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, ô Lord, and heare vs.

17 Op in thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose foules are out of their bodies, giue vnto the Lord, nether praise, nor righteouses.

18 But the foule that is vexed for the great- nes of fume, and he that goeth crokedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie foule wil giue thee praise & righteouses, ô Lord.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy fight, ô Lord our God, for the righteouses of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But becaufe thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignacion vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophetes, saying,

21 *Thus faith the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, and serue the King of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye wil not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon,

23 I wil caufe to ceafe in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierufalem, I wil caufe to ceafe the voyce of mirthe, and the voyce of ioye, & the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, & the land shalbe desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we wolde no hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the words that thou spakeft by thy seruats the Prophetes: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers shulde be caryed out of their places.

28 As thou fpakeft by thy feruant Moyfes, in the day when thou dideft comand him to write thy Lawe before the childre of Ifrael, faying,

29 'If ye wil not obey my voyce, then fhall this great fwarme and multitude be turned into a verie fewe among the nacions where I wil fcater them.

32 And they shal heare, and praise me in the land of their captiuitie, & thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their harde backs, and from their vnil workes: for they shal remember the way of their fathers, which finned before the Lord.

34 And I wil bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Ifaac and Iacob, and they shal be lords of it: and I wil increafe them, and they shal not be diminished.

35 And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil be their God, & they shalbe my people: and I wil no more driue my people of Ifrael out of the land that I haue giuen them.

13 Heare, o Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art merciful, and haue pitie vpon vs, becaufe we haue finned before thee.

14 For thou endureft for euer, and we vterly perifh.

15 O Lord almightie, the God of Ifrael, heare now the praier of the dead Ifraelites, and of their children, which haue finned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore thefe plagues hang vpon vs.

16 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

17 For thou art the Lord our God, & thee, o Lord, wil we praife.

18 And for this caufe haft thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we fhulde call vpon thy Name, and praife thee in our captiuitie: for we haue confidered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that finned before thee.

19 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou haft fcattered vs, to be a reproche, and a curfe, and fubiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

20 O Ifrael, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou maieft learne wifdome.

21 What is the caufe, o Ifrael, that thou art in thine enemies land, and ait waxen olde in a ftrange countrey?

22 And art defiled with the dead: and art counted with them, that go downe to the graues?

23 Thou haft forfaken the fountaine of wif dome.

24 For if thou hadeft walked in the way of God, thou fhuldeft haue remained fafe for euer.

25 Learne where is wifdome, where is ftrength, where is vnderftanding, that thou maift knowe alfo from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

26 Who hathe found out her place: or who hathe come into her treafures?

27 Where are the princes of the heathen, & fuche as ruled the beafts vpon the earth?

28 They that had their paftime with the foules of the heauen, that hoorded vp filuer, and golde, wherein men truft, & made none end of their gathering?

24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hathe none end: it is his, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chose, nether gave he the way of knowledge vnto them.

30 Who hathe gone ouer the sea, to finde her, and hathe broght her, rather then fi- ne golde?

31 No man knoweth her waies, nether con- fidereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hathe founde her out with his vnderstanding: this fame is he which ha- the prepared the earth for euermore, and hathe filled it with foure footed beastes.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeieth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cherefulnes they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shal none o- ther be compared vnto him.

1 His is the boke of the comandements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keeps it, shal come to life: but suche as forsake it, shal dye.

2 Turne thee, o Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightness before the light thereof.

3 Give not thine honour to another, nor the thigs that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nacion.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the thigs that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, o my people, which art the memorial of Israel.

6 Ye are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye provoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the e- nemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, & ye haue grei- ued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she sawe the wrath comming vpo you from God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hathe broght me into great heaumes.

10 I se the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which y Euerlasting wil bring vpon them.

11 With ioye did Inourish the, but I must leue them with weping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widdowe, and forsaken of manie, which for the sin- nes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They wolde not knowe his righteous- nes, nor walke in the wayes of his commia- dements: nether did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteous- nes.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my son- nes and daughters, which the Euerlasting hathe broght vpon them.

15 For he hathe broght vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nacion, and of a strange langage,

16 Which nether reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue carried away the dere beloued of the widdowes, leaving me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hathe broght these pla- gues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Go your way, o children, go your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put of the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sacke cloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I wil call vpon the Euer- lasting.

21 Be of good comfort, o children: crye vn- to God, and he wil deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluatio through the Euerlasting, and ioye is come vpon me fro the Holy one, because of the mer- cie, which shal quickly come vnto you fro our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weping, and mourning but with ioye and perpetual gladnes wil God bring you againe vn- to shal they also se shortly your saluatio from God, which shal from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer paciently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hathe perfecuted thee, but thortely thou shalt fe his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crye vnto God: for he that led you away, hathe you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endeouore your selues ten times more, to turne againe and to feke him.

29 For he that hathe broght thefe plagues vpon you, wil bring you euerlasting ioye againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, o Ierufalem: for he which gaue thee that name, wil comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whome thy children ferue:
miserable is she that hathe take thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shal she be sorie for her owne defolation.

34 For I wil take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioye shalbe turned into mourning.

35 For a fyre shal come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, & she shalbe inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierufalem, loke towarde the East, and beholde the ioye that cometh vnto thee from thy God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes (whome thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the worde of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierufalem is mound vnto gladnes for the returns of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

2 Pvt of thy mourning clothes, o Ierufalem and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worshippe and honour, that cometh vnto thee from God, for euermore.

3 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.

4 For God wil declare thy brightnesses to euerie countrey vnder the heuen.

5 And God wil name thee by this name for euer, The Peace of righteousness, and the glorie of the worship of God.

6 Arif, o Ierufalem, & stand vpon hie, and loke about thee towarde the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the worde of the Holie one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For thei departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring the againe vnto thee, exalted in glorie, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euerie high mountaine, and the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the grounde plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all swete smelling trees shal ouersadowe Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shal bring Israel with ioye in the light of his matistie, with the mercie and righteousneses that cometh of him.

A COPIE OF THE PISTLE, that Ieremias fent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie the of the thing that was commanded him of God.

1 B Ecaufe of the sinnes, that ye haue committed against God, ye shalbe led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remaine there manie yeres, and a long season, euen seuen generacions, and after that wil I bring you away peaceably fro thece.

3 Now shal yefe in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mes shulders, to caufe the people to seare.

4 *Beware therefore that ye in no wife be like the strangers, nether be ye afraide of them, when yefe the multitude before the and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worshippe thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with you, & shal care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they them selues are gitted, and laied ouer with siluer: yet are they but lyes, and can not speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maide that loueth to be dect,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: some times also the Priests them selues conuey away the golde, and siluer from their gods, and bestow: it vpon them selues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet can not they be prefetued from rust and wormes,

12 Thogh they haue couered the with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a fcepter, as thogh he were a certeine iudge of the coitrey: yet can he not flay fuche as offende him.

14 Another hathe a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defende him felf from battel, nor from theues: fo then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a veffel that a man vfeth, is nothing worthe when it is broken,

16 Suche are their gods: when they be fet vp in their temples, their eyes be ful of dust by reafon of the fete of thofe y come in:

17 And as the gates are fhut in iound about vpon him that hathe offended the King: or as one that fhulde be led to be put to death, fo the Priests kepe their tfples with doores, and with lockes, & with barres, left their god: fhulde be fpoyled by robbers.

18 They light vp candels before them: yea, more the for them felues wh: reof they ca not fe one: for they are but as one of the poftes of the temple.

19 They confeffe, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that crepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke thorow the fmo- ke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, fwallowes and birdes flie vpo their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, & the cattes alfo.

22 By this ye may be fure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithftanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautiful, except one wipe of the ruft, they can not fhine: nether when they were molten, did they fele it.

24 The things wherein is no breth, are bight for a moft high price.

25 *They are borne vpon mens fhoulders, becaufe they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worthe: yea, & they that worfhip them, are afhamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at anie time, they can not ri fe vp againe of them felues, nether if one fet them vp right, can they moue of them felues, nether if they be bowed downe, can they make them felues ft: eight: but they fet giftes before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things y are offred vnto them, their P ri-fts fell them, and abufe them: li-kew: fe alfo the women lay vp of the fame: but vnto the poore and ficke they giue nothing.

28 The menftuous women, and they that are in childebed, touche their facrifices:

by thefe things ye may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods: becaufe the women bring giftes to the gods of filuer, and golde, and wood.

30 And the Priests fit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whofe heades and beardes ate fhauen, & being bare headed,

31 Thei roare, & crye before their gods, as men do at the ftast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests alfo take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and chifdrē.

33 Whether it be euil that one doth vnto the, or good, they are not able to recom penfe it: they can nether fet vp a King no: put him downe.

34 In like maner they ca nether giue riches, nor money: thogh a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not, they wil no require it.

35 They can faue no ma from death, nether deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They can not reftore a blinde man to his fight, no: helpe anie man at his nede.

37 They can fhew no mercie to the widdowe, nor do good to the fatherles.

38 Their gods of wood, golde and fluer, are as ftones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worfhip them, fhllbe confounded.

39 How fhulde a man the thinke or fay that they are gods?

40 Morcouer the Chaldeas them felues difhonor them: for when thei fe a dome man, that ca not fpeake, thei prefent him to Bel,

41 And defire that he wolde make him to fpeake, as thogh he had anie felig: yet thei that vnderftand thefe things, can not leauie them: for they alfo haue no fenfe.

42 Furthermore the women, girded with coards, fit in the fttetes, and burne ftawe.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lie with anie fuche as come by, the cafteth her neighbour in the teeth, becaufe the was not fo worthely reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatfoeuer is done amog them, is lies: how may it then be thoght or faid, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldefmithes make the, nether be they anie other thing, but euen what the workeman wil make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no lóg continuance: how fhulde then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and fhame for their pofteritie.

48 For when there cometh anie warre or plague vpo the, the Priest: imagine with them felues, where they may hide the felues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shal knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it shaibe manisest to all nacions & Kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in the.

51 Whereby it maye be known, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the lad, nor giue saine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, nether prescru from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betwene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fyre vpo the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, & of golde, the Priests wil escape & saue the selues, but thei butne as & balkes therein.

55 Thei can not withstand anie King or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?

56 Moreover these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can nether defend them selues from theues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take awaye their golde and siluer, and apparel, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them awaye: yet can they not heipe them selues.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, & so to sheve his power, or els a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profite, then suche false gods: or to be a dore in an house, to kepe suche things safe as be therein, then suche false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then suche false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when thei are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euerie countrey.

61 And when God comandeth the cloudes to go about the whole worlde, they do as thei are bidden.

62 Whê the fyre is sent downe from aboue to destroye hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commanded: but these are not like anie of these things, nether in formt, nor power.

63 Wherefore men shulde not thinke, nor fiy that they be gods, seing thei can nether giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 For so muche now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, seare them not.

65 For they can nether curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Nether can thei sheve signes in the heauen among the heathé, nether shine as the moone.

67 The beastes are better the they: for thei can get them vnder a couert, and do them selues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore seare them not.

69 For as a skarcrowe in a garden of cucumbers kepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euerie birde sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightness, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they them selues shal be consumed at the last, and they shaibe a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iuste man, that hath none idoles: for he shaibe farre fro reprove.

THE SONG OF THE

thre holie children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, Thei fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fyre fornace.

CHAP. I.

21 The praise of Azarias 46 The cruelties of the King. 48 The flame deueneth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the furnace. 51 The thre children praise the Lord and provoke all creatures to the same.

Nd they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, & magnified the Lord.

Then Azarias stode vp, and praied on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fyre, said,

26 Blessed be thou, o Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthie to be praised and honored for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy waias are right, & all thy iudgements certeine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, & vpon Iæusalem, the holie citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equicie hast thou broght all these things vpon vs, be- cause of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespafed,

30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, nether done as thou hadest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast broght vpon vs, & in euerie thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, & moste hateful trai- tors, and to an unrighteous King, and the moste wicked in all the worlde.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reprofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worshippe thee.

34 Yet for thy Names fake, we beseche thee, giue vs not vp for euer, nether breake thy couenant,

35 Nether take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams fake, and for thy seruant Isaaks fake, & for thine holy Israelis fake,

36 To whome thou hast spoken and promi- sed, that thou woldest multiplie their sede as the starres of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the seashore.

37 For we, o Lord, are become lesse then a- nie nacion, and be kept vnder this daye in all the worlde, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue nether prince, nor Prophet, nor gouenour, nor burnt offnig, nor sacrifice, nor oblagion, nor incense, nor place to offer y first frutes before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheles in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bul- lockes, & as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto the that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and feke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindenes, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, & giue thy Name the glorie, o Lord,

44 That all they which do thy seruants e- uil, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they maye knowe, that thou one- lie art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole worlde.

46 ¶ Now the Kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with a naphtha, and with pitche, and with towe, and with fagotes,

47 So that the flame went out of the forna- ce fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it braket forthe, & burnt those Chal- deans, that it founde by the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the furnace with the that were with Azarias, and fmote the flame of the fyre out of the furnace,

50 And made in the middes of the furnace like a moyse hising winde, so that the fy- re touched the not at all, nether grieved, nor troubled them.

51 Then these thre (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, o Lord God of our fa- thers, and praised, and exalted aboue all things for euer, & blessed be thy glorious & holie Name, & praised aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glorie, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest y depths, & firest vpon the Cherubims, & praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praised aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of hea- uen, and praised aboue all things, & glo- rified for euer.

57 All ye workses of the Lord, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

58 O heauens, bless ye the Lord: praise him, and exalte him him aboue all things for euer.

60 All ye waters that be aboue the heauen, bless ye the Lord:
praise him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

61 All ye powers of the Lord, bless ye the Lord: praise him,

62 O sunne and moone, bless ye the Lord: praise him, & exalte him aboue all things for euer.

63 O starres of heauē, bless ye y Lord: praise him, & exalte him aboue all things for euer.

64 Euerie shower, & dewe, bless ye y Lord: praise him, & exalte him aboue all things for euer.

65 All ye windes, bless ye the Lord: prai- se him, and exalte him aboue all things for euer.

THE HISTORIE OF

'Sufanna, which fome ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the 13. chap.

The two governors are taken with the loue of Sufanna. They take her alone in the garden. They foliate her to wickedness. She chafeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. She is accused. Daniel doth deliuer her. The governors are put to death.

HERE dwelt a ma in Babylon called Ioacim, And he toke a wife, whose name was Sufanna, the daughter of Helcias, a verie faite woman, and one that feared God.

Her father and her mother alfo were god-lie people, & taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses.

Now Ioacim was a great riche man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Lewes, because he was more honorable then all others.

The fame yere were appointed two of the anciets of the people to be iudges, fu-che as the Lord fpeaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, & fro the anciet iudges, which femed to rule y people.

These hanted Ioacims houfe, & all fuche as had anie thing to do in the Law, came thither vnto them.

Now when the people departed away at noone, Sufanna went into her housbands garden to waike.

And the two Elders fawe her that fhe wéc in daily and walked, fo that their luft was inflamed towarde her.

Therefore thei turned away their a mide, & caft downe their eyes, y thei fhuldenot fe heauen, nor remébre iufte iudgements.

Tttt.ii.

Sufanna.

10 And albeit thei both were wounded with her loue, yet durft not one shewe another his grief.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their luft, that they desired to haue to dof her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to fe her.

13 And the one faid to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is diner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed, one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the fame place, and after that they had asked one another the caufe, thei acknowledged their luft: the ap pointed they a time bothe together whe they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had fpied out a conuenient time, that fhe went in, as her maner was, with two maides onely, and thought to walke her felf in the garden (for it was an hote feafon)

16 And there was no bodie there, faue the two Elders that had hid them felues, and watched for her:

17 She faid to her maides, Bring me oyle & fope, and fhut the garde dores, that I may walke me.

18 And they did as fhe bade them, and fhut the garden dores, and went out them felues at a backe dore, to fet the thing that fhe had commanded them: but they fawe not the Elders, becaufe they were hid.

19 Now whe the maides were gone for the, the two Elders rofe vp & ranne vnto her, faying, 20 Beholde, the garden dores are fhut, that no man can fe vs, & we burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we wil beare witnes against thee, that a yong ma was with thee, and therefore thou dides fend away thy maides from thee.

22 Then Sufanna fighed, and laid, I am in trouble on euerie fide: for if I do this thig, it is death vnto me: & if I do it not, I can not efcape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your haides, and not do it, then to finne in the fight of the Lord.

24 With that Sufanna cryed with a loude voyce, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden dore.

26 ¶ So whe the feruants of the houle heard the crye in the garden, they rufhed in at f backe dore, to fe what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the feruants were greatly afhamed: for there was neuet fuche a reporte made of Sufanna.

28 On the morow after, came the people to Ioacim her houbband, & the two Elders came also, ful of mischieuous imaginacio against Sufanna, to put her to death,

29 And laid before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Ioacims wife. And immediately they fent.

30 So she came with her father & mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And thefe wicked me comanded to vnco-uer her face (for she was couered) that thei might fo be fatified with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knewe her, wept.

34 The the two Elders stode vp in the mid-des of the people, and layed their hands vpon her head,

35 Which wept and loked vp towarde hea-uen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two mai-des, whome she fent away from her, and fhut the garden dores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then we which stode in a corner of the garde, feing this wickednes, rane vnto the, and we sawe them as they were together,

39 But we colde not holde him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the dore, and leaped out.

40 Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yong man this was, but she wolde not tel vs: of these things are we witneses.

41 Then the assemblie beleued them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so thei condemed her to death.

42 Then Sufanna cryed out with a loude voyce, and said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe,

43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnes against me, and beholde, I must dye, where as I neuer did fuche thigs as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp a holie spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 The all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 The Daniel stode in the middes of the, and said, Are ye fuche fooles, o Ifraelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue condemned a daugh-ter of Ifrael?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue

Apocrypha.

haue borne false witness against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, & the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, & shew it vs, seing God hathe giuen thee y office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I wil examine them.

52 So when they were put a sonder, one fro another, he called one of them & said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false judgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the giltie go fie, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay.

54 Now then, if thou hast sene her, tel me, vnder what tre sweet thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentilke tre.

55 The said Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne head: for lo, the Angel of God hathe receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put he him aside, & commanded to bring the other, & said vnto him, O thou sede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hathe diseiued thee, and lust hathe subuer ted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye deale with the daughters of Israel, and they for seare copanied with you: but the daughter of Iuda wolde not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tel me vnder what tre didest thou take them copanyng together? Who answered, Vnder a 'prime tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lyed against thine head: for the Angel of God wasteth with the swords to cut thee in two, & so to destroye you bothe.

60 ¶ With that all y whole assemblie cryed with a loude voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witness by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Law of Moyses they delt with them, as they delt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saved the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Iocacim her housband, and all the kind, that there was no dishonestie soide in her.

64 From that day for the was Daniel had in great reputacion in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

THE HISTORIE OF

Bel and of the dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Laten.

Ow when King Astyages was laide with his fathers, Cyrus y Persian receiued his kingdome.

And Daniel did eat at the Kings table, & was honored above all his friends.

Now the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euerie day, twelve great measures of fine flour, and force shepe, and six great potes of wine.

And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the living God, which hath created the heauen & the earth, and hath power vpo all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liufg God: seeff thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euerie day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, be not deceiued: for this is but clauie within, and braffe without, and did neuer eat a-ry thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expen ses, ye shal dye:

9 But if ye can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shal dye: for he hath spoke blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy worde.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were thre score and ten beside their wines and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests said, Beholde, we wil go out, and set thou the meat there, o King, & let the wine be filled: then shut the dore faft, and feale it with thine owne fignet.

12 And to morowe when thou commesft in, if thou findeft not that Bel hathe eaten vp all, we wil fuffer death, or els Daniel that hathe lyed vpon vs.

13 Now thei thoght the felues fure ynough: for vnder the table thei had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and toke away the things.

14 So whe they were gone forthe, the King fet meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his feruants to bring afhes, and thefe they ftrowed thorowout all the temple, in the prefence of the King alone: then went they out, and ftut the dore, & fealed it with the Kings fignet, and fo departed.

15 Now in the night came the Priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wonte to do) and did eat and drink vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arofe and Daniel with him.

17 And the King faid, Daniel, are the feales whole? Who answered, Yea, & King, thei be whole.

18 And affone as he had opened the dore, the King loked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, & Bel, and with thie is no difceite.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the King that he fhulde not go in, & faid, Be- holde now the pauement, and marke wel whole footefteppes are thefe.

20 And the King faid, I fe the footeftrep- pes of men, women, and children: therefo- re the King was angrie,

21 And toke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they fhewed him the pri- uie dores, where they came in, and oonfu- med fuche things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the King flewe them, and de- liuered Bel into Daniels power, who de- ftroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that fame place there was a great dragon, which the Babyioniás wor- fhipped.

24 And the King faid vnto Daniel, Sayeft thou, that this is of braffe alfo lo, he liueh and eateth and drinketh, fo that thou caft not fay, that he is no liuing god: therefo- re worfhippe him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I wil worfhippe the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, & King, and I wil flay this dragon without fworde or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel toke pitche, and fatte, & heere, and did feeth them together, & made lompes thereof; this he put in the dragons mouthe, and so the dragon burft in flunder. And Daniel said, Beholde, whome ye worfhippe.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderful wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a fewer: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slain the dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and said, Deliver vs Daniel, or els we wil destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the King sawe, that they persuaded fore vpon him, and that necessity constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the lions denne, when he was fix daies.

32 In the denne there were seven lions, and they had giue them euery day two bodies and two shepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might devour Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made potage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But y Angel of the Lord faid vnto Abbacuc, Go, carye the meat y thou haft, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc faid, Lord, I neuer sawe Babylón, nether do I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel toke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the herte of the head, and through a mighty winde fet him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, faying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then faid Daniel, O God, thou haft thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest the that seekethee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eat, and the Angel of the Lord fet Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the feuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel faste in the middes of the lions.

41 Then cryed the King with a loud voice, faying, Great art thou, & Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drewe him out of the denne, and caft the that were the caufe of his deftruc- tion into the denne, & they were deuoured in a momente before his face.

CHAP. I.

2 The death of Alizider the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdoms. 12 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem vnto his dominion. 10 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

Eter that Alexander the Macedonian, y sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chettim, & slewe Darius King of the Petiiias and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 He toke great warres in hand, and wan strong holdes, and slewe the Kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to y ends of the worlde, and toke spoiles of many nacions, in so much that y worlde stode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hawtie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nacions and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he shulde dye.

7 Then he called for the chief of his seruantes, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres when he dyed.

9 And his seruants reigned euerie one in his rourne.

10 And they all caused the selues to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after the many yeres, and much wickednes increased in the worlde.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, enen Antiochus' Epiphanes the sonne of King Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundredth and seven and thirtieth yere of the kingdome of the Grekes.

12 In those daues wet there out of Israel wicked men, which entyced many, saying, Let vs go, and make a covenant with the heathen, that are rounde about vs: for since we departed fro them, we haue had muchie forowe.

13 So this deuice pleased them wel.

14 And certeine of the people were readie, & went to y King which gaue the licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 The set thei vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the sacios of y heathé,

16 And made them a selues vncircucised, & forfoke the holy covenant, & toynd them selues to the heathen, and were folde to do mischief.

17 So whe Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he wet about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie copance, with charets, & elephantes, & with horseme, & with a great naue, 19 And moued warte against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, and manie were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and toke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundredth, fortie and thre yere, 22 And went vp towarde Israel and Ierusalé with a mightie people.

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and toke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, & all the instruments thereof, & the table of y shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, & the golden basins, and the vaille, and the crownes, & the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 He toke also the siluer and golde, & the precious jewels, & he toke the secret treasures that he founde, & when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne land,

25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken verie proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lametacion in euerie place of Israel.

27 For the princes & the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made fable, & the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euerie bridegrome toke him to mourning, and she that fate in the mariage chamber, was in heauines.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitats thereof: for all the house of Jacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeres the King sent his chief taxe master into y cities of Iuda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in discerte, & they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, & smote it with a great plague, & destroied mucche people of Israel.

13 And when he had spoiled the citie, he set fyre on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euerie fide.

14 The wome and their children toke they captiue, and led away the cattel.

15 Then fortified they the citie of Daudid with a great & thicke wall, & with mightie towres, and made it a strong holde for them.

16 Moreover they set wicked people there, and vngodlie persones, and fortified them selues therein.

17 And they stored it with weapons and vitales, and gathered the spoile of Ierufale, and laied it vp there.

18 Thus became they a fore share & were in ambushment for y Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

19 For thei shed innocent blood on euerie fide of the Sanctuarie & defiled the Sactuarie,

20 In so much that the citzens of Ierufalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitacion of strangers, being desolate of them whome she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

21 Her Sactuarie was left waft as a wilderness: her holie daies were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour brought to naught.

22 As her glorie had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorowe.

23 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdoms, that all the people shulde be as one, and that euerie ma shulde leaue his lawes.

24 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

25 Yes, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, & defiling the Sabbath.

26 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierufalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they shulde followe the strange lawes of the countrey.

27 And that they shulde forbid the burnt offrings and sacrifices, and the "offrings in the Sanctuarie,

28 And that they shulde defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

29 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holie men,

30 And to set vp altars, & groues, & chappels of idoles, & offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,

31 And that they shulde leaue their children vncircumcised, & defile their soules with vnclennes, and pollute them selues, that they might forget the Law, & change all the ordinances,

32 And that whosoeuer wolde not do according to the commandement of the King, shulde suffer death.

33 In like maner wrote he thorow out all his kingdomes, and set ouersers ouer all the people, for to compell them to do these things.

34 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to do sacrifice, citie by citie.

35 Then went many of the people vnto the by heapes, euery one that forsake y Law, and so they committed euil in the land.

36 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen wherefoeuer they colde flee for succour.

37 The fifteenth day of Caffeu, in the hundredth and fiue and fortieth yere, they set vp the abomination of desolacion vpon the altar, & thei buylded altars thorow out the cities of Iuda on euerie fide.

38 And before the dores of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

39 And the bokes of the Law, which they founde, they burnt in the fyre, and cutre in pieces.

40 Whosoeuer had a boke of the Testament founde by him, or whosoeuer consented vnto the Law, the Kings commandement was, that they shulde put him to death by their autoritie,

41 And they executed these things euerie moneth vpon the people of Israel that were founde in the cities.

42 And in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

43 And according to the commandement, they put certeine woman to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 44 And they haged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slewe the circumcisers of them.

45 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in them selues, that they wolde not eat vncleane things, 46 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meats: so because thei wolde not break the holie couemant, they were put to death.

47 And this tyrannie was verie fore vpon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to do sacrifice vnto idoles. 20 The x gale of Mattathias for the Law of God.

21 They are shame and wil not fight against because of the Sabbath day. 22 Mattathias dying commandeth his sonnes to sticky by the words of God, after the example of the fathers.

1 IN those dayes stode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Ioanib of Ierufalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had fiue sonnes, Ioanan called Gaddis.

3 Simon called Thafsi, 4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus, 5 Eleazar called Abaron, & Ionathā, whose name was Apphus.

6 Now he sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:

7 And he said, Wo is me: wherefore was I borne, to se this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citic, and thus to sit still it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the hands of strangers: her Temple is, as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious vessels are caryed away into capitulitic: her infants are llayne in the streets, and her young men are fallen by the swords of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not some possession in her kingdoms, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?

11 All her glorie is taken away: of a frewoman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Beholde, our Sanctuarie & our beautie, and honor is desolate, and the Gentiles have defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue anie longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned verie fore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citic of Modin to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So manie of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the commissioners of the King, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chief and an honorable man, & great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfil the Kings commandement, as all the heathen have done, and also the men of Iuda, and suche as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy familie be in the Kings fauour & thou and thy children shalbe enriched with siluer & golde, & w manie rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered & said with a loude voyce, Thogh all nations that are vnder the Kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euerie man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet wil I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in y couenant of our fathers.

21 God be merciful vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.

22 We wil not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to transgresse our religion, nether on the right side, not on the left.

23 And when he had left of speaking these wordes, there came one of the Jewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias sawe it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his raines shoke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ran vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time he slewe y Kings commissioner, that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeal to y Law of God, *doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the Rymb. 25.7. sonne of Salom.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citic, saying, Whofoeuer is zealous of the Law, and wil stand by the couenant, let him come for the after me.

28 So he, and his sonnes fled into the mountains, & left all that thei had in the citic.

29 Then manie that sight after justice & iudgement,

30 Went downe into y wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattel: for the afflictions increased fore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now whe it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garifons, which were in Ierusalem in the citic of David, that men had broken the Kings commandement, & wert gone downe into the secret places in the wilderness,

32 Then many pursued after them: and busing ouertaken them, thei camped against them, and sec the battel in array against them on the Sabbath day, time, sayig, Whosoeuer shal come to make battel with vs vpon the Sabbath daye, we wil fight against him, that we dye not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assemble of the Afideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all suche as were wel minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, joyned them selues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodlie in their angre: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as manie as they founde within the coasts of Israel,

47 And they pursued after the proude me: and this acte prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, & out of the hand of Kings, and gave not place to wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neie, that Mattathias shulde dye, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, & giue your liues for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shal ye receiue great honour and an everlasting name.

52 * Was not Abraham founde faithful in tentacion, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, & was made the lord of Egypt.

54 * Phinees our father, because he was zealous and seruent, obtained the covenant of the everlasting priesthode.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the worde, was made the gouernour of Israel.

56 * Caleb, because he bare witnes before the congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 * Daud, because of his mercie obtained the throne of kingdome for euermore.

58 * Elias, because he was zealous and serueth in Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

59 * Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

60 * Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider thorowe out all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shal not want strength.

62 Feare not ye then the wordes of a sinful ma: for his glorie is but dongue and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, & to motowe he shal not be founde: for he is turned vnto his dult, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts, and shewe your selues men for the Laws for by it shal you obtaine glorie.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsel: giue eare vnto him alway: he shalbe a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, & shal aduenge the inturies of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laied with his fathers,

70 And dyed in the hundredth, fortie & six yere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, & all Israel made great lamentation for him.

1 Then Iudas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brestplate as a gyant, and armed him self, and set the battel in array, and defended the ampe with the swords.

4 In his actes he was like a lyon, and as a lyons whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & foght them out, & burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluacion prospered in his

7 And he griued diuers Kings, but Jacob resoyced by his

8 He went also thorowe the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the

Which when Iudas perceived, he went for the to mete him, and fmote him, & flue him, fo that many fel downe flaine, & the reft fled. So Iudas toke their fpoiles, and toke alfo Apollonius two de, and foght with it all his life long. Now whe Seron a prince of y armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithful, and went forthe to the warre, He faid, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the realme: for I wil go fight with Iudas, & the that are with him, which haue despifed the Kings commandement. So he made him readie to go vp, and there went with him a mightie hofte of the vngodlie to helpe him, & to be aduenged of the children of Ifrael. And when he came nere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Iudas went forthe to mete him with a fmale companie. But when they fawe the armie coming against them, they faid to Iudas, How are we able, being fo fewe, to fight against fo great a multitude, & fo ftrong, fcing we be fo wearie, and haue fasted all this day? Then faid Iudas, It is an cafe thing for many to be flut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a finale companie. For the victorie of the battel ftadeth not in the multitude of y hofte, but the ftrégth cometh from heauen. They come against vs with a cruel and proude multitude, to deftroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs. But we do fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, And God him felf wil deftroie the befo- fore our of fpeaking, he lept fuddenly vpon them: fo was Seron and his hofte deftroied before him. And they purfued them from the going downe of Bethhoro vnto the plaine: where there were flaine eight hundredth men of them, and the refidue fled into the land of the Philiftims. Then the feare & terrour of Iudas & his brethre fel vpon the naciós rounde about, So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles colde tell of the warres of Iudas. But when King Antiochus heard theft tidings, he was angrie in his minde: wherefore he fent forthe, & gathered all y power of his realme a very ftrong armie, And opened his treasurie, and gaue his hofte a yeres wages in hand, commanding the to be readie for a yere for all occafios.

Neuer thefes, when he fawe that the money of his treafures failed, & that the tributes in the countrey were fmale, becaufe of the diffencion, & plagues y he had broght vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time, He feared left he fluide not haue now at the feconde time, as at the firft, for the charges & giftes that he had giue with a liberal hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre paffed the other Kings y were before him. Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to go into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreis, and to gather muche money. So he left Lyfias a noble man and of the Kings blood to ouerfe the Kings bufines, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt, And to bring vp his fonne Antiochus, til he came againe. Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his hofte and elephantes, & gaue him the charge of all things that he wolde haue done, And concerning thofe which dwelt in Iuda and Ierufalem, that he fhulde fend an armie againft them, to deftroy and roote out the power of Ifrael & the remnant of Ierufalem, and to put out their memorial from that place, And to fet ftrangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & parte their lad amog the. And the King toke the halfe of the hofte that remained, & departed from Antiochia his royal citie, in the yere an hhdreth fortie and feueh, and paffed the riuer Euphrates, & went thorow the hie countreis. Then Lyfias chofe Ptolemeus the fonne of Doriminus, & Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the Kings friends, And fent with them fortie thoufand fore men, & feuen thoufand hofemen, to go into the land of Iuda, & to deftroie it, as the King commanded. So they wet forthe with all their power and came and pitched by jEmmaus in the plaine country. Now when the marchants of the country heard the rumour of them, they toke very muche filuer & golde, & feruants, & came into the campe to bye the childre of Ifrael for fclaves, & the ftrengh of Syria & of ftrange nacions ioyned with them. Now when Iudas & his brethren fawe that trouble increafed, and that the hofte drewe nere vnto their borders, cofide ing the Kings wordes, whereby he had commanded to deftroy the people, and vtterly abolifh them, They faid one to another, Let vs redrefe the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie. 44 Then the cogregacio were fone readie Vuuu. ii.

gathered to fight, and to praye, and to desire mercy and compassion.

As for Ierufalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden down, and the strangers kept the forteresse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: & the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased. So they gathered them felues together, and came to Mafpha before Ierufalem: for in Mafpha was place where they praied afore time in Israel. And they fasted that day, and put fackeloth vpon them, and cast afhes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes, And opened the boke of the Law, wherein the heathé foght to paint the lickenes of their idoles, And broght the Priest garments, and the first frutes, and the tithes, and fet there the Nazarites, which accomplished their daies. And they cryed with a loude voyce, towards heauen, faying, What fhall we do with these? and whether fhall we carye them away? For thy Sanctuarie is troden down and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, & broght down. And beholde, the heathé are come against vs to deftroie vs: thou knowest what thigs they imagine against vs. How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs? Then they blewe the trumpets, & cryed with a loude voyce. And after this Iudas ordained captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thou-fands, and captaines ouer hundredths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten. And they commanded them that buylded houfes, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearful, that thei thulde re-turne euerie one to his owne houfe, according to the Law. So the hofte remoued, and pitched vpon the Southfide of Emmaus. And Iudas faid, Arme your felues, and be valiant men, & be readie against the morning to fight with these naciós, which are gathered together against vs, to deftroie vs and our Sanctuarie. For it is better for vs to dye in battel, then to fe the calamities of our people & of our Sanctuarie. Neuertheles as the wil of God is in heaven, fo be it.

when he foun-de no man there, he foght the in the moun-

Iudas fhewed him felf in the field with thre thoufand me, which had nether harnes nor fwordes to their mindes. And thei fawe that the armies of the hea-then were ftrong, and wel

Therefore now let vs crye vnto heauen, and the Lord wil haue

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Iudas soldiers burnt the tentes: (for the smoke that was sene, declared what was done.)

21 When they sawe these things, they were sore afraied, and when they sawe also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field readie to set them selues in array,

22 They sled euerie one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tentes, where he gate muche golde and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sang psalmes, and praised toward the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victorie in that day.

26 Now all the strangers that escaped, came, & tolde Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraied, and discouraged, because suche things came: not vpon Israel as he wolde, nether suche things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yere following, gathered Lysias thre score thousande chosen fue men, and fiue thousande horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into Idumea, and pitched their tentes at Bethsura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And whe he sawe that mightie armie, he praied and said, Blessed be thou, o Sauour of Israel, which didest destroye the assalte of y mightie man by the had of thy seruante Dauid, & gauest the hoste of the straglers into the had of Ionathan, y sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in y hand of thy people of Israel, & let the be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraied, and consume their boldenes & strength, that they may be afflicted at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: the shal all they that knowe thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they joyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 The Lysias, seing his armie put to flight and the manlines of Iudas soldiers, and that they were readie, either to liue or dye valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas & his brethre, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now go vp to clense, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now whe they sawe the Sanctuary layd waste, and the altar defiled, and the dores burnt vp, and the shrubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads,

40 And sel downe to the grounde on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certeine of the men to fight against those which were in y castel, til he had clensed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, suche as delited in the Law,

43 And they clensed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place,

44 And consulted what to do with the al- tar of burnt offerings, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroie it, lest it shulde be a reproche vnto them, be- caufe the heathen had defiled it:
therefo- re they destroyed the altar,

46 And layed vp the stones vpon the mo- taine of the Temple in a convenient pla- ce, til there shulde come a Prophet, to shewe what shulde be done with them.

47 So they toke whole stones according to the Law, and buylded a new altar accor ding to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holie vessels, and brought into the Temple the candelsticke, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of in- cense and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpo the altar, & lighted the lampes which were vpon the candelsticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 Thei set also the shewbread vpon the ta- ble, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the workes that they had begon to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the mo- neth of Chaslu, in the hundreth and eichte and fortieth yere they rose vp betimes in the morning,

53 And offred sacrifice according to the Law, vpo the new altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

the fame day was it made new with fongs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

And all the people fel vpon their faces, worshipping & praising towarde the hea- un him that had giuen the good fucceffe. So they kept the dedication of the altar eight daies, offing burnt offrings with gladnes, & offred facrifices of deliuerance and praife, And decete the forefronte of the Temple with crownes of golde and thields, & dedicated the gates and chambers, & hanged dores vpon them. Thus there was very great gladnes amog the people, and the reproche of the heathen was put away. So Iudas and his brethren with the whole cogregacion of Ifrael ordeined that the daies of dedication of the altar thulde be kept in their feafon from yere to yere, by the space of eight daies, from the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Chafleu, with mirth and gladnes. And at the fame time buylded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and ftrong towers rounde about, left the Gentiles thulde come, and treade it downe, as they had done afore. Therefore they fet a garifon there to kepe it, & fortified Beth-fura to kepe it, that the people might haue a defense against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that go about to deftrie Ifrael, & is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan so He ouerthremeth the citie of Ephron, because they doned him pffage thurwre it. Now when the nacions rounde about heard, that the altar was buylded, & the Sanctuarie renued, as afore, they were fore gricued. Therefore they thoght to deftrio the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to flaye and deftroie the people. Then Iudas foght against the children of Efau in Idumea at 'Arzabathene, becaufe they befieged the Ifraelites, and he fmote them with a great plague, and droue them to ftraites, and toke their fpoiles. He thoght alfo vpo the malice of the chil dren of Bean, which had bene a fuare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they laye in waite for them in the hie way. Wherefore he flut them vp in towers, and befieged them, and deftroied them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fyre, with all that were in them. Afterward, went he against the children of Ammon, where he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine. So he had manie battels with them, but they were deftroyed before him, and fo he difcomfited them,

And toke Gazer with the townes thereof, and fo turned againe into Iudea. Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Ifraelites that were in their quarters, to flay them: but they fled to the caftel of Datheman, And fent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, faying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to deftroie vs, And they make them readie for to come, and to take the fortereffe, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hofte. Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for manie of vs are flaine: And all our brethre that were at Tubin, are flaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and deftroyed there almofte a thoufand men. While thefe letters were yet a reading, beholde, there came other melfengers fro Galile with their clothes rft, which tolde the fame tidi. gs, And faid, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to deftroye them. When Iudas, and the people heard thefe wordes, a great Congregacion came together, to cofulte what they might do for their brethre, that were in trouble, & whome they befieged. Then faid Iudas to Simon his brother, Chufe thee out men, and go & deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan, wil go into the country of Galaad. So he left Iofephus the fonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to kepe the remnant of the hofte in Iudea, And commanded them, faying, Take the ouerfight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntil we come againe. And vnto Simon were giuen thre thou-fand men to go into Galile, and to Iudas eight thoufandmen for the countrey of Galaad. Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the hea- then were difcomfited by him. And he purfued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: & there were flaine of the hea- then almoſte thre thoufand men: fo he to- ke their fpoiles. Thus they refcued them that were in Ga- lile lile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and broght them into Iuda with great ioye.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus alfo, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, and traualled thre dayes iourney in the wilderness,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & tolde the euerie thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that manie of them were besieged in Boforra, & Bofor, in Airmis, Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morow they are appoin ted to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroye them all in one day.

28 So Iuda & his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness towarde Boforra, and wan the citie, and slewe all the males with the edge of the sworde, and to ke all their spoile, and set fyre vpo the citie.

29 And in the night he remoued from thence, and went towarde the fortereffe.

30 And betimes in the morning when thei loked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the forte, and had assalted them.

31 When Iudas sawe that the battel was begon, and that the crye of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great founde, 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he wêt for the behinde them with thre companies, and they blew the trumpets, & cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, & he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almoſte eighte thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, & laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slewe all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fyre vpon it.

36 From thence went he and toke Chasbo, Maged, and Bofor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, & they broght him worde againe, saying, All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is ve rie great,

39 And he hathe hyred the Arabians to hel pe them, and they hane pitched their ten-tes beionde the flood, & are readie to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to mete them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come nere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he wil be to strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyonde the flood, we wil go ouer vnto him, and shal preuaile against him.

42 Now whe Iud is came nere to the flood, he caused the governours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded the, saying, Suffer none to pitche a tent, but let euerie man come to the battel.

43 So he went first ouer towarde them, and all people after him: and all the heathen were discomfired before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Iuda wanne, and burnt the temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the country of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a verie great hoste, to come into the sad of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they colde not passe, nether at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thorowe it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut the selues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable wordes, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorowe your land, that we may go into our owne country, and none shal hurt you: we wil but onely go thorowe on fore: but they wolde not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made thorowe out the hoste, that euerie man shulde assist it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assalted the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slewe all the males with the edge of the sworde, and destroyed it, and toke the spoile thereof, and went thorowe the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorowe, til they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioye, and glad-Vuuu. iii.

nes vnto mount Sion, where they offred burnt offrings, becaufe there were none of them flaine, but came home againe in fafetie.

55 ¶ Now whiles Iudas and Ionathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais,

56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, faid,

57 Let vs get vs a name alfo, and go fight againft the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hofte a commandement and went towarde Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight againſt them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight and putſued vnto the borders of Iuda: and there were ſlaine that day of the people of Iſrael about two thouſand men: ſo y there was a great ouerthrowe among the people of Iſrael,

61 Becauſe they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethre, but thought to do ſome valiant thing.

62 Alſo they came not of the ſtocke of theſe men, by whoſe hands deliuerace was giuen to Iſrael.

63 But the man Iudas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the fight of all Iſrael, and of all the heathen, whereſo- euer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterwarde went Iudas forthe with his brethren, and fought againſt the children of Efau in the Iad toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, & he deſtroyed the caſtel thereof, & burnt the towres thereof round about.

66 Then remoued he to go into the land of the ſtrangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the ſame time were the Priests of the cities ſlaine in y battel, which wolde ſhewe their valiantnes, and went forthe to battel without counfel: and when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers Iad, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fyre the images of their gods, and toke away the spoiles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

Now when King Antiochus trauzzi- led thorow the high countreis, he heard that Elimaiis in the country of Perfia was a citie greatly renounced for riches, filuer and golde,

2 And that there was in it a verie riche te- ple, where as were coverings of golde, cote armoures, and harnes, which Alexandre Kig of Macedonia the sonne of Philippe (y reigned firft in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoile it, but he was not able: for y citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rofe vp againft him in battel, & he fled and departed thence with great hea- uines, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which broght him tidings in the côutrey of Perfia, that the armies that went againft the land of Iuda, were driven away,

6 And that Lyfias, which went forthe firft with a great power, was driven away of the Iewes, and that they were made ftrong by the armour, and power, and diuers fpoyles which they had gotten of the armies who- me they had deftroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abo- minacion, which he had fet vp vpon the altar at Ierufalem, and fenfed the Sactuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-fura his citie.

8 So when the King had heard thefe wor- des, he was aftonifhed, and fore moued: therefore he laid him downe vpô his bed, & fel ficke for verie forowe, becaufe it was not come to paffe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued he manie dayes: for his grief was euer more & more, fo that he fawe he muft nedes dye.

10 Therefore he fent for all his friends, & laid vnto them, The flepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heare faileth for ve- rie care.

11 And I thinke with my self, Into what aduerfitie am I come?
& into what floods of miferie am I fallennow, where as afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly fet by, by reason of my power?

12 And now do I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierufalem: for I toke all the vessels of golde & of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroye the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I knowe that thefe troubles are come vp- on me for the fame cause, and beholde, I muft dye with great forowe in a fran- ge land.

14 Then called he for Philippe, one of his friends, whome he made ruler of all his realme,

15 And gauc him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he fhulde instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, til he might reigne him self.

16 So King Antiochus dyed there in the hundredth, and fortie and ninth yere.

17 ¶ When Lyfias knew, that the King was was dead, he ordained Antiochus his son- ne (whome he had brought vp) to reign in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ier- usalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuarie, and fought alwaies their hurt, and the strengthening of ye heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy the, & called all the people together to besie- ge them.

20 So they came together, and besieged the in the hundred and fifty years, and made instruments to smote and other engins of warre.

21 But certeine of them that were besieged, gate forthe, (vnto whome some vngodlie men of Israel ioyned them selues.)

22 And they went vnto the King, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing judgement, and aduenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene readie to serue thy father, & to go forward in those things, that he appointed, & to obey his commandemets.

24 Therefore they of our nations fell from vs for this cause, and wherefoeuer they founde anie of vs, they slewe them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And thei haue not onely laied hand vp- on vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent the quick- ely, thei wil do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the King heard this, he was ve- rie angrie, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen,

29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hun- dreth thousand fote men, & twentie thou- sand horsemen, and two and thirtie elephantes exercised in barrel.

31 These came through Idumea and drew nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of warre: but thei came out, and burnt them with fyre, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, & remoued the hoste towarde Beth-zacarias ouer against the Kings campe.

33 So the King arose verie carely, & brought the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armies set the selues in array to the battel, and blewe the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephantes for to fight, thei shewed the the blood of grapes and mulberries,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euerie elephant there stode a thousand men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brassie vp of their heads, and vnto euerie beast were ordeined fiue hundred horsemen of the best,

36 Which were readie at all times where- foeuer the beast was: and whetherfoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towres of wood that couered euerie beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, & vpon euerie one was two and thirtie men, that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste to stirre them vp, and to kepe them in the valleis.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lipses of fyre.

40 Thus parte of the Kings armie was spred vpon the hie mountaines, and parte beneath: so they marched forward warely and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyce of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the ratteling of the harnes, were astonished: for the armie was virie great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battel, & thei slewe six hundred men of the Kings armie.

43 Now when Eleazar, the sonne of "Aba- ron, sawe one of the elephates armed with royal harnes, and was more excellent then all ye other beasts, he thought that the King shulde be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he ieoparded him self to de- liuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name,

45 And ranne boldely vnto him through the middes of the hoste, saying on the right hand, and on the left, so that thei departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the elephantes fete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then sel the elephant downe vpon him, & there he dyed.

47 But the other, seing the power of ye King and the fierceness of his armie, departed from them.

48 And the Kings armie went vp to mete them toward Jerusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King toke truce with the that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitales there, and were shut vp therein, & the land had rested,

52 "Thei alfo made engins againft their en- gins, and fought a long feafon.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailles: for it was the feuenth yere, and then they that were in Iuda, & were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the refidue of the ftore,

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came fo vpon the, that they were fcattered euerie ma to his owne place.

55 Now when Lyfias heard that Philippe (whome Antiochus the King, whiles he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antio- chus his fonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Perfia, & Me- dia, and the Kings hofte with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of thigs,

57 He and his hafted, and were ftirred for- warde by them in the caftel to go and tell the King, and the captaines of the 60 So the King and the princes were con- rent, and fent vnto them to make peace, & they receiued it.

61 When the King & the princes had ma- de an othe vnto them, they came vpo this out of the fortereffe.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he fawe that the place was wel defenfed, he brake his othe that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall rounde about.

63 Then departed he in all hafte, and re- turned vnto Antiochia where he founde Philippe hauing dominion of the citie: fo he foght againft him, and toke the citie by force.

IN the hundreth and one and fifieth yere, departed Demetrius the fonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a fewe men vnto a citie of the fea coaft, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the poffeffion of his fathers kigdome, his foldiers toke An- tiochus and Lyfias, and broght them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he faid, Shewe me not their faces.

4 So thei put the to death. Now when De- metrius was fet vpon the throne of his kingdome,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodlie men of Israel, whofe captaine was Alcimus, that wolde haue bene the hie Priest.

6 Thefe men accufeed the people vnto the King, faying, Iudas and his brethren haue flayne all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore fend now fome man, whome thou trufteft, that he maye go and fe all the deftruction, which he hache done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punifh them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chofe Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the realm, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithful vnto the King, and fent him,

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome he made hie Priest, and commanded him to be aduenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and fent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for they fawe that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a companie of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable points.

13 And the "Afideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 For said they, He that is a Priest of the fede of Aarô, is come with this armie: therefore he wil not hurt vs.

15 Thm he spake vnto them peaceably, and fware vnto them, and said, We wil do you no harme, nether your friends:

22 And all fuche as troubled the people reforted vnto him: in fomuche, that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Ifrael.

23 Now when Iudas fawe all the mifchief, that Alcimus and his companie had done amôg the Ifraelites more then the heathé,

24 He went forthe rounde about all the borders of Iudea, and punifhed thofe, that were fallen away, fo that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus fawe that Iudas & his people had gotten the vpper hâd, & knewe that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the King, and accused the of wicked things.

26 Then the King fent Nicanor one of his chief princes, which hated Ifrael deadly, & commanded him, that he fhulde deftroye the people.

27 So Nicanor came to Ierufalem with a great hofte, and fent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendlie wordes, faying, 28 Let there be no warre betwene me, and you: I wil come with fewe men, to fe how ye do, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they faluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheles, it was tolde Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder difceit: therefore he feared him, and wolde not fe his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his co- unfel was bewrayed, he went out to fight againft Iudas, befide Carphafalama.

32 Where there were flaine of Nicanors ho fte about fiue thoufand men: fo they fled vnto the citie of Daud.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto moût Sion, and fome of the Priesth with the El- ders of the people went forthe of the Sanctuarie to falute him peaceably, & to fhew him the burnt offting that was offered for the King.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked the and counted them prophane, and fpake proudly.

35 And fwore in his wrath, faying, If Iudas and his hofte be not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in fafetie, I wil burne vp this houfe. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and ftode before the altar in the Temple, weping, and faying,

37 For fo much as thou, o Lord, hast chosen this House, that thy Name might be called upon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

38 Be aduenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slain by the sword: remember their blasphemies, & suffer them not to continue.

39 When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, & there he met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in 'Adafa with three thousand men where Iudas prayed, saying,

41 O Lord, because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundred, four hundred, and five thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vnto day, that all other may knowe that he hath the favour wickedly against thy Sanctuary, & punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies joined together in battle, the thirteenth day of the month Adar: but Nicanor's hoste was discomfited, and he himself was first slain in the battle.

44 Now when his army saw that Nicanor was slain, they cast away their weapons and fled.

45 But they purfued after the a dayes iour- ney from Adafa vnto Gafera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the cownes of Iudea rounde about, and ruffh'd vpon them, and threwe them from one to another. fo that they all fel by the fworde, & there was not one of them left.

47 Then they toke the fpoyles, and the pray and fmote of Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he helde vp fo proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierufalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnes.

49 And they ordained, to kepe yerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Iuda was in reft a while.

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a verie great iourney, and came into the "S. nat where they spake and said,

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in cables of brafle and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutual fe- lowship.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his hoste had giuen the battel, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his cbief strength with them.

So they went for the by the way that is to- warde Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Messaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it and slewe muche people.

And in the first moneth of the hundreth, siftie and two yere, they layed their siege against Ierusalem.

But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thousand fine men & two thousand horsemen.

Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Elea- sa, & thre thousand chosen men with him.

And when they sawe, that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore a- fraide, and manie conueied them selues out of the hoste, so that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundreth men.

When Iudas sawe that his hoste failed him, and that he must nedes fight, he was sore troubled in minde that he had no time to gather them together, and was dis- couraged.

Neuer theles, he said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and go vp against our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them.

But they wolde haue staied him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seing our brethren are departed: for shal we fight against the, that are so sewe?

Then Iudas said, God forbid, that we shulde do this thing, to sle from them: if our time be come, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

Then the hoste remoued out of the tentes, and stode against them, who had deuised their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threwe with slings, and the archers marched in the forewarde, and they that foght in the forewarde, were all valiant men.

And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drewe nere on bothe sides, & blewe the trumpets.

They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, & the earth shoke at the noyce of the armies, and the battel continued from morning to night.

And when Iudas sawe that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he toke with him all the hardie men,

And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

Now when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discom- fted, they followed Iudas behinde, and the that were with him hard at the heles.

Then was there a sore battel: for many were staine of bothe the parties.

Iudas also him self was killed, and the remnant fled.

So Ionathan and Simon toke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers se- pulchre in the citie of Modin.

And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lameted ma- ny daies, saying,

How is the valiant man fallen which de- liuered Israel!

Concerning the other things of Iudas, bothe the battels and the valiant actes that he did, & of his worthines, they are not wri- ten: for they were very many.

Now after the death of Iudas, wicked Infaph. Anti, men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, & 23. chap. 4 & 5 there arose all suche as gaue them selues to iniquitie.

In those daies was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer them selues with them.

And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

These foght out, and made searche for Iudas friends, and broght them vnto Bacchides, which adueged him self vpon the, and mocked them.

And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was sene among them.

Then came all Iudas friends together, & said vnto Ionathan, Seing thy brother Iudas is dead, & there is none like him to go for the against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and "a-

Or, against the against the of our nacion that are enemies vnto vs,

Therefore, this day we chuse thee that thou maist be our prince and captaine in his place to order our battel.

So Ionathan toke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

But when Bacchides knewe it, he foght for to slay him.

Then Ionathan and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fled into the wilderness of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderftode, he came ouer Iorden with all his hofte vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Ionathan fent his brother Iohn, a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they wolde kepe their baggage which was muche.

36 But the children of 'Ambri came out of Medaba, & toke Iohn, and all that he had, & when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came worde vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great mariage, & broght the bride from 'Medaba with great pompe: for fhe was daughter to one of the no-bleft princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembred Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid them felues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noyce, & muche preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of mufike, and manie weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambu-fhe, rofe vp againft the, & flewe manie of them, and the remnant fled into the moi-taines, fo that they toke all their spoiles.

41 Thus the mariage was turned to mour-ning, and the noyce of their melodie into lamentacion.

42 And fo when they had aduenged the blood of their brother, they turned agai-ne vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Ionathan laid vnto his copanie, Let vs rife now, & fight againft our ene-mies: for it is not to day as in time pafte.

45 Beholde, fi battel is before vs, and behin-de vs, and the water of Iorden on this fide and that fide, and the marife, and foreft, fo fi there is no place for vs to turne afide.

46 Wherefore crye now vnto heauen, that ye may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: fo they ioyned battel.

47 Then Ionathan fretched out his hand to fmire Bacchides: but he turned afide fro him and reculed.

48 Then Ionathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and fwimmed ouer vnto the further bake: but the other wolde not paffe through Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were flaine of Bacchides fide about a thoufand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierufalem, & buylt vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castel of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Beth-horon, and Bethel, and Thammatha, Pha-rathoni, & Tepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, 51 And fet garifons in the, that they might vse their maiice vpon Ifræel.

52 He fortified also the citie Beth-fura, and Gazara, and the castel, & fet a garifon in them with prouifion of vitales.

53 He toke also the chiefeft mens fonnes in the countrey for hoftages, and put them in the castel at Ierufalem to be kept.

54 Afterwarde in the hundred, fiftie and thre yere, in the feconde moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sactuarie fhulde be deftroid, and he pulled downe the monumentes of the Prophetes, and began to deftroy them.

55 But at the fame time Alcimus was pla-gued, and his enterprifes were hindred, & his mouth was ftopped: for he was fmitten with a palfie, & colde no more fpeake, nor giue order concerning his houfe.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great torment at the fame time.

57 And when Bacchides fawe, that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the King, & fo the land of Iuda was in refte two yeres.

58 Then all the, vngodie men helde a coun-fel, faying, Beholde, Ionathan and his com-panie dwell at ease, & without care: where-fore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he wil take them all in one night.

59 So they went and confulted with him.

60 Who arofe and came with a great ho-fte, and fent letters priuely to his adheren-tes, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and thofe that were with him: but they col de not, for their counfel was known vn-to them.

61 And they toke fiftie men of the coun-trey, which were the chief workers of this wickednes, and flewe them.

62 Then Ionathan and Simon with their copanie departed vnto Beth-bafin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it ftrong.

63 Whe Bacchides knewe this, he gathered all his hofte, and fent worde to them that were of Indea.

64 Then came he & laid fieve to Beth-ba-fin, and foght againft it a long feafon, and made infruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simó in the citie, & went forthe into the coun-trey, and came with a certeine number,

66 And flewe Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phaliron in their ten-tes: fo he began to flaye, and increafed in power.

67 Simon alfo and his companie went out of the citie, and burnt vp the infruments of warre,

68 And foght againft Bacchides, and difcö-fited him, and vexed him fore, fo that his counfel and iorney was in vaine.

ked men, that gaue him counsel to come into the country, & slewe many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne country.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadors vnto him, to in-treat of peace with him, & that the prisoners shulde be deliuered. 71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he wolde neuer do him harme all the daies of his life. 72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken afore time out of the lsd of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, nether did he come any more into their borders. 73 Thus the fworde ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodlie men out of Israel.

4 Demetrius defireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 12 Alexander also defireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is fayne. 51 The friendship of Ptolemius & Alexander.

1 IN the hundredth and thre score yere came Alexander the fonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and toke Ptolemais, and they received him, and there he reigned. 2 Now when Demetrius the King heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went for the against him to fight. 3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionatha, with louig wordes, as thogh he wolde preferre him. 4 For he said, We wil first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs. 5 Els he wil remember all the euil that we haue done against him, & against his brethren and his nacion. 6 And so he gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castel, to be deliuered vnto him. 7 Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, and red the letters in the audience of all the people, & of them that were in the castel. 8 Therefore they were fore afraied, because they heard that the King had giue him licence to gather an armie. 9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathan, who restored them to their parents. 10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, & began to buyld, and repaire the citre. 11 And he commanded the workemen to buyld the walles, & the mount Sion rounde about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: & so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euerie man left his place, & went into his owne country. 14 Onely at Beth-fura remained certeine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge. 15 Now when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had indured, 16 He said, Might we finde fuche a misnow therefore we wil make him our friend and confederate. 17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these wordes, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Ionathan fendeth salutation. 19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthie to be our friend. 20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nacion, and to be called the Kings friend: and he sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of golde, that thou maist confider what is for our profite, and kepe friendship towarde vs. 21 So in the feuch moneth of the hundredth and thre score yere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Ionathan put on the holie garment, & gathered an hoste, & prepared many weapons. 22 Which when Demetrius heard, he was matueilous fory, and said, 23 What haue we done, that Alexander ha the preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength? 24 Yet wil I write and exnorte them, and promes them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me. 25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these wordes, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nacions of the Iewes fendeth greeting. 26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant towarde vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad. 27 Now therefore remaine stil, and kepe fidelitie towarde vs, and we wil recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And wil release you of many charges, & giue you rewardes. 29 And now I discharge for your sake all Iewes from tributes, & fre you from the customs of salte, and the crowne taxes, and from the thirde parte of the fede. 30 And fro the halfe of the frute of I trees which is mine owne duette, I so release the 46 ¶ But when Ionathan & the people heard thefe wordes, they gaue no credit vnto the, nether receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednes that he had done in Ifrael, and how fore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the firft that had intreated of true peace with them, and fo were confederat with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hofte, & camped ouer againft Demetrius.

49 So the two Kings ioyned battel, but De- metrius hofte fled, and Alexander purfued him, and preuailed againft them.

50 So that fore battel continued til the fun- ne went downe, and Demetrius was flaine the fame day.

Ptolemais that we may fe one another, and that I may make thee my fonne in law, according to thy defire.

57 So Ptolemeus wêt out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, & came vnto Ptole- mais in the hüdreth threfcore & two yere,

58 Where King Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and maried them at Ptolemais with great glorie, as the maner of Kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote King Alexander vnto Io- nathan, that he fhulde come and mete him.

60 So he went honorably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two Kings, and gaue them them great prefents of fluer and golde, and to their friends, and founde fauour in their fight.

61 And there affembled certeine peftilent fellowes of Ifrael, & wicked men to accufe him: but the King wolde not heare them.

62 And the King commanded that they fhulde take of the garments of Ionathan, & clothe him in purple: and fo they did:
& the King appointed him to fit by him,

63 And faid vnto his princes, Go with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamacion, that no man complaine againft him of anie matter, & that no man trouble him for anie maner of caufe.

64 So when his accufers fawe his honour ac cording as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chief friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierufalem with peace and gladnes.

67 In the hundreth, thre feore & fiue yere came Demetrius the fonne of Demetrius from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof whe King Alexander heard, he was verie forie, and returned vnto An- tiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius y gouernour of Celofyria, who gathered a great hoft, and camped in Iamnia, and fent vnto Ionathan the hie Prieft, faying, 70 Dareft thou, being but alone, lift vp thy felf againft vs: and I am laughed at, and reproched, becaufe of thee: now therefore why doeft thou vant thy felf againft vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou truft in thine owne ftrengh, come downe to vs into the plai- ne field & there let vs trye the matter together: for I haue the ftrengh of cities.

72 Afke and learne who I am, and thei fhall take my parte: and they fhall tell thee that your fote is not able to ftand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twife cha- fed in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide fo great an hofte of horfemen and foteme in the plaine, where is nether ftone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Ionathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his mide: whe- refore he chofe ten thoufand men, and went out of Ierufalem, & Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they fhut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garifon was in Ioppe.

76 Then they foght againft it, and they that were in the citie, for verie feare let him in: fo Ionathan wan Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, toke thre thoufand horfeme with a great hofte office men & went towarde Azotus, as thogh he wolde go forwarde, & came immediatly into y plaine field, becaufe he had fo manie horfemen, and put his truft in them.

78 So Ionathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie ffirmifhed with his arriete bande.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behind them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behind him, and though they had compassed in his host, & shot darts at the people from the morning to the evening,

81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, & set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, & they fled: for the horsemen were scattered in the field,

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idol, that they might there save themselves.

84 But Jonathan set fire upon Azotus and all the cities round about it, & took their spoils, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slain and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan removed the host from thence, and camped by Afealon, where the men of the city came forth, & met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his host againe to Ierusalem with great spoils.

88 And when King Alexander heard thefe things, he bega to do Jonathan more ho- nour,

89 And fent him a colar of golde, as the v- fe is to be giuen vnto fuche as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him alfo Accaron, with the borders thereof in poffeffion.

3 Now when he entered into the citic of Ptolemais, he left bands and garrisons in euerie citic.

4 And when he came nere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagó that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbes thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battel: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he shulde passe.

5 And thei tolde the King what Ionathan had done, to the intet: thei might get him euil wil: but the King helde his peace.

6 And Ionathan met the King with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and laye there.

7 So when Ionathan had gone with y King vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Ierufalem.

8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpo the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander,

9 ¶ And sent ambaffadours vnto King Demetrius, sayig, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I wil giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hathe, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slave me.

11 Thus he scandered Alexander, as one that shulde desire his realme.

12 And he toke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought for the his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote of Alexanders head, & sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, King Ptolemeus dyed: and thei that were in the holdes, were slayne one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hudreth, thre score and seventh yere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Ionathan them that were in Iudea, to laye siege vnto the castle, which was at Ierufalem, and they made manie instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certeine vngodlie persones (which hated their owne people) vnto King Demetrius, and tolde him that Ionathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angrie, and immediately came vnto Ptolemais, & wrote vnto Ionathan, that he shulde laye no more siege vnto it, but that he shulde mete him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheles when Ionathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: he chose also certeine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put him self in danger,

24 And toke with him siluer and golde, and apparel, and diuerse presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and founde fauour in his sight.

25 And thogh certeine vngodlie men of his owne nacion had made complaintes vpon him,

26 Yet the King intreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends,

27 And confirmed him in the hie priesthode with all the honorable things, that he had afore, & made him his chief fried.

28 Ionathan also desired the King, that he wolde make Iudea fre with the thre gouernemets, & the countrey of Samaria, & Ionathan promised him thre hudreth talents.

29 Whereunto the King consented, & gaue Ionathan writing of the same, containing these words, 30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nacion of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 We send you here a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Lathenes concerning you, that ye shulde se it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lathenes his father sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nacion of the Iewes kepe vnto vs, and for their good wil towards vs we are determined to do them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to the the coasts of Iudea with the thre gouernements Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that apperteineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierufalem: bothe concerning the paiments which the King toke yerely aforetime, bothe for the frutes of the earth, & for the frutes of the trees.

35 As for the other things apperteineth vnto vs of the tenths & tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customs of salte, & crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge the of all fro hence forth.

36 And nothing hereto shalbe reuoked fro this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore se that ye make a copie of these things, and deliuct it vnto Ionathā, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the King saw: that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his horse, eustrie man to his owne peace, except ceterine bandes of strangers, whome he brought from the yles of the hea then: wherefore all his fathers horse hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders parte afore, which whe he saw that all y horse murmured against Demetrius, he went to 'Simalcue the Ara- bian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, 40 And lay sore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might rei- gne in his fathers stead: he tolde him also what great euil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there, a long season.

41 Also Ionathan sent vnto King Deme- trius to driue them out which were in the castel at Ierusalem, and those that were in the forteresses; for they foght against Is- rael.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathā, saying, I wil not onely do these things for thee & thy nacion, but if opportunitie serue, I wil honour thee and thy nacion.

43 Now therefore thou shalt do me a plea- sure, if thou wilt send me me to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Ionathā sent him thre thousand strōg men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was verie glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth, and twentie thousand men, ga- thered them together in the middes of the citie, & wolde haue slaine the King.

46 But the King fled into the palace, & the citzens kept the streets of the citie, and beganne to fight.

47 Then the King called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroade through the citie,

48 And slewe the same day an hudreth thou sand, and set fyre vpon the citie, and toke many spoiles in that day, & deliuered the King.

49 So when the citizens sawe that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they them selues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the King, saying,

50 'Grane vs peace, and let the Iewes ecape from vexing vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honored before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius fate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheles he dissembled in all thareuer he spake, and withdrew him self from Ionathan, nether did he rewarde him according to the benefices which he had done for him, but troubled him verie sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, & was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the me of warre, whome Demetrius had scattered, and they foght against him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon toke the 'beastes', and wan 'Or, etphans'.
Antiochia.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Iona- than, saying, I appoint thee to be the chief Priest, and make thee rulevouet the foure gouetnements, that thou maist be a friend of the Kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drin- ke in golde, and to weare purple, & to ha- ue a colar of golde.

59 He made his brother Simon also captai- ne fro the coastes of Tyros vnto the bor- ders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went for the and passed through the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vn to him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Acalon, & they of the citie recruded him honorably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: where- fore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fyre, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and toke of the sonnes of the chief men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went through the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius prices were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 He came against them, & left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and foght against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, and afterwards put them out from thence, and toke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste came to the water of Ganefar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

bushments for him in the mountains.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans fide, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias, the sonne of "Abfalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hostel."

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth upon his head, and prayed,

72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, sawe this, they turned againe vnto him, & helped him to followe after all vnto their tences at Cades, and these they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, & Jonathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

1 Jonathan now seeing that the time was mete for him, those certe me men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the hie Priest and the nacion of the Lewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe friendship with you, and the bonde of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romaines gaue them fre pasports, that men shulde lead them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians,

6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nacion, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Lewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye wolde be our brethren, as the copie here vnder writen speciifieth.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour ho notably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mencion made of the bonde of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we nede no fische writings: for we haue the holy boks in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheles we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhode and friendship, lest we shulde be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feastes and other daies appointed when we offre sacrifices and prayers, as it is mete and convenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles & warres, so that the Kings rounde about vs haue fought against vs,

14 Yet wolde we not be grievous vnto you, nor to other of our cofederates & friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hathe foccoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sent them vnto the Romaines, for to renewe the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to go vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, coocerning the renewing of our brotherhode.

18 And now ye shal do vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.

19 And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is founde in writing, that the Spartias and Lewes are brethren, and come out of the generacion of Abraham.

22 And now for somuche as this is come to our knowledge, ye shal do wel, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs, we haue writen vnto you, that your cattel and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 Now when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore,

25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue the not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tetes, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, whe the sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commanded his men to watche, and to be in armer ready to fight all the night, & sent watchmen rounde about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the battel, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, hearts, and kindled fyres in their tentes, and fled away.

Neuertheles Ionathan and his companie knewe it not til the morning: for thei sawe the fyres burning.

Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he colde not ouertae them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

So Ionathā turned to the Arabiās, which were called Zabedei, and flewe them, and toke their spoile.

He proceeded further also, and came vnto Damafcus, and went through all the country.

But Simon his brother went forthe, and came to Afcalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

For he heard that they wolde deliuer the holde to them that toke Demetrius parte: wherefore he set a garifon there to kepe it.

After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuifed with them for to buyld vp the strong holdes in Iudea,

And to make the walles of Ierufalem hier, and to make a great mount betwixt the castel and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men shulde nether bye, nor fel in it.

So they came together to buyld vp the citie: for parte of the wall vpon the broke of the Eift fide was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

Simon also fet vp Adida in Sephela, & made it strong with gates and barres.

In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Alia, and to be crowned when he had flaine the King Antiochus.

But he was afraied that Ionathan wolde not suffer him, but fight againft him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, and to kil him: fo he departed, and came vnto Bethſan.

Then went Ionathā forthe againft him to the battel with fortie thouſand choſen men, and came vnto Bethſan.

But when Tryphon ſawe that Ionathan came with ſo great an hoſte, he durſt not lay hand vpon him,

But receiued him honorably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewardes, and comanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to him ſelf,

And ſaid vnto Ionathan, Why haſt thou cauſed this people to take ſuche trauail, ſeing there is no warre betwe-ne vs?

Therefore ſend them now home againe, and chufe certaine men to wait vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I wil giue it thee, with the other ſtrong holdes, and the other garifons, and all them that haue the charge of the comune affaires: ſo wil I returne, & departe: for this is the cauſe of my coming.

Jonathan beleued him, & did as he laid, and sent away his hofte, which went into the land of Iuda,

And reteined but thre thousand with him, whereof he sent two thoufand into Ga lile, & one thousand went with him self.

Now affone as Ionathā entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais fhut the gates, and toke him, and flewe all them with the fworde, that came in with him.

Then sent Tryphon an hofte of foremen, & horfemen into Galile, & into the great plaine, to deftroie all Ionathās com panie.

But when they knewe that Ionathā was taken, and flaine, and thofe that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forthe againft them readie to the battel.

But when thei which followed vpon the, fawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Ifrael made great lamentacion.

For all the heathē that were round about them, foght to deftroie them.

For they laid, Nowe haue they no captaine, nor anie man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight againft them, and roote out their memorie from amōg men.

And gaue them exhortacion, faying, Ye knowe what great things I, & my brethre, & my fathers houle haue done for y Law, and the Sanctuarie, and the battels, & troubles that we haue fene.

By reafon whereof all my brethren are flaine for Ifraels fake, and I am left alone.

Now therefore God forbide, that I fhulde fpare mine owne life in anie time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

gether to deftroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing thefe wordes the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, fayig, Thou fhalcbe our captaine in ftead of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatfoeuer thou commandeft vs, we wil do it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making hafte to finift the walles of Ierufalem, and for trifed it rounde about.

11 Then fent he Ionathan the fonne of Abfalomus with a great hofte vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, & remained there him felf.

12 Tryphon alfo removed from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the lad of Iuda, & Ionathá was with him as prifoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tentes at Addidis vpon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon ftoode vp in ftead of his brother Ionathan, & that he wolde fight againft him, he fent meffengers vnto him, faying,

15 Where as we haue kept Ionathá thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the Kings account cōcetning the bufines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore fend now an hundred talents of filuer, & his two fonnes for hoftages, y when he is letten forth, he wil not turne from vs, and we wil fend him againe.

17 Neuertheles Simó kntwe that he diffem bled in his wordes, yet commanded he the money and children to be deliucred vnto him, left he fhulde be in greater hatred of the people of Ifrael.

18 Who might haue faid, Because he fent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.

19 So he fent the children and an hundred talents: but he diffembled, and wolde not let Ionathan go.

20 ¶ Afterwarde came Tryphon into the land to deftroie it, & went rounde about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wherefoeuer thei went, thether went Simó and his hofte.

21 Now they that were in the castel, fent meffengers vnto Tryphon, that he fhulde make hafte to come by the wilderness, & to fend them vitailles.

22 So Tryphon made readie all his horfe-men: but the fame night fell a very great fnowe, fo that he came not, because of the fnowe: but he removed and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came nere to Baframa, he flewe Jonathan and he was buryed there.

24 So Tryphon returned, & went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then fent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, & they buryed him in Modin his fathers cities.

26 And all Ifrael bewailed him with great lamēracion, & mourned for him veric lōg.

27 And Simon made vpon the fepulchre of his father & his brethren, a buylding high to loke vnto, of hewen ftone behinde and before,

28 And fet vp feuen pillars vpon it, one a-gainft another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren,

29 And fet great pillers round about them, and fet armes vpon the pillers for a perpetual memorie, and carued fhippes befi-de the armes, that they might be fene of men failing in the fea.

30 This fepulchre which he made at Modin, ftandeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon wēt forthe with the yong King Antiochus, he flewe him traiteroufly, 32 And reigned in his ftead, and crowned him felf King of Affia, and broght a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon alfo buylte vp the caftels of Iudea, and compaffed them about with high towers, & great walles, euen with towers, and gates and barres, and laid vp vitales in the ftrong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chofe certeine men and fent them to King Demetrius, that he wolde difcharge the lad: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 D E M E T R I V S the King vnto Simon the high Prieft, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes fendeth grcting.

37 The golden crowne, and 'precious ftone that ye fent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are readie to make a ftedf aft peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you fre.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, fhalbe ftable: the ftrong holdes which ye haue buylded, fhalbe your owne.

39 Alfo we forgiue the ouerfights, and fautes cōmitted vnto this day, and the crowne taxe that ye oght vs: and where as was anie other tribute in Ierufalem, it fhalbe now no tribute.

40 And they that are mete among you to be writen with our men, let them be writē vp, that there may be peace be owne vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathē was takē frō Ifrael in the hundreth, & feuentie yere.

42 And the people of Ifrael began to write in their letters, & publike infruments, IN THE FIRST yere of Simó, the high and chief Prieft, gouernout, and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it rounde about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approached nere the citie, and bet a towr, and toke it.

44 So thei that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie,

45 In so much that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climbed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, besieching Simon to grant them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednes, but according to thy mercie.

47 Then Simon pitied them, and wolde fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and clensed the houfes, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with pfalmes and thanksfiguing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set fuche man in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and buylded there a dwelling place for him self.

49 Now, when they in the castel at Ierufalem were kept, that they colde not come forthe nor go into the coftrey, nether bye nor fel, they were very hungrie, and manie of them were famished to death,

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthines.

51 And upon the thre, and twentieth day of the seconde moneth in the hundredth, seuentie and one yeere, they entered into it with thanksgiving, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbales, and with viols, and with psalms, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordeined that the same day shulde be kept euerie yeere with gladnes.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where he dwelt himself with his companie.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man, he made him captain of all the hostes, & caused him to dwell in Gazaris.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius is overcome of Antiochus. 11 Simon being captain, there is great quietnes in Israel. 12 The covenants of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

1 In the hundredth, seuentie and two yeere gathered King Demetrius his hostes, & departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arfaces the King of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went, and ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and toke him, and broght him to Arfaces, which kept him in warde.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he foght the welth of his nacion: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreis.

7 He gathered vp manie of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castel, which he clesed from filthines, & there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euerie man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her trutes, & the trees gaue their frute.

9 The Elders fate in the opé places, & consulted altogether for the commune welth, and the yong me were honorably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided vitales for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renoumed vnto the end of the worlde.

11 He made peace thorow out the land, and Israel had perice mirth and ioye.

12 For euerie ma fate vnder his vine, & the fig trees, & there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the Kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to se the Law kept, and he toke away the vngodlie, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sactuarie, and encreased the vessels of the Temple.

16 Whe the Romains heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Ionathan was dead, they were very forie.

17 But whe they heard, that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his steade, & how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it,

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brass, to renewe the friendship, and bonde of loue, which they had made with Iudas & Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were red before the congregation at Ierufalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartias sent,

20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

& honour, we were glad of their coming,

21 And haue registred their ambaffage in y publike recordes in this maner, Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iafon the Iewes ambaffadours ca- me vnto vs, to renewe amitie with vs.

23 And it pleafed the people, that the men fhulde be honorably intreated, and that the copie of their ambaffage fhulde be re-giftred in the publike recordes, that it might be for a memorial vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the fame was sent to Simon the chief Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pounde weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstode, they said, What thanks shal we recompense again vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue established Israel, and overcome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of braasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentieth day of the moneth Elul in the hundred, seventie and two yere, in the thirde yere of Simon the high Priest.

28 In Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nacion, and of the Elders of the countrei, we wolde signifie vnto you, y manie battels haue bene foughten in our countrey.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iareb) and his brethren put them selues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nacion, that their Sanctuarie, and Law might be maintained, & did their nacion great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nacion together, and became their high Priest, and is laid with his people.

31 After that wolde their enemies haue invaded their country, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32 Then Simon refitted them, & fought for his nacion, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nacion, and gave them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Beth-fura that lyeth upon the borders of Iudea (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lyeth upon the sea, and Gazara that bordreth upon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessarie for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people sawe the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glorie he thought to bring his nacion unto, they made him their gouernour, and the chief Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprighnes, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nacion, and that fought by all meanes to exalte his people.

36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Daudid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castel, out of the which they wēt, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and citie, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his high priefthode for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friēds, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, & that they honorably receiued Simons ambassadours,

41 And that the Iewes, & Priests contented, that Simon shulde be their prince, & high Priest perpetually, til God raised vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he shulde be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortereffes, and that shulde make provision for the holie things,

43 And that he shulde be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the coun- trey shulde be made in his name, and that he shulde be clothed in purple, and wear e golde,

44 And that it shulde not be lawful for anie of the people or Priests to brake anie of these things, or to wilhtand his wordes, or to call anie congregacion in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a colar of gold:

45 And if anie did contrarie to these things or brake anie of them, he shulde be pu- nished.

46 So it pleafed all the people to age that it shulde be done to Simon according vn- to these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, & the prince of the Iewes, and of the Priests, and to be the chief of all.

48 And they commanded to fet vp this wri- ting in tables of braffe, and to fasten it to the wall that compaffed the Sanctuarie in an open place,

2 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simfi 11 Tryphon u purfued. 12 The Romans write lettres vnto Kings and nacion on the defence of the Lewes. 27 Antiochus reffing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

1 M O couer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent lettres from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Lewes, and to all the nacion,

2 Cfteining these wordes, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, & to the nacion of the Lewes fendeth gretig.

3 For so muche as certeine pestilent men haue vsurped fy kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the realme againe, and to reftore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may go thorowe the countrey, & be aduenged of them, which haue destroued our countrey, and waisted manie cities in the realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitours haue discharged thee,
and all the palmnts, whereof they haue releafed thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne ftampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierufalem, and the Sanctuarie be fie, and that all the weapons, that thou haft prepared, and the fortereffes, which thou haft buylded, & kepeft in thine hafs, fhallbe thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that fhallbe due vnto fy King, I forgive it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we wil giue thee, & thy nacion & the Temple great honour, fo that your honor fhallbe knowen thorowe out the worlde.

10 In the hüdreth, feuentie & foure yere, went Antiochus vnto his fathers land, and all the bandes came together vnto him, fo that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the King Antiochus purfued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lyeth by the fea fide.

12 For he fawe that troubles were towarde him, and that the armie had forlaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus againft Dora with an hundeeth and twentie thoufand fighting men, and eight thoufand horfemen.

14 So he compaffed the citie about, and the fhippes came by the fea. Thus they preffed the citie by land, & by fea, in fo much that thei fuffered no man to go in nor out.

15 In the meane feafon came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing lettres writen vnto the Kings and countreis, wherein w. re contained thefe wordes, 16 LVCIVS THE Conful of Rome vnto King Ptolemeus fendeth gretting.

17 The ambaffadours of fy Lewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the hie Prielt, and from the people of the Lewes to renue friendfhip, and the bonde of loue,

18 Who haue broght a fhield of golde weying a thoufand pounce.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the Kings and countreis, that they fhulde not go about to hurt them, nor to fight againft them, nor their cities, nor their countreie, nether to mainteine their enemies againft them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the fhield.

21 If therefore there be anie peftiler felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Prielt, that he maye punifh them according to their owne Law.

22 The fame things were writen to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes and to Arfaces, 23 And to all countreis, as Samfpames, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Mindus and to Sicion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycra, and to Halicarnasus, and to Rhodus, and to Phafelis, and to Cos, and to Siden, and to Corryna, and to Gndon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they fent a copie of them to Simon the hie Prieft.

25 So Antiochus the King caped againft Dora the feconde time euer readie to take it, and made diuers engins of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he colde nether go in nor out.

26 The Simon fent him two thoufand chofen men to helpe him with filuer & golde, and mucche furniture.

27 Neuertheles, he wolde not receiue the, but brake all the couenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe him felf from him,

28 And fent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, laying, Ye withholde Ioppe, and Gazara with the caftle that is at Ierufalem, the citie of my realme, 29 Whofe borders ye haue deftroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernement of manie places of my kigdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tribures of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without borders of Iudea,

Or els giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of filuer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we wil come, and fight against you.

So Athenobius the Kings friend came to Ierusalem, & when he sawe the honour of Simon, and the cubbert of golde and filuer plate, and so great preparacion, he was astonished, and tolde him the Kings message.

Then answered Simon, and said vnto him, We haue nether taken other mens lads, nor withholden that which apperteineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certeine time.

But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

And whereas thou requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and through our countrey, yet wil we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one worde,

But turned againe angrie vnto the King, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had fene: and the King was veric angrie.

In the meane time fled Tryphon by shippe vnto Orthofias.

Then the King made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him baides of foremen and horsfemen,

And comanded him to remoue fy hofte rowarde Iudea, and to buylde vp Cedron, & to fortifie the gates, & to warre against the people: but fy King purftied Tryphon.

So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, and to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prifoners, & to flay them.

And he buylte vp Cedron, where he fet horsfemen and garfions, that they might make outrodes by the waies of Iudea, as the King had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hofte is put to fight by the fonnes of Simon. 1) Ptolemeus the fonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet. 2) Iohn killeth them that lye in waste for his life.

I Hen came Iohn vp from Gazara, & tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against fy enemies of Israel, & the matters haue had good success vnder our hands, & we haue deliuered Israel often times.

But I am now olde, & ye by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in stead of me, & my brother, & go forth & fight for our nation, & the helpe of heauen be with you.

So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went for the against Cendebeus, & rested at Modin.

In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: & beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them bothe of foreme, & horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afrayed to go ouer the riuer, he went ouer firft him felf, and the men feing him, paffed through after him.

Then he deuided his men, & fet the horfemen in the middes of the f. temen.

For their enemies horfemen were verie manie: but when thei blewe the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hofte, whereof manie were flayne, & the remnant gate them to the fortereffe.

Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, til he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had buylt.

Alfo thei fled vnto the rowres, that were in the fields of Azotus, and chofe did Iohn burne with fyrethus were there flaine two thoufand me of them: fo he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemeus the fonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of filuer and golde.

(For he had married the daughter of the hie Prifet.)

Therefore he waxed proude in his minde, and thought to rule the land, & thought to flay Simon and his fonnes by deceit.

Now as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, & ftudied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Matrathias, and Iudas his fonnes in the hundreth, feuentie & feuen yere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

The fhe fonne of Abubus receiued them by treafon into a little holde, called Dochus, which he had buylte, where he made them a great banket, and had hid men there.

So when Simon and his fannes had made good chere, Ptolemeus ftode vp with his men, and toke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket houfe, and flewe him with his two fannes, and certeine of his feruants.

Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euil for good.

Then wrote Ptolemeus thfe things and fent to the King, that he might find him an holte to helpe him, & fo wolde deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he wolde giue the silver, and golde and rewardes. And to Ierusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple. But one ranne before, and tolde John in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slain, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him. When he heard this, he was fore aftonished, & laid hands of them that were come to slay him, and sleewe them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him. Cocerning other things of John, boche of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaved him self manfully) of the buylding of walles which he made, and other of his dedes, Beholde, they are written in the chroni-nicles of his priesthode, fro the time, that he was made high Priest after his father.

CHAP. I.

An epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent once them that dwelt in Egypt, where they exhorte them to give thanks for the death of Antochus. 19 of the fyre that was hid in the pette. 24 The prayer of Nemias. The brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, & they y are in the country of Iudea, vnto y brethren the Iewes, that are thoreout Egypt, send salu-tation, and profferite. God be gracious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithful seruants, And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to do his wil with a whole heart and with a willing mind, And open your hearts in his Law, and commandements, and send you peace, And he are your prayers, and be reconci-led with you, and neuer forfake you in time of trouble. Thus now we praye here for you. When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth, threfore and nine yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in thofe yeres, after that Iason, and his companie departed out of the holie land and kingdome, And burnt the porche, and shed innocent blood.

Then we praid vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offred sacrifices and fine floure, and lighted the lampes, and fet for the the bread. Now therefore kepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Challeu. In the hundredth, fourfere and eight yere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsel and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeus master, which is of the flocke of the announced

Priests, & to the Iewes that are in Egypt, fendeth greing and helth. In fo moche as God hathe deliuered vs from great perils, we thake him highly, as thoghe we had ouercome the King.
For he broght them into Persia by hea- pes, that foght against the holie citie. For albeit the captaine, and the armie, that was with him, femed inuncible, yet they were slain in the temple of Nanea, by the difceit of Nanea Priests. For Antiochus, as thoghe he wolde dwell with her, came thether, he, and his friends with him, to receive money under the title of a dowrie.
But when the Priests of Nanea had laid it forthe, and he was entred with a finale companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in. And by opening a priuie dore of the vaute, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine & his, and hauing bru-fed them in pieces, they cut of their heads & threwe the to thofe that were without. God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked. Whereas we are now purposed to kepe y purification of the Teple vpon the fiue & twete day of y moneth Challeu, we thought it neceffare to certifie you thereof, y ye alfo might kepe the feast of y Tabernacles, & of the fyre which was given vs when Nce mias offred sacrifice, after y he had buylt the Temple, and the altar. For whe as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, y Priests, which foght the honor of God, toke the fyre of the altar priuely, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie & 10.2. in y bottom, & therein they kept it, fo that the place was vnknowen vnto euerie ma. Now after manie yeres when it pleased God that Nemias shulde be sent from the King of Persia, he fene of y pofteritie of Zzzz.ii.

those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fyre, and as they colde vs, they founde no fyre, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to draweit vp, and to bring it: and when the things apperteinig to the sacrifices were broght, Neemias commanded the Priests to sprin kle the wood, and the things laid thereup o with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne thone, which afore was hid in the cloude, there was a great fyre kindled, so that euerie man marueiled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearful, and strong, & righteous, and merciful, and the onelie and gracious King,

25 Onely liberal, onely iuste and almightie and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Receive the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preferue thine owne porcion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from viz: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: Ioke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may knowe that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride do vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holie place *as Moyses harhe spoken.

30 And the Priests sang psalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which whe it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was known, it was tolde the King of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fyre, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34 The King tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holie.

35 And to them that the King favoured, he gaue and bestowed manie gifts.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but manie men call it Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

a How Ieremia had the tabernacle, the Arke, and the altar in the bil. 23 Of the five bales of Latin contained in one.

b It is founde also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commanded them, which were caried away, to take fyre, as was declared, & as the Prophet commanded the that were led into capitulite,

2 * Giuing them a Law that they shulde baruc. not forget the commandemets of y Lord, & that they shulde not erre in their mindes, when they sawe images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and suche other things commanded he them, and exhorted them that they shuld not let y Law go out of their hearts.

4 It is writen also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and follow him: & when he came vp into y mountaine where Moyses went vp, *and sawe the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went for the, and founde an hollowe caue, wherein he laid the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the dore.

6 And there came certeine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they colde not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceived, he reprovued them, saying, As for that place, it shalbe unknown, vntil the time that God gather his people together againe, & that mercie be shewed.

8 The shal the Lord shewe the these things, and the manestie of the Lord shal appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as*when Salomó desired, that the place might be honorably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that he, being a wife man, offered the sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fyre came downe from heaué, & consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, the fyre came downe fro heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses said, Because the sinoffring was not eaten, therefore is it consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight days.

13 These things also are declared in the writings, and registers of Neemias, and how he made a librarie, and how he gathered the actes of the Kings, & of the Prophets, and the actes of David, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holie gifts.

14 Even so Iudas also gathered all things that came to pass by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if ye haue nede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Where as we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue writen vnto you, and ye shal do wel, if ye kepe the same dayes.

18 As he promised in the Law, will shortly have mercy vpo vs, & gather vs together from under the heaven into his holie place: for he hathe faued vs from great perils, and hathe clenfied the place. As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, & his brethren, the purification of the great Tfeple, and the dedication of the altar, And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his fonne, And the manifest fignes, that came fro heauen vnto thofe, which manfully fto de for the Iewes religio: (for thoghthey were but fewe, yet they rane through whole coftreis, and purfued the barbarous armies, And repaired the Tfeple that was renoumed thorow out all the worlde, and deliuered the citie, and eftablifhed the Lawes, that were like to be abolifhed, becaufe the Lord was merciful vnto the w all lenitie) We wil afflay to abh. idge in one volume thofe things, that Iafon the Cyrenean hathe declared in fiue bokes. For confidering the wonderful nomber, & the difficultie that thei haue that wolde be occupied in the rehearfal of ftories, becaufe of the diuerfitie of the mattes, We haue indeuored, that they that wolde read, might haue pleafure, and that thei which are ftudious, might eafily kepe them in memorie, & that whofoeuer read them, might haue profite. 26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no cafe thing to make this abbridgement, but required both the Leauing to the autor the exact diligence of euerie particular, we wil labour to go forward according to the prefcript order of an abbridgement. For as he that wil buyde a newe houfe, muft prouide for the whole buylding, but he that feteth out y plat or goeth about to painte it, feareth but onely what is comfie for the decking thereof: 30 Euen fo I thinke for vs, that it apperteineth to the firft writer of a ftorie to enter depely into it, and to make mencion of all things, and to be curious in euerie parte. But it is permitted to him that wil fhorten it, to vfe fewe wordes, and to auoyde thofe things that are curious therein. Here then wil we beginne the ftorie, adding thus muche to our former wordes, that it is but a foolifh thing to abonde in wordes before the ftorie, and to be fhorte in the ftorie.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vittereth what treafure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is fente to take them away. 26 He is ftricken of God and healed as the prayer of Onias.

What time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very wel kept, becaufe of the godlines of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednes, It came to paffe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great giftes. In fo much that Seleuchus King of Asia of his owne rentes, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices. But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the iniquitie committed in the citie. And whe he colde not ouercome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thrafeas, which then was gouernour of Coelofyria and Phenice, And tolde him that the treasurie in Ierufale was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into y Kings hands. Now whe Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the King chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money. 8 Immediately Heliodorus toke his iourney as though he wolde visite the cities of Coelofyria & Phenice, but in effect to fulfil the Kings purpose. So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, & shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so in dede. Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were fuche things laide vp by y widdowes and fatherles, And that a certeine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all there were but foure hundredth talents of filuer, and two hundredth of golde, And that it were altogether vnpossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of truft to the holines of the place and Temple, which is honored thorowe the whole worlde for holines & integritie. But Heliodorus becaufe of the Kings co mandemet giuen him, faid that in any wife it muft be brought into y Kings treafurie.

Virtue of the prouifion.

II. Maccabees.

14 So he appointed a day, and went into take order for these things: then there was no smale grief thorn out the whole citie.

15 For y Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they shulde be safely preferued for suche as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then thei that looked the high Priest in the face, were woundgd in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the forowe of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare & trebling of the bodie, that it was manifest to the that looked vpon him, what forowe he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the comune prayer, because y place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with skeeloth vnder their breastes, filled the streets, and the virgines that were kept in, ranne some to the gates and some to the walles, & others loked out of the windowes.

20 And all helde vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to se the multitude that fell downe of all fortes, and the expectation of the high Priest being in suche anguish.

22 Therefore thei called vpo the almightie Lord that he wolde kepe safe and sure the things, which were layed vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheles, the thing y Heliodorus was determined to do, that did he performe.

24 And as he & his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, he that is the Lord of the spirits, & of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all thei which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible ma sitting vpon him, mofte richely barbed, and he ranne fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his fore fete, & it semed that he that fate vpon the horse, had harnes of golde.

26 Moreover, there appeared two yong me, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comelie in apparel, which stode by him on ether side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him manie fore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto the grounde, and was couered with great darkenes: but they that were with him, toke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great copanie, & manie souldiers into y said treasurie, was borne out: for he colde not helpe him self with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was domme by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and helth.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honored his owne place:
for the Teple which a little afore was ful of feare and trouble, when the almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioye and gladnes.

31 Then streight wayes certeine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he wolde call vpo the mofte High to grant him his life, which lay readie to giue vp the golfe.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euil, he offered a sacrifice for the helth of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stode beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias y hie Priest great thanks: for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life.

34 And seing that thou hast bene scourged fro heauen, declare vnto all me the mightie power of God: & when they had spoke these wordes, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had granted him his life, and thanked Onias, & went againe with his hoste to the King.

36 Then testified he vnto euerie man of the great workes of God that he had sene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were mete to be sent yet once againe to Jerusalem, he said,

38 If thou hast anie enemie or traitor, send him therber, & thou shalt receiue him wel scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no double, there is a special power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on y place, and defendeth it, & he beateth & destroyeth the that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Simon reporteth euil of Onias. 2 Iafin obstineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King. 23 And was by Menelaur defrauded by like bribing. 24 Onias is flayne traitorously by Andronicus.

1 His Simon now, of whome we spake afore, being a bewraier of the money and of his owne natural countrey, reported euil of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euil.

2 Thus was he bolde to call him a traitorur that was so beneficial to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But

Apocrypha.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that thorow one that belonged to Simon, murthers were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, & that Apollonius as he that was the gouernour of Coelofyris and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the King not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the commune welth both priuately and publicely.

6 For he sawe it was not possible except the King toke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon wolde not Icaue of his folie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, toke the kingdom, Iason the brother of Onias labored by unlawful meanes to be his Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundredth and three score talents of siluer, and of another rente, fourefcore talents.

9 Besides this he promised him an hundredth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they wolde name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the King had granted, & he had gotten the superioritie, he began immediatly to drawe his kinsme to the cultomes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished y friendlie priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by John, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes & policies, & brought vp newe statutes, and contrarie to the Lawe.

12 For he presumed to buylde a place of exercise vnder the castel, & brought the chief yong men vnder his subjection, and made them weare 'hattes.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they toke vp the factions of strange nacions by the exceeding wickednes of Iason, not the his Priest, but the vngodlie persone,

14 So that the Priestes were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the playe a after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glorie of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgreffe against the Lawes of God, but the time following shal declare these things.

18 Now when the games that were vsed euerie fiue yere, were plaide at Tyrus, the King being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to loke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, & broght thre hundredth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caryed them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comelie) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that broght them, they were giuen to the making of galleis.

21 Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that he was euil affectioned towarde his affaires, he fought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where he was honorably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, & was broght in with torch light, & with great showrings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Thre yere afterwards Iason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memorial.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, & turned the priesthode vnto him self: for he gaue thre hundredth talents of siluer more then Iason.

25 So he gate the Kings' letters patentes, al- beit he had nothing in him self worthie of the his priesthode, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wil- de beast.

26 The Iason, which had disceiued his ow- ne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the King, he toke none order for it, albeit Sostratus y ruler of the castel required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of y cultomes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysima- chus in his stead in the priesthode, and So- stratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insur- rectio, because they were giue to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

II. Maccabees.

31 Then came the King in all haste, to appease the busines, leaving Andronicus a man of autoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certeine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gave certeine of them to Andronicus: and some he solde at Tyrus & in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surette, he reprov'd him, and withdrew him self into a Sactuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus a parte, prayed him to slay Onias: so whe he came to Onias, he consoled him craftily, giving him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, & perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so he slewe him incontinently without any regarde of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and toke it heavily for the unrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certeine of the Grekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with angre, he toke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led through out the citie, and in the same place where he had committed the wickedness against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked dedes in the citie through the counsel of Menelaus, and the brute was spread abroad, & multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had carved out now much vessel of gold.

40 And when the people arose, & were ful of angre, Lysimachus armed about thre thousand, & began to vfe vnlaful power, a certeine tyrant being their captaine, who was no less decayed in wit then in age.

41 But whe they vnder stode the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubbes, and some cast handfules of dust, which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that mudded them.

42 Whereby manie of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the othe chased away: but the wicked Church robber him self they killed besides the treasure.

43 For these causes an accusation was laide against Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, thre men sent from the Senat pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus, being now convinced, promised to Ptolemeus the some of Dormenes much money, if he wolde persuade the King.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the King into a courte, where as he was to coule him self, & turned the Kings minde.

47 In so much that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condoned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, their shulde haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they some punished vnlufully, which followed vpo the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holic vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickedness, and ministered all things liberally for their buryal.

50 And so through the couetousnes of the that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increasing in malice, and declared him selfe a great traitor to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens some in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickedness of Iason. 11 The purpose of Antiochus against the Iewes. 12 The spotting of the Temple 27 Maccabees fleeth into the wilderness.

1 A Bout the same time Antiochus vnquer, oke his seconde voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there sene through out all the citie of Ierusalem, sortie dayes long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of gold, and as bandes of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in array, encountering & coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts and drawing of swordes, and shoting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour sene, and harness of all sortes.

4 Therefore euerie man prayed, that those tokens might turn to good.

5 Now when there was gone for the a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason toke at & least a thousand me, and came suddenly vpon the citie, & they that were vpon the walles, being put backe and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castel, but Iason slewe his owne citizens without mercie, not considering that to haue the aduantage against his kinsme is greatest disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, & not of his owne nacion.

7 Yet he gate not the superioritie, but at the last received shame for the rewarde of his traison, traifon, and went againe like a vagabound into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked cō- uersation, & he was accufed before Areta, the King of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being purfued of euerie ma, and hated as a forfaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen in- to Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chafed manie out of their owne countrey, perfhed as a bani- fhed man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten fucour by reafon of kinred.

10 And he that had caft manie out vnbu- ryed, was throwen out him felf, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: nether was he partaker of his fa- thers fepulchre.

11 Now when thefe things that were do- ne, were declared to the King, he thoght that Iudra wolde haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, & toke the citie by violce.

12 He commanded his men of warre alfs, that they fhulde kill, and not fpare fuche as they met, and to flay fuche as went into their houfes.

13 Thus was there a flaughter of yong me, and olde men, and a deftruction of men & women & children, and virgines, and infants were murthred:

14 So that within thre dayes were flayne foure fcore thoufand, and fortie thoufand taken prifoners, and there were as manie folde as were flayne.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durft go into the mofte holy Temple of all the worlde, hauing Menelaus that trai- tour to the Lawes, and to his owne coun- trey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hads toke the holie veffels, which other Kings had giuen for y garnifhing, glorie and honour of that pla- ce, & handled them with his wicked hads.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he confidered not, that God was not a litle wrothe for the finnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which fuche cō- tempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in ma- nie finnes, he, affone as he had come, had fuddely bene punfhed, & put backe from his prefumption, as Heliodorus was, who- me Seleucus the King fent to vewe the treafurie.

19 But God hathe not chofen the nacion for the places fake, but the place for the nacion fake.

20 And therefore is the place become par- taker of the peoples trouble, but afterwar- de fhall it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forfaken in the wrath of the Almightie, fo when the great Lord fhall be reconciled, it fhall be fet vp in great worfhip againe.

21 So when Antiochus had taken eighteen hundreth talents out of the Temple, he gate him to Antiochia in all hafte, thin- king in his pride to make men fayle vpon the drye land, and to walke vpon the fea: fuche an hie minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vex the people: at Ierufalem Philippe a Phrygia by birth, in maners more cruel then he that fet him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, & with the Menelaus, which was more grievous to the citizens then the other, and was defpi- teful againft the Iewes his citizens.

24 He fent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two & twentie thousand, whome he commanded to flaye thofe that were towarde mans age, and to fell the wo- men, and the yonger forte.

25 So when he came to Ierufalem, he famed peace, and kept him ftill vntil the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feaft, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And fo he flewe all them that were gone forth to the fhewe, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murthe- red a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, & liued there in the mountaines with his compa- nie among the beaftes, and dwelling there, and eating graffe, left they fhulde be par- takers of the filthines.

CHAP. VI.

1 Not long after this, fent the King an olde man of Athens, for to com- peil the Iewes, to transfgriffe the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ie- rufalem, and to call it the temple of Iupi- ter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter, that kepeth hofpitalitie.

3 This wicked gouvernement was fore and grievous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was ful of diffolucion, and glottonie of the Gentiles, which dal- lied with harlots, & had to do with women within the circuit of the holie places, and broght in fuche things as were not lawful.

5 The altar alfo was ful of fuche things, as were abominable & forbidden by the Law.

nely to confesse him self to be a lewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were graououly compelled partorice euerie mo neth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to go in the procession of Bacchus with gar- landes of yuse.

8 Moreover through the counsel of Ptole- meus, there went out a command: met vn- to the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and bank- etting shulde be kept.

9 And who so wolde not conforme them selues to the maners of the Gentiles, shul- de be put to death: then might a man haue sene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought for- the, that had circumcised their sonnes, whome when they had led rounde abou y citre (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into den- nes to kepe the Sabboth day secretly, were discourd vnto Philippe, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honorable day they were afraid to heipe them selues.

12 Now I beseche those which reade this boke, that they be not discouraged for the- se calamities, but that they urge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight wales to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not log waite for vs, as for other nations, whome he punisheth whe they are come to y fulnes of their sins.

15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sin- nes shulde not be heaped vp to the ful, so that afterwards he shulde punish vs.

16 And therefore he neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: & thogh he punish with aduerstie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warnig vnto vs: & now wil we come to the decla- ring of the matter in sewe wordes.

18 Eleazar then one of the principal scri- bes, an aged man, & of a wel fauoured co- untenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eat swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to dye gloriously the to liue with hatred, offred him self wil- lingly to the torment, and spit it out.

20 As the oghe to go to death which suffer punishment for suche things, as it is not lawful to taste of for the desiroro liue.

21 But thei that had the charge of this wic- ked banquet, for that olde friendship of the ma, toke him aside priuely, & prayed him, that he wolde take suche flesh, as was lau-

ful for him to vse, & as he wolde prepare for him self, & dissemble as thogh he had caten of the things appointed by y King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice, 22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friedship that was among them, he wolde receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discretely, & as became his age, and the excellence of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray heeres, whereunto he was come, & his most honest conversation from his childe-hode, but chiefly the holie Law made and guen by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straight wales to send him to the graue.

24 For it becometh not out age, said he, to dissemble, whereby manie yong persones might thinke, that Eleazar being foure score yere olde and ten were now gone to another religion,

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might be deceued by me, and I shulde procute maledictio, & reproche to mine olde age.

26 For thogh I were now deliuered fro the torments of me, yet colde I not escape the hand of the Almightye, nether aluee not dead.

27 Wherefore I wil now change this life manfully, and wil shewe my self suche as mine age requieth,

28 And so wil leaue a notable exaple for suche as be yong, to dye willingly & courageously for the honorable & holie

Lawes. And whe he had said these wordes, imme- diately he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed y loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thocht it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was readie to giue the goft because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lord that hathe the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered fro death, I am scour- ged and suffer these fore paines of my bo- die: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Eue now after this maner eded he his life, leauing his death for an exaple of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not o- nely vnto yong me, but vnto all his nacio.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren & of their mother.

1 I came to passe also that seuen bre- thren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Law, to taste swines flesh, and were tor- mented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What sekest thou? and what woldeft y knowe knowe of vs³ we are readie to dye, rather the to trāgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angræ, and commanded to hear pannes and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the togue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him & to cut of the utmost partes of his bodie in y sight of his other brethren & his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his membres, he commanded him to be broght alive to the fyre & to frye him in the pan- ne: & while the smoke for a long time smo ked out of the pane, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to dye courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regarde vs, & in de- de taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses' decla- red in the song wherein he testified open- ly, saying,

That God wil take pleasure in his seruans.

7 So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the seconde to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with y heere ouer his head, they asked him, if he wolde eat, or he were punished in all the members of the bodie.

8 But he answered in his owne langage, & said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthe with like the first.

9 And when he was at y last breth, he said, Thou murtheres takest this present life from vs, but the King of the worlde wil raise vs vp, which dye for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 After him was the thirde had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, & stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God, I despise them, and trust that I shal receive them of him againe.

12 In so much that the King & they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded y pannes.

13 Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like manner.

14 And when he was now readie to dye, he said thus, It is better that we shulde chage this which we might hope for of men, & wait for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 Afterwarde they broght the first also & tormented him,

16 Who loked vpon the King, & said, Thou haest power among men, and thoght thou be a mortal man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thunke not, that God hathe forsaken our nacion.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt se his great power, how he wil torment thee and thy fede.

18 After him also they broght the first, who being at the point of death, said, Decene not thy self foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthie to be wodred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offen- ded out God.

19 But thunke not thou, which vndertakest to sight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, & worthie of honorable memo- rie: for when she sawe her seue sonnes slai- ne within y space of one day, she suffered it with a good wil, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euerie one of them in her owne langage, and being ful of coura- ge and wisdom, stirred vp her womanlie affections with a malie stomacke, and said vnto
them,

22 I can not tel how ye came into my wom- be: for I nether gaue you breth nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your bodie,

23 But doutes the Creator of the worlde, which formed the birth of man, & founde out the beginning of all things, wil also of his owne mercie giue you breth and life a- gaine, as ye now regarde not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking him self def- pised, & considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did ex- horte him not onely with wordes, but swo- re also vnto him by an othe y he wolde ma ke him riche and welthie, if he wolde for- sake y Lawes of his fathers, & that he wol- de take him as a fried, & giue him offices.

25 But when the yong ma wolde in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mo ther, and exhorted that she wolde counsel the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with manie wordes, she promised him that she wolde counsel her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorne, & spake in her owne langage, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine monethe in my wombe, & gaue thee sucke thre yeres, & nourished thee, and toke care for thee vnto this age, and broght thee vp.

28 I beseche thee, my sonne, loke vpon the heauen & the earth, and all that is therein, & consider that God made the of things y were not, & so was makeinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy self worthie suche brethren by suffering death, that I may receive thee in mercie with thy brethren.

des, the yong man said, Whome wait ye for! I wil not obey the Kings commande- ment: but I wil obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fa- thers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imagineft all mischief a- gainft the Hebrewes, fhalt not escape the hind of God.

32 For we suffer these things, becaufe of our finnes,

33 But though the living Lord be angrie with vs a little while for our chafening and cor- rection, yet wil he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, ô man without religion & most wicked of all men, life not thy self vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertain hope, and liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride:

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my bodie and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he wil soone be merciful vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onelie God,

38 And that in me and my brethren y wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the King being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and toke it grieuously, that he was mocked.

40 So he also dyed holely, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be ynough spoken concer- ning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hofte. 2 Nicanor is fent againft Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his ftuldiers to con- ftaunce. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, di- uiding parte of the fpolies vnto the fatherles and vnto the weddemes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are de- comftied. 31 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

1 Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuely into the townes, & called their kinffolkes & friends together, & toke vnto the all fuche as con- tinued in the Iewes relig:ō, and atsembled fix thoufand men.

2 So they called vpō the Lord, that he wol- de haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euerie mā, & haue pitie vpō the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

And that he wolde haue compaffion vpon the citie y was deftroied, & almoft broght to the grounde, & that he wolde heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him,

And that he wolde remember the wicked flaughter of the innocent children, & the blafphemies cōmitted againft his Nam, & that he wolde fhewe this hatred againft the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he colde not be withstand by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnwates, & burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he toke the moſte commodious places, and flewe many of the enemies.

7 But ſpecially he vſed the nights to make ſuche affalts, in ſo much that the brute of his manlines was ſpred euerie where.

8 So when Philippe ſawe that this mā increaſed by little and little, and that things proſpered with him for the moſte parte, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelofyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the Kings buſines.

9 Then ſent he ſpedely Nicanor the ſonne of Patroclus, a ſpecial friend of his, & gaue him of all nations of the heathē no leſſe then twentie thouſand men, to rote out the whole generation of the Iewes, & toy- ned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordained alſo a tribute for the King of two thouſand talents, which the Romaines ſhulde haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken priſoners.

11 Therefore immediately he ſent to the ci- ties on the ſeacoaſt, prouoking them to bye Iewes to be their ſeruants, promiſing to fel fourefcore & ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of almightie God, that shulde come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors coming, he tolde the that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearful, which trusted not vnto y righteoufnes of God, but fled away, & abode not in y place.

14 But the other folde all that they had left, and befoght the Lord together, to deliuer them frō that wicked Nicanor, which had folde them, or euer he came here them.

15 And though he wolde not do it for their fakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holie and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fix thousand, exhorting the not to be afraied of their enemies, nether to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came againft them vnrighteoufly, but to fight manly,

67 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the citre by dert-fion, and the deftruction of the orders esta blished by their fathers.

18 For they, laid he, trust in their weapons & boldenes: but our confidence is in the al-mightie God, which at a becke can bothe destroy them that come againft vs, and all the worlde.

19 Moreouer he admonished them of the helpe that God fhewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundredth and foure score, and fiue thousand vnder 'Scn-nacherib,

20 And of the battel that they had in Baby-lon againft the Galacians, how they came in all to fy battel eight thousand, with fou-re thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand flewe an hūdreth & twentic thou sand through the helpe that was giuen the from heauen, whereby they had received many benefites.

21 Thus when he had made the bolde with these wordes, & readie to dye for fy Lawes and the country, he deuided his armie in-to foure partes,

22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer fy armie, to wit, Simō, & Ioseph & Iona than, giuing eche one fifteen hūdreth men.

23 And when Eleazarus had red the holie boke, & giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudae which led the forewarde, toy-ned with Nicanor,

24 And becaufe the Almightye helped the, they flewe aboue nine thouland men, and wounded and maimed the molte parte of Nicanors hofte, and fo put all to flight,

25 And toke the money fro thofe that came to bye them, and purfued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therefore they wold no longer purfue the.

27 So they toke their weapō, & fpoiled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thikes and praifing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, they diftributed the fpoiles to the licke, & to the fatherles, & to the widdowes, & deuided the refidue among them felues and their children.

29 When thus was done, & they all had ma-de a general prayer, they befoght the mer-ciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his feruants.

30 Afterwarde with one cofent they fel vpo Timotheus and Bacchides, & flewe aboue twētie thoufand, & wanne hie & ftrong hol des, & deuided great fpoiles, & gaue an e-equal porciō vnto fy ficke, & to fy fatherles, & to fy widdowes, & to aged perfones alfo.

31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and layed them vp diligently in conuenient places, and broght the remnat of the fpoyles to Ierufalem.

32 They flewe alfo Philarches a moſte wic-ked perfone, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes manie wayes.

33 And when they kept the feaft of viſtorie in their country, they burnt Callifthenes that had ſer fyre vpon the holie gates, which was fled into a litle houſe: ſo he re-ctued a rewarde mete for his wickednes.

34 And that moſte wicked Nicanor, which had broght a thoufand marchants to bye the Iewes,

35 He was through the helpe of the Lord broght downe of them whome he thought as nothing, in ſo muche that he put of his glorious raiment, and fled our thwart the country like a fugitue ſeruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great diſhonour through the deſtruction of his hoſte.

36 Thus he that promiſed to pay tribute to the Romaines, by meanes of the priſoners of Ierufalem, broght newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this caufe none colde hurt fy Iewes, becaufe they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to fpoyle Perfepolis, is put to flight. 2 As he perfecuteth the Iewes, he is ftroken of the Lord. 13 The famed repentance of Antiochus. 24 He dyeth miferably.

1 A T the fame time, came Antiochus againe with difhonour out of the country of Perfia.

2 For when he came to Perfepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to fub-due the citie, the people ranne in a rage to defende them felues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and retur-ned with fhame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatana, he vn-derftode the things that had come vnto Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, he thought to impute to fy Iewes their faute, & had put him to flight, and therefore com-manded his charet man to driue cōtinual-ly, and to difpatche the journey: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had faid thus in his pride, I wil make Ierufalem a cōmune burying place of the Iewes, whē I come thether.

5 But the Lord almightie & God of Ifrael fmote him with an incurable and mufible plague: for affone as he had fpoken thefe wordes, a paine of the bowels, that was re-mediles, came vpon him, & fore tormēts of the inner partes,

6 And that moſte iuftely: for he had tormē-ted other mens bowels with diuerſe, and Aaaaaiii.

Strange torments.

7 Howbe it he wolde in no wife ceafe from his arrogance, but fwelled the more with pride, breathing out fyre in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to hafte the tornay: but it came to paffe that he fel downe from the charet that rane fwiftely, fo that all the membres of his bodie were bruifed with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a little afore thocht he might commande the floods of the fea (fo proude was he beyonde the condicion of man) & to weigh the hie mountaines in y balance, was now caft en the ground, and caried in an horfelitter, declaring vnto all the manifeft power of God,

9 So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliue, his fleth fel of for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieued at his' fmel.

10 Thus no man colde beare becaufe of his ftinke, him y a little afore thocht he might reach to the ftarres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue of his great pride, & felf wil, when he was plagued & came to the knowledge of him felf by the fcourage of God, & by his paine which increased euerie moment.

12 And when he him felf might not abide his owne ftinke, he faid thefe wordes, It is mete to be fubieft vnto God, & that a man which is mortal, fhulde not thinke him felf equal vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked perfone prayed alfo vnto y Lord, who wolde now haue no mercie on him,

14 And faid thus y he wolde fet at libertie y holie citie vnto y which he made hafte to deftroy it, & to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes, whome he had iudged not worthie to be buried, but wolde haue caft them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules & wilde beaftes, he wolde make the all like the citizens of Athenes.

16 And whereas he had fpoiled y holie Têple afore, he wolde garnift it with great giftes, and encreafe the holie veffels, and of his owne rentes beare the charges belonging to the facrifices.

17 Yea, & that he wolde alfo become a Iewe him felf, & go through all the worlde that was inhabited, & preache y power of God.

18 But for all this his paines wolde not ceafe: for the iuft iudgemét of God was come vpo him: therefore defpairing of his helth, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder writen, cōteining y forme of a fupplicatio.

19 THE KING & prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wifheth muche ioye and helth and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare wel, & if all things go after your minde, I giue great thikes vnto God hauing hope in y heaue.

21 Thogh I lie ficke, yet I am mindeful of your honour, & good wil for y loue I beare you: therefore when I returned fro the countrey of Persia, and fel into a fore difeafe, I thoght it neceffarie to care for the commune fafetie of all,

22 Not diftruifting mine helth, but hauing great hope to efcape this fickenes.

23 Therefore confidering that when my father led an hofte againft y high couëtreys, he appointed who fhulde fuccede him:

24 That if anie controuerfie happned cōtrary to his expectation, or if that anie tidings were broght that were grieuous, they in the lad might knowe to whome y affaires were committed, that they fhulde not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, y are bordres, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occafios, & loke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my fone Antiochus fhall be King whome I oft cōmeded & cōmitted to many of you, whe I went into y hie prouunces, & haue writé vnto hi as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you & require you, to reméber the benefites y I haue done vnto you generally, & particularly, and y euerie ma wil be faithful to me and to my fonne.

27 For I truſt that he wil be gentle, & louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 Thus y murtherer & blafphemer fuffered moſte grieuouſly, & as he had intreated other me, fo he dyed a miſerable death in a ſtrange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philippe that was broght vp with him, carryed away his bodie, who fearing the fonne of Antiochus, went into Egypte to Ptolemeus Philometor.

5 Now vpo the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the veric same day it was closed against even yue & twentieth day of the same moneth, which is Chasleu.

6 They kept eight days with gladnes as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remébring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they lived in the mountains and 7 And for the same cause they bare grene bowes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang psalmes vnto him that had giuen the good successe in clensing his place.

8 They ordained also by a commune statute, and decre that euerie yere those dayes shulde be kept of y whole nacio of y Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 Now wil we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdoms, he made one Lythas, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phinice, & Coelofyria, ruler ouer the affirres of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to do justice vnto the Iewes for y wrog, y had bene done vnto the & went about to behaue him self peaceably w the.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, & was called of times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had comitted vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore scing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poy sonned him self, and dyed.

14 But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he interteined strangers, & made warre of times against the Iewes.

15 Morcoure the Idumeans that helde the strong holds, which were mere for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were druuen fro Ietufalem, toke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then thei that were with Maccabeus made prayers, & befoght God that he wolde be their helper, and so they fel vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans,

17 And assalted them fore, that they wanne the places, & slewe all that foght against them on the wall, and killed all y they met with, & slewe no less the twette thousand.

18 And because certeine (which were no less the nine thousand) were fled vnto two strong castels, hauing all mines of things convenient to susteine the siege,

19 Maccabeus left Simo, & Ioseph, & Zaccheus also, & those that were with the, w were ynowe to besiege them, and departed to those places w were more necessarie.

20 Now thei that were with Simon, being led with couetoufnes, were intreated for monei, (thorowe certeine of those that were in y castel,) & toke seuentie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was tolde Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, & accused those me, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies go.

22 So he slewe the when they were couist of traizon, & immediatly wan y two castels:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he toke in hand, he slew in the two castels mo then twentie thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whome the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all fortes, and broght a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drewe nere, Maccabeus, and thei y were with him, eurned to praye vnto God, & sprinkled earth vpo their heads, & girded their reines with sacke cloth,

26 And fel downe at the fore of the altar, & befoght the Lord to be merciful to them, & to be an enemy to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer, they toke their weapons, & went on further from the citre, & when they came nere to the enemies, they toke hede to them selues.

28 And whe y morning appeared, they both soyned together: the one parte had y Lord for their refuge, & pledge of prosperity, & noble victorie, and the other toke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when y battel waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies fro heauen sue comelie men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And toke Maccabeus betwixt them, & couered him on euerie side with their weapons, & kept him safe, but shot darres, & lightenings against the enemies, so y thei were cofounded with blindenes, and beaten downe and ful of trouble.

31 There were slaine of sevement wette thousand & sue huldreth & six huldreth horseme.

32 As for Timotheus him self, he fled vnto Gazara, w was callid a very strong holde, wherein Cheras was captaine.

33 But Maccabeu & his copanie laid siege against y fortresses w courage for foure daies.

34 And thei that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible worries.

35 Neuerthe les vpo the fifth day in y morning twentie yog men of Maccabeus copanie, whose hearts were inflamed, because of y blasphemies, came vnto y wan, & w bolde

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyias goth about to overcome the Iewes. 2 Succour is sent from heuen into the Iewes. 10 The letter of Lyias into the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus into Lyias. 27 A letter of the fame into the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romans to the Iewes. V Erie shortly after this, Lyias the Kings stewarde, and a kinsma of his, which had the gouernance of the affairs, toke fore displeafure for the things that were done. 2 And when he had gathered about four- score thousand, with all the horfmen he ca me againft the Iewes, thinking to make the citre an habitacion of the Gentiles. 3 And the Temple wolde he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he wolde fel the Priests office euerie yere. 4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, becaufe of the great number of fotemen, & thoufands of horfmen, & in his foure fco- re elephants, 5 He came into Iudea, and drewne nere to Beth- fura, which was a caftel of defence, fue afurlogs from Ierufalem, and laid fore flege vnto it. 6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knew that he befieged the holdes, they, & all the people made prayers with weping, and teares before the Lord, that he wolde fend a good Angel to deliuer Israel. 7 And Maccabeus him felf first of all toke weapons, exhorting the other that they wolde jeopardde them felues together with him to helpe their brethren: fo they went for the together w a courageous minde. 8 And as thei were there beides Ierufalem, there appeared before them vpon horfe- backe a man in white clothing, shaking his harnes of golde. 9 Then they praised the merciful God all together, and toke heart, in fo much that they were ready, not only to fight w me, but with the moste cruel beafts, & to breake downe walles of yron. 10 Thus they marched forward in array, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was merciful vnto them.

11 And ruining vpo their enemies like lios, they fiewe eleuen thousand foemen, and fixten hundredth horsemen, & put all the other to flight. 12 Manie of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lyias him self fled away shamefully, and escaped, 13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding considering what losse he had had, & knowing, that the Hebrewes could not be overcome because the almighty God helped them, sent vnto them, 14 And promised, that he wolde content to all things which were reasonable, and performe the King, to be their friend. 15 Maccabeus agreed to Lyias requestes, hauing respect in all things to y commune welth, and whatfauer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lyias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it. 16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lyias containing these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting. 17 John & Abelfalom, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demanded by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared. 18 Therefore what things soeuer were mete to be reported to the King himself, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was poffible. 19 Therefore if ye behaue your felues as friends toward his affairs, hereafter also Iwil indeuour my felf to do you good. 20 As concerning thefe things, I haue gue commandement to thefe men, and to thofe whome I fent vnto you, to commune with you of the fame particularly. 21 Fare ye wel, the hundredth and eight and fortie yere, the foure and twetieth day of the moneth Diofcornthius. 22 Now the Kings letter contained thefe wordes, KING ANYTOCH VS vnto his brother Lyias fendeth greting. 23 Since our father is tranflated vnto the gods, our wil is, that they which are in our realme, liue quietly, that euerie man may applie his owne affairs. 24 We vnderftand also that the Iewes wolde not confent to our father, for to be brogh vnto the cuftome of the Gentiles, but wolde kepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which caufe they require of vs, that we wolde fuffer them to liue after their owne Lawes. 25 Wherefore our minde is that this nacio fhall be in reft, and haue determined to reftore them their Temple, that thei may be gouerned according to the cuftome of their fathers. 26 Thou fhalt do wel therefore to fend vnto them.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nacion, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to therest of the Iewes sendeth greting.

28 If ye fare wel, we haue our desire: we are also in good helth.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, & to applie your owne busines.

30 Wherefore, those that wil departe, we giue them fre libertie, vnto the thirtie daye of the moneth of Panthicus,

31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and Lawes, like as afore, and none of them by anie maner of waies to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue fent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye wel: the hindreth and eight & fortie yere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romains also fent a letter conteining these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus Manilius embassadours of the Romains, vnto the people of the Iewes fend greting.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings kinsman hathe granted you, we grant the fame also.

36 But concerating that which he shal report vnto the King, fend hether fome with fpe-de, when ye haue confidered the matter diligently, that we may confult thereupō as shalbe beft for you: for we muft go vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and fend fome men, that we may knowe your minde.

38 Fare wel: this hundreth and eight, and fortie yere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

9 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked dede of the of Ioppe against the Iewes. 4 Iudas admerged of the ple fitteth fyre in the hauē of Iamnia. 20 The purfute of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus taken and let go vnthurs. 32 Iudas purfueth Gorgias.

1 ¶ Hen these couenats were made, Lysias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their grounde.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus & Apollonius the fonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, & also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, wolde not let them liue in reft and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did fuche a vile act: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to go with their wiues and children into the shippes, which they had prepared as thogh they had oght them none euil wil.

4 And so by the commune aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone for the into the depe, they drowned no less than two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knewe of this crueltie shewed against his nacion, he commaded those men that were with him, to make them readie.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went for the against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fyre in the hauen by night, & burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slewe.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as thogh he wolde come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceiued that the Ianites were minded to do in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, & set fyre in the hauē with the naue, so that the light of the fyre was fene at Ierufale, vpon a two hundreth and fortie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iousney towarde Timotheus, about fiue thousand me of foe and fiue hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battel was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas thorowe the helpe of God: the 2 Nomades of Arabia, being ouercome, be foght Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certeine cattel, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Iudas thinking that they shulde in dede be profitable cœcerning manre thigs, granted them peace: whereupō thei shoke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assalted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced rounde about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they were within it, put fuche truft in the strength of the walles, and in store of vitalles, that they were the slacker in their domgs, reuiling the that were with Iudas, and reproching the: yea, they blasphemed & spake fuche wordes as were not lawful.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of y worlde (which without anie instruments, or engins of warte, did cast downe the walles of Ieticho, in the time of Iesus) gaue afferce assalt against the walles,

16 And toke the citie by the wil of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which laye thereby, femed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed thei from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubieni.

18 But they founde not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garifon in a verie ftrong holde.

19 But Dofitheus, & Sofipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forthe, & flewe thofe that Timotheus had left in the fortereffe more the ten thoufand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, & ranged his armie by bandes, & went courageously a-gaint Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twentie thoufand men of fote, and two thoufand and fiue hundreth horfemen.

21 Whê Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he fent the women, & children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortereffe called Carmion (for it was hard to befige, & vneafie to come vnto becaufe of the ftrates on all fides.)

22 But when Iudas firft bade came in fight, the enemies were fmiten with feare, and a trembling was among them thorow the prefence of him that feth all things, in fo much that thei fleing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the pointes of their owne fwordes.

23 But Iudas was verie earneft in purfuing, and flewe thofe wicked men: yea, he flewe thirtie thoufand men of them.

24 Timotheus alfo him felf fell into the hands of Dofitheus, & Sofipater, whome he befoght with muche crafte to let him go with his life, becaufe he had manie of the Iewes parents & the brethren of fome of them, which if they put him to death, fhulde be defpifed.

25 Sowhen he had affured the with manie wordes, & promifed that he wolde reftore them without hurt, thei let him go for the helth of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus towarde Carmon, and Atargation, and flewe fiue and twentie thoufand perfones.

27 And after that he had chafed away and flayne the, Iudas remoued the hofte towarde fphron a ftrong citie, wherein was Lyfias & a great multitude of all naciós, & the ftróg yong men kept the walles defendig the mightely: there was alfo great preparacion of engins of warre, & dartes.

28 But when they had called vpo the Lord, which with his power breaketh the ftrégth of the enemies, they wan the citie, & flewe fiue and twentie thoufand of them that were within.

29 ¶ Fro thence went thei to Scythopolis, & fieth fix hundreth furlongs fro Ierufale.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, teftified, that the Scythopolitans delt loungly with them, & intreated them kindly in the time of their aduerficie,

31 They gaue them thanks, defiring them to be friendlie ftil vnto them, and fo thei came to Ierufalem, as the feaft of the wekes approached.

32 ¶ And after y feaft called Penticoft thei went forthe againft Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea.

33 Who came out with thre thoufand men of fote and foure hundreth horfemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a fewe of the Iewes were flayne,

35 And Dofitheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horfebacke and a mightie man, toke Gorgias, and laied holde of his garment, and drewe him by force, becaufe he wolde haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horfeman of Thracia fell vpon him, and fmote of his fhulder, fo that Gorgias fled into Marifa.

36 And when they that were "with Eferin, had foghten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpo the Lord, that he wolde fhewe him felf to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

37 And then he began in his owne langage, and fung pfalmes with a loude voyce, in fo muche that ftraight wayes he made the that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hofte, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the feuenth day came, they clenfed them felues (as the cuftome was) and kept the Sabbath in the fame place.

39 And vpon the daye following, as neceffitie required, Iudas and his companie came to take vp the bodies of them that were flayne, and to burye them with their kiffemen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euerie one, that was flayne, they founde jewels that had bene confecrate to the idoles of the Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. The euerie man fawe, that this was the caufe wherefore thei were flayne.

41 And fo euerie man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue them felues to prayer, & befoght him, that they fhulde not vterly be deftroied for the faute committed. Befides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to kepe them felues from finne, for fo mucche as they fawe before their eyes the things which came to paffe by the finne of thefe that were flayne,

43 And hauing made a gathering through the companie, fent to Ierufale about two thoufand

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Macabeus going to fight against Eupator, mouth his fouldiers into prayer. 11 He killed fourtene thoufand men in the tentes of Antio- chus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Lewes is taken.

IN the hundreth, fortie and nine yere it was tolde Iudas, that Antiochus Eupa- tor was comming with a great power in- to Iudea,

2 And Lysias the stewarde and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing bothe in their ar mie an hundreth and ten thoufand men of fote of the Grecians, and sue thou- fand horsemen, and two and twentie ele- phants, and thre hudreth charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned him self with them and with great disceit encouraged Antio- chus, not for the safeguard of the countrei, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of Kings moued Antio- chus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the King that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the King commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubites high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on euerie side it roulded downe into the ashes.

6 And there whosoeuer was condemned of sacrilege, or of anie other grievous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man shulde dye suche a death, and it was a moft iuste thing that Menelaus shulde want buryal,

8 For because he had committed manie finnes by the altar, whose fyre and ashes were holic: he him self also dyed in the ashes.

9 Now the King raged in his minde, and came to shewe him self more cruel vnto the Lewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceived, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he wolde now helpe them, when they shulde be put from their Law, from their countrey and from the holie Temple:

11 And that he wolde not suffer the people, which a little afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, and besoght the Lord for mercie with weping, and fasting, and falling downe thre daies together, Iudas exhorted them to make them selues readie.

13 And he being aparte with the Elders, toke counfel to go forthe, afore the King brought his hoste into Iudea, & shulde take the citie, & commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the worlde, he exhorted his fouldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their country, and the commune wealth, and commanded by Modin.

15 And so giuing his fouldiers for a watche worde, The victorie of God, he piked out the manliest yong men, and went by night into the Kings campe, and slewe of the hoste fourtene thousand men, & the greatest elephant with all that fate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great sea-re, and trouble in the campe, & all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 Now when the King had tasted the manlines of the Lewes, he went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched towarde Beth-fura, which was a ftrog holde of the Lewes: but he was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, suche things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Lewes hoste, disclosed the secretes to y enemies: therefore he was foght out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the King commune with them that were in Beth-fura, and 'toke tru- ce with them, departed, and ioyned barrel with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when he vnderstode, that Philip- pe (whome he had left to be ouerser of his bufines at Antiochia) did rebell a- gainst him, he was astonished, so that he yelded him self to the Lewes, and made them an othe to do all things that were right, and was appeased towarde them, & offred sacrifice and adorned the Tem- ple, and shewed great gentlenes to the place,

24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheles, whê he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content wit this agrement: and becaufe they were grieued, they wolde that he fhulde breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lyfias vp into the iudgemêt feat, and excusfed the fact as wel as he colde, & perfuaded them, and pacified them, and made them wel affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius meued by Alcimus fendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compaffe with the Iewes. 19
Which he yet breaketh through the mocom of the King 17
Nicanor commandeth Rax, is to be taken, who flayeth him felf.

A Fter thre yeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the fonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and name by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and flaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lyfias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully defiled him self in the time that all things were cōfounded, feing that by no meanes he colde fauc him self, nor haue anie more entrance to the holie altar,

4 He came to King Demetrius in the hundredth, fite and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, & of the boughes, which were vfed folemnely in the Temple, and that day he helde his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, & occaſion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counſel, and aſked him what deuifes or counſels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he answered, the Iewes that be called Afideans whoſe captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, mainteine warres, and make infurrections, and wil not let the realme be in prace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high priefthode) am now come hether,

8 Partely becauſe I was wel affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and fecondly becauſe I fought & profite of mine owne citizés: for all our people, thorowe their rathnes, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, ô King, feing thou knoweft all thefe things, make prouifion for the countrey, and our nacion which is abufed, according to thine owne humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not poffible that the matter fhulde be wel.

11 When he had fpoken thefe wordes, other friends alfo hauing euil wil at Iudas, fet Demetrius on fyre.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the elephantes, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And fent him forthe, commanding him to flay Iudas, and to fcatter the that were with him, & to make Alcimus high Prielt of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by floc kes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now whê the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they fpinkled them felues with earth, & prayed vnto him which had appointed him felf a people foreuer, and did alwaies defende his owne porcion with eudent tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remoued ffraight wayes from thence, and came to the towne of Deffan,

17 Where Simô Iudas brother had ioyned battel with Nicanor, and was fomewhat aftonifhed thorowe the fudden filence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheles Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, & the bolde ftomackes that they had for their country, durft not proue the matter with blood fhedding.

19 Wherefore, he fent Pofidonius, Theodocius, and Matthias before, to make peace. 10r, Theobaeas. 10r, Maccabees

20 So when they had taken long aduifemêt thereupô, and the captaine fhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and confented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they fhulde particularly cometogether: fo whê the day was come, they fet for euerie man his ftoole.

22 Neuertheles Iudas commanded certeine men of armes to waite in conuentent places, left there fhulde fuddenly arife anie euil thorowe the enemies: and fo they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierufalem, did none hurt, but fent away the people that were gathered together.

24 He "loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart. 10r, had Iudas before his eyes.

25 He praid him alfo to take a wife, and to beget children: fo he married, & they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betwene them, and vnderftanding the couenantes that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken ftrange matters in hand, and ordeined Iudas a traitour to the realme, to be his fucceffour.

27 Then the King was difpleafed, and by the reportes of this wicked man, he wrote to Nicanor, faying, that he was very angric for the couenants, commanding him that he fhulde fend Maccabeus in all hafte prifoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When thefe things came to Nicanor, he was aftonifhed & fore grieved, y he fhulde breake the things wherein they had agreed, feing that that man had committed no wickednes.

29 But becaufe it was not cofmodious to him to withiftand the King, he foght craftely to accomplifh it.

30 Notwithftanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor beganne to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely the he was wonte, he perceiued that fuche rig our came not of good, and therefore he gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrewe him felf from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that he was pre uented by Maccabeus worthie policie, came into the great & holie Temple, and commanded the Prifets, which were oftiring their vfual facrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they fware that they colde not tell where the man was, whome he foght,

33 He ftretched out his right hand towarde the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye wil not deliuer me Iudas as a pri foner, I wil make this Temple of God a plaine field, and wil breake downe the altar, and wil erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After thefe wordes he departed: then the Prifets lift vp their hands towarde heaufe, and befoght him that was euer the defender of their nacion, faying in this maner,

35 Thou, o Lord of all things, which haft nede of nothing, woldeft that the Temple of thine habitacion fhulde be among vs.

36 Therefore now, o moste holie Lord, kepe this houfe euer vndefiled, which lately was clenfed, and ftoupe all the mouths of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Ratis one of the Elders of Jerufalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good reporte, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man afore times when the Iewes were minded to kepe them felues vndefiled and port, being accused to be of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to fpend his bodie and life with all conftancie for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, fent about fiue hundred men of warte to take him.

40 For he thought by taking him to do the Iewes muche hurte.

41 But when this companie wolde haue taken his caftel, and wolde haue broken the gates by violence, and comanded to bring fyre to burne the gates, fo that he was readie to be taken on euerie fide, he a fel on his fworde,

42 Willing rather to dye manfully, the to giue him felf into the hafts of wicked men, and to fuffer reproche vnworthie for his noble ftocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he miffed of his stroke for halfe, and the multitude ruffled in violently between the dores, he ran boldely to the wall, and cast him self downe manfully amog the multitude.

44 Which conueyed them felues lightly away, and gaue place, fo that he fell vpon his bellie.

45 Neuertheles while there was yet breth in him, being kindled in his minde, he rofe vp, and though his blood gushd out like a fountaine, and he was verie fore wounded, yet he ran thorow the middes of the people,

46 And gate him to y toppe of an hie rocke: fo when his blood was vtterly gone, he toke out his owne bowels with bothe his hands, and threwe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and spirit, that he wolde restore them againe vnto him, and thus he dyed.

7 Now when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his companie were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

8 Neuertheles the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, faid, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

9 But this moste wicked perfone demâded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

purposed to set vp a memorial of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer fure confidence and a perfite hope that the Lord wolde helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to truſt now alſo, that they ſhulde haue the victorie by the Almightye.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law & Prophetes, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wone afore, & ſo made them more willing,

10 And ſtirred vp their hearts, and ſhewed them alſo the difceitfulnes of the heathé, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euerie one of them, not with the affurance of fhields and ſpeares, but with wholfome wordes and exhortacions, and ſhewed them a dreame worthie to be beleued, and reoyced them greatly.

12 And this was his viſion, He thoght that he ſawe Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous & a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of ſober conuerſation, wel ſpoken, and one that had bene exerciſed in all pointes of godlines from a childe) holding vp his hands towarde heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honorable, and of a wonderful dignitie, and excellen cie aboue him.

14 And Onias fpake, & faid, This is a loue of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holie citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thoght also that Ieremias helde out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a fworde of golde: & as he gaue it, he fpake thus,

16 Take this holie fworde a gifte frô God, wherewith thou fhalt wounde the aduersaries.

17 And fo being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very fwete and able to fturre them vp to valiantnes and to incourage the heartes of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageoufly to fet vpon them, and mafully to affaile them, and to crye the matter hand to hand, becaufe the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren and kinffolkes, they fet leffe by their danger: but their greateft and principal feare was for the holie Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the citie, were careful for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whiles thei all waued for the trval of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the hofte was fet in araye, and the beaftes were feperated into conuenient places, and the horfemen were placed in the wings,

21 Maccabeus confidering the coming of the multitude and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fierceness of the beaftes, helde vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpô the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon the, knowing that the victorie cometh not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to them that are worthie, as femeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he fald after this maner, O Lord, thou that didest fend thine Angel in the time of Ezecias King of Iudea, who in the hofte of Sennacherib flewe an hundreth, forecore & fiue thou-fand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, ô Lord of heauens, for a feare and dreade vnto them,

24 And let the be difcôfited by the ftrengh of thine arme, which come againft thine holie people to blafpheme. Thus with the-fe wordes he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drewe nere with trumpets and fhoutings for ioye.

26 But Iudas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, incountered with the enemies,

27 So that with their hands they foght, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and flewe no leffe then fiue & thirtie thou-fand me: for thorowe the prefence of God they were wonderoufly comforted.

28 Now when they left of, & were turning againe with ioye, they vnderftode that Nicanor him felf was flaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great fhoute and a crye, praifing the Almightye in their owne langage.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer y chief defender of his citizens bothe in bodie & minde, and which bare euer good affeciaf towards them of his nacion, commanded to fmite of Nicanors head, with his hand and fhulder, and to bring it to Ierufalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all the of his nacion, and fet the Priests by the altar, and fent for them of the caftel,

32 And shewed the wicked Nicanors head, & the hand of that blafphemour which he had holden vp againft the holie Temple of the Almightye with proude bragges.

33 He caufed the congue alfo of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, & to be caft vnto the foules, and that the rewardes of his madnes fhulde be hanged vp before the Temple.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castel, for an eudent and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a comune decre that they wolde in no ca- se suffer this day without keping it holie:

37 And that the feast shulde be the thir- tenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrias langage, the day before Mardocheus day.

THE HOLY a GOSPEL

of Iesus Christ, b according to Matthews.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this historic written by Matthews, Marke, Luke, and John, the Spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in niber, yet in effect and purpose they so consent, as though the whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and maner of writing they be diners, and sometime one writeth more largely that which the other doeth abbridge: nevertheless in matter and argument they all tende to one end: which is, to publish to the worlde the favour of God towarda mankind through Christ Iesus, whome the Father hath the giuen as a pledge of his mercie & loue. And for this cause they intitule their storie, Gospel, which signifeth good tidings, for asmache as God hath performed in dede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the worlde, and the vanities thereof, and with moste affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely effect vnto vs: for there is no ioye nor consilacion, no peace nor quietnes, no felicitie nor saluacion, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whome all the promises are yea, and amen. And therefore vnder this worde is contained the whole New settlement: but communely we vse this name for the historie, which the foure Evangelists write, containing Christs coming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perished samme of our salvation. Matthews, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but John more laboureth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appear: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, dead & risen againe, shulde nothing proue vs. The which thing notwithstanding that the thre first stuche partely, as he also sometime intermedieth the historical narration, yet John chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a moste learned interpreter writeth, they describe, as it were, the bodie, and John setteth before our eyes the foule. Wherefore the same aptely termeth the Gospel writ by John, the key which openeth the dore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth knowe the office, vertue and power of Christ, shal reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the redemer of the worlde, with moste proffit. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is evident that Matthews was a Publicane or custome gatherer, and was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thoght to haue bene Peters disciple, and to haue plated the first Church at Alexandria, where he dyed the eight yere of the reignt of Niro. Luke was a phistion of Antiochia and became Pauls disciple, and fellowe in all his traueris: the liued foure score and foure yeres, and was buried at Constantinople. John was that Apostle whome the Lord loud, the sonne of Zebedeus, and brother of Lames: he dyed thre score yeres after Christ, and was buried nere to the Citie of Ephesus.

together, she was founde 2 with childe of the holie Gofit.

19 Then Ioseph her houf band being a 2 infit man, and not 20 But whiles he thoght these things, beholde, the Angel of the which is conccued in her, is of the holie Gofit.

21 And she shal bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt 2 call his

5 2 And they faid vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Pro- phet, 23 And then wil I professe to them, h * I neuer kn: we you: * departe from me, ye that worke iniquitie.

24 Whofoeuer then heareth of me these wordes, * and doeth the fame, I wil liken him to a wife man, which hathe buylded his houfe on a rocke:

25 And the raine fell, and the floods came, and the windes blewe, and beat vpon that houfe, and it fell not: for it was grounded on a rocke.

21 ¶ And another of his disciples said vnto him, Master, suffer me first to go, and burye my father.

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Followe me, & let the dead burye their dead.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ And when he was come to the other side, into the country of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues verie fi- erce, so that no man might go by that waye.

29 And beholde, they stayed out, saying, Ie- sus the Sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hether to tor- ment vs before the time?

9 But what went ye out to se? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whome it is written, * Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which that prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say vnto you, among the which are a begotten of women, arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is the least in the king- dome of heauen, is greater then he.

12 And from the time of Iohn Baptist li- therto, the kingdoms of heauen a suf- freth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophetes & the Law b pro- phesied vnto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receive it, this is a Eliot, which was to come.

15 He that hath eares to heaue, let him heare.

16 * But whereunto shall I liken this gene- ration? It is like vnto little children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fe- lowes,

17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, & ye haue not danced, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came nether eating nor drin- king, and they say,
He hath a deuil.

19 The Sonne of man came eating & drin- king, and they say, Beholde a glutton & a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes & sinners: but his wisdom is iustified of her children.

20 Then beg a he to vpraiſe the cities, wherein most of his great works were done, because they repented not.

21 Wo be to thee, Chorazim: Wo be to thee, Bethsaida: for if the great works, which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus & Sidon, they had reped long ago in fackeloch and ashes.

22 "But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lif- ted vp vnto heauen, shall be brought dow- ne to hel: for it great works, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done a- mong them of Sodom, they had remai- ned to this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 * At that time Iesus antives ed, and said, I gue thee thokes, & Father, Lord of heaue & eath, because thou hast hid these things from the wife and men of vnde: standing, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 It is so, Father, because thy good plea- sure was such.

27 * All things are given vnto me of my Fa- ther: and no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: nether knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, & he to whome the Sonne will reuile him.

28 Come vnto me, all ye that are wearie & laden, and I will cast you.

29 Take my yoke on you, and learne of me, that I am meke and lowlie in heart: & ye shall finde rest vnto your soules.

A That time Iesus wea on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disci- ples were an hungred, began to plucke the eares of corne and to eat.

2 And when the Pharises sawe it, they said vnto him, Beholde, thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do vpo the Sabbath.

3 But he said vnto them, a Haue ye not red what Dauid did, when he was an hun- gred, and they that were with him?

4 How he entred into the House of God, & ate the shews bread, which was not law- ful for him to eat, nether for them which were with him, but only for the Priests?

5 Or haue ye not red in the Law how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priests in the Temple a b breake the Sabbath, and are blameless?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one grea- ter then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knewe what this is, a I wil haue mercie and not facrifice, ye wolde not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the Sonne of man is Lord, even of the Sabbath.

9 * And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:

10 And beholde, there was a ma which had his hand dryd vp.
And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heale vpo a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said vnto them, What man shall there be amog you, that shall haue a shepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, wil not he take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man bettet the a shrepe? therefore, it is lawfull to do wel on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch for the thine haid. And he stretched it for the, and it was made whole as the other.

a All desired to heave his doctrine, but there was not like affection in all

1 The same day went Jesus out of the house, and fate by the sea side.

2 And great multitudes resorted vnto his, so that he went into a ship, and fate downe: and the whole multitude stode on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Beholde, a sower went forth to sower.

4 And as he sowed, some fel by the wayes side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fel vpon stonie ground, where they had not much earth, and anone they sprong vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withred away.

7 And some fel among thornes, & the thornes sprong vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fel in good ground, and broght forth frute, one come an hundredth folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

9 He that hathe eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 And he answered and said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to knowe the secrets of the kingdoms of heauen, but to them it is not giuen.

12 ¶ For whosoeuer hathe, to him shalbe giuen, and he shal haue abundance: but whosoeuer hathe not, from him shalbe taken away, euen that he hathe.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seing, do not se: and hearing, they heare not, nether vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecie of Esaias, which prophecie faith, By hearing, ye shal heare, and shal not vnderstand, and seing ye shal se, and shal not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fatte, and their eares ate dul of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they shulde se with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and shulde vnderstand with their hearts, and shulde ieturne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they se: & your eares, for they heare.

17 For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophetes, & righteous men haue desired to se those things which ye se, & haue not sene them, and to heare those things which ye heare, & haue not heard them.

18 ¶ Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower. Mar 4,15. luk 8,11.

19 Whensoever a man heareth the worde of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, the euil one cometh, and catcheth away that which was sower in his heart: & this is he which hathe receiued the sede by the way side.

20 And he that receiued sede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the worde, & incontinently with ioye receiueh it.

21 Yet hathe he no roote in him self, & dureth but a season: for assone as tribulation or persecution cometh because of the worde, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiueh the sede among thornes, is he that heareth the worde: but the care of this worde, and the deceitfulness of riches choke the worde, and he is made vnfruteful.

23 But he that receiueh the sede in the good ground, is he that heareth the worde, and vnderstandeth it, which also heareth frute, & bringeth forth, some an hindreth folde, some sixtie folde, & some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seed in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemies, and sowed tares among the wheat, & went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprong vp, and broght forth frute, then appeared the res also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master. Sowedst not thou good sede in thy field? ftó when- ce then hathe it tares?

28 And he said to them, The enuiou man hathe done this. Then the seruats said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, lest while ye go about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheat.

30 Let both grow together vntil the haruest, and in time of haruest I wil say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burnet them: but gather the wheat into my barne.

31 ¶ Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

32 Which in dede is the least of all sedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birdes of heauen come and buylde in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ Another parable spake he to the, The BB. iii.

l His enterpri- se was to gre- ne, & therefore he must codes

12 And his difciples came, and toke vp his fodie, and buried it, and went, and tolde Iefus.

13 * And when Iefus heard it, he departed thence by fhyp into a
* defert place apar- te. And when the multitude had heard it, thei followed him a fore out of the cities.

14 And Iefus went forthe and fawe a great multitude, and was moued with compaf- fion towarde them, and he healed their ficke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, * his difci- ples came to him, faying, This is a defert place, and the houre is all eadie paffe : let the multitude departe, that they may go into the townes, and bye them vitales.

16 But Iefus faid to them, They haue no fne de to go away: giue ye them to eat.

17 Then faid they vnto him, We haue here but fiue loaues, and two fifhes.

18 And he faid, Bring them hether to me.

19 And he commanded the multitude to fit downe on the graffe, and toke the fiue loaues and the two fifhes, and loked vp to heauen and * bleffed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his difciples, & the difciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eat, and were fuficed, and they toke vp of the fragments that remained, wvelue bafkers ful.

21 And thei that had eaten, were about fiue thoufand men, befide women & litle chil- dren.

22 ¶ And ftraight waye Iefus s copelled his dfciple, to enter into a fhip, and to go o- uer before him, while he fent the multi- tude away.

23 And affone as he had fent the multitu- de away, he went vp into a mountaine a- lone to pray: * and when the euening was come, he was there alone.

24 And the ship was now in the middes of the fea, and was toffed with waues : for it was a contrarie winde.

25 And in the fourth watche of the night, Iefus went vnto them, walking on the fea.

26 And when his difciples fawe him walkig on the fea, they were troubled, faying, It is a fpirit, and cryed out for feare.

27 But fraight way Iefus fpake vnto them, faying, * Be of good comfort. It is I: be not afraied.

28 Then Peter answered him, & faid, Ma- fter, if it be thou, * byd me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he faid, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to go to Iefus.

30 But when he fawe a mightie winde, he was afraied : and as he * beganne to finke, he cryed, faying, Maifter, faue me.

31 So immediately Iefus fretched forth his hand, and caught him, and faid to him,

- O thou of litle faith, wherefore didest thou dout?

32 And affone as they were come into the ship, the winde ceaft.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, faying, Of a trueth thou art the fonne of God.

34 ¶ * And when they were come ouer, thei came into the land of Gennefaret.

35 And when the men of that place knewe him, they fent out into all that countrey rounde about, and broght vnto him all that were ficke,

3 But he answered & said vnto them, Why do ye also transgreffe the commandment of God by your tradition?

5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to father or mother, b By the Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and reacheest the way of God truely, nether careest for anie man: for thou confidereest not the 1 perfo- ne of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawful to giue tribute vnto Celsat, or not?

18 But Iesus perceived their wickednes, & said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shewe me the "tribute money. And thei brought him a h penie.

20 And he said vnto them, Whose is this image and 21 They said vnto him, Celsats. Then said he vnto them, "Giue therefore to Celsat, the things which are Celsats, and giue vnto God, those which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, thei marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him.

24 Saying, Master, "Moses said, If a man dye, having no "children, let his brother 1 marie his wife, and raise vp sede vnto his brother.

25 Now there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and having none yslue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the seconde, & the third, vnto the seventh.

27 And last of all the woman dyed also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto the, Ye m are deceived, not knowing the Scrip tures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they nether ma- rie wines, nor wines are bestowed in ma- riage, but are as the h Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not red what is spoken vnto you of God, saying,

32 ¶ I am the God of Abraham, & the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuig.

33 And when the people heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine.

34 ¶ But when the Pharises had heard, that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

35 And one of them, which was an expoun- der of the Law, asked him a question, rep- ting him, and saying,

36 Master, which is the great commande- ment in the Law?

37 Iesus said to him, "Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy foule, and with all thy minde.

38 This is the first and the great comman- dement.

39 And the seconde is like vnto this, "Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy self.

40 On these two commandements hageeth the whole Law, and the Prophetes.

41 ¶ While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them,

42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? who- se o sonne is he?
They said vnto him, Da- uids.

43 He said vnto them, How then doeth Da uid in a spirit call him Lord, saying,

44 "The Lord said to my Lord, Sic at my & righe hand, 'til I make thine enemies thy fote stole?

45 If then Dauid call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

46 And none colde answer him a worde, nether durst anie from that daye forthe aske him anie mo questions.

faithful.

a This similitude teacheth vs, that it is not sufficient to have once, given our sel. uis to follow Christ, but that we must con time. b To do him honor, as the maner was.

1 Then the kingdome of heauen shalbe likened vnto ten virgins, which toke their lampes, and went to 2 mete the bridegrome.

2 And fiue of the were wife, & fiue foolish. 3 The foolish toke their lapes, but toke none oyle with them.

4 But y wife toke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taryed long, all flombred and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a crye made, Beholde, the bridegrome cometh: go out to mete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, & trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wife, 'Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wife answered, saying, 'We leave lest there wil not be enough for vs & you: but 4 go ye rather to them that sel, and bie for your selues.

10 And while they went to bie, the bridegrome came: & they that were readie, wet in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwardes came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, 'I knowe you not.

13 'Watche therefore: for ye knowe nether the day, nor the houre, when the Sonne of man wil come.

14 'For the kingdom of heauen u as a man that going into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.

15 And vnto one he gaue fiue a talents, and to another two, & to another one, to euerre man after his owne habilitie, and straight way went from home.

16 Then he that had receiued the fiue talents, went and occupied with them, and 'gained other fiue talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

25 I was therefore afraide, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: beholde, thou hast thine owne.

27 Thou oghte st therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming shulde I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

21 So they entred into Capernaum, and straight way on the Sabbath daye he en- tred into the Synagogue and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had autoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an uncleane spirit, & he cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, o Iesus of Nazaret? Art thou come to destroy vs? I knowe thee what thou art, men that holie one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, = Holde thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the uncleane spirit rare him, and cryed with a loude voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what a new doctrine is this? for he commandeth the foule spirits with autoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 And assone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames & Iohn.

32 And when euen was come, and the sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were posses- sed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered toge- ther at the dore.

34 And he healed manie that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out manie de- uils, & a susfred not the deuils to say that they knewe him.

35 And in the morning verie earely, "befo- re day Iesus arose and went out into a soli- tarie place, and there praied.

36 And Simon, and thei that were with him, followed after him.

37 And when they had founde him, they said vnto him, All men seke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next townes, that I may preache the- re also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And he preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 And there came a leper to him, bese- ching him, and kneled downe vnto him, & said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put for- the his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I wil: he thou cleane.

42 And assone as he had spoken, immediat- ly the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after he had giuen him a streick commandement, he sent him awaye for- the with,

44 And said vnto him, Se thou say nothing to anie man, but get thee hence, & shewe thy self to the Priest, and offer for thy clensing those things, which Moses com- manded, for a testimonial vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he beganne to tell manie things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus colde no more o- penly enter into the citie, but was with- out in desert places: and they came to him from euerie quarter.

23 But he called them vnto him, and laid vnto the in parables,

24 For if a kingdome be deuided againft it felf, that kingdome

25 Or if a houfe be deuided againft it felf, that houfe can not

32 And the people fate about him, and they laid vnto him, Beholde, thy mother, & thy brethren feke for thee without.

33 But he answered the, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren?

34 And he looked rounde about on the, which sate in compasse about him, and said, Be- holde my mother and my brethren.

CHAP. III.

2 By the parables of the feld, and the mustarde seede, Christ sheweth the state of the kingdome of God. 11 A special gift of God to know the mysteries of his kingdome. 37 He stilleth the tempest of the sea which obeyed him.

1 And he began againe to teach by the Mat 13,1. sea side, & there gathered vnto him in a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and sate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine.

3 Harken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, & the fowles of the beaven came and devoured it vp.

5 And some fel on ftonie grounde, where it had not muche earth, & by and by fprang vp, becaufe it had not depth of earth.

6 But affone as the funne was vp, it caught heate, and becaufe it had not roote, it wi- thered away.

7 And some fel among the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp and choked it, fo that it gaue no frute.

8 Some againe fel in good grounde, and did yelde frute that fprong vp, and grew, and it broght forth, some thirtie folde, some fixtie folde, and some an hundreth folde.

9 Then he laid vnto them, He that hathe heares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he laid vnto them, To you it is gi- uen to knowe the myfterie of the kingdo- me of God: but vnto them that are d with- out, all things be done in parables,

12 That they feing, may fe, and not dif- cerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderftand, left at any time they fhul- de turne, and their finnes fhulde be forgi- uen them.

15 And thefe are they that receiue the fede by the wayes fide, in whome the worde is lowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the worde that was lowen in their hearts.

31 It is like a graine of muftarde fede, which when it is fowen in the earth, is the leaft of all fedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is fowen, it groweth vp, and is greateft of all herbes, and beareth great brâches, fo that the foules of heauen may buylde vnder the fhadow of it.

33 And with many fuche parables he preached the worde vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables fpake he nothing vnto them: but he expounded all things to his disciples aparte.

35 ¶ Now the fame day when euen was come, he faid vnto them, Let vs paffe ouer vnto the other fide.

36 And they left the multitude, and 1 toke him as he was in the fhipe: and there were alfo with him other fhippes.

37 And there arose a great ftorme of winde,

38 And he was in the fterne = a flepe on a pillowe: and they awoke him, and faid to him, Mafter, careft thou not that we perifth?

39 And he rofe vp, and rebuked the winde, and faid vnto the fea, Peace, and be ftill. So the winde ceaſed, and it was a gieat calme.

15 And they came to Iesus, and sawe him that had bene possessed with the deuil, and had the legion, sit both the clothed, & in his right mind: & they were afraid.

16 And they that sawe it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuil, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to praye him, that he wode departe from their coastes.

18 And when he was come into the ship, he that had bene possessed with the deuil, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Iesus wode not suffer him, but said vnto him, Go thy way home to thy friends, and shewe the what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how he hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueil.

21 And when Iesus was come over againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and he was nere vnto the sea.

22 And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iarus: and when he sawe him, he fell down at his feet,

23 And besoght him instantly, saying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I praye thee that thou woldest come & laye thine hands on her, that she may be healed, and live.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 (And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelve yeres,

26 And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent all that she had, and it availed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the press behind, and touched his garment.

28 For she said, If I may but touche his clothes, I shall be whole,

29 And straight way the course of her blood was dried up, & she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Iesus did knowe in himself the virtue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the press, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throug thee, & sayest thou, Who did touche me?

32 And he looked rounde about, to se her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knewe what was done in her, & she came and fell down before him, & tolde him the whole truesth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certeine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the Master anie further?

36 Assone as Iesus heard that worde spoken, he said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleue.

37 And he suffered no man to followe him, saue Peter and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumulte, & them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, & said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and wepe the childe is not be dead, but slepeth.

40 And they laught him to scorne: but he put them all out, and toke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them that were with him, & entred in where the childe laye,

41 And toke the childe by the hand, & said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, arise.

42 And straight way the maiden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelve yeres, and they were astound out of measure.

43 And he charged them straitelly that no man shoulde knowe of it, and commanded to give her meat.

Then King Herode heard of him (for his name was fped abroade) & faid, John Baptist is risen againe fro the dead & the- refore great wotkes are wrogt by him. Other faid, It is Elias: and some faid, It is a Prophet, or as one b of the Prophetes. So when Herode heard it, he faid, It is John whome I beheaded: he is 1 risen fro the dead. For Herode him self had sent for the, & had taken John, and bounde him in prison for Herodiasfake, which was his brother Philippes wife, becaufe he had married her. For John faid vnto Herode, It is not m lawful for thee to haue thy brothers wife. Therefore Herodias had a quarel a- gainst him, & wolde haue killed him, but she colde not: For Herode feared John, knowing that he was a ufte man, and an holie, and reue- renced him, & when he heard him, he did manie things, and b heard him gladly. But the time being convenient, when Herode on his birth day made a banket to his princes & captaines, and chief esta- tes of Galile: And the daughter of the fame Herodias came in and b danced, and pleased Herode and them that fate at table together, the King faid vnto y maide, Afte of me what thou wilt, and I wil giue it thee. And he fware vnto her, Whatfoeuer thou shalt afte of me, I wil giue it thee, cuen vnto the halfe of my kingdome. So she went for the, and faid to her mo- ther, What shal I afke: And she faid, John Baptists head. The she came in straight way with hafe vnto the King, and afked, faying, I wolde that thou shuldest giue me euen now in a charger the head of John Baptist. Then the King was verie forye: yet for his othes fake, and for their fakes which fate at table with him, he wolde not refuse her. And immediately the King sent the higeman, and gaue charge that his head shulde be brogat. So he went & beheaded him in the prison, And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the bmaide, and the maide gaue it to her mother. And when his disciples heard it, they came and toke vp his b bodie, and put it in a tombe. And the Apostles gathered them felues together to Iesus, and b tolde him all things, bothe what they had done, & what they had taught. And he faid vnto them, Come ye aparte into the wilderness, c and reffe a while: for there were manie commers & goers, that they had not leafure to eat. So they went by ship out of the way into a defect place. But the people saw when they departed, & manie knewe him, & ranne a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him. Then Iesus went out, and sawe a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like f shepe which had no shepherds: and he began to teache them manie things. And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, faying, This is a desert place, and now the day is farre passed. Let them departe, that they may go into the villages and townes about, & bye the bread: for they haue nothing to eat But he answered, & faid vnto them, Giue ye them to eat. And thei faid vnto him, Shal we go and

Then he faid vnto them, How manie loaues haue ye go and

So he commanded them, to make them all sit downe by

1 Then *gathered vnto him the Phari- fes, and certeine of the Scribes which came from Ierufalem.

2 And when they fawe fome of his difci- ples eat meat with 'comune a hands, (that is to fay vnwafhen) they complained.

3 (For the Pharifes, & all the Iewes, except they waft their hads b oft, eat not, holding the tradition of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the market, ex- cept they wafthe, they eat not: and manie other things there be, which they haue ta- ken vponthem to obferue, as the waffhing of cuppes, and pottes, and of brafen vef- fels, and of tables.)

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat "meat with unwashen hands?"

6 Then he answered and said unto them, Surely *Ere I had the prophesied wel of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship me in vaine, reaching for doctrines the commandments of men.

8 For ye laye the commandment of God aparte, and observe the tradition of men, as the washing of pottes and of cuppes, & manie other such like things ye do.

9 And he said unto them, Well, ye reiect the commandment of God that ye may observe your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, 'Honour thy father, and thy mother: &,*Whosoever shall curse father or mother, let him suffer the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest have profite, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to do any thing for his father, of his mother, 13 Making the worde of God of none au- toritie, by your tradition which ye haue ordeined: and ye do manie fuche like things.

14 *Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and faid vnto them, Hearké you all vnto me, and vnderftand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which procede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If anie haue eares to heare, let hi heare.

17 And when he came into an houfe away from the people, his difciples afked him concerning the parable.

18 And he faid vnto the, What are ye with- out vnderftanding alfo? Do ye not knowe that whatfoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, can not defile him,

19 Becaufe it entreth not into his heart, but into the bellie, and goeth out into the draught which is f purging of all meateft

20 Then he faid, That which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 *For fró within, euen out of the heart of men, procede euil hoghts, adulteries, for- nications, murthers,

17 ¶ And when he was gone out on the way, there came one running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shal I do, that I may possesse eternal life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou me good there is none good but one, even God.

19 Thou knowest the commandments, *Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not forswear. Thou shalt not beare false witness. Thou shalt hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I have observed from my youth.

21 And Iesus beheld him, and loved him, and said unto him, One thing is lacking unto thee, Go and sell all that thou hast, and give to the poore, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven, and come, follow me, and take up the cross.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said unto his disciples, How hardly do they that have riches, enter into the kingdom of God!

24 And his disciples were astonished at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that truſt in riches, to entre into the kingdome of God!

25 It is eaſier for a camel to go through the eye of a nedle, then for a b riche man to entre into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were muche more aſtonied, faying with them felues, Who then can be faued?

27 But Ieſus looked vpo them, & faid, With men is w impoſible, but not with God: for with God all things are poſible.

28 ¶*Thé Peter began to fay vnto him, Lo, we haue forfake all, & haue followed thee.

29 Ieſus answered, and faid, Verely I fay vnto you, there is no man that hathe for- faken houſe or brethen or fifters, or father or mother, ot wife, or children, or lands for my fake and the Gofpels, 36 And he faid vnto them, What wolde ye I shulde do for you?

37 And they faid to him, Grante vnto vs, that we may fit one at thy right haid, & the other at thy left hand in thy glorie.

38 But Iesus faid vnto them, Ye knowe not what ye aske. Can ye a drinke of the cup that I shal drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shalbe baptized with?

39 And thei faid vnto him, We can. But Ie- fus faid vnto them, Ye shal drinke in de- de of the cup that I shal drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shalbe baptized:

40 But to fit at my right hand & at my left, is not a mine to giue, but it shalbe ginen to them for whome it is prepaed.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to difdaine at James and John.

42 But Iesus called them vnto him, and faid to them, Ye knowe that they which defite to beare rule among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercife autorite o- uer them.

5 Then certeine of them, that ftode there, faid vnto the, What do ye lofing y colte?

6 And they faid vnto them, as Iefus had comanded them. So they let them go.

7 ¶ And they broght the colte to Iefus, and caft their garments on him, and he fa- te s penhim.

2 And he began to speake vnto them in parables, 1 A certeine man planted a vineyards, and compassed it with an hedge, and digged a pit for the winepresse, and buyit a towe in it, and let it out to houthbandmen, and went into a strange country.

3 And at a time, he sent to the houthband men a seruant, that he might receive of the houthband men of the frute of y vineyard.

4 But they toke him, and bet him, and sent him away emptie.

5 And againe, he sent vnto them another seruant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

6 And againe he sent another, & him they slewe, and manie other, beating some, and killing some.

7 Yet had he one sonne, his derebeloued: him also he sent the last vnto the, saying, They wil reuerence my sonne.

8 But the houthband men said among the selues, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shalbe ours.

9 So they toke him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyards.

10 What shal then the Lord of the vineyards do? He wil come and destroye these houthband men, and giue the vineyards to others.

12 This was done of the Lord, & it is mar-uelous in our eyes.

13 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake that parable against them: therefore they left him, & went their way.

14 ¶ And they sent vnto him certeine of the Pharises, and of the Herodians that they might take him in his talke.

15 And whe they came, they said vnto him, Master, we knowe that thou art true, & careest for no man: for thou considerest not the persone of me, but teachest the way of God truely, Is it lawful to giue tribute to Cesar, or not?

16 Shulde we giue it, or shulde we not giue it? But he knewe their hypocrisie, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penie, that I may se it.

17 So they brogh it, and he said vnto the, Whose is this image and superscription? and they said vnto him, Cesars.

18 Then Iesus answered, & said vnto them, 1 Giue to Cesar the things that are Cesars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marueiled at him.

19 ¶ Then came the Sadduces vnto him, (which say, there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

20 Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mas brother dye, and leaue his wise, and leaue no children, that a his brother shulde take his wise, and raise vp sede vnto his brother.

21 There were seuen brethren, and the first toke a wise, and when he dyed, left no yssue.

22 Then the seconde toke her, and he dyed, nether did he yet leaue yssue, & the third likewise.

23 So seuen had her, and left no yssue: last of all the wise dyed also.

24 In the resurrection then, when they shal rise againe, whose wise shal she be of them? for seuen had her to wise?

25 Then Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because ye knowe not the Scriptures, nether y power of God?

26 For when they shal rise againe from the dead, nether men mary, nor wiues are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

27 And as touching the dead, that they shal rise againe, haue ye not red in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake vnto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

30 Verely I fay vnto you, that this generacion shal not passe, til all these things be done.

31 Heauen and earth shal passe away, but my wordes shal not passe away.

32 But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, nether the Sonne him self, faue the Father.

33 Take hede: watche, & pray: for ye knowe not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a ma going into a strange country, & ieaueh his house, & giueth autoritie to his seruants, and to euerie man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch therefore, (for ye knowe not when the Master of the house wil come, as euen, or at midnight, at the coke crowing, or in the dauning)

36 Lest if he come suddenly, he shulde finde you sleping.

37 And those things that I fay vnto you, I fay vnto all men, Watch.

1 And two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeouer, and of vnleauened bread: and the hie Priests, and Scrubes focht how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they said, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 And when he was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he fate at table, there came a woma hauing a boxe of ointment of spikenarde, verre costlie, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 Therefore some disdeined among them selues, and said, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might haue bene solde for more the bthre hundreth pence, & bene giuen vnto the poore, & they grudged against her.

6 But Iesus said, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye wil ye may do them good, but me ye shal not haue alwayes.

8 She hath done that she colde: she came afore hand to anoint my bodie to the burying.

9 Verely I fay vnto you, wherefoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout the whole worlde, this also that she hath done, shalbe spoken of in remembrance of her.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, & promised that they wolde geue him money: therefore he foght how he might conveniently betray him.

12 Now y first day of vnleauened bread, when they sacrificed the Passeouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we go & prepare, that thou maist eat the Passeouer?

13 Then he sent for the two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Go ye into the citie, and there shal a man mete you bearing a pitcher of water: follow him.

14 And whithersoever he goeth in, fay ye to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is y lodging where I shal

19 Then they began to be forowful and to fay to him one by one, Is it I? And ano- ther, Is it I?

21 * Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but wo be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man, is betrayed: it had bene good for that ma, if he had neuer bene borne.

22 * And as they did eat, Iefus s toke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it & gaue it to them, and faid, * Take, eat, this is my bodie.

23 Alfo he toke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he faid vnto the, This is my blood of the new Teftament, which is fhed for manie.

25 Verely I fay vnto you, I wil drinke no more of the frute of the vine, vntil that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had fung a pfalme, they went out to the mount of oliues.

27 ¶ * Then Iefus faid vnto them, All ye fhall be offended by me this night: for it is written, * I wil fmitte the fhepherd, & the fhepe fhall be fcartered.

28 But after that I am rifen, I wil go into * Galile before you.

29 And Peter faid vnto him, Although all men fhulde be offended, yet wolde not I.

30 Then Iefus faid vnto him, Verely I fay vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twife, thou fhalt denie me thefe.

31 But he faid more earnestly, If I fhulde dye with thee, I wil not denie thee: likewife alfo faid they all.

32 ¶ * After they came into a place named Gethfemane: then he faid to his difciples, Sit ye here, til I haue prayed.

33 And he toke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he began to be afraied, & in great heauines, 34 And faid vnto them, My foule is verie heauie, euen vnto the death: tary here and watch.

35 So he went forward a litle, & fel downe on the grounde, and praied, that if it were pofible, that houre might paffe from him.

36 And he faid, 1 Abba, Father, all things ate pofible vnto thee:

37 Then he came and founde them fle- ping, and faid to Peter,

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye entre not into tétacion: the fpirit in dede is readie, but the fleft is weake.

39 And againe he went awaye, and prayed, and fpake the fame wordes.

40 And he returned, and founde them a- flepe againe: for their eyes were heaue: nether knewe they what they fhulde anfwer him.

41 And he came the thirde time, and faid vnto them, a Slepe hence forthe, and take your reft: it is vnought: the houre is come: beholde, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of finners.

42 Rife vp: let vs go: lo, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 * And immediately while he yet fpake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, & with him a great multitude with fwordes and ftaues from the hie Priests, and Sci- bes and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had giuen the a token, faying,

46 Then they layed their hands on him, & toke him.

47 And t one of them that ftode by, drewe out a fwoide, and fmote a feruant of the hie Prieft, and cut of his eare.

48 And Iefus anfwered and faid vnto the, Ye become out as 49 I was daiely with you teaching in the Temple, & ye t toke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures fhulde be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forfoke him, and fled. 51 And there followed him a certe: me yong man, clothed in linnen vpon his bare bodie, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linne cloth, and fled from them naked.
